2. Every entry in a brewing book shall be made by the brewer himself or by some responsible person employed by him, whose name shall previously be reported for the approval of the Collector.

3. Columns 1 and 2 of the brewing book shall be filled up not less than six hours before the brew to which they relate is begun. Columns 3 to 5 shall be filled up not less than two hours before any of the materials are used. Columns 6 and 7 shall be filled up simultaneously with the entries in columns 3 to 5. Columns 8 to 13 shall be filled up within one hour after the completion of the collection of the worts of each brew in the fermenting vessels and columns 14 to 20 within one hour after the completion of the collection of the beer in the racking vessels ; provided that, if the worts be not all collected in the fermenting vessels, or if the collection of the beer in the racking vessels be not completed before 9 P.M. on any day, the time for making the entries in columns 8 to 20 will be extended to 8 A.M. the next morning.

4. All fermenting and racking vessels must be so placed and fixed to the satisfaction of the Collector as to admit of the contents being accurately gauged or measured, and must be fitted to the satisfaction of the Collector with proper dipping rods that can be so adjusted to fixed dipping places that the contents of such vessels may at any time be ascertainable.

5. The name of every such vessel shall be painted on a conspicuous part thereof. If more than one such vessel is used for either of the above purposes, each shall be distinguished by a progressive number.

6. A table shall be prepared by the brewer and be checked by the Excise Superintendent or his Assistant showing the capacity of each vessel in imperial gallons by the number of "dry inches," i.e., the unoccupied space between the surface of the liquid contained in the vessel and the fixed dipping place.

7. No vessel shall be used for the fermentation of worts or for the racking of beer until it has been gauged and the gauging has been checked as above provided.

8. Officers authorized to inspect breweries shall be at liberty to check the declarations of quantity and gravity at any time. They shall also be at liberty to take samples of the wort and beer at any stage of the manufacture, and send them for analysis.

9. The beer brewed shall be manufactured from good materials and its quality shall be such as to satisfy the Resident. The original gravity of the beer wort shall not exceed 1,070 at 60 Fahrenheit. No beer shall contain more than 8 per cent alcohol by volume, and the Collector may order the brewer to pay duty at full tariff rate per gallon of proof spirit on all alcohol in the brew in excess of 8 per cent by volume.

10. Every brewer shall keep a stock account in which he shall enter the quantity of beer manufactured in his brewery, the quantity sold, the wastage and the quantity remaining unsold each day. Such account shall be produced for the inspection of the Collector or any officer appointed by him for the purpose, or any Excise officer not below the rank of Assistant Superintendent whenever required.

11. The stock of beer on hand in every brewery shall be examined by the Superintendent of Excise or his Assistant once a quarter or oftener as the Collector may direct. If the quantity of beer found in the brewery on such examination shall be found to be in excess of the quantity shown on hand in the stock account, the brewer shall pay duty on such excess at double the rate hereinafter prescribed. In the event of any beer being returned to the brewery, notice shall be given to the Superintendent of Excise of the receipt of each consignment to admit of its being checked, whereupon the quantity so returned will be shown separately in the stock account.

12. An allowance not exceeding 8 per cent will be made to cover actual wastage in the brewery in the conduct of operations. If, on the quarterly or other examination of stock, the wastage should be found to be in excess of 8 per cent, the brewer shall pay duty at the prescribed rate of one anna per imperial gallon on the deficiency. The wastage allowance will be calculated for the purpose of this rule, on the actual balance on hand on date of last stocktaking, plus the quantity since manufactured and received as shown by column 16 of the brewing book. Provided that, in the event of the above mentioned allowance of 8 per cent for wastage being exceeded through the accidental breakage of a cask or other unavoidable cause, the matter shall be reported to the Collector whose decision shall be final.

13. A monthly account shall be prepared by the brewer and shall be forwarded by him to the Collector on or before the fifth day of each month. Such account shall show the quantity of beer made or received into stock during the month to which it refers and the quantities of beer issued and to whom issued during such month.

14. The Collector shall take such steps as he may think fit for checking the accuracy of the said monthly account with column 16 of the brewing book, with the brewer's stock account, and with counterfoils of the permits issued.

15. No beer except samples taken under rule No. 8 shall be removed from the brewery except under a pass in the appended Form B, and shall then be removed by or on account of licensed vendors only or their authorized agents. Passes in Form B may be granted by the Superintendent of Excise on production of a treasury receipt for the amount of the duty payable which shall be calculated at the rate of one anna per gallon.

16. If a brewer objects to the amount of duty fixed by the Collector under any of the rules hereinbefore provided he may move the Collector to revise his charge. If still dissatisfied with the orders of the Collector he may appeal to the Resident, whose orders shall be final.

17. The brewery shall be open at any time for inspection by the Collector or any officer appointed by him for that purpose, or any Excise Officer not below the rank of Assistant Superintendent.

"By Order,"

Bills introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for making Laws and Regulations, Reports of Select Committees presented to the Council, and Bills published under Rule 23.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill further to amend the Indian Steam-ships Act, 1884, was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 31st January, 1902:—

WE, the undersigned Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill further to amend the Indian Steam-ships Act, 1884, was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin, and have now the honour to submit this our Report, with the Bill as amended by us annexed thereto.

From High Court, Calcutta, No. 2255, dated 2nd September, 1901 [Paper No. 1].
From Government of Burma, No. 228-2S—1 (Commerce), dated 9th September, 1901 [Paper No. 2].
From Government of Bombay, No. 321-G, dated 12th September, 1901, and enclosure [Papers No. 3].
From Government of Madras, No. 758 Marine, dated 10th September, 1901 [Paper No. 4].
From Government of Bengal, No. 101T.-Marine, dated 16th September, 1901, and enclosures [Papers No. 5].
Order of the Government of India in the Department of Finance and Commerce, No. 6193-S. R., dated 11th December, 1901, and accompaniments [Papers No. 6].

2. We have omitted sub-clause (2) of clause 1 as being unnecessary in view of the provisions of section 5, sub-section (1), of the General Clauses Act, 1897 (X of 1897).

3. The omission, suggested by clause 2 of the Bill, of the words "at the port of survey" from section 23 of the Act seems to us to leave the latter too vague. On the other hand, their retention, as they stand, would defeat the end in view, since the expression "port of survey" would, no doubt, be held to indicate a port in British India appointed under section 9 of the Act. We propose, therefore, instead of simply omitting the words "at the port of survey", to substitute for them the words "at the port where the survey was made".

4. It has been represented, both in Bengal and in Bombay, that there is no necessity for inserting after the word "attested" in section 23 of the Act the limiting phrase "in the case of a foreign steam-ship". We have, therefore, omitted so much of clause 2 of the Bill as purported to make that addition.

5. It has recently been brought to notice that the Commissioner in Sind did not, until the 3rd July, 1900, make any rules for the examination of, and grant of certificates to, engine-drivers, as required by the Act of 1884, and that in the interval certificates were issued on the result of examinations held in accordance with rules originally framed under the repealed Bombay Act IV of 1873. The validity of these certificates—of which there are 96—has been challenged, and it is reported that practical inconvenience has been caused in more than one case in which the certificates have been required for the purpose of obtaining a licence for the practice of the profession of engineering in Bombay, and to the passing of the Engineers' Certificates Validation Act, 1901 (XV of 1901). We propose to follow that precedent and to take the opportunity of adding to the Bill a fourth clause on the subject. In order to guard against oversight, we have at the same time amplified both the long and the short title and the preamble.

The publication ordered by the Council has been made as follows:—

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Indian Steam-ships Act, 1884, and to validate certain certificates granted to engine-drivers of steam-ships; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. This Act may be called the Indian Steam-ships (Amending and Validating) Act, 1902.

2. In section 23 of the Indian Steam-ships Act, 1884, the word "foreign" where it first occurs, shall be omitted; for the words "at the port of survey" the words "at the port where the survey was made", shall be substituted; and in the proviso after the words "in the case of" the words "a foreign steam-ship to" shall be inserted.

of the said Act after the words "specified" the words "steam-ship or" shall be inserted, and for the words "to them" the word "thereto" shall be substituted.

4. All certificates of competency granted under the authority of the Commissioner in Sind between the first day of December, 1885, and the third day of July, 1900, to certify the competency of the grantees thereof to act as engine-drivers of steam-ships, shall be deemed to have been granted under the Indian Steam-ships Act, 1884, and shall be recognised as valid for voyages of those classes with reference to which they were granted:

Provided that nothing in this section shall be deemed to affect such certificates in any other respect.

From Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, No. 3745—VI.— 444-D., dated 27th November, 1901, and enclosure [Papers No. 15].

Indian Railway Companies Act, 1895, to certain Tramway Companies was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin and have now the honour to submit this our Report, with the Bill as amended by us annexed thereto.

2. We have omitted sub-clause (3) of clause 1 as being unnecessary in view of the provisions of section 5, sub-section (1), of the General Clauses Act, 1897 (X of 1897).

3. In accordance with the suggestion made by the Government of Bengal, we have inserted in clause 2 a reference to the Bengal Tramways Act, 1883 (Ben. Act III of 1883), so as to cover companies formed for the construction of tramways under that Act. There are in the Statute-book several other enactments authorizing the construction and regulating the working of tramways, but each of these—see, for example, the Bombay Tramways Act, 1874 (Bom. Act I of 1874)—deals entirely with a special concession granted to certain individuals, the Bengal enactment being the only local Act drawn on general lines like the Imperial Act of 1836. The Bengal case, therefore, alone requires to be provided for.

4. "The said Act" referred to at the end of the clause is, of course, the Indian Railway Companies Act, 1895, but it may be well to say so, since the context will refer to other enactments also.

5. The measure can, and is intended to, apply only to companies domiciled in India and such companies must be registered under the Indian Companies Act, 1882. Companies domiciled in England are governed by Acts of Parliament with which the legislature in this country cannot interfere. We see no necessity, therefore, for adding reference to Indian registration.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill further to amend the Law relating to Administrators General and Official Trustees was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 31st January, 1902:—

WE, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill further to Endorsement from Home Department, No. 17, dated 6th January, 1902, and accompaniments, being a letter from Calcutta Trades Association, dated 13th December 1901, and enclosures [Papers No. 1].

From Government of Bengal, No. 228-J., dated 9th January, 1902 [Paper No. 2].

From Registrar, High Court, Calcutta, No. 283, dated 28th January, 1902 [Paper No. 4].

From Babu Kali Narayan Roy, Manager, Estate Kumu India Chandra Singh (deceased) under the Administrator General of Bengal, dated 29th January, 1902 [Paper No. 6].

amend the Law relating to Administrators General and Official Trustees was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin, and have now the honour to submit this our Report, with the Bill as amended by us annexed thereto.

2. We think that a practising barrister should, as hitherto, be appointed to the office of Administrator General, and we, therefore, propose to alter clause 4 of the Bill so as to omit the repeal of section 6 of the Administrator General's Act, 1874 (11 of 1874). But in the case of a Deputy Administrator General and Official Trustee, a solicitor might suitably be selected, and the Deputy, whether a barrister or a solicitor, would probably be best able to take the place of the Administrator General during the absence on leave of the latter. At the same time, it seems to us to be desirable to make it clear that, while it is, no doubt, necessary to enable the Deputy to discharge any of the duties and to perform any of the functions of the Administrator General, his position is not to be an independent one and he should act under the orders of his Chief. We have, therefore, entirely recast clause 2 of the Bill.

3. It is not intended to make any change in the present methods of administration. Accounts will be kept and estates managed in the same way as before under the provisions of the principal Act, and decrees and orders will operate as at present. But under the proposed Act the Government will in future appropriate what the Administrator General personally, as such or, should he be also Official Trustee, as Official Trustee, has heretofore been entitled to retain by way of remuneration, and no more, the Administrator General himself looking to the Government alone for a salary and allowances. The alterations which we have made in clause 3, will render the position clear.

4. We have already referred to clause 4 and explained that we propose that section 6 of the Act be allowed to stand untouched save as regards officiating appointments. To the same clause we have added two sub-clauses, which will take the place of sub-clause (2) (c) of clause 6, together with the proviso thereto. The provision as to suspension and removal from office has been extended so as to cover discharge, while as amended it contemplates the passing of an order in each case, and not the making of a rule of general application on the subject.

5. It may be doubted whether the High Court would take action in the direction indicated by clause 5 unless moved thereto, and we have, therefore, omitted the words "either of its own motion or".

6. Having regard to the fact that it has not been possible to bring forward a Bill to confer a rule-making power on the High Courts, we think that the proposal to confer a rule-making power on the High Courts had better be abandoned for the present. We have, in consequence, proposed the omission of the whole of sub-clauses (1) and (2) of clause 6, excepting only the portions referred to above in connection with clause 4 of the Bill; but we think that the Government should make no new rules under section 57 of the Act of 1874 without consulting the High Courts.

7. We would safeguard sub-clause (b) of clause 7 by requiring the sanction of the proper High Court in each case, and we have suggested an addition with that object. The reference to rules occurring in the earlier part of the clause may then be entirely omitted.

8. The publication ordered by the Council has been made as follows:—

* Subject to Minute of Dissent annexed.
† See Memorandum annexed.

The alterations I suggested in the Report regarding the discharge and substitution of sureties of an administrator suggested themselves to me as much by their justness as by the practical hardships which have been too often experienced for want of a clear provision on the subject. There is not much judicial authority; and what little there is exhibits a conflict between High Courts as to the existence of such a power. In these circumstances, I think it desirable, when an opportunity is at hand, the Legislature should step in and set the question at rest by expressly giving the power. It will, besides, bring this class of sureties into harmony with other analogous cases and within the scope of the general law of guarantee. Further elaboration under this head is out of place, I think, in a minute of dissent.

My other amendments aim at getting rid of a gratuitous distinction. Class-legislation is always invidious and irritating. In this particular instance it has to be deprecated chiefly as giving the go by entirely to the present conditions, which are wholly different from the conditions a quarter of a century ago, i.e., in 1874. It only remains for me to add that I trust that my objection on the latter point will not be mistakenly viewed as of a sectional nature. It is, on the contrary and obviously, an opposition to what is, on the very face of it, sectional and narrow. My attitude would be precisely the same in the interest of common fairness, if I did not belong to the legal profession at all and if the exclusion from all chances of eligibility were levelled at the barrister or the attorney class.

P. ANANDA CHARLU.

Annexure showing the amendments referred to in the foregoing Minute of Dissent.

- I.—That, in clause 2, sub-clause (2), the words "or a Vakil of a High Court, admitted under the Letters Patent and the rules framed thereunder" be inserted after the words "or attorney"; and the words and figures "notwithstanding anything in the Administrator General's Act, 1874" before the words "any Deputy" be omitted as consequential on the repeal of section 6 hereinafter proposed.
- II.—That, in clause 4, sub-clause (1), the words and figure "Section 6, the" be inserted and the word "The" be omitted, before the words "second proviso to section 9".
- III.—That, in the same clause 4, the figure (3) in the present sub-clause (3) be altered into the figure (4) and a fresh clause numbered (3) be inserted after the sub-clause (2), in terms following:—
 "The High Court of the Province may, on application made to it, discharge, on such conditions as the High Court may deem fit to impose, any person or persons who may have stood surety or sureties for any administrator, and substitute other person or persons in the place of the surety or sureties who may be discharged".

In signing the Report of the Select Committee, I desire it to be placed on record that, in my opinion, it is not desirable to amalgamate the two offices of Administrator General and Official Trustee, on the ground that the work of the Administrator General is fully sufficient for that officer even with the assistance of a Deputy. In the event of an amalgamation I consider that an Assistant Deputy will be required to insure the thoroughly effective working of the combined offices.

No. II.

Bill further to amend the Law relating to Administrators General and Official Trustees.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Law relating to Administrators General and Official Trustees; It is hereby enacted as follows:

(2) It shall be deemed to have come into force on the first day of January, 1902.

(3) The Government may appoint a Deputy to assist the Administrator General as Administrator General and, if he is also Official Trustee, as Official Trustee; and the Deputy so appointed shall, subject to the control of the Government and the general or special orders of the Administrator General, be competent to discharge any of the duties and to perform any of the functions of the Administrator General as Administrator General or, if he is also Official Trustee, as Official Trustee.

(4) A Deputy appointed under sub-section (3) may be either a barrister or a solicitor or attorney and, notwithstanding anything in the Administrator General's Act, 1874, any Deputy so appointed may officiate as Administrator General.

or offices may be subject, shall be defrayed by the Government.

(6) Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to render the Government or the Administrator General appointed after the commencement of this Act liable for anything done or purporting to be done by or under the authority of the Administrator General before the commencement of this Act, or, where the Administrator General is also Official Trustee, for anything done or purporting to be done by or under the authority of any Official Trustee appointed before the appointment of the Administrator General to be Official Trustee.

(7) The Government shall be deemed to be responsible for the civil liabilities of any Administrator General remunerated by such fixed salary and allowances as aforesaid as Administrator General or, if he is also Official Trustee, as Official Trustee.

(8) Notwithstanding anything in the Code of Civil Procedure, a suit to enforce any such civil liability as aforesaid shall be brought against the Administrator General as Administrator General or, if he is also Official Trustee, as Official Trustee, as the case may be, by his name of office; and no suit so brought shall abate by reason of the death, resignation, suspension or removal of the person holding the office of Administrator General or Official Trustee.

(9) The second proviso to section 9, and Repeal of part of section 56, of the Administrator General's Act, 1874, and section 56 of the Official Trustees Act, 1864, are hereby repealed.

(11) No private executor or administrator shall be entitled to receive or retain any commission or agency charges at a higher rate than that for the time being fixed in respect of the Administrator General by or under the Administrator General's Act, 1874.

(12) So far as regards the Administrator General of any of the Presidencies of Bengal, Madras and Bombay, the High Court at the Presidency-town may, on application made to it, give to such Administrator General any general or special directions in regard to any estate in his charge or any trust of which he is the Official Trustee, or in regard to the administration of any such estate or trust.

(a) The High Court of the Province may, in like manner, give similar directions to any private executor or administrator other than the Administrator General acting officially.

6. The High Court of the Province may make rules for assigning jurisdiction under the Administrator General's Act, 1874, or the Official Trustees Act, 1864, to subordinate Courts, and for defining such jurisdiction.

7. The Administrator General acting as such or as Official Trustee, and any private executor or administrator, may, in addition to, and not in derogation of, any other powers of expenditure lawfully exercisable by him, incur expenditure—

(a) on such acts as may be necessary for the proper care and management of any property belonging to any estate or trust administered by him; and,

(b) with the sanction of the High Court at the Presidency-town in the case of the Administrator General, or with that of the High Court of the Province in the case of a private executor or administrator, on such religious, charitable and other objects, and on such improvements, as may be reasonable and proper in the case of such property.

8. Notwithstanding anything in the Administrator General's Act, 1874, II of 1874.

Provision for administration by consular officer in case of death in certain circumstances of foreign subject.

or in any other enactment or rule of law for the time being in force, the Governor General in Council may, by general or special order, direct that, where a subject of a foreign State dies in British India and it appears that there is no one in British India, other than the Administrator General, entitled to apply to a Court of competent jurisdiction for letters of administration of the estate of the deceased, letters of administration shall, on the application to such Court of any consular officer of such foreign State, be granted to such consular officer on such terms and conditions as the Court may, subject to any rules made in this behalf by the Governor General in Council by notification in the Gazette of India, think fit to impose.

Rainfall summary for the past seven days, ending at 8 a.m. on Thursday, the 30th January 1902, based on the India Daily
Weather Reports of the period.

Another practically rainless week has to be recorded so far as India is concerned; the only exception to this general dryness is shown in the Brahmaputra Valley, where showers occurred on the 24th, 25th, 26th, 29th, and 30th. These showers were, however, very light, and only exceeded 0·10" at Dibrugarh and Tezpur on the 24th, and at Dibrugarh on the 30th. A local shower of 0·15" also occurred at Negapatam on the 26th. In Burma there were light unimportant showers at Tavoy and Moulmein on the 24th and at Bhamo on the 26th. In Kashmir there were snowshowers daily on the last four days of the week, but, except on the 29th and 30th, the falls were unimportant. On the 24th, 25th, and 26th there was rain in Persia, but on the 27th this rainfall ceased, and the weather became fine. The only important storm of the week appeared over Sind on the 27th, thence it passed into the Punjab on the 28th and 29th, and then travelled south-eastward into the North-Western Provinces, where it was shown near Bareilly on the 30th. It was a moderate storm, and gave strong squally winds and duststorms to North-West India, but, beyond a few drops at Mussooree, Chakrata, and Simla, it gave no rain to the districts passed over.

The rainfall statement at the close of the summary shows that an average fall of 0·20" of rain was received in the Assam Valley during the week, and a few drops of rain in the following divisions and sub-divisions, vis., the Burma Coast, the Burma Wet and the East Coast (South) divisions, and in the Narayanganj, Dinajpur, and Simla sub-divisions; the whole of the remainder of India was rainless.

The seasonal deficiency now amounts to 3·24" in the Simla sub-division, 2·50" in the Ludhiana sub-division and Baluchistan, 1·50" in the Lahore sub-division, 1·00" in the Waltair sub-division, and to over 0·75" in the Narayanganj sub-division, the Brahmaputra Valley, the Bahraich sub-division, the Cawnpore sub-division, and the North-West Dry Area. At the following stations in the north there has been absolutely no rain during December and January, vis., Sialkot, Rawalpindi, Murree, Lahore, Cherat, Klushab, Dera Ismail Khan, Montgomery, Mooltan, Bikaner, Kurrachee, Jacobabad, Darbhanga, Purnea, Jaipur, and Sambhar, while there are many stations in the centre and south where the weather has been equally dry.

The Hon'ble SIR EDWARD LAW presented the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill further to amend the Indian Steam-ships Act, 1884.

INDIAN TRAMWAYS BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. ARUNDEL presented the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to apply the provisions of the Indian Railway Companies Act, 1895, to certain Tramway Companies.

ADMINISTRATORS GENERAL AND OFFICIAL TRUSTEES BILL.

The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES RIVAZ presented the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill further to amend the Law relating to Administrators General and Official Trustees. He said:— "I propose, with Your Excellency's permission, to add a few remarks to supplement the statement which I made when introducing this Bill at the meeting of the 20th December. On that occasion I confined myself to a very brief explanation, the objects and reasons underlying the measure being, as I then thought, well understood and appreciated. Some of the representations, however, which have been made to the Select Committee, and which have also been the subject of discussion in the public press, have shown that it is desirable to explain more fully the grounds on which the Government of India have acted in the matter, and I proceed to do so.

"The combination of the offices of Administrator General and Official Trustee has almost from the first been contemplated as suitable by the Statute-law, an express provision on the subject having been included in Act VIII of 1855, reproduced in Act XXIV of 1867 and again reproduced in Act II of 1874, the enactment now in force. So far as the nature of the duties appertaining to those offices is concerned, there would seem to be everything in favour of the combination and nothing against it, the only question remaining being as to its practical feasibility. The Finance Committee of 1887 not only came to the conclusion that it was feasible, but went further by submitting the larger proposal that a central Government office should be maintained to manage the estates of insolvents and intestates, estates in litigation and estates under trusts, two officers being appointed, one to assist the other and both to be remunerated by the Government, the balance of the commission and fees leviable and levied under the law being retained by the Government. In other words, the Finance Committee suggested the amalgamation of all four offices of Administrator General, Official Trustee, Official Assignee and Official Receiver under two officers, the one to be the Deputy and Assistant of the other.

"In 1897 the Government of India referred the whole question of amalgamation (along with certain others to which I need not now advert) to a strong Committee, on which the High Court and the Bar were represented by the present Chief Justice of Bengal, as President, and by Sir Griffith Evans and Mr. Dunne, then Standing Counsel, as members, the remaining three members being the Home Secretary and the Deputy Secretaries in the Finance and Legislative Departments. The relevant parts of the Committee's report of the 29th April, 1898, which was submitted in response to this reference, I will now read to the Council.

"The Committee', it was said, 'have carefully considered the proposal for the amalgamation of the four offices, with the result that they doubt whether it would be possible to combine the control of all four in one person. The office of Official Assignee in particular is a special one which has little in common with any of the others, while it is essential that it should be filled by a lawyer who has made a special study and practice of the intricate law of bankruptcy. Moreover, one officer alone could clearly not undertake the duties of the four offices; and, in the case of the Official Assigneeship, there is this objection to the alternative proposal to allot the duties of the appointment to a Deputy working under the supervision of a Chief, that the Deputy, if a proper appointment were made, would be a specialist and, consequently, more capable of supervising his particular branch than the Chief himself.

"The Office of Assigneeship might, however, in the opinion of the Committee, be combined with the Official Receivership, and this combination would be the more appropriate because both offices are directly connected with the High Court and with proceedings pending on the Original Side of that Court. The Official Assignee is appointed by the Chief Justice under section 14 of the Indian Insolvency Act, 1848 (11 & 12 Vict., c. 21), while the existence of the Official Receiver is entirely dependent upon the orders of the High Court, which purport to be passed in pursuance of section 503 of the Code of Civil Procedure (Act XIV of 1882).

"Both the Administrator General and the Official Trustee of Bengal are appointed by the Government under the Administrator General's Act, 1874 (II of 1874), and the Official Trustees Act, 1864 (XVII of 1864), respectively, and there seems to be no reason why the same person should not hold both appointments. That there would be no legal objection to such an amalgamation is clear from the fact that the first proviso to section 9 of the Act of 1874 expressly contemplates it.

"The holder of the appointment (of Administrator General and Official Trustee) ought, in the opinion of the Committee, to be a barrister, and he should be debarred from general practice and from undertaking, otherwise than in his official capacity, any executorship or trusteeship. The mere fact of his being a Government servant in receipt of a fixed salary from the Treasury would materially alter his position and enable the Government to exercise such supervision over him as it might think fit. It would not be in his interest either to keep, or to refrain from keeping an estate in the Administration Department of the office rather than in the other branch, and one of the grounds of complaint which has been suggested, would then probably disappear. But, in order to place him still more under control, the Committee would recommend that power be taken for the High Court, similar to that conferred by section 1 (4) of the Judicial Trustees Act, 1896 (59 & 60 Vict., c. 35), either on request or without request, to give such general or special directions in regard to any administration or trust as might to it seem right and proper.

"The Government would be credited with all the receipts, and it would, per contra, bear all the charges, accepting, of course, the entire responsibility connected with the administration of estates through its officers, and probably safeguarding the interests of the public by requiring such security as is now furnished by the Administrator General.

"The Committee have further considered the question whether section 56 of the Administrator General's Act, 1874, ought to be repealed or maintained, and their conclusion is that it ought to be repealed as soon as vested interests admit. The Committee believe that, if the action of the Administrator General is brought under some sort of supervision and control, such as is contemplated by this report, there is but little danger of the public preferring private agency-houses to official administration. If, on the other hand, official administration is unsatisfactory and nothing is done to improve it, they think that the public ought not to be precluded from employing private agency.'

"These views appeared to be in themselves well-considered, reasonable and sound; they were endorsed both by the Government of Bengal and by the Calcutta High Court; and, emanating as they did from such high authority and with such support, neither the Government of India nor the Secretary of State felt any hesitation in accepting them and deciding that they should be acted upon as soon as the occasion presented itself. Meantime, however, we had grave reasons for believing that, quite apart from the question whether the office of Administrator General should be filled by a salaried officer of the Government or by a practically independent official, the public were not fully satisfied with the manner in which the office was being actually administered. The Government determined, therefore, to appoint a Committee, presided over by a Judge of the Calcutta High Court and including the Comptroller General and an experienced Divisional Commissioner to advise on matters connected with finance and the management of estates in the mufassil. The late Mr. Broughton had, in answer to certain inquiries made of him, maintained that his system of administration and management was perfectly sound and complete, and had frankly asked for an inspection of his office. Mr. Justice Sale's Committee was requested to accept this invitation and to report the result. In due course they submitted the following recommendations to the Government:—

- "(1) that the remuneration of the Administrator General by commission should be abolished and that he should be remunerated by salary, carrying with it a pension;
- "(2) that the Administrator General should have a Deputy, also remunerated by salary;

"(3) that the Government should accept responsibility for mistakes and errors in the future administration of estates by the Administrator General;

"(4) that the office-establishment should be strengthened and the work re-arranged; and

"(5) that the repeal of section 56 of Act II of 1874 should be accompanied by proper provision being made for the exercise of control over non-official administrators, especially as regards the charging of commission and the keeping and auditing of accounts.

"These recommendations were supported by facts which supplied full confirmation of the view that a change in the method of administration was demanded in the public interests; and, as to the sequel, I need add only this, that the late Mr. Broughton tendered his resignation with effect from the 1st of January. From what I have now stated, it will, I sincerely trust, be manifest that the Government of India, have from first to last, acted on the best advice at their command and with due regard to the interests of the public.

"I hope, My Lord, to move at the next meeting of the Council that the Report of the Select Committee, which I have had the honour to present to-day, be taken into consideration, and that the Bill, which, it will be seen, has been materially simplified and revised by the Committee, be passed."

The Hon'ble MR. RALEIGH said:—"My Hon'ble Colleague has given the history of the Bill now reported. I ask leave to add a few words on the legal effect of the Bill, on the alterations made in Committee, and on some of the objections which have been taken to the measure out of doors.

"The Select Committee has accepted the proposal to make further provision for combining the offices of Administrator General and Official Trustee. It has been contended that the work of the two offices is more than one man can undertake; but we are not in fact proposing that one man should do the work of two; the Bill makes provision for the appointment of a Deputy. Government has accepted amendments, the effect of which will be that the Administrator General will always be a barrister, while the Deputy may be either a barrister or solicitor. It was suggested that the higher appointment should also be open to solicitors, but the Committee came to the conclusion that, if the head of the office possesses the higher qualification, his opinion will be more readily accepted when legal questions arise in the course of administration. It must be admitted that the interests of the Bar are to some extent affected by the Bill. An officiating appointment now reserved for barristers will be open to another branch of the Profession; and the position of Administrator General, though we are perhaps making it more secure, will not be so lucrative as it has been in the past. I regret that the Bill should have this incidental effect, but in framing a measure of this kind we have to consider, first and chiefly, the interest of the public.

"In a letter addressed to the Government of India by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, objection is taken to the proposed combination of offices, apparently on the ground that the two officers in question are appointed by different authorities. 'Official Trustees', so the letter runs, 'are appointed by the Chief Justices of Bengal, Madras and Bombay'. The gentleman who supplied this statement to the Chamber must, I think, have used a copy of Act XVII of 1864, without inquiring whether the law had undergone any change in the ensuing 38 years. The appointment of Official Trustees is vested in Government, and this has been the law since 1890.

"Clause 3 of the Bill contains the necessary provisions for making the Administrator General a salaried officer of Government. It is now a principle, very generally accepted, that where a Government office is paid by commission or fees for services rendered, the heads of the office should be remunerated by salary, and the profits (if any) should be taken by Government. Where this is not the case, the office becomes an independent concern, and defects in its procedure are not easily corrected. When, for example, the public began to complain of delays and abuses in the office of the Administrator General of Bengal, we could only refer to the Administrator General himself, until at last the complaints became so serious as to demand a formal inquiry.

"In drafting clause 3, certain general words were used to make it clear that Government on taking over the office will be entitled to all profits, and will meet all liabilities. These general words were interpreted in some quarters as indicating a design on the part of Government to alter fundamentally the present methods of administration, and to appropriate, in some unexplained manner, the estates of deceased persons. Thus, in a letter addressed to Government by the Calcutta Trades Association, it is suggested that 'the scheme and main object of the Bill is to legalise what otherwise would amount to a breach of trust; and thereby to afford an additional source of revenue to Government'. I do not quite grasp the meaning of this, nor am I aware of anything in the declarations or the conduct of this Government which justifies these apprehensions and suspicions. But, as our clause was misunderstood, the Select Committee has taken it to pieces, leaving out any words which might be construed as going beyond the purpose of the Bill, and inserting new provisions which ought to make the position clear. We do not propose to make any subversive change in present methods; the Bill, when it becomes an Act, will be read together with the principal Act. As stated in the Report, accounts will be kept and estates managed as heretofore; decrees and orders of the Courts will operate as they do now. That is the intention of Government; if the Bill as amended does not express that intention, there is still time to consider any suggestion for its improvement.

"Before leaving clause 3, I must deal with an objection which is urged in the letter of the Chamber of Commerce. It is there argued that 'the constitution of the office both of Administrator General and Official Trustee is that of a corporation sole'; and that the effect of the Bill is 'to extinguish the offices in question, and to repeal the material provisions of the existing Acts'. On this I would remark, in the first place, that, when the Legislature creates a corporation, express words are usually employed for the purpose; and in this connexion I may refer, by way of illustration, to the Act of Parliament, 39 & 40 Vict., c. 18, by which the Solicitor to the Treasury was made a corporation sole. The office of Administrator General was constituted by Act VII of 1840, amended and re-enacted by Act VIII of 1855, then by Act XXIV of 1867, and finally by Act II of 1874, which is now in force. In these Acts there are no express words of incorporation; but it may be admitted that on some important points a corporate character has been given to this office. Under section 29 of the principal Act, letters of administration are granted to the Administrator General by his name of office; under section 33, estates and interests vested in the Administrator General are divested when he vacates his office, and vest in his successor immediately on his appointment; and under section 34, suits and other proceedings commenced by or against an Administrator General in his representative character are brought by or against him in his name of office. It seems to me doubtful, in point of law, whether these sections, taken together, amount to the constitution of a corporation sole, and the language of section 34 is not easy to reconcile with the theory now put forward. But, supposing the theory to be correct, has it any practical bearing on this Bill? Assuming that the Administrator General is a corporation, there is not and never was, anything in this Bill to deprive him of that status. If the adviser of the Chamber is under the impression that a salaried officer cannot be a corporation, I may refer once more to the case of the Solicitor to the Treasury.

"The case of the Official Trustee is on the same footing as that of the Administrator General. Under section 17 of the Act of 1864, he is appointed to act in any case by his name of office; and under section 18, suits and other proceedings are brought by or against him by his name of office. I should think it incautious to say, on the strength of these provisions, that the Official Trustee is a corporation sole; but if he is, the Bill will not alter his position.

"Your Lordship may perhaps think that I am asking the attention of Council to matters fit only for a court of law. But I am constrained to deal with these matters here, because this legal reasoning has been used to excite alarm in the general community, to persuade a body of business men, that Government has brought in a dangerous Bill. I cannot argue the Trades Association and the Chamber of Commerce out of their present frame of mind, except by showing them that their criticism has been directed against an imaginary Government and an imaginary Bill.

"In clause 6 of the Bill referred to the Select Committee, it was proposed to confer a rule-making power on the High Courts. For the reasons given in the Report, that proposal has been dropped, but there is one small part of it which I should like very briefly to mention. It is commonly known that an executor, who owes his appointment to the confidence of his testator, is not usually required to furnish security when he enters on the administration of the estate. The Judges of the High Court say he should only find security when he is insolvent or in embarrassed circumstances. But in this small class of cases we proposed that the Judges should determine by rule who should give security, and in what form. I was prepared to suggest a verbal amendment in clause 6, sub-clause (1) (a); but I was not prepared for the remarkable argument which has been founded upon it. It was at once assumed that the High Court would make an oppressive rule, requiring all executors to give security, and fixing the amount without regard to circumstances. The Court was to do this, not of its own accord but at the instigation of Government; and the object of Government was to make the private executor's position so burdensome and so embarrassing that he would be driven to transfer the estate to the Administrator General. This piece of morbid fiction has attained a considerable circulation in the present month. Your Lordship will observe that the Government is accused of an unscrupulous design to create a monopoly in favour of the Administrator General—and this at the very moment when, by repealing section 56 of the principal Act, we are admitting private persons to compete with the Administrator General.

"I trust, My Lord, that the explanations given to-day will remove some at least of the many misconceptions which have gathered round this Bill."

IMPERIAL LIBRARY (INDENTURES VALIDATION) BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. RALEIGH moved that the Bill to confirm and validate certain indentures made between the Agricultural and Horticultural Society of India and the Calcutta Public Library, respectively, and the Secretary of State for India in Council be taken into consideration.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. RALEIGH moved that the Bill be passed. He said:—"The objects of this Bill were fully explained by Your Lordship, and by myself, at the time of its introduction. No objection has been received to anything in the Bill and Schedules, and I now move that the Bill be passed."

The Hon'ble MR. TURNER said:—"Before this Bill is passed, I desire to take this opportunity of congratulating Your Excellency's Government in having arrived at so satisfactory an agreement as that which will be legalised by the passing of the Bill. As a member of the Horticultural Society, I was under the painful necessity of attending meetings at the Metcalfe Hall, and it invariably struck me that the condition of that historic hall was a reproach and a disgrace to Calcutta. Under the new conditions, this, My Lord, will be impossible in the future, and that alone in itself is a worthy object that has been attained. But, apart from that, the arrangements made have enabled a deserving and useful Society—the Agri-Horticultural Society—to acquit itself of certain liabilities. It has also enabled the Government of India to form the nucleus of a most valuable Public Library of reference—a library which, I believe, will be of inestimable value to those of the present and future generations. I think, My Lord, that the thanks of the public are due to Your Excellency, and also to His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, for having brought about such a happy result."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned to Friday, the 14th February, 1902.

Rainfall summary for the past seven days, ending at 8 a.m. on Thursday, the 6th February 1902, based on the India Daily
Weather Reports of the period.

The general weather over India has remained fine and clear and the drought which has been the main feature of the weather of the past two months has continued unabated. The storm which entered North-West India on the 27th January and which lay over the North-West Provinces on the 30th January, continued to march eastward along the hills and filled up over Bengal on the 1st February; it exercised no effect on the weather which remained steadily fine in its neighbourhood; showers have, however, continued in Assam during the week and have, on the whole, been somewhat heavier than in the preceding week. Dibrugarh received rain on the 31st January, 1st February and 6th February; Sibsagar on the 31st January and the 6th of February; Tezpur on the 5th February and Silchar on the 31st January. In addition to the above a heavy local fall of rain occurred at Mergui on the 4th February and a very light shower at Moulmein on the 6th. The preceding were practically the only falls of rain in India and Burma, but the weather has been feebly unsettled and snowy or rainy in parts of Baluchistan and Kashmir during the week, and these unsettled conditions gave a shower to Simla on the 31st January, and to Chakrata on the 5th of February. Trincomalle received light rain on the 3rd.

The rainfall summary shows that effective rain was received during the week in the Burma Coast district and the Brahmaputra Valley. The former was due altogether to the heavy local fall at Mergui and was hence not general over the division, but the latter represents moderate showers over a considerable part of the Assam Valley. In addition, trifling amounts are shown against the Narayanganj sub-division, the Simla sub-division, the Baluchistan division and the Madras Coast division. The whole of the remainder of India was rainless throughout the week.

The period covered by the last portion of the rainfall statement includes the ten weeks from the 29th November 1901 to 6th February 1902, and the total rainfall of those ten weeks amounts to 13" in the East Coast (South) division, to 5" in the Madras sub-division, to 2" in the Calicut sub-division and to 1" in the Simla sub-division and the Brahmaputra division; over the whole of the remainder of India the total rainfall of the period has been less than 1". It has been less than 0·10" in the following sub-divisions, viz:—Narayanganj, Calcutta, Darbhanga, Burdwan, Lahore, Ranchi, Raipur, Bombay, Rajkot, and Hyderabad as well as over the whole of the North-West Dry Area, and has been less than 0·10" in practically all parts of the plains of India except the Assam Valley and the south

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, the 1st February, 1902.

Madras.—There was no rain during the week. Water supplies are sufficient for irrigation except in parts of the Deccan. Ploughing, sowing and transplanting continue in parts. Standing crops generally are in good condition. Harvesting continues with fair yield. Pasture is scanty in parts of the Deccan. Fodder is sufficient. The condition of cattle is good. Prices are falling or stationary. Test works at Cuddapah have been closed.

Bombay.—No rain fell during the week. The rainfall was insufficient in parts of Gujarat, the Deccan and Bijapur. WHEREAS by His Royal Proclamations bearing date the twenty-sixth day of June and the tenth day of December 1901, His Imperial Majesty KING EDWARD VII, EMPEROR OF INDIA, has declared His Royal intention to celebrate the Solemnity of His Royal Coronation and that of his dearly beloved Consort

THE QUEEN upon the twenty-sixth day of June 1902, I now hereby publicly notify under this my hand and seal, as Viceroy and Governor-General of India, that it is my intention to hold at Delhi, on the first day of January 1903, an Imperial Darbar for the purpose of celebrating in His Majesty's Indian dominions this solemn and auspicious event.

To this Darbar I propose to invite the Governors, Lieutenant-Governors, and Heads of Administrations, from all parts of His Majesty's Indian dominions; the Princes, Chiefs, and Nobles of the Native States under His Majesty's protection; and representatives, both European and Native, of all the Provinces of this great Empire.

Board of Agriculture,

4, Whitehall Place, S. W. ;
12th December 1901.

No. A.-9443—1901.

SIR,

I am directed by the Board of Agriculture to advert to their letters of the 4th March 1899 and the 10th August 1900 on the subject of the Importation of Dogs Order of 1897 and the Memoranda issued thereunder, and I am to say that, in view of the fact that rabies, whilst very prevalent abroad, is believed to have been finally eradicated in the United Kingdom, it has been considered a favourable opportunity to issue regulations which, although not differing in character from those at present in force in so far as they require all dogs landed from abroad to undergo a period of quarantine, yet lay down more specific and stringent rules on the subject.

I am accordingly to forward to you (under separate cover) 500 copies of the Importation of Dogs Order of 1901; and of a Memorandum and 1,000 copies of a leaflet thereon, and to ask you to be so good as to move the Secretary of State to give directions, as on previous occasions, for the transmission of copies to His Excellency the Governor General of India, and to Their Excellencies the Governors of Madras and Bombay, for the information of those concerned. As indicated in their letter of the 4th March 1899 referred to, the Board think it especially desirable that information on this subject should be circulated in the various military stations in India.

The Regulations previously issued under the Importation of Dogs Order of 1897 will cease to have effect on the 1st proximo, and it would be convenient that all copies of the Order, and of the Memorandum thereon, No. A-160—A., dated the 8th August 1900, should now be destroyed. It will be observed, however, that the new Order will not have full effect prior to the 15th March next, and in the meantime the landing of dogs, other than performing dogs, which are intended to be kept in this country, will be authorized on conditions substantially the same as those which have hitherto obtained.

I may add for the information of Lord George Hamilton that from and after the 21st instant all restrictions will be removed on the landing in Great Britain of dogs brought from Ireland.

I am, etc.,

T. H. ELLIOTT,
Secretary.

India Office,

The Board of Agriculture, by virtue and in exercise of the powers in them vested under the Diseases of Animals Acts, 1894 and 1896, and of every other power enabling them in this behalf, do order, and it is hereby ordered, as follows :

Restriction on Importation of Dogs.

1. An imported dog, that is to say, a dog brought to Great Britain from any other country, except Ireland, the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man, shall not be landed in Great Britain unless its landing is authorized by a license of the Board previously obtained, and, when landed, it shall be subject to the provisions of this Order and to the conditions inserted in any license authorizing its landing.

Detention and Isolation of Imported Dogs.

2. (1) An imported dog shall, for a period of six calendar months after its landing be detained and isolated at the expense of its owner upon premises in the occupation, or under the control, of a veterinary surgeon, which shall have been previously approved in writing by the Board for that purpose, and such premises are in this Order referred to as the "place of detention"

(2) During the said period the dog shall not be moved from the place of detention except to another place of detention or to a vessel for exportation, and in either case only with a license of the Board authorizing such movement.

(3) This Article shall not apply to (a) an imported dog which is shown to the satisfaction of the Board to be a bond fide performing dog; or (b) to an imported dog which is intended to be exported from Great Britain within forty-eight hours after its landing; but every such dog shall be subject to the other Articles of this Order.

(4) This Article shall come into operation on the fifteenth day of March one thousand nine hundred and two.

Conditions of License.

3. The Board may insert in any license granted by them under this Order authorizing the landing of an imported dog such conditions as they think necessary or desirable for the following purposes :—

- (ii) for prescribing the person by whom and the premises on which the dog shall be detained and isolated ;
- (iii) for regulating the movement of the dog to the place of detention, or vessel for exportation, and for prohibiting or regulating its movement during a period of six calendar months after its landing, or until its exportation, as the case may be ;
- (iv) for prescribing the confinement of the dog in a suitable hamper, crate, box, or other receptacle during the movement of the dog by railway, or along a highway or thoroughfare ;
- (v) for prescribing the mode of isolation of the dog ;
- (vi) for prescribing the muzzling of the dog ;

Notice of Detention in case of Illegal Landing.

4. (1) Where an imported dog has been landed in contravention of this Order or of any Order hereby revoked, the Board, or an Inspector of the Board, may give notice to the owner or person in charge of the dog requiring that, within a time specified in such notice, the dog shall be moved (a) to a vessel for exportation, or (b) to a place of detention for the purpose of detention and isolation in accordance with the provisions of such notice.

(2) Such provisions may be inserted in the notice as the Board may think necessary or desirable for any of the purposes mentioned in the preceding Article.

(3) A notice under this Article may, subject to any instructions issued by the Board, be given by an Inspector of the Local Authority.

(4) If the owner or person in charge of the dog, after receipt of such notice, fails to move the dog as required by the notice, he shall be deemed guilty of an offence against the Act of 1894.

Withdrawal of License in cases of Default.

5. (1) If the owner or person in charge of an imported dog is convicted of an offence under this Order in relation to the dog, the Board, or an Inspector of the Board, may give notice to such owner or person in charge, requiring him to move the dog to a vessel for exportation within a time specified in such notice.

(2) If the owner or person in charge of the dog, after receipt of such notice, fails to move the dog as required by the notice, he shall be deemed guilty of an offence against the Act of 1894.

Re-landing prohibited of Imported Dogs moved to Vessels for Exportation.

6. An imported dog which has been moved to a vessel for exportation in accordance with a license or notice under this Order shall not be re-landed in Great Britain without a license of the Board authorizing such landing.

Seizure of Dogs in case of Default.

7. (1) If an imported dog is not detained and isolated as required by this Order or by the conditions or provisions of any license or notice thereunder, an Inspector of the Board may seize the dog, and thereupon the Board shall detain and isolate it at the place of detention specified in the license or notice, or any other place of detention selected by them in accordance with requirements of this Order or the said conditions or provisions.

(2) If the owner of the dog does not, within ten days after the expiration of the period of detention specified in this Order or in the license or notice, claim the said dog from the Board and pay to them their expenses of detaining and isolating the dog, the Board may destroy or otherwise dispose of the dog as they think expedient.

Proceedings under Customs Acts for Unlawful Landing.

8. (1) If any person lands or attempts to land a dog in contravention of this Order, he shall be liable, under and according to the Customs Acts, to the penalties imposed on persons importing or attempting to import goods the importation whereof is prohibited by or under the Customs Acts, without prejudice to any proceedings against him under the Act of 1894 for an offence against that Act.

(2) The dog in respect whereof the offence is committed shall be forfeited under and according to the Customs Acts in like manner as goods the importation whereof is prohibited by or under the Customs Acts.

Detention of Dogs on Vessels in Port.

9. (1) Every dog to which this Article applies shall at all times while on board a vessel in any port in Great Britain be—

(a) secured to some part of the vessel by a collar and chain and muzzled with a wire cage muzzle so constructed as to render it impossible for such dog while wearing the same to bite any person or animal, but not so as to prevent such dog from breathing freely or lapping water; or

(b) confined in an enclosed part of the vessel from which the dog cannot escape.

(2) If any dog to which this Article applies shall die, or be lost from a vessel, in any port in Great Britain, the person in charge of the dog shall forthwith give notice of such death or loss to the Board.

(3) The provisions of this Article shall apply to every imported dog which is not accompanied by a license issued by the Board authorizing the landing of such dog in Great Britain.

Extension of certain Sections of Diseases of Animals Act, 1894.

10. Dogs shall be animals, and rabies shall be a disease, for the purposes of the following sections of the Act of 1894 (namely):—

Section forty-three (powers of police);

Section forty-four (powers of inspectors);

Section fifty-six (unlawful landing); and also for the purposes of all other sections of the said Act containing provisions relative to or consequent on the provisions of those sections and this Order, including such sections as relate to offences and legal proceedings.

Local Authority to enforce Order.

11. The provisions of this Order, except where it is otherwise provided, shall be executed and enforced by the Local Authority.

Offences.

12. (1) If a dog is landed in contravention of this Order, the owner and the charterer and the master of the vessel from which it is landed, and the owner of the dog, and the person for the time being in charge thereof, and the person causing, directing, or permitting the landing, and the person landing the same, and the consignee or other person receiving or keeping it knowing it to have been landed in contravention as aforesaid, shall, each according to and in respect of his own acts and defaults, be deemed guilty of an offence against the Act of 1894.

(2) If a dog is moved in contravention of this Order, or of the conditions or provisions of a license or notice thereunder, the owner of the dog, and the person for the time being in charge thereof, and the person causing, directing, or permitting the movement and the person moving the dog, and the consignee or other person receiving or keeping it knowing it to have been moved in contravention as aforesaid, and the occupier of the place from which the dog is moved, shall, each according to and in respect of his own acts and defaults, be deemed guilty of an offence against the Act of 1894.

(3) If a dog is not kept isolated as required by this Order, or by the conditions or provisions of a license or notice thereunder, the owner of the dog, and the person for the time being in charge thereof, and the occupier of the place where such dog is detained, and the person failing or neglecting to isolate the dog, shall, each according to and in respect of his own acts, defaults, or omissions, be deemed guilty of an offence against the Act of 1894.

(4) If a dog is not secured, muzzled, or confined as required by this Order, or by the conditions or provisions of a license or notice thereunder, the owner of the dog, and the person for the time being in charge thereof, and the master of any vessel on board which the dog is or has been carried to Great Britain, shall, each according to and in respect of his own acts and defaults, be deemed guilty of an offence against the Act of 1894.

(5) If a person with a view to unlawfully evade or defeat the operation of this Order or of the conditions or provisions of a license or notice thereunder, allows a dog to stray, he shall be deemed guilty of an offence against the Act of 1894.

(6) If the owner or person in charge of a dog fails to give, produce, or do any notice, license, or thing which by this Order, or by the conditions or provisions of a license or notice thereunder, he is required to give, produce, or do, he shall be deemed guilty of an offence against the Act of 1894.

Revocation of Orders.

13. (1) The Orders described in the Schedule to this Order are hereby from and after the commencement of this Order revoked: Provided that such revocation shall not invalidate or make unlawful anything done under any Order hereby revoked, or affect any license or authority granted, or any right, title, obligation, or liability accrued thereunder before the commencement of this Order, or interfere with the institution or prosecution of any proceeding in respect of any offence committed against, or any penalty incurred under, any Order hereby revoked before the commencement of this Order.

BOARD OF AGRICULTURE

IMPORTATION OF DOGS ORDER OF 1901.

The Board of Agriculture desire to draw the attention of Local Authorities and of the public generally to the provisions of this Order, which regulates the landing in Great Britain of dogs brought from any country except Ireland, the Channel Islands, or the Isle of Man.

This Order, which consolidates and amends the Importation of Dogs Order of 1897 and the Orders amending it, takes effect from the 1st of January 1902, except as to Article 2, which is particularly referred to hereafter. It will be observed that no imported dog is allowed to be landed in Great Britain without a license of the Board of Agriculture obtained previous to landing.

Until the 15th March next, the landing of dogs will be authorized under substantially the same conditions as to detention and isolation as have hitherto obtained. After the 15th March, the landing of dogs will be subject to Article 2 of the Order, which expressly provides that every imported dog must be detained and isolated at the expense of its owner upon premises in the occupation or under the control of a veterinary surgeon, which shall have been previously approved in writing by the Board for that purpose, for a period of six calendar months, during which period the dog may not be moved from the place of detention except as provided in that Article. This Article does not apply in the case of an imported dog which is intended to be exported from Great Britain within forty-eight hours, or of a performing dog, with regard to the detention and isolation of which special conditions will be imposed by the license authorizing its landing.

CONDITIONS OF LICENSES.

The Board may insert in any license granted by them authorizing the landing of an imported dog such further conditions as they think necessary or desirable for prescribing and regulating the detention and isolation of the dog, upon the place of detention authorized in the license, or for any of the purposes set forth in Article 3 of the Order.

Every dog which is brought to Great Britain from any other country except Ireland, the Channel Islands or the Isle of Man, and which is not accompanied by a license issued by the Board of Agriculture authorizing the landing of the dog in Great Britain, must at all times while on board a vessel in any port in Great Britain be (a) secured to some part of the vessel by a collar and chain and muzzled with a wire cage muzzle so constructed as to render it impossible for such dog while wearing the same to bite any person or animal, but not so as to prevent such dog from breathing freely or lapping water; or (b) confined in an enclosed part of the vessel, from which the dog cannot escape. And if any such dog die, or be lost from such a vessel, the person in charge of the dog is required forthwith to give notice of such death or loss to the Board.

The Memorandum A.-160—A, as to the Importation of Dogs into Great Britain from abroad, dated the 8th August 1900, will cease to have effect when Article 2 of this Order comes into operation.

In order that as little inconvenience as possible may be caused in the enforcement of the Order, the Board trust that local authorities will assist them by taking steps to make its contents known as widely as possible in their districts.

Secretary.

DISEASES OF ANIMALS ACTS, 1894 AND 1896.

Importation of Dogs into Great Britain.

On and after the 1st day of January 1902, the landing in Great Britain of dogs from abroad will only be permitted subject to the provisions of the Importation of Dogs Order of 1901, which in effect requires that after the 15th of March next every imported dog shall be detained and isolated at the expense of its owner upon premises in the occupation or under the control of a veterinary surgeon for a period of six calendar months from the date of landing.

Until the 15th of March next dogs will be allowed to land upon conditions substantially the same as at present.

The disease of rabies having ceased to exist both in Great Britain and in Ireland, it has become of the utmost importance that the most effective steps should be taken to prevent its re-introduction from abroad, and the Board have felt it incumbent upon them, in the interests of dog-owners in this country, to amend their regulations in the manner above described, and to warn persons who may propose to travel that after the above-mentioned date the isolation and detention of dogs on the private premises of their owners can no longer be sanctioned.

By the Dogs Landing (from Ireland) Revocation Order of 1901, the restrictions on the movement of dogs between Ireland and Great Britain have been removed.

READ—

Despatch to His Majesty's Secretary of State for India, No. 349, dated the 7th November, 1901.
Despatch from His Majesty's Secretary of State for India, No. 207 (Financial), dated the 20th December, 1901.

RESOLUTION.—With the sanction of His Majesty's Secretary of State, the Governor General in Council has approved of the institution of a Provident Fund for the officers of the Northern India Salt Revenue Department.

2. The rules under which the Fund will for the present be conducted are attached to this Resolution

3. Subscriptions to the Fund should first be made on salaries becoming due on the 1st of April, 1902

ORDER.—Ordered, that this Resolution be forwarded to the Commissioner, Northern India Salt Revenue, with reference to his letter No. 2822, dated the 5th October, 1901; to the Comptroller and Auditor General; and to the Comptroller, India Treasuries, for information Ordered also, that the Resolution be published in the Gazette of India.

NORTHERN INDIA SALT REVENUE DEPARTMENT PROVIDENT FUND.

1. Preamble.

I.—The institution of a Provident Fund under the conditions specified in Rule II is sanctioned for officers of the Northern India Salt Revenue Department of or above the rank of Assistant Superintendent

2. Qualifications.

II.—The following officers will be required to subscribe to the Fund:—

(a) All European and Eurasian officers appointed in future, whether married or unmarried, from the date of their appointment.

(b) All European and Eurasian married officers already in the service, excepting those who may be specially exempted under the orders of the Commissioner, Northern India Salt Revenue, in each case on production of evidence to the satisfaction of the Commissioner that their families are adequately secured against want by subscription to the Uncovenanted Service Family Pension Fund, or in other suitable manner.

Note.—For the purposes of this rule, the term "married officers" includes widowers with children, but excludes widowers without children. The latter are held to be "unmarried" for the purpose of Rule II (c).

(c) European and Eurasian officers at present in the service and now unmarried, on their marrying, except as provided in Rule II (b) above.

III.—Officers who are exempted from subscribing to the Fund under Rule II (b) or (c) shall be required to produce annually such evidence as shall satisfy the Commissioner, Northern India Salt Revenue, that the provision on account of which exemption is claimed is duly continued.

IV.—European and Eurasian officers other than those required to subscribe under Rule II and Native officers shall have the option of subscribing to the Fund. Officers with whom subscription to the Fund is optional may discontinue or renew their subscriptions at their option.

3. Subscriptions.

V.—The conditions under which officers will join the Fund are as follows:—

(1) The monthly deposit may not be less than 5 per cent or more than 10 per cent on the salary (as defined in the Civil Service Regulations) of each depositor for the month.

(2) An officer on leave of any kind may at his option subscribe any sum he pleases subject to a minimum of 5 per cent on his leave allowances and a maximum of 10 per cent on the salary he drew when last on duty.

VI.—Deposits will be recovered by deduction from bills, except in the following cases, in which they may be made in cash in India:—

Receipts of deposits.

- (1) When an officer draws his leave allowances out of India.
- (2) When an officer is on leave without allowances.
- (3) When an officer is in foreign service.

Cash subscriptions must be remitted by depositors to the Secretary of the Fund. Receipts and payments will be made in rupees only.

Arrear subscriptions of voluntary deposits are never allowed. Arrear subscriptions are permissible in the case of compulsory deposits, and their recovery will be enforced, even though it may result in a recovery in excess of the limit of 10 per cent of the salary from which it is made.

4. Benefits.

VII.—Compound interest at 4 per cent on the payments made will be annually credited by Government to each officer subscribing. The Government may at any time, at its option, and without giving any right to withdrawal of subscriptions, reduce the rate of interest to any rate not less than half per cent in excess of that at which it is raising rupee loans in India.

VIII.—Interest will be allowed for each calendar month upon the minimum balance of the depositor's account between the close of the fourth day and the end of the month. In calculating interest under this rule, the deposits received by deduction from salary will be considered as paid into the Fund on the 1st of the month succeeding that for which the salaries from which the deductions are made are due. The interest will be calculated monthly, but will not be added to principal until the end of the official year, except when the account is to be finally closed in consequence of the depositors dying or quitting the service. Interest will be allowed up to the end of the month in which the depositor dies, or which immediately precedes that in which he quits the service, whether the balance at credit is withdrawn before or after the end of that month.

IX.—As exceptions to the rule that subscriptions realised by deduction from pay bills are to be considered for the purpose of calculating interest as paid into the Fund on the 1st of the month succeeding that for which the salaries from which the deductions are made are due:

- (1) Deductions made from salaries paid in advance owing to transfer or long leave out of India are to be considered, in the case of the former, as having been made on the date on which an officer is relieved of his duties, and, in the case of the latter, as having been made on the date on which the Account Office pays up an officer prior to embarkation.
- (2) Deductions from salaries paid in arrears in consequence of promotion given with retrospective effect should be considered as having been made on the first of the month in which the arrears are drawn.

In the case of reversions made with retrospective effect, the write-back of the amount originally recovered in conformity with the rules should be considered as having been made on the first of the month in which the recovery is effected.

X.—The sum which will thus accumulate to the credit of an officer will be his absolute property, to be handed over to him unconditionally on quitting the service, or, in the event of his death before retirement, to his legal representatives. Government will not be bound by or recognise any assignment or trust executed or attempted to be created by any officer during his lifetime, and will only make payments (1) during the lifetime of the officer on his own receipt; (2) after his death, in accordance with rule XI below.

XI.—The balances of deceased depositors are regulated by the Indian Succession Act (X of 1865), the Administrator General's Act (II of 1874) and the Succession Certificate Act (VII of 1889), in cases where the balance at credit of the deceased member exceeds two thousand rupees; and in cases where the balance at credit does not exceed two thousand rupees, by section 3 of the Provident Funds Act (IX of 1897), which is quoted below:—

Section 3.—(1) When a subscriber to, or depositor in, any Government or Railway Provident Fund dies, and the sum standing to his credit in the Books of the Fund does not exceed two thousand rupees, the officer or person whose duty it is to make payment of such sum may pay it as follows:—

- (a) He may pay it to any person entitled to receive it according to the rules of the Fund, or, in the absence of any rule of the Fund to the contrary, to any person nominated in writing by the deceased subscriber or depositor to receive it;
- (b) in any case not hereinbefore provided for, he may pay it to any person appearing to him to be entitled to receive it.

(2) The provisions of sub-section (1) shall apply to any such sum which, at the commencement of this Act, stands to the credit of any subscriber or depositor already deceased.

(3) Nothing in this section shall affect the validity of the rules of any Fund in so far as such rules may provide for the disposal of sums exceeding two thousand rupees.

5. Advances.

XII.—No withdrawal will ordinarily be allowed from the deposit until the depositor quits the service or dies. But on the Commissioner, Northern India Salt Revenue, being satisfied that the pecuniary circumstances of a depositor are such that the indulgence is absolutely necessary, a deposit may be temporarily withdrawn under orders issued by the Commissioner—

- (i) to pay for the passage of the depositor going on leave out of India on medical certificate or returning after such absence ;
- (ii) to pay for the passage of any member of the depositor's family coming from beyond the sea to join him, or going beyond sea, sick, or from some urgent cause.

XIII.—Before authorising a withdrawal under the above rule, the Commissioner, Northern India Salt Revenue, should ascertain from the Account Officer that the withdrawal is covered by the amount at credit, and no payment may be made, save under the orders of the Account Officer.

XIV.—Withdrawals under Rule XII will be recovered in twenty equal monthly instalments compulsorily deducted from salary in addition to contributions under Rule V, whenever full salary is drawn, until the whole is refunded. Such instalments may be paid in advance.

6. Procedure.

XV.—The deposits received under the foregoing rules will be credited on the books of the Government to an account named "Northern India Salt Revenue Department Provident Fund." The administration of the Fund will rest with the Commissioner, Northern India Salt Revenue. The Secretary of the Fund will be the Account Officer of the Fund, that is, the Comptroller, India Treasuries.

XVI.—As soon as possible after the close of each year, each depositor will receive a statement of his account with interest made up to 31st March. Depositors are required to satisfy themselves as to the correctness of these statements; and, unless errors in them are brought to the notice of the officer rendering the account within one month from the date of their receipt, Government will not be responsible for any sums not thus acknowledged.

XVII.—Any depositor may, once in the official year, but not oftener, receive on application to the Comptroller, India Treasuries, a copy of his account for the last official year and for so many months of the current year as may have been posted and agreed.

TELEGRAPH DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATION.

PUBLICATION OF THE NEW OFFICIAL VOCABULACY.

No. 43.—At the International Telegraph Conference held at Paris in 1890, it was resolved that the International Office of the Telegraph Administrations at Berne should prepare an Official Vocabulary, or Book of Code words, admissible in telegrams composed, partly, or wholly, of preconcerted language, that is to say, of words, which, while presenting in the case of each an intrinsic sense, do not form phrases intelligible to the Administrations engaged in their transmission.

2. The first edition of this Vocabulary was published in 1895, but its compilation, in which an attempt was made, in the selection of words to secure telegraphic, caligraphic, orthographic and phonetic accuracy, failed to satisfy the requirements of "phrase Code" users, and met with much opposition from the leading Chambers of Commerce and other Commercial bodies throughout the world. The Conference held at Budapest in July, 1896, therefore decided that a second edition should be prepared.

3. The second edition, or, as it is styled, the "New Official Vocabulary" differs from the first in this, that it is a mere list of words, absolutely free from the dispositions and arrangements which might give it the character of a Code. About 1,300,000 words of the eight languages (English, German, French, Italian, Dutch, Spanish, Portuguese and Latin) authorised for telegraphic correspondence in preconcerted language appear in the new edition, without being numbered, in alphabetical order, and admitted without consideration as to their orthographic resemblance or their telegraphic and phonetic similarity. To publishers and merchants who will have to prepare their own codes, as in the past, with whatever precautions they consider necessary to secure the correct transmission of their telegrams, this large number of words will afford the means for a selection which should suffice to provide for all necessary safeguards and to meet all possible requirements.

4. The New Official Vocabulary includes the words of the first edition, and in addition to them the words contained in the Codes and private Vocabularies of those publishers and merchants who forwarded them, as requested to the International Office of the Telegraph Administrations at Berne for the purpose of having their words inserted in this edition.

5. It was resolved at the Conference held at Budapest in 1896, that from a date to be fixed by a later Conference, all the words used in private telegrams worded in preconcerted language must be taken from the Official Vocabulary. Even if its use is not made compulsory the "New Official Vocabulary" has this advantage that no telegraph office can take exception to any Code telegram composed entirely of words taken from it. Its employment in India is therefore recommended. It is divided into four volumes, A to D, E to L, M to R, and S to Z, the price of which in India has been fixed as low as possible, viz., Rs 10 each.

6. An appendix has also been published containing words which have been omitted from the above volumes. This appendix will be supplied gratis to purchasers of the whole four volumes.

7. Intending purchasers are requested to apply to the Superintendent, Check Office, Government Telegraph Department, Calcutta. The books will, as a rule, be despatched by value-payable post, but in large presidency towns delivery will be effected by the Central Telegraph Office.

The Cantonments (House-Accommodation) Act, 1902(Chapter I.—Preliminary. Section 1-2. Chapter II.—Application of Act.—Section 3.)

An Act to make better provision for securing house-accommodation for military officers in cantonments.

WHEREAS various conditions, rules, regulations and orders have from time to time been laid down by, or by the authority of, the Government, in regard to the grant of land and the occupation of land and houses in cantonments, with the object of securing, amongst other things, that houses built on such land should be made available when required for the accommodation of military officers;

And whereas, notwithstanding the said conditions, rules, regulations and orders, difficulties have frequently been experienced in obtaining house-accommodation in cantonments for military officers, and it is expedient to make better provision for that purpose;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

CHAPTER I.PRELIMINARY.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Cantonments (House-Accommodation) Act, 1902.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India (inclusive of British Baluchistan), except Aden; and

(3) It shall come into force at once, but it shall not become operative in any cantonment or part of a cantonment until the issue, or otherwise than in pursuance, of a notification as hereinafter provided by section 3.

2. (1) In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "Cantonment Authority" means a Cantonment Committee, or, in the case of a cantonment for which such a Committee has not been constituted, or has ceased to exist, or cannot be convened, the Commanding Officer of the cantonment;

(b) "Command" means one of the principal portions into which the army of India is for the time being divided;

(c) "General Officer of the Command" means the General Officer commanding the forces in a Command;

(d) "house" means a house suitable for occupation by a military officer, and includes the land and buildings appurtenant to such house;

(e) "military officer" means a commissioned or warrant officer of His Majesty's regular forces on military duty in a cantonment, and includes a Chaplain, a Cantonment Magistrate and any person in Army departmental employment whom the General Officer of the Command may at any time, for the purposes of this Act, place on the same footing as a military officer;

(f) "owner" includes the person who is receiving, or is entitled to receive, the rent of any house, whether on his own account or on behalf of himself and others or as an agent or trustee, or who would so receive the rent, or be entitled to receive it, if the house were let to a tenant; and

(g) the expression "repairs" to a house includes such repairs as are usually made to houses in the neighbourhood, but does not include additions, improvements or alterations, except in so far as they are necessary to carry out such repairs as aforesaid or have been made with the owner's consent.

(2) If any question arises whether any land or building is appurtenant to a house, it shall be decided by the Cantonment Magistrate, whose decision thereon shall, subject to revision by the District Magistrate, be final.

CHAPTER II.APPLICATION OF ACT.

3. (1) The Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may, by notification in the local official Gazette, declare this Act to be operative in any cantonment or part of a cantonment situate in the territories under its administration, other than a cantonment situate within the limits of a Presidency-town.

(2) Before issuing a notification under subsection (1) in respect of any cantonment or part of a cantonment, the Local Government shall cause local inquiry to be made with a view to determining whether it is expedient to issue such notification and what portion (if any) of the area proposed to be included therein should be excluded therefrom.

The Cantonments (House-Accommodation) Act, 1902.(Chapter II.—Application of Act.—Section 4. Chapter III.—Appropriation of Houses for Occupation by Military Officers.—Sections 5—10.)

4. Nothing in this Act shall affect the provisions of any written instrument executed by or on behalf of the East India Company or the Government, unless the other party entitled and the Secretary of State for India in Council consent in writing to be bound by the terms of this Act.

CHAPTER III.

APPROPRIATION OF HOUSES FOR OCCUPATION BY MILITARY OFFICERS.

5. Every house situate in a cantonment or part of a cantonment in respect of which a notification under section 3, sub-section (1), is for the time being in force, shall be liable, subject to the provisions hereinafter contained, to appropriation at any time for occupation by a military officer.

6. Where the Cantonment Authority, on application made to it as hereinafter provided by section 8 and subject to the requirements of that section, considers that the liability imposed by section 5 should be enforced on behalf of a military officer, it may, if the house is not already occupied by a military officer, by notice—

- (a) require the owner to let the house to the military officer named in the notice, and
- (b) require the existing occupier (if any) to vacate the same.

7. If a house is already occupied by a departmental military officer, and the Cantonment Authority, on application made to it as hereinafter provided by section 8 and subject to the requirements of that section, considers that the liability imposed by section 5 should be enforced on behalf of a regimental officer, or vice versa, it may, by notice, require the officer in occupation to vacate the house; and may, if necessary, by further notice require the owner to accept the change of tenancy.

8. (1) Where a military officer considers that a notice should be issued in his behalf under section 6 or section 7, as the case may be, he may request the Commanding Officer of his regiment, or (in the case of a departmental military officer) the local head of his department, to make an application to that effect to the Cantonment Authority.

(2) On receipt of an application made under sub-section (1), the Cantonment Authority shall inquire into the case, and it shall not issue the notice applied for unless it is satisfied—

- (a) that it is necessary or expedient for the military officer to reside in the cantonment, or, if this Act is in force in part of the cantonment only, then in that part;
- (b) that the circumstances are such as to require its intervention;
- (c) that the monthly rent proposed for the house is reasonable; and
- (d) that the house is suitable for the residence of the officer and, if it is occupied, that there is no vacant house in the cantonment or the said part of the cantonment, as the case may be, which is suitable for his residence.

Explanation I.—Where the rent of a house is registered in the office of the Cantonment Authority, the rent so registered shall be presumed, until the contrary is shown, to be the reasonable rent for the house.

Explanation II.—In considering whether a house is suitable for the residence of a military officer, regard shall be had to—

- (i) the locality in which his duties chiefly lie,
- (ii) his rank, and
- (iii) the number of persons dependent upon, and residing with, him.

9. Every notice to an owner issued under section 6 or section 7 shall state the amount of monthly rent proposed as reasonable for the house.

10. (1) No house in any cantonment or part of a cantonment in which this Act has been declared by a notification under section 3, sub-section (1), to be operative shall, unless it was so occupied at the date of such notification, be occupied for the purposes of a hospital, bank, hotel, shop or school, or by a railway administration, without the previous sanction of the General Officer of the Command, given with the concurrence of the Local Government.

(2) Before application is made for such sanction as aforesaid, the Commanding Officer of the cantonment shall certify whether or not in his opinion the number of houses in the cantonment, as compared with the strength of the existing or probable garrison, renders it likely that such occupation as aforesaid would—

- (a) cause any difficulty in obtaining accommodation in the cantonment, or in the part of the cantonment in which the house is situate, for military officers, or
- (b) necessitate the acquisition of land at some future time for the extension of the cantonment.

II. No notice shall be issued under section 6, if the house—

Houses not to be appropriated for military officers in certain cases.

- (a) was occupied prior to the date of a notification under section 3, sub-section (1), declaring the Act to be operative in the cantonment or part of the cantonment, or is occupied with the sanction required by section 10, as a hospital, bank, hotel, shop or school, and has been so occupied continuously during the three years immediately preceding the time when the occasion for issuing the notice arises, or
- (b) was occupied prior to the date of such a notification as is referred to in clause (a), or is occupied, with the sanction aforesaid, by a railway administration, or
- (c) is occupied by the owner, or
- (d) is appropriated by the Local Government, with the concurrence of the General Officer of the Command, or by the Governor General in Council, for use as a public office or for any other purpose.

12. (1) If a house is unoccupied, a notice issued under section 6 may require the owner to give possession of the same to the proposed tenant within four days from the service of the notice.

(2) If a house is occupied, a notice issued under section 6 or section 7 shall not require its vacation in less than thirty days from the service of the notice.

13. If the owner fails to give possession of a house to the proposed tenant in pursuance of a notice issued under section 6 or section 7, or if the existing occupier fails to vacate a house in pursuance of such a notice, the Cantonment Magistrate, by himself or by another person generally or specially authorized by him in this behalf, shall enter on the premises and enforce the surrender of the house.

14. (1) If a house in respect of which a notice is issued under section 6 or section 7 is shown to the satisfaction of the Local Government, or is proved by a decree or order of a Court of competent jurisdiction, to have been erected—

(a) under any conditions, rules, regulations or orders which were in force in Bengal prior to the eighth day of December, 1864, and conferred on the owner the option of offering the house for sale to the military officer applying for its appropriation for his occupation or to the East India Company or the Government, or

(b) under any conditions, rules, regulations or orders which were in force in Bombay prior to the first day of June, 1875, and conferred such an option as is described in clause (a),

The Indian Electricity Bill.(Part II.—Supply of Energy to the Public.—Section 4.)

Supply of energy to the public or for traction to be licensed. of supplying energy to the public or for electric traction except under, and in accordance with the terms and conditions of, a license granted by the Local Government under this Part.

(2) Where any difference or dispute arises as to whether energy is or is not supplied or to be supplied to the public or for electric traction within the meaning of sub-section (1), the matter shall be referred to the Local Government, and the decision of the Local Government thereon shall be final.

[Ben. Act IX of 1895, s. 3.]

4. (1) The Local Government may grant a license to any person to supply energy for any purpose in any specified local area, and also to lay down electric supply-lines for the conveyance and transmission of energy from a generating station situated outside such specified local area to the boundary of such specified local area in any case in which the energy to be supplied is to be generated outside such specified local area; and in respect of every such license and the grant thereof the following provisions shall have effect, namely :—

[51 & 52 Vict., c. 12, s. 1.]

(a) The consent of every local authority concerned shall be required before a license under this Part is granted; but, where any such local authority withholds its consent, the Local Government may, for reasons to be recorded and communicated to the local authority, grant the license on being satisfied, after making such inquiry as it thinks fit into all the circumstances of the case, that such consent as aforesaid has been withheld for no sufficient cause.

[45 & 46 Vict., c. 56, s. 4.]

(b) A license under this Part may be granted subject to a time-limit or not as the Local Government may think fit.

[Ben. Act IX of 1895, s. 3 (iii); 45 & 46 Vict., c. 56, s. 3 (5).]

[45 & 46 Vict., c. 56, s. 3 (5).]

(d) No application for a license under this Part shall be made by any local authority except in pursuance of a resolution passed at a meeting held after one month's previous notice of the same and of the purpose thereof has been given in the manner in which notices of meetings of such local authority are usually given.

(e) A license under this Part may prescribe such terms as to the limits within which, and the conditions under which, the supply of energy is to be compulsory or permissive, and as to the limits of price to be charged in respect of the supply of energy, and generally as to such other matters as the Local Government may think fit. (a) where the licensee fails, within a period of six months after the date of his license or such further period as the Local Government may determine and before exercising any of the powers conferred on him thereby in relation to the execution of works, to show, to the satisfaction of the Local Government, that he is in a position fully and efficiently to discharge the duties and obligations imposed on him by his license, or fails to make the deposit or furnish the security required by his license ;

The Indian Electricity Bill.(Part II.—Supply of Energy to the Public.—Section 5.)

- (b) where the licensee is, in the opinion of the Local Government, unable, by reason of his insolvency, fully and efficiently to discharge the duties and obligations imposed on him by his license;
- (c) where the licensee, being a local authority makes default in executing works or supplying energy in accordance with the terms and conditions of his license;
- (d) where the licensee, not being a local authority, shows, to the satisfaction of the Local Government, at any time after the commencement of his license, that his undertaking cannot be carried on with profit and ought to be abandoned;
- (e) where the licensee supplies energy by means of some system not approved by the Local Government;
- (f) in any other case, with the consent of the licensee and, if the licensee is not a local authority, with that of the local authority (if any) concerned, and upon such terms and conditions as it thinks just:

(3) Where the Local Government might, under sub-section (2), revoke a license, it may, instead of revoking the license, permit it to remain in force subject to such further terms and conditions as it thinks fit to impose, and any further terms or conditions so imposed shall be binding upon, and be observed by, the licensee, and shall be of like force and effect as if they were contained in the license.

5. Where the Local Government revokes the license of any licensee, not being a local authority, as to the whole or any part of the area of supply, the following provisions shall have effect, namely:—

- (a) The Local Government shall serve a notice of the revocation upon the licensee and upon any local authority concerned, and shall in the notice fix a date on which the revocation shall take effect, and on and with effect from that date all the powers and liabilities of the licensee under this Act shall absolutely cease and determine.
- (b) Within one month after the service of such notice as aforesaid any local authority concerned may, by notice in writing, require the licensee to sell, and thereupon the licensee shall sell, to the local authority the undertaking or such part thereof as is carried on within the area for which it is constituted, on payment of the value of all lands, buildings, works, materials and plant of the licensee suitable to, and used by him for, the purpose of the undertaking or such part thereof as aforesaid, such value to be, in case of difference or dispute, determined by arbitration:

Provided that the value of such lands, buildings, works, materials and plant shall be deemed to be their fair market-value at the time of purchase, due regard being had to the nature and condition for the time being of such lands, buildings, works, materials and plant, and to the state of repair thereof, and to the circumstance that they are in such a position as to be ready for immediate working, and to the suitability of the same for the purposes of the undertaking, and, where a part only of the undertaking is purchased, to any loss occasioned by severance, but without any addition in respect of compulsory purchase or of goodwill or of any profits which may be or might have been made from the undertaking, or of any similar considerations.

- (c) Where no purchase has been effected by a local authority under clause (b), and any other person is willing to purchase the undertaking or such part of it as aforesaid, the Local Government may, if it thinks fit, with the consent of the licensee, or without the consent of the licensee in case the price is not less than that for which the local authority might have purchased the same, require the licensee to sell, and thereupon the licensee shall sell, to such other person the undertaking or such part thereof as aforesaid.
- (d) Where a purchase has been effected under clause (b) or clause (c), the undertaking, or such part thereof as aforesaid, shall vest in the purchasers free from any debts, mortgages or similar obligations of the licensee or attaching to the undertaking; and the revocation of the license shall extend only to the revocation of the rights, powers, authorities, duties and obligations of the licensee from whom the undertaking, or such part thereof as aforesaid, is purchased, and, save as aforesaid, the license shall remain in full force, and the purchaser shall be deemed to be the licensee.
- (e) Where no purchase has been effected, the Local Government may forthwith

(1) Where a license has been granted subject to no time-limit, a local authority shall, on the expiration of such period, not exceeding forty-two years, and of every such subsequent period, not exceeding ten years, as shall be specified in this behalf in the license, have the option of purchasing such portion of the undertaking as is in the area for which it is constituted, and, if the local authority elects to purchase, the licensee shall sell the undertaking or part thereof to it upon terms and conditions similar to those set forth in section 5, clauses (b) and (d).

(2) In any such case as aforesaid, if a local authority does not elect to purchase, the local Government shall have the like option upon the like terms and conditions.

(3) Not less than twelve months' notice in writing of any election to purchase under this section shall be served upon the licensee by the local authority or the Local Government, as the case may be.

8. Where a license has been granted subject to a time-limit, a local authority and the Local Government, respectively, shall have the option of purchasing the undertaking upon the expiration of the license upon the like terms and conditions as are referred to in section 7 and after the like notice to the licensee.

9. Where, in any such case as is provided for by section 8, neither a local authority nor the Local Government elects to purchase the undertaking, the following provisions shall have effect, namely:—

[Ben. Act IX of 1895, s. 3 (ii).]

[Calcutta License, cl. 61-A (b).]

(a) The Local Government may, subject to, and in accordance with, the provisions of section 4, renew the license.

(b) Where the license is not so renewed, the licensee, not being a local authority, may dispose of all lands, buildings, works, materials and plant belonging to the undertaking in such manner as he may think fit.

(c) Where such lands, buildings, works, materials and plant as aforesaid are not so disposed of, the provisions of section 5, clause (c), so far as applicable, shall have effect in like manner as if the license had been revoked.

(d) Where the license of a local authority is not renewed under clause (a), the provisions of section 6, so far as applicable, shall have effect in like manner as if the license had been revoked.

10. Notwithstanding anything in sections 5, 7, 8 and 9, the Local Government may, if it thinks fit, by any license granted under this Act, vary the terms upon which a local authority may require a licensee to sell, and upon which such licensee shall be bound to sell, to such local authority, his undertaking, or so much of the same as is within the area for which the local authority is constituted, in such manner as the Local Government may direct or as may have been agreed upon between the local authority and the licensee.

11. (1) Every licensee shall prepare and render to the Local Government, on or before such date in each year as the Local Government may by rule fix, an annual statement of accounts of his undertaking made up to such date, in such form, and containing such particulars, as may be prescribed by the said rule.

(2) The licensee shall keep copies of such annual statement at his office and sell the same to any applicant at a price not exceeding one rupee per copy.

12. (1) Any licensee may, from time to time but subject always to the terms and conditions of his license,—

(d) repair, alter or remove the same; and

(d) If the owner disapproves of such works or plan, or approves thereof subject to amendment, he may, within three weeks after the service of the notice under clause (a), serve a requisition upon the licensee demanding that any question in relation to the works, or to compensation, or to his obligations to others in respect thereof, shall be determined by arbitration, and thereupon the matter shall, unless settled by agreement, be determined by arbitration.

(e) Where no requisition has been served by the owner upon the licensee under clause (d), the owner shall be deemed to have approved of the works and plan, and in that case, or where after a requisition for arbitration the matter has been determined by arbitration, the works may, upon payment or securing of compensation, be executed according to the notice and plan, subject to such modifications as may have been determined by arbitration or agreed upon between the parties.

(2) Where the licensee makes default in complying with any of these provisions, he shall make full compensation for any loss or damage incurred by reason thereof, and, where any difference or dispute arises as to the amount of such compensation, the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

(2) Where any person fails to comply with any of the provisions of sub-section (1), the person having the control or management of the street, railway, tramway, sewer, drain or tunnel in respect of which the default has occurred, may cause to be executed the work which the defaulter has delayed or omitted to execute, and may recover from him the expenses incurred in such execution.

(3) Where any difference or dispute arises as to the amount of the expenses incurred under sub-section (2), the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

18. (1) Nothing in this Part shall be deemed to authorize or empower a licensee to place any aerial line along or across any street unless and until the Local Government has communicated to him a general approval in writing of the system which he proposes to adopt:

Provided that the communication of such approval shall in no way relieve the licensee of his obligations with respect to any other consent required by or under this Act.

(2) Where any aerial line has been placed or maintained by a licensee in breach of the provisions of sub-section (1), the Local Government may require the licensee forthwith to remove the same, or may cause the same to be removed and recover from the licensee the expenses incurred in such removal.

(4) When disposing of an application under sub-section (3), the Magistrate shall, in the case of any tree in existence before the placing of the aerial line, award to the persons interested in the tree such compensation as he thinks reasonable, and may recover the same from the licensee.

19. (1) A licensee shall, in exercise of any of the powers conferred by or under this Act, cause as little damage, detriment and inconvenience as may be, and shall make full compensation for any damage caused by him or by any one employed by him.

(2) Where any difference or dispute arises as to the amount or the application of such compensation, the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

20. (1) A licensee may at any reasonable time enter any premises to ascertain energy consumed, or to remove fittings, etc.

(a) inspecting and testing the electric supply-lines, meters, fittings, works and apparatus for the supply of energy belonging to the licensee;

(b) ascertaining the quantity of energy consumed or supplied; or

(c) removing, where a supply of energy is no longer required or where the licensee is authorized to take away and cut off such supply, any electric supply-lines, fittings, works or apparatus belonging to the licensee.

(2) A licensee may also, in pursuance of a special order of the Local Government in this behalf and after giving not less than twenty-four hours' notice in writing to the consumer, enter any premises to which energy is or has been supplied, or is to be supplied, by him, for the purpose of examining and testing the electric wires, fittings, works and apparatus for the use of energy belonging to the consumer.

21. (1) A licensee shall not be entitled to prescribe any special form of appliance for utilizing energy supplied by him, or, save as provided by section 24, sub-section (2), or by section 32, sub-section (6), in any way to control or interfere with the use of such energy:

Provided that no person may adopt any form of appliance, or use the energy supplied to him, so as unduly or improperly to interfere with the supply by the licensee of energy to any other person.

(2) Where any difference or dispute arises under this section, the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

22. Where energy is supplied by a licensee, [Ibid. s. 18.]

Obligation on licensee every person within the area of supply shall, except in so far as is otherwise provided by the terms and conditions of the license, be entitled, on application, to a supply on the same terms as those on which any other person in the same area is entitled in similar circumstances to a corresponding supply:

Provided that no consumer shall be entitled to demand a connection with the mains of the licensee which have been laid in order to be used only in the event of accident to the consumer's plant.

23. (1) The electrical power with which any consumer shall be entitled to be supplied by a licensee, shall not exceed what is necessary for the maximum consumption of energy on his premises: [62 & 63 Vict., c. 19, sch., cl. 28]

Provided that, where a consumer has required a licensee to supply him with a maximum power of any specified amount, he shall not be entitled to alter that maximum except after one month's notice in writing to the licensee, and the licensee may recover from the consumer any expenses incurred by him by reason of the alteration in respect of the service lines by which energy is supplied to the consumer's premises, or of any fittings or apparatus of the licensee upon those premises.

(2) Where any difference or dispute arises between a consumer and a licensee as to the power to be supplied under sub-section (1) or as to the amount of the expenses incurred under the proviso thereto, the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

24. (1) A licensee shall not, in making any agreement for the supply of energy, show undue preference. [Ben. Act IX of 1895, s. 19.]

Charges for energy to be made without undue preference to any person, but may, save as aforesaid, make such charges for the supply of energy as may be agreed upon, not exceeding the limits imposed by his license, and may allow rebates thereon according to the quantity supplied, either in relation to the maximum power to which the consumer is entitled under section 23, or to the total quantity, or to the time.

(2) Notwithstanding anything in sub-section (1), the licensee may charge at one rate for the supply of energy for lighting purposes and at another rate for the supply of energy for purposes other than lighting; and no person shall be entitled to utilize for lighting purposes energy supplied to him at a lower rate for any other purpose.

26. 28. (1) Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to authorize or empower any licensee to lay down any underground, or place any aerial, electric supply-line or other works, or to make any alterations in any telegraph line, maintained or worked by the Government or by any person licensed under the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885, without the previous sanction of the telegraph-authority, to whom the licensee shall give not less than twenty-eight clear days' notice in writing of his intention, specifying the course of the works or alterations proposed, the manner in which the works are to be utilized, the amount and nature of the energy to be transmitted, and the extent to, and manner in, which (if at all) earth returns are to be used; and the licensee shall conform with such reasonable requirements, either general or special, as may be laid down by the telegraph-authority for preventing any telegraph line from being injuriously affected by such works or alterations:

XIII of 1885.

Provided that, in case of emergency (which shall be stated by the licensee in writing to the telegraph-authority) arising from defects in any of the electric supply-lines or other works of the licensee, the licensee shall be required to give only such notice as may be possible after the necessity for the proposed new works or alterations has arisen.

(2) Every licensee shall take all reasonable precautions in constructing, laying down and placing his electric supply-lines and other works and in working his undertaking, so as not injuriously to affect, whether by induction or otherwise, the working of any wire or line used for the purpose of telegraphic, telephonic or electric-signalling communication, or the currents in such wire or line.

(3) Where any difference or dispute arises between the licensee and the telegraph-authority as to whether the licensee has constructed, laid down or placed his electric supply-lines or other works, or made alterations in a telegraph line, or worked his undertaking, in contravention of sub-section (1) or sub-section (2), or as to whether the working of any wire, line or current is or is not injuriously affected thereby, the matter shall be referred to the Local Government; and the Local Government, unless it is of opinion that the wire or line, not having been in existence at such time as aforesaid, has been placed in unreasonable proximity to the electric supply-lines or works of the licensee, may direct the licensee to make such alterations in, or additions to, his system as may be necessary in order to comply with the provisions of this section, and the licensee shall make such alterations or additions accordingly:

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall apply to the repair, renewal or amendment of any electric supply-line, so long as the course of the electric supply-line and the amount and nature of the current transmitted thereby are not altered.

(4) Where a licensee makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, he shall make full compensation for any loss or damage incurred by reason thereof, and, where any difference or dispute arises as to the amount of such compensation, the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section, a telegraph-line shall be deemed to be injuriously affected by a work if telegraphic communication by means of such line is, whether through induction or otherwise, prejudicially interfered with by such work or by any use made thereof.

29. Every licensee shall, without any unnecessary delay, send to the Local Government notice in writing of any accident by explosion or fire, and also of any other accident resulting or likely to have resulted in loss of life or personal injury in any part of the licensee's works or circuits, or in connection with the same, and also of any loss of life or personal injury actually occasioned by any such accident.

30. If at any time it is established, to the satisfaction of the Local Government,—

- (a) that a licensee is supplying energy otherwise than by means of a system which has been approved of by the Local Government or (except in accordance with the provisions of his license) has permitted any part of his circuits to be connected with earth; or
- (b) that any electric supply-lines or works of a licensee are defective; or
- (c) that any works of a licensee or his supply of energy is attended with danger to the public safety;

the Local Government may, by order in writing, specify the matter complained of and require the licensee to remedy it in such manner as shall be specified in the order, and may also in like manner forbid the use of any electric supply-line or works until the order is complied with or for such time as is specified in the order.

31. (1) The Local Government, on the application of any consumer or of a licensee, or if the inspection of electric supply-lines and works is imperfectly attended to, may appoint one or more competent persons to be electric inspectors under the license.

[Ibid., cl. 38 (2).]

(2) The Local Government may also, if it thinks fit, appoint any electric inspector or other competent person to inquire and report as to the cause of any accident affecting the safety of the public, which may have been occasioned by or in connection with a licensee's works, whether notice of the accident has or has not been received from the licensee, or as to the manner in, and extent to, which the provisions of the license and of this Act have been complied with by the licensee.

[Ibid., cl. 73.]

(3) All expenses incurred in connection with the performance of the duties of an electric inspector appointed on an application under subsection (1) may be recovered from the applicant.

[Ibid., cls. 49 & 52.]

32. (1) In the absence of an agreement to the contrary, the amount of energy supplied to a consumer or the electrical quantity contained in the supply (such amount or quantity being hereinafter referred to as "the value of the supply") shall be ascertained by means of a duly certified meter, and the licensee shall, if required by the consumer, cause the consumer to be supplied with such a meter:

Provided that the licensee may require the consumer to give him security for the price of a meter and enter into an agreement for the hire thereof, unless the consumer elects to purchase a meter.

(2) Where the consumer so enters into an agreement for the hire of a meter, the licensee shall keep the meter in proper order for correctly registering the value of the supply, and, in default of his doing so, the consumer shall, for so long as the default continues, cease to be liable to pay for the hire of the meter.

(3) Where the meter is not so hired as aforesaid, the consumer shall keep the meter in proper order for correctly registering the value of the supply, and, in default of his doing so, the licensee may, for so long as the default continues, cease to supply energy through the meter. [Ibid., cl. 5 (1).]

(4) The licensee shall have access to, and be at liberty to take off, remove, test, inspect and replace, any meter whereby the value of the supply is ascertained or to be ascertained; and, except where the meter is so hired as aforesaid, all reasonable expenses of and incidental to such taking off, removing, testing, inspecting and replacing, and the procuring the meter to be again duly certified where that is thereby rendered necessary, shall, if the meter is found to be otherwise than in proper order, be recovered from the consumer; and where any difference or dispute arises as to the amount of such reasonable expenses, the matter shall be determined by arbitration. [Ibid., cl. 5 (2).]

(5) A consumer shall not connect any meter, whereby the value of the supply is ascertained or to be ascertained with any electric supply-line through which energy is supplied by a licensee, or disconnect the same from any such electric supply-line, without giving to the licensee not less than forty-eight hours' notice in writing of his intention. [Ibid., cl. 5 (3).]

(6) In addition to any meter which may be placed upon the premises of a consumer to ascertain the value of the supply, the licensee may place upon such premises such meter or other apparatus as he may think fit for the purpose of ascertaining or regulating either the amount of energy supplied to the consumer, or the number of hours during which the supply is given, or the maximum power taken by the consumer, or any other quantity or time connected with the supply. [Ibid., c. 59]

Provided that the meter or apparatus shall be of a construction and pattern approved of by the Local Government, and shall be fixed and connected with the service lines in a manner so approved, and shall be supplied and maintained entirely at the cost of the licensee, and shall not, in the absence of an agreement to the contrary, be placed otherwise than between the mains of the licensee and the consumer's terminals.

(7) Where any difference or dispute arises as to whether any meter, whereby the value of the supply is ascertained or to be ascertained, is or is not in proper order for correctly registering the value of the supply, or as to whether such value has in any case been correctly registered by the meter, the matter shall be determined, upon the application of either party, by an officer or other competent person specially appointed by the Local Government in this behalf; and, where the meter has, in the opinion of such officer or person, ceased to work for a period not exceeding one month, such officer or person shall estimate the value of the supply for such period on the basis of the value of the previous supply; and the decision of such officer or person shall be final, and the costs of or incidental to such determination shall be recoverable as such officer or person may direct: but, save as aforesaid, the register of the meter, whereby the value of the supply is ascertained, shall, in the absence of fraud, be conclusive proof of such value.

Explanation.—A meter shall be deemed to be “duly certified” if it is certified by an officer or other competent person appointed by the Local Government in this behalf to be a correct meter, and to be of a construction and pattern approved by the Local Government, and to have been fixed and connected with the electric supply-lines in a manner so approved:

Provided that, where any alteration is made in a duly certified meter, or where any such meter is unfixed or disconnected from the electric supply-lines, it shall cease to be a duly certified meter unless and until it is again duly certified as aforesaid.

II. Where the licensee is not a local authority, the following provisions as to giving security shall apply, namely:—

(a) The licensee shall, within a period of six months after the commencement of the license and before exercising any of the powers by the license conferred on him in relation to the execution of works, show, to the satisfaction of the Local Government, that he is in a position fully and efficiently to discharge the duties and obligations imposed upon him by the license throughout the area of supply.

(b) The licensee shall also, within six months after the commencement of the license or within such extended period as may be approved by the Local Government and before exercising any of the powers conferred on him in relation to the execution of works, deposit or secure, to the satisfaction of the Local Government, such sum as may be fixed by the license or, if not so fixed, by the Local Government.

(c) The said sum deposited or secured by the licensee under the provisions of this clause shall be repaid or released to him in equal moieties, when and so soon as it may be certified by an officer appointed by the Local Government in this behalf that amounts equal to the sums so to be repaid or released have been expended by the licensee upon

III. Where the licensee is not a local authority, the following provisions as to the audit of accounts shall apply, namely:—

Audit of accounts of licensee not being local authority.

- (a) The annual statement of accounts of the undertaking shall, before being rendered to the Local Government under section 11 of the Indian Electricity Act, 1902, be examined and audited by such person as the Local Government may appoint in this behalf, and the remuneration of the auditor shall be such as the Local Government may direct, and his remuneration and all expenses incurred by him in or about the execution of his duties, to such an amount as the Local Government shall approve, shall be paid by the licensee on demand.
- (b) The licensee shall afford to the auditor, his clerks and assistants, access to all such books and documents relating to the undertaking as are necessary for the purposes of the audit, and shall, when required, furnish to him and them all vouchers and information requisite for that purpose, and afford to him and them all facilities for the proper execution of his and their duty.
- (c) The audit shall be made and conducted in such manner as the Local Government may direct.
- (d) Any report made by the auditor, or such portion thereof as the Local Government may direct, shall be appended to the annual statement of accounts of the licensee, and shall thenceforth form part thereof.

[Calcutta License, cl. 8.]

IV. The licensee shall, unless the Local Government otherwise directs, at all times keep the accounts of the capital employed for the purposes of the undertaking distinct from the accounts kept by him of any other undertaking or business.

Nature and mode of supply.

V. Energy shall be supplied by the licensee only by means of some system approved provided by clause VI, sub-clause (a), the licensee shall not permit any part of any circuit to be connected with earth unless the connection is for the time being approved by the Local Government, with the concurrence of the telegraph-authority.

VI. Where and in so far as energy is supplied to a railway or tramway for purposes of electric traction, the following provisions shall apply, namely:—

Provisions as to electric railways and tramways.

- (a) The licensee shall employ either insulated metallic returns, or uninsulated metallic returns of low resistance, save in the case of vehicles in which the motive power is entirely self-contained.
- (b) The licensee shall take all reasonable precautions in constructing, placing and maintaining his electric supply-lines and circuits, and other works of all descriptions, and also in working his undertaking, so as not injuriously to affect, by fusion or electrolytic action, any gas or water pipes, or other metallic pipes, structures or substances.

Compulsory works.

VII. The licensee shall, within a period of two years after the commencement of his license, lay down suitable and sufficient distributing mains for the purposes of general supply throughout such streets or parts of streets as the Local Government may, by order in writing issued within six months of the commencement of the license, direct.

Power of Local Government to order licensee to lay down distributing mains.

VIII. Every licensee shall, not less than twenty-eight clear days before commencing to lay in any street any electric supply-line for the supply of energy to any particular consumer, and not for the purposes of general supply, serve upon the local authority (if any) and upon the owner or occupier of all premises abutting on so much of the street as lies between the points of origin and termination of the electric supply-line so to be laid, a notice stating that the licensee intends to lay the electric supply-line, and intimating that, if within the said period any two or more of such owners or occupiers require in accordance with the provisions of the license that a supply shall be given to their premises, the necessary distributing main will be laid by the licensee at the same time as the electric supply-line intended for the particular consumer.

IX. (1) Where, after the expiration of eighteen months from the commencement of the license, a requi-street or part of street within the area of supply, or by the Local Government or a local authority charged with the public lighting thereof, requiring the licensee to provide and lay down distributing mains for the purposes of general supply throughout such street or part thereof, the licensee shall comply within six months with the requisition, unless,—

(a) where it is made by such owners or occupiers as aforesaid, the owners or occupiers making it do not, within fourteen clear days after the service on them by the licensee of a notice in writing in this behalf, tender to the licensee a written contract, duly executed and with sufficient security, binding themselves to take or guaranteeing that there shall be taken, a supply of energy for not less than three years to such amount as will in the aggregate produce annually, at the current rates charged by the licensee, a reasonable return to the licensee; or,

(b) where it is made by the Local Government or a local authority, the Local Government or local authority, as the case may be, does not, within the like period, tender a like agreement binding itself to take a supply of energy for not less than three years for the public lighting of such street or part thereof.

(2) Where any difference or dispute arises between the licensee, and such owners, occupiers or local authority as to the sufficiency of the security offered under this clause, or as to the amount of energy to be taken or guaranteed as aforesaid, the matter shall be referred to the Local Government and either decided by it or, if the Local Government so directs, determined by arbitration:

Provided that the amount of the security required shall not, unless the Local Government otherwise directs, exceed twenty per cent. of the expenses likely to be incurred by the licensee in providing and laying down the necessary distributing mains and any other distributing mains or additions thereto which may be necessary for the purposes of connection with the nearest available source of supply.

(3) Every requisition under this clause shall be signed by the maker or makers thereof and shall be served on the licensee.

(4) Every requisition under this clause shall be in a form to be prescribed by the Local Government; and copies of the form shall be kept at the office of the licensee and supplied free of charge to any applicant.

X. (1) Where a requisition is made by the owner or occupiers of any premises situate within fifty yards from any distributing main in which the licensee is required to maintain a supply of energy for the purposes of general supply, requiring the licensee to supply energy for such premises, the licensee shall supply, and, save in so far as he is prevented from doing so by cyclones, floods, storms or other occurrences beyond his control, continue to supply, energy in accordance with the requisition, unless the person making it fails, within to the licensee a written contract, duly executed and with sufficient security, binding himself to take a supply of energy for not less than two years to such amount as will produce, at current rates charged by the licensee, a reasonable return to the licensee:

Provided, first, that the cost of so much of any electric supply-line as may be laid for the purposes of the supply upon the property in respect of which the requisition is made, and of so much of any electric supply-line as it may be necessary for the said purposes to lay for a greater distance than sixty feet from the licensee's distributing main, although not on that property, shall, if the licensee so requires, be paid by the owner or occupier making the requisition:

Provided, secondly, that the licensee may, after he has furnished a supply of energy for any premises, by notice in writing require the owner or occupier within seven days after the date of the service of the notice, to give him security for the payment of all money which may become due to him in respect of the supply, in case the owner or occupier has not already given that security, or in case any security given has become invalid or is insufficient; and, if the owner or occupier fails to comply with the terms of the notice, the licensee may discontinue to supply energy for such premises so long as such failure continues:

Provided, thirdly, that if the owner or occupier of any such premises as aforesaid adopts any form of lamp or burner, or uses the energy supplied to him by the licensee for any purposes, or deals with it in any manner, so as to interfere unduly or improperly with the efficient supply of energy to any other person by the licensee, or fails to keep his meter in proper order, the licensee may discontinue the supply of energy for such premises so long as such lamp or burner is so adopted, or the energy is so used or dealt with, or the meter is not kept in proper order, as the case may be:

Provided, fourthly, that the licensee shall not be compelled to furnish a supply of energy to any premises unless he is reasonably satisfied that the electric wires, fittings, works and apparatus therein are in good order and condition and are not calculated to affect injuriously the use of energy by the licensee or by other persons:

Provided, fifthly, that in the event of any alterations of, or additions to, any electric wires, fittings, works or apparatus within such premises as aforesaid, all such alterations or additions shall be notified to the licensee by the owner or occupier before being connected to the source of supply, with a view to their being examined and tested: and

Provided, sixthly, that, in the event of any requisition being made for a supply of energy from any distributing main of which the licensee can prove, to the satisfaction of an officer appointed by the Local Government in this behalf,—

(a) that it is already loaded up to its full current-carrying capacity, or

(b) that, in case of a large amount of current being transmitted by it, the loss of pressure will seriously affect the efficiency of the supply to other consumers in the vicinity, sition for such reasonable period, not exceeding six months, as such officer may think sufficient for the purpose of amending the distributing main or laying down a further distributing main.

(2) Where any difference or dispute arises as to the sufficiency of the security offered by such owner or occupier or as to the improper use of energy, or as to any alleged defect in any wires, fittings, works or apparatus, the matter shall be referred to the Local Government and either decided by it or, if the Local Government so directs, determined by arbitration:

Provided that the amount of the security required shall not, unless the Local Government otherwise directs, exceed twenty per cent. of the expenses likely to be incurred by the licensee in providing and laying down the electric supply-lines required.

(3) Every requisition under this clause shall be signed by the maker or makers thereof and shall be served on the licensee.

(4) Every requisition under this clause shall be in a form to be prescribed by the Local Government; and copies of the form shall be kept at the office of the licensee and supplied free of charge to any applicant.

[Ibid, cl. 29.] XI. Where a requisition is made by the Local Government or by a local authority requiring the licensee to supply energy for any public lamps within the distance of seventy-five yards from any distributing main in which the licensee is required to maintain a supply of energy for the purposes of general supply, the licensee shall supply, and, save in so far as he is prevented from doing so by cyclones, floods, storms or other occurrences beyond his control, continue to supply, energy for such lamps in such quantities as the Local Government or the local authority, as the case may be, may require.

Charges.

[Ibid, cl. 31.] XII. In the absence of an agreement to the contrary, the licensee may charge for energy supplied by him to any consumer—

- Methods of charging.
- (a) by the actual amount of energy so supplied; or
 - (b) by the electrical quantity contained in the supply; or
 - (c) by such other method as may be approved by the Local Government:

Provided, first, that, where the licensee charges by any method so approved by the Local Government, any consumer who objects to that method may, by not less than one month's notice in writing, require the licensee to charge him, at the licensee's option, either by the actual amount of energy supplied to him or by the electrical quantity contained in the supply, and thereafter the licensee shall not, except with the consent of the consumer, charge him by any other method:

Provided, secondly, that, before commencing to supply energy through any distributing main for the purposes of general supply, the licensee shall give notice, by public advertisement, of the method by which he proposes to charge for energy so supplied; and, where the licensee has given such notice, he shall not be entitled to change that method of charging without giving not less than one month's notice in writing of such change to the Local Government, to the local authority (if any) concerned, and to every consumer of energy who is supplied by him from such distributing main:

Provided, thirdly, that, if the consumer is provided with a duly certified meter for the purposes of ascertaining the value of the supply and the licensee changes the method of charging for the energy supplied by him from the distributing main, the licensee shall bear the expense of providing a new duly certified meter if such is necessary for the purpose of ascertaining the value of the supply according to the new method of charging.

XIII. The price charged by the licensee for energy supplied by him shall not exceed the maximum fixed by his license, or, in the case of a method of charge approved by the Local Government, such maximum as the Local Government shall fix on approving the method:

Provided that, if, at any time after the expiration of seven years from the commencement of the license, the Local Government considers or is satisfied that the maximum so fixed or approved as aforesaid should be altered, it may, after such inquiry (if any) as it thinks fit, make an order accordingly, which shall have effect from such date as may be mentioned therein:

Provided, also, that where an order in pursuance of the foregoing proviso has been made, no further order altering the maximum fixed thereby shall be made until the expiration of another period of seven years.

XIV. The price to be charged by the licensee and to be paid to him for energy supplied for public lamps, and the mode in which those charges are to be ascertained, shall be settled by agreement between the licensee and the Local Government or the local authority, as the case may be, and, where any difference or dispute arises, the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

Testing and inspection.

XV. The licensee shall, at any place within reasonable distance from any main, establish at his own cost and keep in proper condition such number of testing stations as the Local Government may direct for the purpose of testing the electrical pressure of the supply through the main, and shall supply and keep in proper condition thereat and on all premises from which he supplies energy, such instruments for testing as the Local Government may approve, and shall connect all such testing stations, by means of proper and sufficient electric supply-lines, with the distributing mains, and shall supply energy to each testing station for the purpose of testing.

XVI. The licensee shall afford all facilities for inspection and testing and for the reading and inspection of instruments.

Ibid., cl. 45.] XVII. The licensee may, on each occasion of the testing of any distributing main or electric supply-line or the testing or inspection of any instruments, be represented by an agent who may be present but shall not interfere with the testing or inspection.

Ibid., cl. 99.] XVIII. On the occasion of the testing of any main of the licensee by an electric inspector, reasonable notice thereof shall be given to the licensee, and the testing shall be carried out at such suitable hours as, in the opinion of the electric inspector, will least interfere with the supply of energy by the licensee, and in such manner as the electric inspector may think fit; but, except under the provisions of an order made in each case in that behalf by the Local Government, the electric inspector shall not be entitled to have access to, or interfere with, the mains of the licensee at any points other than those at which the licensee has reserved for himself access to the same:

Provided that the licensee shall not be held responsible for any interruption in the supply of energy which may be occasioned by or required by the electric inspector for the purpose of any such testing as aforesaid:

Provided, also, that the testing shall not be made in regard to any particular portion of a main oftener than once in any three months, unless in pursuance of an order made in each case in that behalf by the Local Government.

Plans.

[Ibid., cl. 60.] XIX. (1) The licensee shall, after commencing to supply energy, forthwith cause a plan to be made of the area of supply, and shall cause to be marked thereon the line and the height above or the depth below the surface of all his then existing mains, electric supply-lines, street distributing boxes and other works, and shall once in every year cause that plan to be duly corrected so as to show the mains, electric supply-lines, street distributing boxes and other works for the time being in existence. The licensee shall also, if so required by the Local Government, cause to be made sections showing the level of all his existing distributing mains and underground works other than service lines.

(2) Every such plan shall be drawn to a scale of not less than one inch to eighty-eight feet or to such other scale as may be approved by the Local Government.

(3) Every such section shall be drawn to a horizontal scale of not less than one inch to eighty-eight feet and to a vertical scale of not less than one inch to eleven feet, or to such other horizontal and vertical scales as may be approved by the Local Government.

(4) Every plan and section so made or corrected, or a copy thereof, marked with the date when it was so made or corrected, shall be kept by the licensee at his principal office or place of business within the area of supply, and shall at all reasonable times be open to the inspection of all applicants, and any applicant may take copies of the same or of any part thereof on payment of such fee, not exceeding one rupee for each inspection and five rupees for each copy, as the licensee may fix.

(5) The licensee shall, if required by the Local Government, or, where the licensee is not a local authority, by the local authority (if any) concerned, supply to the Local Government or local authority, as the case may be, a copy of every such plan or section duly corrected so as to agree with the original kept at the principal office or place of business of the licensee.

Additional notice of certain works.

XX. On the day next preceding the commencement of any such works as are referred to in section 13 of the Indian Electricity Act, 1902, the licensee shall, in addition to any other notices which he may be required to give, serve upon the electric inspector or such officer as the Local Government may appoint in this behalf for the area of supply a notice stating that he is about to commence the works and the nature and position of the same.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The only general Act relating to electricity now in the Indian Statute-book is the Electricity Act, 1887 (XIII of 1887), and practically all that that enactment does is to take power for the Governor General in Council to make rules for the protection of person and property, and for the prevention of injury to telegraph lines, from appliances or apparatus used in the generation or supply of electrical energy. In the preamble to the Act it is expressly stated that, in the circumstances of the supply and use of electricity in India existing at the time when it was passed, the exercise of control by means of licenses or other like methods might be deferred, and consequently no provision was made for the issue of licenses to companies, for the powers with which companies undertaking the supply of electricity to the public must be invested, or for the control which should be reserved to the Government over undertakings which would be virtual monopolies. In 1887, therefore, legislation on these points was considered premature.

2. In 1891 the Government of Bengal reported that proposals had been received on behalf of the Indian Electricity Supply Syndicate for the establishment of works for the supply of electric light to the town of Calcutta, and represented that, as the Act of 1887 made no provision for the issue of licenses or for many other matters which were essential for the protection of undertakers from unnecessary interference or restraint and of the public from excessive charges and undue preferences, further legislation appeared to be called for, either by a general Act applicable to the whole of India or by a local and special Act for Calcutta. The latter alternative was recommended as likely to involve less delay, and after some discussion a Bill was introduced and passed in the Bengal Legislative Council as the Calcutta Electric Lighting Act, 1895 (Ben. Act IX of 1895). Section 34 of this enactment provides that the Local Government may, by notification, extend its provisions to any municipality in the province; but little use has been made of the power.

3. In no other province has local legislation on the subject been undertaken. In Madras there is an Electrical Tramway Company, but it was thought unnecessary to pass a special Act with regard to it, the requisite powers for breaking up streets, etc., which was one of the principal objects of the Calcutta Electric Lighting Act, 1895, being secured to the company by article 19 of an order which was passed with reference to it under the Indian Tramways Act, 1886 (XI of 1886), and provides that, "if electrical power be used, communication by the existing Government telephone and telegraph lines shall be safeguarded as provided by the rules made by the Governor General in Council in exercise of the powers conferred by the Electricity Act, XIII of 1887".

4. The expediency of amending the Act of 1887 so as to provide for the control of undertakings by means of licenses for the supply of electricity for lighting, traction, transmission of power and other purposes, was again considered by the Government of India in 1895, and it was then thought that sufficient control over unlicensed undertakings, such as that of the Madras Electrical Tramway Company, could be obtained by a revision of the rules which had been issued under the general Act. It was considered improbable that large electrical undertakings for which control by license was necessary, would be proposed for some time to come in any of the minor administrations, and, as the more important Local Governments had Legislative Councils, it was apprehended that there would be but little difficulty in passing local Acts on the lines of the Calcutta Act of 1895, wherever this might be found to be expedient.

5. Circumstances have, however, rendered it advisable to reconsider this decision. In February, 1900, the Government of Bengal, in replying to a reference relating to some amendments proposed in the rules under the general Act of 1887, took the opportunity of stating that, during the operation of a license granted to the Calcutta Electric Supply Corporation in 1896, questions had arisen regarding the extension of the limit of the license from 21 to 42 years, the compensation clauses in the event of purchase, the matter of pole-rent and the application of electrical energy to tramways, and that a satisfactory settlement of such questions would require a modification and extension of the Bengal Act of 1895. It was suggested that it would be advisable to frame an Act which would meet these difficulties and put the procedure for dealing with questions of the supply of electrical energy upon a basis similar to that adopted in England, so far as this might be desirable, and that such an Act might with advantage be made applicable to the whole of British India.

6. Even before the receipt of this representation the Government of India had again begun to consider the expediency of Imperial legislation on the subject, it having been represented that in other parts of India the promoters of electrical enterprise would welcome the passing of a general Act. The various Local Governments were, therefore, consulted on the question, and at the same time a draft Bill which had been submitted some time before to the Government of India by a member of a well-known English firm interested in the matter, was forwarded for criticism. This draft had been framed in as close accordance as possible with the Bengal Act of 1895, but many amendments favourable to licensees—some of them based on later English legislation—had been introduced.

7. The replies received were generally in favour of legislation by an Imperial Act on the lines proposed. The Government of Madras considered that there was no immediate need in that Presidency for such an Act, but admitted that the necessity for it might arise and that its existence would undoubtedly tend to encourage electrical projects. The Governments of the North-Western Provinces and Burma also stated that an elaborate Act was not yet required in those provinces, but did not object to the proposed legislation, while the Government of the Punjab was prepared to accept the Bill subject to certain criticisms offered regarding its details. The Government of Bombay, on the other hand, reported that an Act of the kind proposed was urgently needed, that an Imperial Act would be preferable, and that, if there was no prospect of such an Act being passed, the Governor in Council would be compelled to propose legislation in the local Legislative Council to meet the pressing requirements of the Island of Bombay. The Government of Bengal, which had, as already stated, previously taken the initiative in proposing a modification of the Calcutta Electric Lighting Act, 1895, also expressed itself strongly in favour of an Imperial Act; and the Government of the Punjab has more recently, while reporting that a large electrical enterprise is now being promoted at Lahore, inquired as to the probability of a law on the subject being passed at an early date.

8. The present Bill is very different, both in form and in substance, from the draft above alluded to and is based on that draft only to this extent, that it has been prepared after consideration of the criticisms and suggestions of the Local Governments on the reference made to them two years ago. Experts and others interested and competent to advise have, as far as possible, been consulted, and the following enactments and statutory provisions have been freely drawn upon:—

- the Calcutta Electric Lighting Act, 1895 (Ben. Act IX of 1895);
- the license granted to the Calcutta Electric Supply Corporation in 1896;
- the Electricity Act, 1887 (XIII of 1887);
- the Electric Lighting Act, 1882 (45 & 46 Vict., c. 56);
- the Electric Lighting Act, 1888 (51 & 52 Vict., c. 12);
- the Electric Lighting Clauses Act, 1899 (62 & 63 Vict., c. 19);
- the rules and regulations made by the Board of Trade;
- the rules made under the Calcutta Electric Lighting Act, 1895; and
- the rules made under the Electricity Act, 1887.

9. The Bill is divided into four Parts. Part I is preliminary and includes the necessary definitions. Part II relates to the supply of electrical energy to the public or for the purposes of traction, i.e., to those undertakings which it is thought expedient to control by license. Part III deals with the restrictions to be imposed on the use of energy not supplied under Part II, the object being to reserve to the Government the power of control over unlicensed undertakings hitherto exercised under the Act of 1887. Part IV is general, and provides for the making of rules, the reference of disputes to arbitration, the requisite penal sanctions, the repeal of Act XIII of 1887 and Ben. Act IX of 1895, and other matters of an ancillary kind. Appended is a schedule setting forth certain provisions which—see clause 4 (r) (g) of the Bill—are to be deemed to be incorporated with, and to form part of, every license granted under Part II, save in so far as they are expressly varied or excepted by the terms of the license. The origin of each clause is, as far as possible, indicated in the usual manner by a reference on the margin of the Bill, and such of the remaining details as seem to require explanation are dealt with in the annexed Notes on Clauses.

A. T. ARUNDEL.

Notes on Clauses.

Clause 2.—The limitation of the definition of the word “energy” (which is used throughout the Bill) to electrical energy expended at a rate greater than twenty-five watts is intended to exclude petty installations from the operation of the proposed Act, and, in particular, from the provisions of Part III. In the definition of the word “street”, which already occurs in various municipal Acts, the words confining it to places over which the public have a right of way have been allowed to stand for the present, but the square brackets within which they are enclosed, are intended to call special attention to the matter.

Clause 3.—This clause defines the undertakings for which licenses are to be obligatory as those in which energy is supplied to the public or for electric traction, it being provided that any doubt as to its application shall be referred to, and finally settled by, the Local Government concerned. The licenses here contemplated will correspond generally with the Provisional Orders by means of which the Board of Trade, under section 4 of the Electric Lighting Act, 1882 (45 & 46 Vict., c. 56), authorize local authorities, companies or persons to supply electricity for any public or private purpose within a specified area.

Clause 4 aims at safeguarding the issue of licenses and, read in conjunction with the schedule, indicates their scope and the main conditions on which it is intended that they should, as a rule, be granted. Express power is, however, to be reserved by sub-clause (1) (g) for the Local Government to vary or exclude any of those conditions. Sub-clause (1) (a) requires the consent of every local authority concerned before a license is granted, but not, as in the Bengal Act, before it is applied for. Section 3 (ii) of the latter limits the term of a license to 21 years, thus following the English Act of 1882; but it is here proposed—see sub-clause (1) (b)—that in accordance with later English practice, licenses may be granted with or without a time-limit, subject to an option of purchase after certain intervals—see clauses 7 and 8. The advantage of a license without a time-limit is that a renewal is not necessary in the event of the right of purchase not being exercised.

The power to revoke a license under certain circumstances based on the public interest is not contained in the Bengal Act, but is expressed in several clauses of the Calcutta License issued under it. It is thought that such a necessary power should be expressly taken by law, and the latter part of clause 4 of the Bill has been drawn accordingly.

Clause 5.—The terms of purchase in the event of the revocation of a license are in the main based upon those laid down in the Electric Lighting Clauses Act, 1899 (62 & 63 Vict., c. 19). They are less favourable to licensees than the terms specified in clause 65 of the Calcutta License, which provides that the value shall be calculated on the basis of the value of the undertaking as a going concern, and not that it shall be the fair market-value of the property at the time of purchase without any addition in respect of compulsory purchase, or of good-will, or of any profits which may be or might have been made from the undertaking, or of any similar consideration.

In order to secure the free transfer of undertakings in the manner contemplated by the Bill, it is expressly provided—see clause 5 (d)—that, where a purchase has been effected, the undertaking or the part thereof transferred shall vest in the purchaser free from all debts, mortgages or similar obligations of the licensee or attaching to the undertaking. The revocation of a license, it is further proposed, shall extend only to the rights, powers, duties and obligations of the original licensee and, save as aforesaid, the license is to remain in full force, the purchaser being thenceforward deemed to be the licensee.

Clause 7 gives first any local authority concerned and afterwards the Local Government an option of purchasing an undertaking for which a license has been granted subject to no time-limit, after the expiry of such period and subsequent periods as may be specified, subject to certain prescribed maxima. In such cases, the terms of purchase are, unless varied in exercise of the power conferred by clause 10, to be the same as those laid down by clause 5.

Clause 8 provides for an option of purchase on similar terms on the expiry of a license which has been granted subject to a time-limit.

Clause 9 aims at providing for cases in which the option of purchasing conferred by clauses 7 and 8 in the event of revocation is not taken advantage of.

Clause 10, which has already been referred to in connection with clause 7, has been taken from the Electric Lighting Act, 1888 (51 & 52 Vict., c. 12), section 3.

Clause 11.—This clause, relating to the preparation and submission of annual accounts, is considered of great importance, and is taken from the English Statute of 1882. No similar provision is included either in the Bengal Act or in the Calcutta License issued under it.

Clauses 12 to 15.—These relate to the execution of works required in connection with electrical undertakings and follow generally the provisions of the English Act referred to on the margin.

Clause 17 provides, on the lines of the Bengal Act, for the reinstatement without delay of streets, railways, tramways, sewers, drains or tunnels interfered with in exercise of the powers to be conferred on licensees, and for the protection of the public in connection with such operations.

Clause 18.—By section 13 of the Bengal Act of 1895 the construction of aerial lines above or across streets is prohibited, except with the express consent of the Local Government. It has been represented that the use of aerial lines is almost unavoidable in India, the cost of underground lines being prohibitive, and, in these circumstances, it has been deemed sufficient to reserve to the Local Government a power to prevent the construction of aerial lines unless and until it has accorded general approval to the system to be adopted. Sub-clauses (3) and (4) reproduce, mutatis mutandis, section 18 of the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885 (XIII of 1885). A special provision regarding the temporary use of aerial lines in certain cases of emergency will be found at the end of clause 13.

Clauses 19–22 and 24.—These follow in the main the provisions of sections 15 to 19 of the Bengal Act of 1895, and call for no special remarks.

Clause 23 limits the amount of electrical power with which any consumer can demand to be supplied, to what is necessary for the consumption of energy on his premises, and it further protects licensees against alterations in the demand made without proper notice.

Clause 25 empowers a licensee to discontinue the supply of energy to any consumer who neglects to pay for what he has received. It seems but reasonable that such a power should be secured to licensees, and in England it is expressly taken by section 21 of the Statute of 1882.

Clause 26.—In the interests of the general public and following the provisions of section 25 of the Statute just referred to, this clause absolutely protects from attachment by civil process any apparatus or appliance for the supply of electrical energy which, though belonging to a licensee, may be on the premises of another person.

Clauses 27 and 28 provide for the protection of railways, canals and telegraphic, telephonic and electric-signalling communications.

Clause 29 requires notice to be sent to the Local Government of every serious accident occurring in, or in connection with, the works of a licensee. Here again recent legislation in England has been followed, and the provisions of, for example, section 13 of the Indian Factories Act, 1881 (XV of 1881), may be compared.

Clauses 30 and 31.—It is expedient that the Government should be able effectively to interfere and insist on the proper remedy being applied where the system of supply or anything in the works of a licensee appears to be defective or a source of danger to the public. The requisite authority is conferred by clause 30, while clause 31 deals with the employment of competent persons as electric inspectors if the Local Government considers that their assistance and advice are necessary or their services are applied for by either consumers or licensees.

Clause 32 relates to the provision and maintenance in working order of meters for ascertaining the amount of energy supplied to consumers or the electrical quantity contained in any such supply. The registers kept by meters are declared to be, in the absence of fraud, conclusive proof.

Clauses 33 and 35.—Clause 35, which is included in Part IV of the Bill, takes a general power for the Governor General in Council to make rules to regulate the generation, supply and use of energy; while clause 33 in Part II endows each Local Government with a similar power for the purpose of supplementing the provisions of that Part and controlling in subsidiary matters of detail undertakings licensed by it thereunder. Any rules made by a Local Government in the exercise of this power must, of course, have regard to, and be consistent with, the more general rules framed by the Government of India.

Clause 34.—By the general Act of 1887 no exception is made to the application of its provisions to installations in places where one hundred or more persons are likely to be assembled, and consequently no such installation is lawful until notice has been given as required by section 3 of that Act. In practice, however, this provision has been almost a dead letter in the case of installations in factories, theatres, clubs, etc. Section 4(1) of the English Act of 1888 provides that any electric line or work laid down or erected by any body or person for the supply of electricity generated upon any premises occupied by such body or person to any other part of such premises shall not be subject to the regulations there referred to, and it is doubtful how far it is necessary to provide for the control of self-contained installations of this kind. It is thought that, although it may be unnecessary to bring purely private installations under this Part, the Government should not renounce the power of control which it has taken under the general Act of 1887 in all cases in which the safety of the public is concerned, or in which danger to telegraph lines may be apprehended. The first part of this clause, therefore, follows section 3 of the Act of 1887, but a proviso has been added which will enable the Local Government, by special or general order, to exempt from its operation any person or class of persons using energy on premises upon which it is generated. The latter portion of the clause contains a necessary provision for the authoritative settlement by the Local Government of any question which may be raised as to the application or non-application of Part III of the Bill.

Clause 35.—By sub-clause (d) power is taken to make rules for the protection of magnetic observatories or laboratories from disturbance. This has been done on the suggestion of the Meteorological Reporter to the Government of India; but it is doubtful whether any rules will afford efficient protection in this respect. Sub-clause (f) provides for rules to authorize and regulate the levy of fees for the inspection and testing of appliances or apparatus used in the generation, supply or use of electricity. There is no provision in the existing law under which such fees can be levied.

Clause 37.—This clause is based upon section 6 of the Electricity Act, 1887 (XIII of 1887), but extends the provisions of that section so as to enable the Governor General in Council to confer the powers of the telegraph-authority under the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885 (XIII of 1885), upon licensees as well as upon public officers.

Clause 38.—Various provisions in the Bill direct that differences or disputes arising in connection with its working shall be referred to arbitration. Thus clause 19 is to the effect that licensees shall, in the exercise of the powers conferred upon them, cause as little damage, detriment and inconvenience as possible, and shall make full compensation for any injury which they may occasion to others; and it concludes by providing that, where any difference or dispute arises as to the amount or the application of such compensation, the matter shall be determined by arbitration. Similar enactments in other connections are to be found in clauses 5 (b), 13, 14 (2), 15 (5), 19 (2), 21 (2), 23 (2), 28 (4) and 32 (4), and conditions of a like kind are contemplated by clauses IX (2), X (2) and XIV of the schedule. Clause 38 then provides generally that, where any matter is, by or under the proposed Act, directed to be determined by arbitration, the matter shall, unless it is otherwise expressly provided in the license of the licensee concerned, be determined by such person as the Local Government may nominate in that behalf on the application of either party, but that in all other respects the arbitration shall be subject to the provisions of the Indian Arbitration Act, 1899 (IX of 1899).

Clause 40.—This clause provides a summary method of recovering sums declared to be recoverable by certain of the earlier provisions of the Bill, the procedure being that prescribed by various existing enactments—e.g., section 201 of the Punjab Municipal Act, 1891 (XII of 1891)—for the recovery of municipal rates and taxes. In each of the cases mentioned in the clause it will be found, either that the Local Government or an officer specially appointed by it is concerned in the demand, or that the amount may, where any difference or dispute arises between the parties, be determined by arbitration. In either circumstances it seems reasonable to provide a simpler means of recovery than the filing of a suit in a Civil Court. The Magistrate through whom the recovery is to be effected will, of course, act in a purely ministerial, not in a judicial, capacity—see W. J. Ellis v. The Municipal Board of Mussoorie (1900), 1 L. R. 22 All., 111.

Clause 41.—All necessary penalties for the infringement of any of the provisions of the proposed Act, or, in the case of a license, of any of the conditions of the license, are here provided.

Clause 42.—A clause of this kind is to be found in many enactments besides that cited in the marginal reference. It is intended to protect servants of the Government or of a local authority from being proceeded against, either civilly or criminally, for anything done, or in good faith purporting to be done, by them under the proposed Act.

Schedule.—The clauses here set forth have been adapted from the Electric Lighting Clauses Act, 1849 (62 & 63 Vict., c. 19), with the exception of clause IV, which has been taken from the Calcutta License. They consist generally of detailed provisions and instructions regarding the accounts of licensees, the nature of the supply of energy and the manner in which it is to be supplied, and other minor obligations to be, as a rule, imposed on licensees. Provisions which are intended to apply to third parties have been excluded from the schedule and included in the body of the Bill. As the contents of the schedule are, as has already been explained in connection with clause 4, to be deemed to be, unless otherwise expressly provided, incorporated with every license, the license itself will ordinarily be of a short and simple character, and it has been thought unnecessary to prescribe its exact form.

Rainfall summary for the past seven days, ending at 8 a.m. on Thursday, the 13th February 1902, based on the India Daily Weather Reports of the period.

There has been no change in the rainfall conditions during the past week and the drought continues unabated. There have been showers over the extremities of the Indian region, but the main portion of the country has been altogether rainless. The showers noticed above occurred on the 7th at Moulmein, Diamond Island and Silchar; on the 8th at Dibrugarh and Sibsagar; on the 9th at Trincomalee; on the 10th at Mergui, Moulmein and Trincomalee; on the 11th at Trincomalee; on the 12th at Toungoo, Yamein, Colombo and Trincomalee; and on the 13th at Taunggyi, Lashio, Bhamo, Minbu, Namethin, Tinnevely, Trichinopoly, Madras, Cuddalore, Negapatam and Trincomalee. In addition, light snow occurred at Dras and Astor on the 17th. The preceding summary shows that the rainfall of the week has been confined to parts of Burma, of Ceylon and the south of the Peninsula, and even in these areas the showers have not only been frequently local and confined to one or two stations, but they have generally been light and less than 10".

The rainfall summary at the close shows that average rainfall amounting to 0·10" more was received during the week in all the Burma divisions, in the Calicut sub-division and in the East Coast (South) division, but that in all the remaining divisions and sub-divisions the week was rainless throughout. The only areas in which the anticipated rainfall is at all heavy during the week under review are the Simla sub-division, the Ludhiana sub-division and the Baluchistan division; in all other places the anticipated rainfall at this season is small, and except for the long continued drought its absence would be comparatively unimportant.

The conditions shown by the latter portion of the table are practically the same as those described last week. Serious deficiency of rainfall is reported from all places except the Burma Dry division, the Ahmedabad sub-division of Gujarat, the Bellary sub-division of the Deccan, both the sub-divisions of South India and the East Coast (South) division.

The deficiency is absolutely greatest over the area covered by the West Himalayas, the West Gangetic Plain, the North-West Dry and the Baluchistan divisions where it ranges from 1·25" in the Cawnpore sub-division to 5" in the Simla sub-division, but the deficiency, relatively to the average, is about equally great and roughly between 80 and 100 per cent. all over Northern and Central India.

SIMLA,

The 13th February, 1902.

Secretary to the Government of India.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, the 8th February, 1902.

Madras.—There was no rain during the week. Water supplies are sufficient for irrigation except in parts of the Deccan. Ploughing, sowing and transplanting continue in parts. Standing crops generally are in good condition. Harvesting continues with fair outturn. Pasture is scanty in parts of the Deccan, but fodder is sufficient. The condition of cattle is good. Prices are stationary or falling.

Bombay.—There was no rain during the week. The rainfall is insufficient in parts of Gujarat and the Deccan. Harvesting of autumn crops has been completed in Bijapur, is nearly over in Dharwar and is in progress in parts of Broach and Khandesh. Threshing has been completed in Ahmednagar, is nearly over in Kolaba, and is in progress in parts of Thar and Parkar, Nasik and Poona. Estimates of outturn of autumn crops generally are good in the Konkan and the Karnatak, fair in Sindh and the Deccan and moderate to poor in Gujarat. Sowings for the spring are in progress in parts of Kanara. Standing crops have been damaged by locusts or frost in parts of Sindh, by rats in parts of Gujarat, Khandesh, Nasik, Wadhwan and Baroda and by grasshoppers in parts of Bijapur. They are suffering from insufficient moisture in parts of the Upper Sind Frontier, Gujarat, Nasik, Ahmednagar, Sholapur, Bijapur and Baroda and generally are in good condition elsewhere. Harvesting of spring crops has been commenced in parts of the Deccan and the Karnatak. Preparation of land for next season is in progress in parts of the Konkan, the Deccan and Belgaum. Cotton prospects generally are fair in Khandesh and the Karnatak and moderate to poor elsewhere. Picking continues in parts of Broach, Surat and Belgaum. The fodder supply is sufficient, except in parts of Karachi and Sholapur. Prices have risen in four districts, fallen in five districts and are stationary elsewhere. The relation of the prices of the principal staples to the normal and to the prices of 1901 remains substantially the same. Prices of cheapest foodgrain in pounds per rupee at headquarters:—Ahmedabad, 32; Kaira, 29; Panchmahals, 30; Sholapur, 42½; Ahmednagar, 35; Bijapur, 38. The physical condition of the people is reported to be good, fair or normal.

Daily average numbers on relief:—BRITISH DISTRICTS—on relief works, 141,041; dependants, 7,829; total on works, 148,870. In poor houses, 2,079; on village relief, 32,374; total on gratuitous relief, 34,453. Figures for Thar and Parkar are incomplete. NATIVE STATES—on relief works, 29,507; dependants, 76; total on works, 29,583. In poor houses, 3,791; on village relief, 630; total on gratuitous relief, 4,421. Figures for Palanpur are incomplete. Grand total, 217,327.

Bengal.—Except a very slight fall in parts of Tippera and Cuttack, there was no rain during the week anywhere in the Province. The want of rain is still felt in several places in Bihar and Chota Nagpur. Threshing of winter rice and pressing of sugarcane still continue. Harvesting of the spring crops and preparation of lands for early rice and jute are in progress. Poppy is doing fairly well and lancing has commenced in places. Prospects continue to be fair on the whole. Fodder is sufficient except at Arrah. Want of water is not felt anywhere. The price of common rice has risen in 8 Districts, fallen in 17, and is stationary in the rest—(21).

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—The weather has been clear. Rain is wanted for dry lands. The irrigation of crops is in progress. Fields are being prepared for sugarcane. The harvesting of peas has been commenced in places. Slight injury is reported to crops from frost in Shahjahanpur, Sitapur and Bara Banki and from rats in Budaun. Fodder is sufficient. Prices are almost stationary.

Punjab.—There was no rain during the week. Pressing of sugarcane continues in Jullundur, Amritsar and Sialkot. Land is being prepared for sugarcane cultivation in Rohtak. Sowings of extra spring crops have been commenced in Gurgaon and parts of Karnal. The outturn of sugarcane is said to be average on irrigated and below the average on unirrigated land in Sialkot. The condition of standing crops is generally fair on irrigated and poor on unirrigated lands. Crops on dry land generally are withering. Rain is badly needed throughout the province. Standing spring crops are suffering from cold, high winds or draught in Rohtak, Gurgaon, Amballa, Mooltan and Sialkot. They are also being damaged by rats in parts of Amballa and Gujrat. Cattle are generally in good condition, but they are said to be losing condition by over-work on wells in Ferozepore, Sialkot and Gujrat. Fodder is sufficient in all districts except in parts of Karnal, Mooltan and Shahpur. Prices of wheat are rising in Rohtak, Amballa, Jullundur, Amritsar, Shahpur and Raebareilly and are in fair condition. The price per rupee of the cheapest food grain in the districts of Hissar, Rohtak and Gurgaon is as follows:—Hissar, bijhar (mixed crop) 21; Rohtak, bijhar (mixed crop) 22; Gurgaon, barley, 24. Numbers on relief—Test-works:—in Hissar, 608; poor houses, 148; otherwise relieved 2,177; total, 2,933.

North-West Frontier.—No rain fell during the week. It is badly wanted. The prospect of crops generally are good in Peshawar, of irrigated crops average, of unirrigated poor in Dera Ismail Khan. The stock of food-grains and fodder is sufficient in Peshawar, but is procurable with difficulty in Dera Ismail Khan. Prices are rising. Wheat is selling at 13½ and 14½, gram 16 and 17, maize 21 and 20, seers per rupee in Peshawar and Dera Ismail Khan, respectively, and bajri at 17½ in Dera Ismail Khan.

Burma.—LOWER BURMA.—Threshing and winnowing are progressing. Rain fell in Thongwa, Mergui and Thaton, but the damage done to the crop was very slight. UPPER BURMA.—Agricultural operations are in progress. Standing crops are in fair condition except the pulse crop in the Monywa sub-division of Lower Chindwin and wheat and pulse crops on uplands in Mandalay. The price of paddy has risen in Amherst and Thaton and fallen in Kyaukse and Thongwa.

Central Provinces.—The weather has been rainless and extremely cold and frosty in the Northern districts. The harvesting of gram and other pulses is generally in progress, and the reaping of wheat has been commenced in Wardha. Damage to pulses by frost is feared to be considerable in the Khurai Tahsil of the Saugor district and appreciable in the rest of Saugor, Damoh and Narsinghpur. In the three Western tahsils of Hoshangabad the spring crops are withering and in the Jagir Tahsil of the Bilaspur district the prospects of the wheat crop are unfavourable. Damage by rats has extended to parts of Nimar and Chhindwara. Insects and cold blasts are damaging linseed and wheat in parts of Raipur. Elsewhere prospects are generally fair to good. Prices are generally steady. The lowest prices in seers per rupee are wheat 16, gram 22½, rice 16½ and juar 22½; the highest are wheat 8½, gram 12, rice 8 and juar 14.

Assam.—The weather was seasonable. Slight rain fell in places. Pruning of tea, pressing of sugarcane, gathering of mustard and ploughing for early rice are in progress. The prospects of sugarcane and mustard are good in the Surma Valley, Goalpara and Lakhimpur, and fair in other districts, except in parts of Kamrup, where the prospects of mustard and sugarcane are reported to be bad. Gathering of pulse is nearly finished and its outturn is good in Goalpara and Lakhimpur and fair elsewhere. Land is being prepared for late rice in Sylhet, Kamrup and Darrang (for sugarcane in Darrang) and for jute in Goalpara. Fodder is insufficient in Cachar, the Khasi and Jaintia hills and in parts of Kamrup. Water is scarce in the Khasi and Jaintia hills. Prospects are good on the whole. Prices have fallen slightly in Bangalore, Mysore, Kolar, Tumkur, Chitaldrug and in parts of Shimoga and Kadur, and have slightly risen in parts of Hassan and in the other parts of Shimoga and Kadur. Water and fodder are available. COORG.—Rice threshing continues. Prices of food grains are stationary. Water and fodder are sufficient.

Berar.—The weather was clear with nights and mornings cool. Harvesting of monsoon crops is nearly completed. Winter crops are generally in fair condition though damage by rats still continues in some districts. Preparation of land for sowing continues. Fodder and water are ample. Prices are almost steady.

Hyderabad.—No rain fell during the week. Standing crops are in fairly good condition. The spring harvest is in progress. Winter rice sowings under wells are nearing completion. Distress has been localised in 37 villages of the Ashti Taluka and preliminary measures of relief are under consideration in the Parendah Taluka. Eleven villages are reported to be suffering from the effects of the bad season. Prices are fairly stationary. Prices—wheat, 6; coarse rice, 8½; and juar, 18½ seers per halli rupee.

Rajputana.—The progress of agricultural operations is fair in Sirohi and Dholpur, satisfactory in Kotah and Jhallawar, and poor and unsatisfactory in Banswara and Dungarpur. Damage by rats continues in Jaisalmer, Mejar, Bundi, Tonk, Kotah, Jhallawar, Kishengarh, Ajmer-Merwara, Banswara and Dungarpur, and to a slight extent in 8 tahsils of Jaipur. Opium is doing well in Jaipur, has been slightly damaged by rats in Kishengarh and by frost in 4 milamuts of Kotah. The state of agricultural stock and pasturage or fodder generally is good and they are sufficient. Prices are falling in 11 states, rising in 1 and are steady elsewhere. The state of standing crops is good in Gwalior and Baghelkhand, average in Bundelkhand and fair elsewhere. Crops have been damaged by frost, mice, insects and want of rain in Gwalior, by frost in Bhopal and by rats in Malwa, Bhopawar and Indore. The condition of agricultural stock and pasturage generally is good. Prices are steady in Gwalior, Bundelkhand and Malwa, falling in Bhopal, below average in Baghelkhand and rising in Indore. Average prices of food grains in seers per rupee :—15·5 to 23·5 in Gwalior, 22½ to 25 in Bundelkhand, 15½ in Malwa and 7 to 16 in Indore. The condition of agricultural stock is satisfactory. Prices :—bajri, 25; juar, 25, wheat 23, rice superior 15, rice inferior 23 pounds per rupee. Number on relief :—Works, 22,433; gratuitous relief, 11,773; total, 34,196.

Kashmir.—The weather was bright and cold. No snow has fallen up to date and this seriously threatens the spring crops. Prices are normal. Rice sells for 22 seers the rupee. JAMMU PROVINCE.—There was no rain. Standing crops on unirrigated areas are suffering for want of rain, but those on irrigated tracts are in good condition. RESOLUTION.

The conservation of the ancient buildings which provide so splendid a record of Indian history and so interesting an illustration of the artistic and religious feelings of the past is a task that should appeal powerfully to the sympathy of the Government of this country, and that must be regarded as a responsibility for the due discharge of which it will properly be held to account. For some time past the attention of the Governor General in Council has been directed to the question of securing the recognition of a liberal policy in this matter, and of increasing the efficiency of the organization which exists for carrying it into effect. Under a scheme which was introduced in 1898 the provinces of British India were grouped into five circles to each of which an Archæological Surveyor was appointed, to be paid from the Imperial revenues but to be controlled by the Local Government within whose jurisdiction his head-quarters were situated. He was charged with the duties of cataloguing archæological remains, of advising the Local Government concerning the preservation of such of these remains as merited care, and, generally, with the prosecution of archæological research. Responsibility for the effective conservation of such monuments as it was decided to maintain was left with Local Governments, which were to employ the agency of the Provincial Public Works Departments in carrying out necessary measures of construction and repair. This responsibility has led in some provinces to a liberal and well-judged expenditure, and the Governor General in Council recognizes that the local interest and pride in the public monuments of a province which are thereby developed should furnish the most effective security against their neglect. But the organization has been shown to be imperfect in so far as it has left the Archæological Department without an expert Head, who could assist local effort with authoritative advice and guidance, and maintain a continuous record of the archæological needs of the various provinces and of the action taken to meet them. In the absence of such a central authority the attention that is given to the conservation of the ancient monuments of the country, and to archæological questions in general, must depend partly upon the attractiveness which these subjects may possess for particular Heads of Local Governments and Administrations, partly upon the sufficiency of available funds. With a view to introducing greater uniformity as well as greater liberality of treatment, the Governor General in Council has determined, with the approval of the Secretary of State, to appoint tentatively, for a term of five years, a Director General of Archæology; and Mr. J. H. Marshall has been selected for the post. In name, the appointment will be a revival of that held by Major-General Cunningham and Dr. Burgess between the years 1871 and 1889. But the duties of the incumbent will extend considerably beyond the direction and control of archæological research to which these officers mainly directed their attention. It will be the most important of his functions to secure that the ancient monuments of the country are properly cared for, that they are not utilized for purposes which are inappropriate or unseemly, that repairs are executed when required, and that any restorations which may be attempted are conducted on artistic lines. In this respect his position will be generally similar to that occupied by the Curator of Ancient Monuments who held office from 1880 to 1883. But his duties will extend to the exercise of a general supervision over all the archæological work of the country, whether it be that of excavation, or preservation, or repair, or of the registration and description of monuments and ancient remains, or of antiquarian research; he will assist the Provincial Surveyors in ascertaining and formulating the special requirements of each province; and he will advise the Government of India as to the operations for which special subsidies may be allotted from Imperial funds. He should visit all the circles in succession, and the more important ones, so far as is possible, in each year, succinctly reporting the general results of his tour to the Local Government of each province visited and offering any suggestion that he may have.

of making reports on the buildings which he has inspected. He should make reports on the progress of the work done; and he will be expected to report on the progress effected during each official year.

2. The Governor General in Council desires to make it known that the creation of this appointment is in no way intended to weaken the responsibility of Local Governments or the care of the ancient monuments of their provinces. Their duty in this respect will remain unimpaired; but it is hoped that a stimulus may be lent to its continuous and effective discharge by the offer of expert advice and, where required, of practical assistance. The present arrangements under which repairs and restorations are carried out by the Provincial Departments of Public Works will remain unaltered: and the Government of India are indeed of opinion that in the interests of continuity of administration it is desirable that each Local Government should fix an annual minimum sum to be expended on these purposes. The Governor General in Council is prepared to emphasize his own responsibility in the matter and to facilitate the prompt undertaking of necessary works by reserving annually a sum of one lakh of rupees to be distributed for particular objects demanding early execution and shown to be beyond the financial capacity of Local Governments. It is further in contemplation to take powers by legislation for the more efficacious protection and repair of ancient buildings, in which case these subsidies will prove of special assistance to those Administrations whose archaeological responsibilities will thereby be enhanced.

DEATH OF THE MARQUIS OF DUFFERIN & AVA.

His Excellency THE PRESIDENT said :—"Before we proceed to the business of our meeting this morning, I should not like to let slip the occasion of paying our share of the universal tribute to the memory of the distinguished Statesman, Lord Dufferin, who passed away full of years and honour two days ago, and a part of whose eminent career was so closely identified with this country. Coming here at a rather later period of life than most of his predecessors, Lord Dufferin brought to India an intelligence of the highest order that had been ripened by experience in many parts of the world, a great knowledge of men, and a personal charm that endeared him to all.

"This combination of gifts enabled him, in the short space of four years, to leave a lasting mark upon the administration and history of this country, where he will always be remembered as a Statesman who not merely extended the borders of the Indian Empire, but strengthened its foreign relations, and added to its internal peace and contentment. India will, I am sure, not wish to be left out of the crowd of mourners who, in every quarter of the globe, are offering their last meed of respect at this illustrious Englishman's grave."

CANTONMENTS (HOUSE-ACCOMMODATION) BILL.

The Hon'ble MAJOR-GENERAL SIR EDMOND ELLES moved that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to make better provision for securing house-accommodation for officers in cantonments be taken into consideration.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. PUGH moved that in clause 2, sub-clause (1), of the Bill, as amended by the Select Committee, the definition of "grantee" be omitted. He said :—"I cannot very well explain the grounds for this amendment without going into other amendments in the group of which I have given notice, and I think that that will be the shorter and more convenient way for me to adopt. With regard to this amendment, the word 'grantee' is what is called a fancy name, and it has a definition wholly different from the ordinary meaning of the word. With respect to land, we know very well what grantee means: according to the definition of grantee in the Bill, a grantee is not a grantee of the land but the grantee of a permission to do something upon it. I propose with the aid of the other amendments to substitute instead of this word 'grantee' the word 'owner' throughout the Bill, but in order to do this it is necessary to confine the Bill within somewhat more narrow limits, and, if the Council agree to the amendment I propose, we shall not in any way tend to prevent the Government or the military authorities from securing that which is the object of the Bill and that which they desire, namely, to make better provision for securing house-accommodation for military officers in cantonments. We all recognise the paramount claim of the military authorities in this respect, but Chapter II appears to go further than this. The end of the sub-section provides for an enquiry into the titles of the persons who hold land in cantonments, and then the other sub-sections go on to impose upon those persons certain conditions and certain presumptions which have caused very great alarm in the country with reference to the intentions of the Government. That alarm to my mind is an alarm which is unfounded, but I cannot say that there was not some ground for it in the Bill as it originally stood. However, as it has been altered in Committee and as it has been explained previously at the last meeting of the Council, I do not think that there is now any ground for such alarm. It must be remembered that this is not a declaratory Bill with the object of declaring the law as relating to cantonments; but it is a Bill brought forward for a certain specific purpose, and it does seem to be going beyond its real object to go and endeavour to declare the law with regard to the titles of these persons who hold houses in cantonments. The alarm was caused owing to the serious diminution in the value of property which was apprehended supposing that the provisions in question were retained. I have always thought, and still think, that the Government may well rest and take their stand upon the law, as it is at present, without any endeavour to alter it and certainly without endeavouring to put any statutory presumptions in the way of litigants, even in cases in which the Government is not at all interested and to which the Government may not be a party. I propose, therefore, in order to carry out this portion of my suggestion, to omit sub-clauses (3), (4) and (5) of clause 3. This will simplify the Bill very much; it will allay this anxiety and this alarm; and, at the same time, as far as I can judge, it will give the Government all that they require. On the other hand, I think that the Bill will put those who are affected by it, namely, house-owners in cantonments, in a better position than they are in at present. It will take away a great deal of that uncertainty which at present besets them; they will have a Bill showing clearly the position in which they stand instead of being liable to have Military Resolutions made with respect to them at intervals, perfectly uncertain, and Military Regulations the scope and result of which also they cannot foresee. I am bound to say that my honourable and gallant friend in charge of the Bill has in every way shown his desire to meet the views of the house-owners in this matter, and if, as I trust, the amendments which I now propose prove acceptable to the Council, I cannot but hope that the Bill will meet with the acceptance of the country and at the same time secure the object which the Government have in view. With these words, My Lord, I beg to move the first amendment which stands in my name."

The Hon'ble MAJOR-GENERAL SIR EDMOND ELLES said:—"My Lord, I am prepared, on behalf of the Government, to accept the amendment now proposed by the Hon'ble Mr. Pugh; but I wish it to be distinctly understood that I do so without prejudice to the claim of the Government to be the owner of the soil in cantonments.

"In the statement which I made at the meeting of Council held at Simla on the 25th October last I indicated as fully and clearly as I could what our claim is and what is its foundation. Nothing that I then said do I now retract, nor from the position which I then took do I now withdraw. On the contrary, the more I go into the matter and the more I hear of the arguments put forward in the memorials lately received and elsewhere on behalf of the so-called house-owners in cantonments the more convinced I become of the strength of our case and the weakness of the other side. That the intention with which we began to form cantonments, was to include in them only areas entirely at the disposal of the military authorities, cannot be denied; for the old Regulations expressly forbade the inclusion of any lands which were private property, and a whole series of Regulations and orders issued from the beginning of last century onwards have consistently assumed and asserted the ownership of the State. But the house-owners of Barrackpore, for example, say that no proof exists of the precise manner in which, or the exact time when, the Government acquired lands at Barrackpore for a cantonment; that lapse of time, added to the civil and political confusions of the last century, has rendered it impossible for many of them to prove their titles affirmatively, however clear they may have been originally; and that the absence, until comparatively recent years, of any regular or scientific system and practice of conveyancing, such as is to be found with regard to transfers of land in England, renders it doubly difficult to make out a title sufficient to rebut successfully the presumption that houses in cantonments stand on land which belongs to the State. It is urged that in these circumstances, where neither party can show a clear title, the only equitable course is to respect and give the preference to undisputed and long possession. I answer emphatically that, in the circumstances of the case, it is not so. A cantonment is a cantonment, and every resident in one knows very well that the circumstances are special and very different from those outside. And I maintain, as I did before, that, when it is admitted that neither the Government nor the house-owner, if put to the proof, could show either how the land was originally included in a cantonment or under what circumstances it came to be built upon, it is but right and reasonable to give to the Government the benefit of whatever doubt and uncertainty there may be and to presume, in the absence of title-deeds on either side, that the land is the Government's and that it was all along understood by every one concerned that houses were built on it subject to special conditions and to meet special military requirements. This was the presumption expressly raised by sub-clause (5) of clause 3 of the Bill as introduced, and, instead of its being an unjust presumption opposed to all legal principle, I believe it to be one which the admitted facts alone are sufficient to raise and of which the Courts would, in the absence of any statutory declaration on the subject, themselves give us the benefit. I have already referred to the house-owners of Barrackpore, who have, I know, heard of the case of Robinson v. Carey, decided in 1865 with reference to a house in their midst, and I will now read what Mr. Justice Norman, whose judgment was upheld on appeal by Chief Justice Sir Barnes Peacock and Mr. Justice Morgan, said on the particular point which I am now discussing. 'With respect to the property of the soil in cantonments,' the learned Judge observed,* 'where there is no evidence that the land is part of a settled estate; no proof that it pays revenue to the Government; nothing in fact to show that it is held by any other tenure; I think it must be taken that the soil is the property of the Government, and that occupation by the owners of bungalows is permissive.' The presumption sub-clause of the Bill goes no further than that; it was, I believe, actually suggested by Mr. Justice Norman's dictum; and it merely lays down the same rule in different language. I should, therefore, have no difficulty in continuing, were it necessary to do so, to defend the presumption and repel the charge that it is opposed to all legal principle. In the numerous memorials directed against this sub-clause, the measure is alluded to as practically an act of confiscation; but it is an extraordinary fact that, though the memorialists thus assume a title which they do not possess, there is not a single case on record in which such title has been proved as against the Government except such a case as is contemplated by clause 4 of the Bill, and I challenge the opponents of the presumption to adduce one. On the other hand, I quote an extract from a memorial of 1899 from the house-owners of one of our largest cantonments—'Your memorialists respectfully object to the term 'grantee' as not applicable. Had Government given the land and houses, it would have been; but as the land is still the property of Government and the houses are built for Government purposes, either for sheltering the garrisons or for purposes of catering to the wants of the same, there is nothing granted.'

"But, My Lord, the presumption was raised and asserted by the original framers of the Bill simply because the position underlying it was regarded as the strongest justification for a measure involving a certain amount of interference with the ordinary law of contract between landlord and tenant. We do not desire to have a statutory declaration regarding it for any other purpose; and when the spokesmen of house-owners in cantonments and the house-owners themselves come forward, as they have done, and say that the operative provisions of the Bill as it now stands are perfectly reasonable, that they justify themselves, and that they may be applied quite irrespectively of any considerations based upon the ownership of the soil, I must confess that they are practically conceding to us what we want. With the Hon'ble Mr. Pugh's amendments we shall, in the first place, avoid the necessity for a succession of troublesome and not inexpensive local enquiries into intricate questions of title; for all that we shall have to do, is to satisfy ourselves regarding the expediency of making the Act operative in any particular case. In other words, we shall have to take into consideration only such arguments as those put forward in the earlier part of the Barrackpore memorial, namely, that there is already plenty of accommodation available for military men on reasonable terms at Barrackpore, that the relations between landlords and tenants there are satisfactory, and that there is no call for interference in the matter. In the second place, we shall avoid the chance of subsequent litigation regarding the operation of the Act. And, finally, we shall have a simple and practical measure to administer.' That being so, My Lord, I think that the Government and the Council may accept the Hon'ble Mr. Pugh's amendment, supplemented as it will be by the other consequential amendments standing in his name, and so remove the issue of title from the Bill; and, after what I have now said, it will scarcely be possible for any one to argue hereafter that, by agreeing to this course, we have abandoned anything or made any admission detrimental to the rights of the Government to the land in cantonments. Should the question of ownership ever arise in any other connection we shall assert our claim and rely on the facts, on common sense, and on the presumption laid down with authority in the reported case which I have again cited to-day. I may add that the more we enquire into the condition of individual cantonments the more we are convinced of the strength of the Government claim. In the case of one cantonment which has been much relied on by those holding the contrary opinion, we have lately received a full report containing what we believe to be irrebuttable evidence as to the title of the Government, and we should, if necessary, embark with confidence on legal proceedings to establish it."

The Hon'ble MR. HARDY said:—"I have little to add to the very full statement which the honourable and gallant member has laid before the Council. I think, if I may be allowed to say so, the Government is acting wisely in accepting the proposal to omit sub-clauses (3), (4) and (5) of section 3. They contain an important presumption to which no reference is made in the preamble of the Bill. That preamble simply lays down that the Bill has for its object the securing of better accommodation for military officers in cantonments, and the introduction of a presumption of this nature is inconsistent with the logical development of the Bill from its preamble. I think the Government will lose nothing by the omission of these sub-sections. A great deal of contentious matter and a great deal of heart-burning, I venture to say, will be averted by their omission. I desire, as the member representing the Province in which there are a very large number of cantonments, to assert that the reasons given by the Hon'ble Sir Edmond Elles justify the acceptance of the proposals of the Hon'ble Mr. Pugh. The Bill when shorn of the sub-sections adequately meets the necessities of the situation, and as their omission does not involve any yielding by Government of its undoubted claim to the proprietorship of cantonment land, I agree with the honourable and gallant member in accepting the amendments proposed by the Hon'ble Mr. Pugh."

The Hon'ble SAYYID HUSAIN BILGRAMI said:—"My Lord, I will make but a few very brief observations on the question now before the Council. .

"It cannot be denied that, in its original shape, the Bill was somewhat stringent in its application to grantees; but the paring to which it has been subjected in process of passing through the hands of the Select Committee, has removed its asperities, and the amended Bill, as it now stands, is as fair and moderate as it was possible to make it when conflicting interests had to be reconciled and power taken for the securing of better house-accommodation for the military, who are responsible for the defence and protection of the country.

"The only part of the amended Bill which appears to bear heavily on grantees, is confined to sub-clauses (3), (4) and (5) of clause 3. Sub-clause (5) certainly looks like a confiscatory order, and I had myself thought of proposing that the whole of Chapter II with the exception of sub-clauses (1) and (2) of clause 3 should be omitted, if only for the reason underlying the Minutes of Dissent annexed to the Report of the Select Committee, that the question of title is altogether outside the scope, and in no way required for the purposes, of the Bill. I have, therefore, no hesitation in supporting the motion brought forward by the Hon'ble Mr. Pugh.

"I should like, however, to add that it occurs to me, from the slight experience I have had of cantonment life, that, in spite of the care that has been taken, in clause 8, sub-clause (2), and again in clause 18, to provide that the rent offered or enforced for the purposes of the Bill shall, in all cases, be 'reasonable', disagreement and disputes will still arise as long as no definite standard of rent is available to be referred to by either party in case of need. Even a Committee of Arbitration will not always be able to satisfy both parties, though they may be compelled under the proposed Act to abide by its decision. In the cantonments in and around Secunderabad I have frequently heard house-owners complain of being compelled to accept what they looked upon as inadequate rents, and make this a ground for refusing or neglecting to repair bungalows occupied by officers."

"As a way out of this difficulty, I venture to suggest that, in every cantonment that is brought under the operation of this measure, one or two or three bungalows, according to the size of the cantonment, should be built by the Cantonment Committee and rented to military officers at a fixed rent, not exceeding ten per cent. per annum on the outlay. Bungalows so built would not only serve as models for private speculators in house-building within cantonment limits to copy, but the rent charged by the Cantonment Committee would set up a fixed and indisputable standard for reference in connection with the assessment of the rents of all other houses in the cantonment.

"Funds for building these bungalows might be raised by debentures or lent at a nominal interest out of cantonment funds and recovered from the rent. Debentures carrying five per cent. interest would attract many investors, and, if one or two per cent. were devoted to a sinking fund for their extinction, the balance of the rent could be reserved for repairs. Power to raise the capital might be obtained, if necessary, in the same way in which similar power is obtained by municipalities in different towns in the country."

The Hon'ble RAI BAHADUR P. ANANDA CHARLU said:—"The Bill, as it originally stood, took most men's breath away. It caused no small amount of well-grounded and wide-spread alarm, as it seemingly involved a virtual abrogation of rights and confiscation of property, and as it threatened, on that account, to be viewed as an aggressive, instead of a progressive, measure. It further seemed to be of a piece with the species of legislation which began with pleading the need for an inch and ended with taking an ell. It is, therefore, no small satisfaction that, even as it is, some of the drawbacks are out of it in the shape it has received at the hands of the majority of the Select Committee. For it to prove more acceptable, or rather fairly satisfactory, we must adopt the amendments which await our decision.

"Personally I hold the view that, as there are barracks to house soldiers, so must there be quarters, attached to the barracks themselves as part and parcel of them, to house the officers as well. Such an arrangement, it seems to me, would ensure better discipline and a more vigilant control of the soldiers, quartered as they are amid a timid and alien population. But where this is not to be, the next best arrangement is what would be the outcome if the amendments on the agenda paper are accepted. I cordially support this amendment, and I may add, once for all, that my attitude is the same as regards the amendments which follow. They fully accord with my own views, and I should have urged them, if my learned colleague had not taken action. These amendments would, when accepted, almost bring the measure within the bounds of reasonable and recognised rights of property on the one hand and on the other, gratify the wishes of those who claim for military officers some degree of exceptional accommodation under existing conditions. What is of greater importance is that legal instincts will continue to remain unshocked and immemorably-established law on presumptions and on onus of proof will remain equally untouched and unreversed—notwithstanding the remarks made to-day by the Member in charge, and notwithstanding the case cited."

The Hon'ble MR. GOKHALE said:—"Your Excellency, as Government have been pleased to accept the amendment moved by the Hon'ble Mr. Pugh, I do not think it is necessary for me to say anything in support of it; but, if Your Excellency will bear with me, I will, following the example of my Hon'ble friend Mr. Bilgrami, make a few observations on the general character of the measure, which the Council are invited to pass to-day. My Lord, it is true, that I have signed the Report of the Select Committee subject to dissent in one particular only, but I don't mind confessing that I regard all legislation of this nature with a considerable amount of misgiving. I am free to recognise that Government have been by no means precipitate in proceeding with this measure, as it has been before the public, in one form or another, for nearly thirty years. I also recognise that large and important modifications have been introduced into the Bill to soften the stringency of its original provisions, and now that Government have accepted the amendment of which the Hon'ble Mr. Pugh had given notice, I think they have done nearly all that lay in their power, short of dropping the Bill, to provide what have to be considered as reasonable safeguards to protect the legitimate interests of house-owners in cantonments. But, My Lord, when all this is admitted, and I make the admission most gratefully, the fact remains that legislation of so exceptional a character, interfering as it does with the normal freedom of contract between house-owners and tenants, can be justified only on grounds of the strongest necessity; and there is ample evidence in the opinions and memorials laid before the Select Committee to show that in the case of a large number of cantonments such necessity does not exist. In these cantonments no difficulty has been experienced in the past in the matter of obtaining house-accommodation for military officers, the number of bungalows available being largely in excess of military requirements, and a certain proportion of these bungalows remaining, as a matter of fact, vacant from year to year. Poona is a typical instance of this class of cantonments. It has been estimated that the number of military officers requiring house-accommodation in Poona is about 160; while the number of bungalows in Military lines is over 200. Now all these 160 officers do not take a house each. The younger officers generally prefer chumming, three or four in a house. A considerable number reside in the Western India Club and in hotels, and a few live even in Civil lines. The result is that every year a certain number of houses remain without tenants. It may be urged that it is not intended to put the proposed enactment into operation at once in all cantonments throughout India. That is true, but as soon as the Bill is passed the matter gets out of the hands of the Legislature, and then it is all a question of the discretion of Government in their executive capacity, which, it will be admitted, is quite a different thing. I do not say that this discretion will not, as a rule, be wisely exercised, but it is conceivable that a Local Government may not always be able to withstand the pressure of the military authorities, who would naturally not be reluctant to be armed with the drastic powers which this Bill vests in them, when once the Act is extended to a cantonment. And I think there is reason to fear that the operation of this enactment, with all the safeguards it contains, is likely to prove in practice more or less prejudicial to the interests of house-owners. The Legislature, My Lord, may make the letter of the law as severely impartial as it can. The law itself has to be enforced through the medium of human beings, who are not free from prejudice. And in the present case it will be worked by military men, who are so accustomed to prompt and unquestioning obedience that they are often not likely to trouble themselves much about nice points of law in enforcing their wishes. The Bill provides for referring all important matters of disagreement between house-owners and tenants to Committees of Arbitration. It remains to be seen how far the safeguard of these committees proves to be effective in practice. Past experience of these bodies in cantonments is not very encouraging. On this point I need quote no other testimony than that of the Hon'ble Mr. Hardy, who has described his experience of these committees in the following terms:— 'I have been a member on these committees, and I am bound to say I thought their tendency was to be hard on the house-owner.' Let us hope that the Arbitration Committees that will be constituted under the proposed enactment will give greater satisfaction. In one respect the Bill is certain to cause loss to house-owners. Where a non-military tenant is ejected in favour of a military tenant under the coercive clauses of the Bill, the house is sure to be shunned by non-military tenants after that, and so, if at any time the house-owner fails to get a military tenant for it, it is likely to remain without a tenant. I have made these observations to emphasize respectfully the great need there is for exhausting all ordinary remedies before resorting to the somewhat violent disturbance of the normal relations between house-owners and tenants which this Bill authorizes, especially in the case of those cantonments in which the inconvenience complained of in the preamble of the Bill has not assumed serious dimensions and where the requirements of the Military are of a fixed character. I believe in such cantonments Government might, with advantage, try the plan of selecting themselves the required number of bungalows once for all, and requiring their officers to occupy them for fixed rents. Such an arrangement, I submit, will be more equitable than that contemplated in the Bill, because there will be a reciprocity of obligations under it. For if house-owners will be thereby required to place their bungalows at the disposal of military officers, these latter, in their turn, will be bound to occupy them; and the chances of friction between house-owners and military officers will be minimised. Of course, where the evil mentioned in the preamble has grown so serious that such a simple plan will not be practicable, the proposed enactment will have to be enforced, for no one can question the fact, that cantonments exist primarily for the accommodation of military men and they must fulfil that purpose under any circumstances. But in regard to these cantonments, i.e., where it will be found necessary to enforce the new law, I would venture to make one suggestion, and that is, that Government should publish every year a statement showing the number of cases in which the coercive clauses of the Bill have been enforced during the year. I think the mere fact that such a return will have to go up to Government will tend to sober the excess of zeal on the part of cantonment authorities and will prove a salutary addition to the safeguards which have been already provided in the Bill. My Lord, it was not possible for me to bring up these suggestions in the shape of amendments, and I thought I might submit them to the consideration of Government in the course of this discussion."

The Hon'ble RAI SRI RAM BAHADUR said :—" My Lord, as one of the dissenting members of the Select Committee with respect to the provisions of clause 3 of the Bill, I consider it my duty to say a few words on the subject. But my task has been made easy by the action of the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill in accepting the Hon'ble Mr. Pugh's amendments and omitting the objectionable provisions in question. Their elimination will be a matter of the utmost significance in favour of the cantonment house-owners, who will, no doubt, hail this important alteration with feelings of gratitude towards Your Excellency's Government. The extent of uneasiness and alarm created in the minds of house-owners on their finding sub-clauses (2) to (5) retained in section 3 of the Bill presented by the Select Committee, may be gauged by the submission of so many memorials to Your Excellency from different places, praying for their withdrawal.

" My Lord, it is a matter for congratulation that these contentious provisions are now going to be taken away out of the measure. Had they been retained and allowed to pass into law, the inquiries necessitated by them would have raised a host of dormant claims involving the decision of thorny and intricate questions of title quite unnecessary and altogether foreign to the express scope of the Bill.

" I imagine that, when cantonments were formed, the Government, as represented by the cantonment authorities, were glad to get persons to build houses on almost any terms. The authority given to those persons in many cases must have been verbal. They spent large sums of money in building houses on the cantonment grounds. To have called upon them, after the lapse of such long periods, to show that their houses do come within the exemption, would have entailed great hardships on them. A legal right has now vested in those house-owners. ' It is immaterial '—to quote the remarks of the Hon'ble Judges of the Calcutta High Court,—' however legal rights may have sprung up, whether by grant, or by purchase, or by long enjoyment fostered by negligence or by favour in past times; once a legal right exists, it is sacred.' The actual working of the provisions now to be eliminated might have interfered with such rights. It is, therefore, a matter for satisfaction that these objectionable provisions are now to be omitted.

" My Lord, it appears that the question of placing, by means of statutory provisions, greater facilities in the hands of military officers to obtain house-accommodation in cantonments, has been engaging the attention of the Government for some time. One of the recommendations made by a Committee of Government Officers, appointed by the Government of India in 1884, was the desirability of legislation on this subject. In the year 1888, Sir George Chesney, the then Military Member, introduced in this Council a Bill which subsequently became law as the Cantonments Act of 1889. Chapter V of that Bill contained substantially the same provisions as those of the Bill now before the Council. But the provisions of that chapter evoked such hostile criticism from the public as well as from some other quarters, and were considered to involve questions of such gravity and importance, that it was thought inadvisable to give them legislative sanction at that time. After the lapse of a decade the Bill before us was introduced by Sir Edwin Collen, the immediate predecessor of the present Hon'ble Military Member.

"My Lord, I, for my part, do not consider it of any avail at this stage of the proceedings to go into the question whether any necessity exists for placing such a piece of legislation in the Statute-book, nor into the cognate question whether, judged by strictly equitable principles, some of the provisions of this Bill, even in their present modified and altered form, are justifiable. I shall confine my remarks to other points than those mentioned above.

"The Bill as originally introduced contained many provisions which, looked at from the cantonment house-owner's point of view, were unnecessary and unduly severe. These provisions did naturally evoke unfavourable criticism, not only from the house-owners, but also from several Government Officers. It is satisfactory that the Bill has undergone some very important modifications at the hands of the Select Committee. Many of its objectionable features have been removed, and the severity and harshness of several of its provisions have been softened. Some additions beneficial to the interests of house-owners have also been made. We are thankful to the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill and to other the Government Members for the due and favourable consideration shown by them to the amendments proposed and the suggestions made by their non-official colleagues on the Select Committee.

"With Your Lordship's permission, I shall briefly mention some of the most important changes made in the Bill by the Select Committee. The clauses rendering its provisions applicable to civil officers have been omitted. The restriction which it was proposed to place on transfers of house-property in cantonments, and the power of vetoing such transfers which was to be given to Commanding Officers, have also been withdrawn. Provision regarding imprisonment has been omitted. And an additional clause has been inserted to give greater facilities to house-owners in the matter of the recovery of arrears of rent from defaulting military tenants.

"My Lord, with the modifications and alterations noticed above and the amendments just now accepted by Your Excellency's Government, the Bill will, I hope, be more acceptable to the public, and specially to the cantonment house-owners, than it was in its original form."

The Hon'ble SIR ANDREW WINGATE said :—"My Lord, the cordial manner in which the Bill in its final form has been accepted makes it unnecessary for me to enter into any discussion respecting the contention set forth in some of the memorials that the land in cantonments has somehow or other ceased to be the property of the Government. I will, therefore, confine myself to stating that, so far as Poona is concerned, a very careful enquiry, recently made, has established two facts. One, that in 1817 and subsequent years, in accordance with the direction, eventually embodied in section 21 of the Regulation XXII of 1827, that no private land was to be included within the cantonment boundary, special care was taken to acquire any private land found on inquiry to be within the proposed boundary and to exclude any private land that, for reasons stated, it was not desirable to include. Accordingly, holders of inām lands were compensated by receiving other land of equal value on the same tenure in exchange and holders of ordinary lands by receiving an abatement of the assessment, this being at that date the only form of compensation recognised for this description of land, since cultivators had then no difficulty in finding fresh land.

"The other, that the land thus carefully acquired was as carefully preserved throughout the years that have since elapsed by a long series of Government Resolutions and by General Orders emanating from the military authorities. From first to last, it can be proved that no officer or other individual could acquire a right or property in land situated within cantonment limits merely by reason of having received permission to erect a house. The grant of a building site was subject to the ordinary conditions of cantonment tenure, on which alone the military authorities had power to confer it on the original grantee.

"I would like very respectfully to add one word on my own account. I am approaching the end of my service, and, in the experience I have had of various Bills, I have found the attitude of Government as full of sympathy towards its critics as in the case of the Bill now before this Council. I shall carry into retirement the conviction that by its respect for fair criticism, by its desire to meet as far as may be possible the opinion of the minority, by its readiness to adopt any useful suggestion and by the pains which it takes to inquire when the shoe is alleged to pinch, the Government will continue to possess the confidence of the people."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. PUGH moved that in the definition of "house" in clause 2, sub-clause (1) (e), to be re-numbered and re-lettered sub-clause (1) (d), the words "erected on land occupied as aforesaid by a grantee" be omitted.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. PUGH moved that at the end of the definition of "military officer" in clause 2, sub-clause (1) (f), to be re-numbered and re-lettered sub-clause (1) (e), the word "and" be omitted.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. PUGH moved that in clause 2, sub-clause (1), after the definition of "military officer", the following be inserted, namely:—

"(f) "owner" includes the person who is receiving, or is entitled to receive, the rent of a house, whether on his own account or on behalf of himself and others or as agent or trustee, or who would so receive the rent or be entitled to receive it, if the house were let to a tenant; and".

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. PUGH moved that in clause 3, sub-clause (2), for the words "how the land in such cantonment or part of a cantonment is held" the following be substituted, namely:—

"whether it is expedient to issue such notification and what portion (if any) of the area proposed to be included therein should be excluded therefrom".

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. PUGH moved that in clause 3, sub-clauses (3), (4) and (5) be omitted.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. PUGH moved that in clause 4, the words "evidencing a disposition of immoveable property in a cantonment and", and the words and figures "before the first day of October, 1899", be omitted.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. PUGH moved that for the word "grantee" or the words "a grantee", wherever it occurs or they occur in the said Bill, the word "owner" or the words "an owner", as the case may be, be substituted.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. BUCH moved that in clause 14, sub-clause (2), the words "stands on land which" be omitted, and that for the words "granted by or on behalf of the East India Company or the Government" the word "erected" be substituted.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MAJOR-GENERAL SIR EDMOND ELLES moved that the Bill, as amended, be passed.

His Excellency THE PRESIDENT said:—"In putting this motion to the Council let me say that the Government of India cannot but be gratified at the general agreement amid which this Bill is being passed into law. It was a subject that raised many thorny and difficult questions respecting the rights, or the assumed rights, of individuals, and we all know how readily, when a question of property is concerned, the bristles of the Englishman—and I think I may say the Indian too, who has perhaps learned a good deal from him—are apt to rise. Nevertheless, as I listened this morning to the speeches of Honourable Members, a spirit of almost universal beatitude, marred by scarcely a discordant note, appeared to have settled upon the scene. For this result I think that we are largely indebted to the taciful and conciliatory manner in which my Honourable Colleague, Sir Edmond Elles, has conducted this measure; and I may say in passing that I listened with pleasure, and with gratitude, to the brief but eloquent tribute paid by the Hon'ble Sir A. Wingate, based perhaps upon a short experience of this Council, but upon a long experience of the administration of India, as to the spirit and manner in which the Government of India are anxious to meet their critics in legislative and other matters. Sir Edmond Elles has now the satisfaction of seeing this Bill, which he has conducted in the manner I have described, placed upon the Statute-book by what I anticipate will be the unanimous voice of this Council."

The motion was put and agreed to.

INDIAN STEAM-SHIPS (AMENDMENT) BILL.

The Hon'ble SIR EDWARD LAW moved that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill further to amend the Indian Steam-ships Act, 1884, be taken into consideration.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble SIR EDWARD LAW moved that the Bill, as amended, be passed.

The motion was put and agreed to.

INDIAN TRAMWAYS BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. ARUNDEL moved that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to apply the provisions of the Indian Railway Companies Act, 1895, to certain Tramway Companies be taken into consideration.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. ARUNDEL moved that the Bill, as amended, be passed.

The motion was put and agreed to.

ADMINISTRATORS GENERAL AND OFFICIAL TRUSTEES BILL.

The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES RIVAZ moved that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill further to amend the Law relating to Administrators General and Official Trustees be taken into consideration. He said:—"My Lord, the alterations which have been proposed by the Select Committee in the original Bill were fully explained at the last meeting of the Council by my Hon'ble Colleague, the Law Member and I need not, therefore, now offer any further explanatory remarks.

"The Hon'ble RAI BAHADUR P. ANANDA CHARLU said:—"I share the regret, almost universally expressed, that this Bill has not been long enough before the public and that it has not been subjected to the scrutiny of High Courts other than the Calcutta High Court. To me personally, it seems to be a matter of advantage that Bills such as this—Bills which relate to legal principles and to the practical working of laws enacted—should be referred to the several bodies of legal men in the country, whether associated or not, and more especially when associated, as is the Madras Vakils Association, which, speaking from intimate personal touch, contains not a few of eminent legal learning and keen legal acumen. A departure, such as this, will prove, not only a handsome compliment, where it is richly deserved, but also of considerable profit to the Legislature and the public, notwithstanding that there is a fair amount of legal element, always secured in the Legislature itself.

"An urgency is, however, pleaded to justify the exceptional course taken as regards this Bill, namely, that the retirement of the late incumbent of the office of the Administrator General and the occasion to appoint a successor were intended to be taken advantage of to make the office a salaried one and to introduce other modifications consequent upon that change. I am not sure that this reason is altogether adequate; but whether it is adequate or not, I am clear that the change of the office into a salaried one is not brought in, a day too soon. It will place a whole-time officer at the disposal of the public and will not only facilitate access to him but also prevent delays and congestion of work.

"As regards the Official Trusteeship, while I am fully in accord with the framers of the Bill that it should be a salaried office as well, I am not equally at one with them that it should be amalgamated with the office of the Administrator General. The facilities and relief conveyed to the public with one hand by making the Administrator General a salaried officer are more than whittled away with the other hand, by leaving the public still to wait till the officer doffs the one office and dons the other; for it is quite clear that he cannot be conveniently attending to both classes of his visitors promiscuously. The same remark would apply to the proposed Deputy. I am, therefore, not in favour of the fusion as an affair of public convenience. An influential committee has indeed expressed itself in favour of this fusion. But it will be found, on examination, that the committee in question had to face a proposal of quadruple alliance and their method appears to me to have been to apply the process of elimination, mainly on grounds of conflict of duties which would be entailed thereby and the special qualifications some of them called for. On that test, of course, nothing can be said against the amalgamation which is proposed in the Bill. But, as I said, it is open to objection on grounds of facility to the public. The Government have, however, resolved to try the experiment, and it has, at least, one merit, namely, that, when the offices are lumped together, the head and the deputy may be paid bigger salaries, and that fact may attract more capable men than would be otherwise available.

"Having regard to the shortness of notice and the diversity of views that seem to exist, representations have poured in from far and near, and the latest is from Burma early this morning. The last one, though latest, seems to me to deserve considerable attention. Almost all the facilities and advantages, meant by making the Administrator General a whole-time officer would seem to be lost, or mostly lost, to distant places, such as Burma. I am told, and I am sure I am rightly told, that, so far back or so recently as 1890, when the Act of 1874 was amended, the Authorities themselves, in a manner, felt the force of the complaint, and power was taken to divide the Presidency of Bengal into so many provinces as the Viceroy should think fit, when the then incumbent vacated office, a separate head being provided for each. This information came to me far too late to admit of my making further enquiries and of determining whether any and what change should be made in the law to give effect to the promise, if any such were made. But, as we are only engaged in remedying a few out of the many shortcomings of the law in force and as I believe a more comprehensive Bill to amend the whole subject is in contemplation or must soon be brought on the anvil, I content myself with merely calling pointed attention to the demur from Burma. A like consideration has influenced me, to a great extent, in not moving any amendment on the question of relieving sureties of administrators, on a proper case being made out. The hardship is severe and is repeatedly felt by sureties. It even has the effect in many instances of increasing the difficulties of procuring solvent and almost life-long sureties, with the result that the cases are not inconsiderable in number, in which bogus sureties contrive to bamboozle or the original sureties have suffered reverses in their own affairs so as to be no longer as substantial as at first. I shall say no more on this point just at present, chiefly because the judicial authority on the law of jurisdiction on the subject is slight and because the conflict between the High Courts—as yet between two High Courts only—is as between a division Bench of one such Court and a single Judge of another. I have nothing more to say at this stage.”

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble RAI BAHADUR P. ANANDA CHARLU moved that in clause 2, sub-clause (2), of the Bill, as amended by the Select Committee, after the word “attorney,” the words “or a vakil of the High Court, admitted under the Letters Patent and the rules framed thereunder,” be inserted, and that the words and figures “notwithstanding anything in the Administrator General's Act, 1874,” be omitted. He said :—“In my minute of dissent I have briefly stated my reasons on this point. It is as follows :—

‘My other amendments aim at getting rid of a gratuitous distinction. Class-legislation is always invidious and irritating. In this particular instance it has to be deprecated chiefly as giving the go-by entirely to the present conditions, which are wholly different from the conditions a quarter of a century ago, i.e., in 1874. It only remains for me to add that I trust that my objection on the latter point will not be mistakenly viewed as of a sectional nature. It is, on the contrary and obviously, an opposition to what is, on the very face of it, sectional and narrow. My attitude would be precisely the same in the interest of common fairness, if I did not belong to the legal profession at all and if the exclusion from all chances of eligibility were levelled at the barrister or the attorney class’.

“To this passage I shall add a few words. As has been fairly admitted, the offices have been reserved to a barrister, not merely as a homage to one branch of the legal profession, but on the ground that, if the head of the office possesses the higher qualification, his opinion will be more readily accepted when legal questions arise in the course of administration. I am quite at one with this being the main, or even the sole, test. Applying that test, I cannot accept the sectional limitation contained in the Bill in its present form.”

The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES RIVAZ said :—“My Lord, I regret that I cannot accept the proposal of the Hon'ble Mr. Ananda Charlu.

“Perhaps the most important, and certainly the most difficult, of the duties performed by the Administrator General are in relation to Europeans and their private concerns, and this naturally brings him, in circumstances often of peculiar delicacy, into the closest contact with people and affairs in England and other European countries. It is clearly desirable that the Administrator General should, by common origin and training, be able thoroughly to understand the mode of dealing with the cases of the persons affected. I do not for one moment wish to disparage the legal attainments of vakils, but here we have to consider something more. For the reasons, no doubt, which I have just indicated, the Act of 1874 made only barristers eligible for the appointment; and I must remind the Hon'ble Mover that we have agreed to a considerable abridgment of the Bill in order to leave matters as far as possible alone.”

The motion was put and negatived.

The Hon'ble RAI BAHADUR P. ANANDA CHARLU moved that the word and figure “Section 6” be inserted at the beginning of clause 4, sub-clause (1), of the Bill, as amended by the Select Committee.

The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES RIVAZ said:—“I must oppose this amendment, My Lord, for the same reasons as I have just given in the case of the other amendment.”

The motion was put and negatived.

The Hon'ble MR. TURNER moved that clause 9 of the Bill, as amended by the Select Committee, be re-numbered clause 10, and that before that clause the following be added, namely:—

‘9. In section 256 of the Indian Succession Act, 1865, as amended by section 6 of the Probate and Administration Act, 1889, after the word “administration”, the words and figures “other than a grant under section 212” shall be inserted.’

He said:—“The very full statement made by the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill at our last meeting, followed by the observations and explanations of the Hon'ble Legal Member, have made the position of Government and the objects of the Bill perfectly plain and perfectly intelligible. Had this full information been vouchsafed to the public at an earlier stage of the proceedings, there would not have been the necessity for the criticisms levelled at the Bill as presented to the public. It must be remembered, My Lord, that those who administer the law have to be guided by common sense and a reasonable view of the provisions of an Act that cannot be got by the intentions of the framers of the Act, however excellent those intentions may be, and, therefore, I consider that the public and the Chamber of Commerce were perfectly justified in criticising in the most frank and open manner the provisions of the Bill as first proposed.

“The provisions of the Bill as first proposed were in some cases obscure, in some cases objectionable, but I am bound to say that the Bill as now amended is a vast improvement, and I do not think it can be reasonably objected to even on the score of hurried legislation. I have thought it right and necessary to append a Note to the Report of the Select Committee, not a Note of Dissent, but merely to record my strong view that it was not desirable to amalgamate the two offices of Administrator General and Official Trustee. It may be considered presumption on my part to express such an opinion in view of the Committee's Report, which is entitled to the highest respect, the Committee being presided over by the Hon'ble the Chief Justice of Bengal. My objection is stated entirely from a business point of view. I do not believe it will be found in practice that the work of Administrator General and of Official Trustee can be efficiently and beneficially performed by a chief officer who will be the Administrator and by his deputy, and I would respectfully urge upon the Government of India that they should, before this amalgamation is carried into effect, take the opinion of the present Administrator General himself, after an experience of say 6 or 12 months of the work of his office, as to whether he could recommend such an amalgamation. I would also urge, My Lord, that the matter of salaries should be very carefully considered. It is most desirable that the best and most efficient man should be obtained for these important posts, regardless of salary. As to the amendment which I am now about to propose, it is with the object of removing a grievance in connection with the working of the Indian Succession Act, which has been very fully dealt with by the Calcutta Trades' Association in their letter to the Government of Bengal, dated the 17th of May, 1901. It was pointed out in that letter that, whereas no security is required from an executor obtaining a grant of probate in person, in the case of an attorney of an absent executor a grant of Letters of Administration with will annexed is only made on security or sureties being provided. It is pointed out that the grant is made for the use and benefit of the absent executor. It is in reality a grant to the executor himself. Cases have been brought to our notice where a difficulty has been found in getting attorneys to act as executors because of their reluctance to provide security or the necessary sureties. The amendment which I have now the honour to propose will remove this unnecessary grievance and will be much appreciated by the public at large.”

The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES RIVAZ said:—"My Lord, the addition now proposed is, of course, outside the scope of the measure before the Council, and the Hon'ble Mr. Turner, no doubt, remembers that it was on that account, and also because what was aimed at was the abridgment, rather than the amplification, of the Bill, that the Select Committee decided to take no notice of the recommendation regarding section 256 of the Indian Succession Act, 1865, made by the Calcutta Trades Association in their letter of the 17th May, 1901, which had been made one of the Papers to the Bill. On its merits, however, the amendment suggested is a very reasonable one, and, as we are assured that its acceptance will be a concession to a public desire, I am prepared, after having consulted my learned colleague, the Law Member, to agree to it."

The Hon'ble MR. PUGH said:—"With regard to this amendment proposed by the Hon'ble Mr. Turner, I am extremely glad to find that the Government have accepted it. I felt the difficulty which the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill pointed out in Select Committee, but I am well assured that it will be looked upon as a great boon by the community at large, and that it will also be an additional proof of the desire of Government to meet the views of the community, even when they are going, in a case like this, somewhat beyond the scope of the Bill."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES RIVAZ moved that the Bill, as amended, be passed.

The Hon'ble MR. PUGH said:—"I entirely support the proposal that this Bill, as amended, be passed. I do not think that, upon further consideration, even my honourable friend on my left (Mr Ananda Charlu) can doubt but that it was a necessity to bring in a Bill at the present time, and the Government could not properly have gone on with things in their present condition until some Bill of wider and more far reaching scope had been elaborated, if such a Bill is in contemplation. This Bill has no doubt caused a considerable amount of alarm on the part of the public—an amount of alarm which was unexpected in the earlier stages; but for myself, I am satisfied that that alarm will altogether disappear, and has indeed altogether disappeared owing to the changes made in the Bill in Committee; and also owing to what was said by the Hon'ble Members who addressed the Council on the last occasion in explanation of the Bill. The provisions of this Bill may not all be strictly within the scope of the Bill, but I would point out this, that every single provision which is not strictly within the scope of the Bill is in favour of those who are interested in estates which do not come into the hands of the Administrator General and are distinctly in their favour, and the last amendment of the Hon'ble Mr. Turner, which has just been accepted by the Government, is a signal example of this. Then there is another amendment which I want to say a word about, to which the same observation applies and which confers a very great boon upon all the people of this country who do not come under English law. As to those that come under English law, we have provisions with reference to them which enable them to go before the Courts when they require directions or advice, in a summary way without suit; but as regards those who do not come under English law, they, at present, under similar circumstances, have no means of obtaining relief except by filing a regular suit—a long and costly proceeding. Now they will have the same summary remedies which those under English law had before; and that, I venture to think, is a boon which will be very greatly appreciated by those whom it affects. I am very glad that the recommendations of the Committee over which the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Sale presided, and the former Committee over which the Hon'ble the Chief Justice presided, have been laid before this Council, but at the same time they do not remove from my mind the doubt, which I felt in Select Committee, as to the expediency of combining the two offices of the Administrator General and the Official Trustee. I cannot accept altogether what my learned friend, the Law Member, said on the last occasion with regard to the Select Committee having accepted this proposal. I understood that the view of the Select Committee was that it was not within their province to discuss this matter, because the amalgamation had been provided for by the previous Act, and the question as to whether the amalgamation was to take place or not, would rest upon the Government and upon the Government solely, and I trust that the Government will take the matter into serious consideration before this amalgamation is carried into effect. I will say one word with regard to the recommendations of the Committee over which the Hon'ble the Chief Justice presided. Looking at the words of their recommendation, I am not sure that they considered the amount of work which there was in the Administrator General's office, or the amount of work which there was in the Official Trustee's office, but they say generally that there is no reason—and they further say that there is no legal reason—why the two offices should not be amalgamated. It does not seem to me, upon reading that report, that they have considered the question as to the amount of work which had to be done in each of these offices. The Hon'ble Mr Justice Sale's Committee, I understand, has come to the conclusion that the Administrator General as Administrator General will require, and ought to have, a Deputy. On the last occasion we heard that it was desirable that the person at the head of the office should possess the highest qualifications so that his opinion might be more readily accepted when legal questions arise in the course of administration. That applies equally as much, My Lord, to the case of the Official Trustee as to the case of the Administrator General, and I venture to think that, as beneficiaries whose estates are in the hands of the Administrator General are entitled to get the advice and the personal interference and intervention of a man of the highest qualifications, so are those interested in estates in the Official Trustee's office, and if the work of the Administrator General is now more than he can do and he requires a Deputy, it does not seem very clear how the further work can be thrown upon him, which would come upon him, supposing that the offices were amalgamated. I hope that this Bill as it now stands altered will give satisfaction. I believe it will be accepted as a fair and necessary measure. There is nothing further that I would add except this: that upon the last occasion my honourable friend the Law Member, discussed the question whether the Administrator General was a corporation sole or whether he was not a corporation sole. That is a question, My Lord, upon which I do not feel called upon to express any opinion; but I would point out that, as regards a corporation sole, the main point appears to be that there should be a perpetual succession, and in the case of the Administrator General, there undoubtedly was provided by the former Bill a perpetual succession, and we have accentuated that by clause 3, sub-clause (4), of the present Bill, which provides that he shall be sued by his name of office and that no suit shall abate by reason of his death, resignation, suspension or removal. I am not going further into that question, because it appears to me a purely academical question, and I entirely agree with the Hon'ble Law Member in this: that, if the Administrator General was a corporation sole before, there is nothing in this Bill which prevents his still being a corporation sole. With these words I can only express my support of the motion of the Hon'ble Member in charge that this Bill be passed."

The Hon'ble MR. RALEIGH said:—"My honourable friends, Mr. Turner and Mr. Pugh, have both accepted this Bill. On some points they still entertain doubts, and before the Bill is passed I ought, perhaps, to make some reply to their observations. On the question whether it was right to deal with this as a matter more or less urgent and requiring immediate legislation, I think I may leave my honourable and learned friend, Mr. Pugh, to answer the Hon'ble Mr. Turner, but when the Hon'ble Mr. Turner tells us that the full explanations of the intentions of Government with regard to these offices were not given in time, I am disposed to say that there is a considerable measure of justice in the charge.

"It follows almost inevitably from the nature of government in this country and from the manner in which our proceedings are conducted, that there is not that timely and full explanation of the intentions of the Government with regard to a matter of this nature which is given in other countries with institutions of a different kind. So far as in the future we can provide against such misunderstandings as have arisen in the present case, I think we ought to use every effort to do so. Both my honourable friends maintain their objection to the combination of the offices of Administrator General and Official Trustee. On this point, of course, I have no right to speak for the Executive Department of Government with which the question of policy will lie, but I do not regard this Bill as making any final or irrevocable arrangement. But our position is this: we were fully aware that the law had already made provision for the combination of offices. Whether it will turn out that it will be expedient to bring them together or to keep them apart, I think only the experience of the new Administrator General can show. No doubt there is much to be said for the position, that the work of the Administrator General's office is already more than one man can undertake, but it has been represented to us that the labours of the Administrator General are greatly increased by the defective system under which he has to work; that it is a system under which every detail of the office business must be passed under his review, and that if in course of time the new Administrator General is able to introduce a better system it would greatly lessen the amount of his own work. Whether that is really so or not, time will show, and I think, that in time, the Government ought to be ready to reconsider the arrangement, and to do what at the time when the question comes up shall appear to be best for the proper conduct of both offices. I think, My Lord, that what my learned friend, Mr. Pugh, has said, dispenses me from saying anything more about a corporation sole. I have no hesitation in saying that the arguments addressed to us on this and other abstract points have contributed materially to the improvement of the Bill; and should indeed have said so a fortnight ago, if it had not been that a certain combative letter betrayed me into making a combative speech. The sages of the English law who evolved out of their inner consciousness large quantities of legal metaphysics with regard to corporations sole would, I think, have been surprised if they had known that their abstract doctrines were to be made the subject of debate in this Council. As Mr. Pugh is agreed with me on the practical point, that is to say, admitting for the sake of argument that the Administrator General is a corporation sole, there is nothing in this Bill, as amended, which deprives him of that character, I think I need not detain the Council longer with purely academic argument, but merely give my voice in favour of passing the Bill."

The motion was put and agreed to.

INDIAN ELECTRICITY BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. ARUNDEL moved for leave to introduce a Bill to make better provision for facilitating and regulating the supply and use of electrical energy for lighting and other purposes. He said:—"My Lord, in moving for leave to introduce a Bill to make better provision for facilitating and regulating the supply and use of electrical energy for lighting and other purposes, I propose to say a few words to supplement the Statement of Objects and Reasons annexed to the draft.

"The Bill, which is based on the Electric Lighting Acts and rules in force in England and in Bengal, has been prepared largely in response to the wishes of a good many persons interested in electrical projects, and Messrs. Crompton and Company, an enterprising English firm, voluntarily undertook considerable trouble and expense in framing and forwarding to the Government of India a draft Bill which they considered suitable to the needs of India. Comprehensive legislation has also been pressed upon the Government of India by the Governments of Bombay and of Bengal, while other Local Governments have either expressed approval or have intimated that the actual need for legislation has not yet arisen.

"The Government of Bombay consider that legislation is urgently needed. They desire an Imperial Act which 'would secure continuity of principle and be a distinct economy of labour and time.' Failing an Imperial Act, they would reluctantly contemplate legislation for the Bombay Presidency alone.

"Bengal is the only province which possesses, in Bengal Act IX of 1895, a law at all competent to meet present requirements. While intended mainly for Calcutta, it is applicable to municipalities throughout the province, and, although it has so far been extended to Howrah and Dacca only, the Local Government has already found that the tentative and cautious legislation of 1895 is insufficient, and desire further legislation, a principal object of which is to encourage the investment of capital in electrical enterprise by extending the term of a license from the present maximum of 21 years to a maximum of 42 years.

"The draft has already passed through a considerable amount of criticism, both official and unofficial, at the hands of very competent persons. I should like in particular to express my indebtedness to my honourable friend, Mr. Ashton, who last year was good enough to come to Simla and go through the Bill with me, clause by clause, making valuable suggestions. Mr. Ashton, I am sorry to say, is prevented by illness from being present to-day, or he would have been able to intimate the points—only a few I venture to hope—in which he is not in accord with the Bill as it stands and considers that it may be further improved. Mr. Meares, the Electrical Engineer to the Government of Bengal, has also rendered very great assistance in the preparation of the Bill.

"The Bill meets the wishes of the Government of Bengal and of the persons and firms interested in modifying the present Bengal Act, by providing that licenses for the supply of electrical energy may be given with or without a time-limit, and the restricted maximum of 21 years is thus removed. Following the Electric Lighting Clauses Act of 1899, it also provides that an undertaking may be purchased by a local authority or by the Local Government, after the lapse of 42 years and at subsequent intervals not exceeding 10 years during the currency of the license, at a price fixed on the value of the property at the time of purchase without any addition in respect of compulsory purchase or goodwill or profit. The object, of course, in this and like cases, is to secure to the community the eventual possession and profit of the undertaking, but only after allowing the company a lease of life sufficiently long to make it worth while for capitalists to invest in the undertaking.

"It is needless for me to go further into the provisions of the Bill, except to remark that in Part III provision is made to prevent interference with the electric installations of private persons and institutions, such as clubs. The ordinary provisions of the Bill will apply in such cases only if more than 100 persons are likely to assemble on the premises so provided with electric energy, and even then the Local Government may grant exemption from the provisions of the Bill on good cause being shown.

"After its introduction into this Council the Bill will, I trust, receive the benefit of public criticism, and I hope that at the next Legislative Session in Calcutta it may be referred to a Select Committee and be passed into law with such amendments as may be found necessary."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. ARUNDEL introduced the Bill.

The Hon'ble MR. ARUNDEL moved that the Bill, together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons relating thereto, be published in the Gazette of India in English, and in the local official Gazettes in English and in such other languages as the Local Governments think fit.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned to Friday, the 14th March, 1902.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA. DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the past seven days, ending at 8 a.m. on Thursday, the 20th February 1902, based on the India Daily Weather Reports of the period.

The weather during the week under review has been more disturbed over Northern India than during any week since that which included the 27th and 28th December 1901. As was the case then, so the origin of the disturbed weather of the present week has been a shallow cyclonic storm which formed over Gujarat at the close of last week on Friday. The depression was fairly well defined and well marked, but on Saturday it showed signs of filling up. It re-developed on Sunday and was shown over Gujarat until Tuesday, it then commenced a northerly movement which carried to the neighbourhood of Bikaner by Wednesday the 19th and to the neighbourhood of Sirsa by the 20th. In addition to the main depression, small local depressions appear to have passed from Gujarat north-eastward to the Gangetic Plain, and have helped to render the weather unsettled over the central parts of the country.

The rainfall occasioned by these depressions has been generally very light, but was moderate at some hill and central stations on the 20th. On the 15th and 16th Khandwa, Saugor, Hoshangabad, Sutna, Nowgong, Pachmarhi and Jhansi reported showers generally of less than 0.10" in amount, and on the 19th and 20th Gaya, Benares, Umballa, Ludhiana, Dehra Dun, Mussooree, Chakrata, Simla, Allahabad, Cawnpore, Kurrachee, Kotah, Saugor, Sutna, Nowgong, Jhansi, Hoshangabad, Pachmarhi, and Jabulpore received showers which, however, only amounted to or exceeded 0.25" at Sutna, Nowgong, Mussooree, and Chakrata.

In addition to the rainfall from this source, local light showers were received in Burma and Assam on the 14th and 15th, in Southern India on the 14th and 15th, and in Ceylon on the 18th and 19th; of these the heaviest was a fall of 2.90" at Colombo on the 19th.

The rainfall summary at the close shows that effective rain was received during the week in the following sub-divisions, viz., Simla, Jabulpore, Jhansi, Calicut, and Madura and in the East Coast (South) division, while trifling falls of rain were recorded in the Bhamo division, the Narayanganj sub-division, the Sibsaigar division, the Dinajpur sub-division, the Patna sub-division, the Ludhiana sub-division, the Cawnpore sub-division, the Quetta division and the Jaipur sub-division; thus, though generally, very light and unimportant rain has at least been more widely distributed than for several weeks past.

The above rainfall has occasioned no practical change in the second-half of the rainfall statement. During the period from November 29th, 1901, to February 20th, 1902 the total rainfall has exceeded the normal in the Dry division of Burma, the Ahmedabad sub-division, the Bellary sub-division, both sub-divisions of South India and the East Coast (South) division; in all other parts of the country rain has been more or less in considerable defect and in many places practically absent. The total deficiency of the period amounts to 5.77" in the Simla sub-division, to 4.01" in the Ludhiana sub-division, to 3.95" in Baluchistan, to 2.29" in the Lahore sub-division and to 1.62" in the North-West Area.

CENSUS OF INDIA, 1901.

Calcutta, the 27th February 1902.

The following Table giving the final results of the Census taken on the 1st March 1901 is published below for general information. It shows the area of each Province, Agency or State, the number of towns, villages and occupied houses, and the total population of either sex classified as urban and rural.

The Census was taken on the night of the 1st March 1901. On the morning of the 2nd the returns were added up by blocks containing from 30 to 50 houses apiece, and the figure thus obtained for the smallest unit of Census operations were combined for a series of large units, circles, districts, provinces, and States, to make up the "first totals" brought out on the 15th March 1901. According to the first totals, the population of the Indian Empire was 294,266,701 persons—149,906,349 males and 144,360,352 females. The statistics now published after a searching examination of the original returns and the application of a variety of tests show a population of 294,362,676 persons—149,953,765 males and 144,408,911 females. The final return of the total population, therefore, exceeds the "first totals" by 95,975, a difference of three persons in every 10,000 or '03 per cent.

H. H. RISLEY,

Census Commissioner for India.

AREA, HOUSES AND POPULATION.

Explanatory note.—The figures in this Table relate to the whole of the Indian Empire except West Mōng Lun and those parts of the North Shan States situated on the east of the Salwin river, which were affected by the outbreak of the Wa tribe; Kharan, Western Sanjirani, and parts of Makran, and certain areas on the external frontier of India where tribal disputes and the possibility of disturbances rendered it inexpedient to attempt to take a Census.

In the hills to the east of Manipur, in Karenni, in the Kachin districts of the North Shan States, in certain villages of the Myitkina, Bhamo and Upper Chindwin districts, and in the Pakokku Chin Hills the population was calculated by multiplying the number of houses by the average number of persons per house, the latter figure being ascertained by a careful enumeration of a number of typical villages.

In the case of the Andamanese and Nicobarese, and the Marris, Bugtis, and other more or less nomadic races of Baluchistan, the standard form of Schedule was modified to suit the simpler conditions of tribal life and the intelligence of the persons enumerated.

Andamans and Nicobars, columns 8—10 of the Table, include 1,882 Andamanese (1,036 males and 846 females) and 6,310 Nicobarese (3,336 males and 2,974 females), enumerated for the first time in 1901.

Assam includes South Lushai and the Native State of Manipur now under British management during the minority of the Chief.

Baluchistan (Districts and Administered Territories) includes Quetta-Pishin, Thal-Chotiali, Zhob, Bolan and Chagai.

Burma includes the Shan States, the Chin Hills and Karenni, enumerated for the first time in 1901.

Madras. The figures include the five Laccadive islands, containing 1,854 houses with a population of 10,274 persons—4,971 males and 5,303 females. There are no towns in the Laccadives, and each island has been treated as a village for Census purposes.

The statistics for the newly formed North-West Frontier Province include the Punjab Districts of Hazara, Peshawar, Kohat, Bannu, and Dera Ismail Khan, the Kurram Valley and the Shirani country, and the troops stationed in Chitral and Dir, the Swat Valley, and the Malakand. The area and population of the Punjab (No. 14) have been reduced in proportion.

Baluchistan Agency includes the Marri and Bugti country, Kalat, and Las Bela.

Central India includes the figures for Gwalior State, which is also shown separately.

Madras States include Banganapalle, Pudukkottai, and Sandur, as well as Cochin and Travancore, but the two latter are also shown separately by reason of their importance and historical interest.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.
DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the past seven days, ending at 8 a.m. on Thursday, the 27th February 1902, based on the India Daily Weather Reports of the period.

The feebly unsettled showery weather which prevailed over part of Northern and Central India on the closing day of last week, passed slowly eastward during the first three days of the week under review, disappearing over Burma and Assam during the 23rd. Thus on the 21st showers were reported from Dibrugarh, Sibsagar, Patna, Gaya, Benares, Bahraich, Bareilly, Sialkot, Ranikhet, Dehra Dun, Mussooree, Simla, Murree, Allahabad, Lahore, Peshawar, Saugor, Sutna and Ranchi; on the 22nd from Dibrugarh, Sibsagar, Burdwan, Jubbulpore, Sambalpur, Chaibassa, Ranchi and Hazaribagh, and on the 23rd from Silchar, Calcutta, Dibrugarh, Sibsagar, Tezpur, Burdwan and Ranchi. These showers were generally light, seldom exceeding 0.10" in 24 hours, but 0.25" or more in 24 hours was registered at Sibsagar, Ranikhet, Mussooree and Simla on the 21st, at Ranchi and Hazaribagh on the 22nd and at Dibrugarh and Tezpur on the 23rd. After the latter date the weather cleared, and beyond trifling showers at Dibrugarh and Sibsagar on the 26th and 27th there was no rain over India from the 24th to the end of the week. A slight barometric depression appeared over North-West India on the 26th, but no rain fell over India, though the sky became cloudy in the north-west and some snow was received over Kashmir.

The rainfall summary at the close shows that effective rain was received during the week in the following division and sub-divisions, vis., the Brahmaputra Valley, Simla and Ranchi, and that trifling unimportant rain was received in the Burma Coast and Wet divisions, the Narayanganj sub-division, the Bahraich sub-division, the East Gangetic Plain division, the Ludhiana sub-division, the West Gangetic Plain division, the Jubbulpore sub-division and the Jhansi sub-division. Thus the Brahmaputra Valley and the Ranchi and Simla sub-divisions received useful rain and the whole of the remainder of India was absolutely or practically rainless throughout the week.

The anticipated rainfall at this season of the year is very light, so that its absence does not occasion any important change in the seasonal variations. The total average rainfall deficiency for the three months amounts to 6·03" in the Simla sub-division, to 4·37" in the Ludhiana sub-division and the Baluchistan division, to over 2" in the Narayanganj and Lahore sub-divisions and to over 1·50" in the Calcutta and Bahraich sub-divisions and the North-West Dry division.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, the 22nd February, 1902.

Madras.—There was practically no rain. Water supplies are sufficient for irrigation except in parts of the Deccan, Salem and Madura. Ploughing, sowing and transplanting continue in parts. Standing crops are thriving generally, but some are fading in parts of the Deccan. Harvests are progressing with fair outturn. Pasture is insufficient in Godavari and parts of the Deccan, Salem and South Canara, but fodder is generally obtainable. The condition of cattle is good. Prices generally are stationary or falling.

Bombay.—No rain fell during the week. The rainfall is insufficient in Gujarat and parts of the Deccan. Harvesting of autumn crops has been completed in Larkana, is nearly over in Dharwar and continues in parts of Khandesh. Threshing is nearly completed in Kolaba and is progressing in parts of Nasik and Poona. Estimates of outturn of autumn crops generally are good in the Konkan and the Karnatak, fair in Sindh and the Deccan and moderate to poor in Gujarat. Standing spring crops have been slightly damaged by locusts or frost in parts of Sindh and by rats in parts of Gujarat, Khandesh, Nasik, Rajkot, Wadhwan and Baroda. They are suffering from insufficient moisture in parts of Sukkur, Sholapur, Gujarat and Baroda and generally are in good condition elsewhere. Harvesting of spring crops continues in parts of Ahmedabad, Broach, Thana, Nasik, Ahmednagar, Poona, Satara, Belgaum, Dharwar, Kanara and Rajkot. Preparation of lands for next season is in progress in parts of the Deccan, the Konkan, the Karnatak and Rajkot. Cotton prospects generally are fair in Khandesh and the Karnatak and moderate to poor elsewhere. Picking continues in parts of Ahmedabad, Kaira, Surat, the Karnatak and Baroda. The fodder supply is sufficient except in parts of Karachi, Sholapur and Bijapur. Agricultural stock generally is sufficient and in good condition except in parts of Bijapur. Prices have fallen in three districts, risen in five districts and are stationary elsewhere. The relation of the prices of the principal staples to the normal and to the prices of 1901 remains substantially the same. Prices of cheapest food grain in pounds per rupee at head-quarters—Ahmedabad, 32; Kaira, 29; Panchmahals, 30; Sholapur, 30½; Ahmednagar, 35; Bijapur, 34½; Belgaum, 42. The physical condition of the people is reported to be good, fair or normal.

Bengal.—The weather has been cloudy in places and slight showers have fallen in Chota Nagpur, in a few districts of the Burdwan and Palna Divisions, and also in the districts of the 24 Parganas, Tippera, and Monghyr. Several districts are still in need of rain, particularly the districts of Nadia, Jessore, and Faridpur. Harvesting of spring crops and preparation of lands for early rice and jute are in progress. Pressing of sugarcane and lancing of poppy are going on. Fodder and water are sufficient. The price of common rice has risen in 4 districts, fallen in 18, and is stationary in the rest (24).

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—Slight rain has fallen in more than half the Provinces, Bareilly and Bijnor each receiving over an inch. It was accompanied with hail in two districts but no damage has been done. Irrigation where necessary and pressing of sugarcane continue. Harvesting of peas, gram, linseed and pulse have been commenced in places. The poppy crop promises well. Slight damage from frost and rust is reported in Bareilly, Farukhabad and Cawnpore and from rats in Budaun. Fodder is sufficient and prices are stationary with a tendency to fall.

Punjab.—Slight rain fell in parts of the Hissar, Karnal, Umballa, Jullundur, Ferozepore, Lahore, Sialkot, Gujrat and Rawalpindi districts. Sowings of extra spring crops have been commenced in most districts and sugarcane is also being sown in Multan. The condition of standing irrigated crops is generally fair to average. Crops on dry land are generally withering for want of rain. Recent slight rain in some districts has partly benefited the standing irrigated crops, but more rain is badly needed. Crops have been slightly damaged by hail in parts of Karnal, by locusts in parts of Mianwali and by severe dry cold in Lahore. Cattle are generally in good condition, but they are getting weak owing to overwork on wells in Ferozepore, Sialkot and Gujrat. Fodder is said to be sufficient in all districts except in the Siialkot, Mianwali, parts of the Karpal, Multan and Shahpur districts where it is getting scarce. The price of wheat generally is rising except in Rawal Pin : where it is falling somewhat. The prices of other food grains are also tending to rise. The stock of food grains and fodder is sufficient in Peshawar. Fodder is procurable with difficulty in Dera Ismail Khan. The price of wheat is rising. Prices:—Wheat 14, maize 23, gram 16, seers per rupee in Peshawar; and wheat 13½, gram 16½, bajra 15, and maize 16, seers in Dera Ismail Khan.

Burma.—LOWER BURMA.—Threshing and winnowing have been completed in Prome, Thaton and Amherst, and are approaching completion in four districts. Thaton reports that the damage done to paddy by late rain is ascertained to be inappreciable. UPPER BURMA.—Agricultural operations are the same as reported last week. Hill side clearings have been commenced in Bhamo and Myitkyina. The tobacco crop has been destroyed by insects in the latter district. The price of paddy has risen in Amherst and Kyaukse and fallen in the Rangoon, Myaungmya and Thaymyo districts.

Crop prospects continue generally fair to good. Slight damage through frost is reported from Damoh and Mandla, and by rats from Nimar and Chanda. A hailstorm passed over Pendra Zamindari in the Bilaspur district, but no damage is reported. Wheat is deteriorating in Hoshangabad. Harvesting and threshing operations are in full swing. The preparation of land for autumn sowings is in progress in places. Prices are generally steady. The lowest prices in seers per rupee are—wheat 18, gram 22, rice 18 and juar 21½. The prospects of sugarcane and mustard are good in the Surma Valley, Goalpara and Lakhimpur and fair in other districts except in Kamrup where the prospects of sugarcane and mustard are reported to be bad in places. Gathering of pulse is nearly finished: its outturn is good in Sylhet, Goalpara and Lakhimpur and fair elsewhere. Land is being prepared for late rice in Sylhet and Kamrup, for sugarcane in Darrang and for jute in Goalpara. Fodder is insufficient in Cachar, the Khasi and Jaintia Hills and in parts of Kamrup. Water is scarce in the Khasi and Jaintia Hills. Prices—common rice, Silchar, 17; Sylhet, 15½; Gauhati, Tezpur, Nowgong and Sibsagar, 13; Dibrugarh, 11½; and Dhubri 11 seers per rupee.

T., dated the 15th May, 1897, promulgating an addendum to rule 22 of enclosure No. 1 to circular No. 7 Railway of 1895, read above.

Government of India, Public Works Department, notification No. 303, dated the 7th July, 1898, publishing—in Part I of the Gazette of India of the 9th July, 1898—the Government of India circular No. IX Railway, dated the 11th June, 1898, modifying para. 2 of the resolution embodied in, and the enclosures to circular No. 7 Railway of 1895, read above.

OBSERVATIONS.—In enclosure No. 1 of circular No. 7 Railway, dated the 19th April, 1895, the Government of India promulgated certain rules, framed under section 84 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890), regarding notices of accidents occurring in the course of working a railway and the duties of railway servants, police officers, Government Inspectors and Magistrates on the occurrence of such accidents.

Paragraph 2 of the Resolution embodied in the circular prescribed the procedure to be adopted in the case of accidents occurring otherwise than in the course of working a railway, e.g., damage to line or works from excessive floods, etc., involving interruption to traffic, but not causing any train accident, and ordered that rules 22 to 27 of enclosure No. 1 of the circular should, so far as they were applicable, also regulate the duties of Government Inspectors in regard to such accidents.

In enclosure No. 2 of the same circular, directions, framed under section 85 of the Act, were also issued with regard to the returns to be submitted by railway administrations in relation not only to accidents which occur on a railway, but to all other railway accidents.

2. Again, by circular No. 18 Railway, dated the 2nd November, 1895, and resolution No. 413 R. T., dated the 15th May, 1897, certain modifications were made in rules 8 and 22 of enclosure No. 1 to circular No. 7 Railway of 1895 with the view, in the case of the former rule, of making discretionary the duty, which before was obligatory, of railway administrations, their officers and servants, arresting, or directing to be arrested, persons implicated in or connected with any accident, or committing any offence referred to in section 131 of the Act; and, in the case of the latter rule, of dispensing with telegraphic reports of certain classes of accidents which were then made to the Government of India, and which it was considered might be more conveniently embodied in a monthly report.

3. Subsequently, by circular No. IX Railway, dated the 11th June, 1898, further modifications were made in the resolution embodied in circular No. 7 Railway of 1895, and its enclosures, with the view of allowing Government Inspectors a larger discretion in determining the classes of accidents which should or should not be reported to the Government of India, of dispensing with the submission of the monthly return of minor accidents which were introduced under the orders contained in resolution No. 413 R. T., dated the 15th May, 1897, and of elucidating doubtful points which had come to notice in connection with the preparation of the quarterly returns of accidents.

4. The experience, which has since been gained in the working of the rules generally and in the preparation of the returns of accidents, points to the desirability of introducing further modifications.

5. The modifications contemplated will require railway administrations to submit the returns of accidents only once a year, viz., for the twelve months ending with the 31st December; and to report by telegraph only accidents attended, or of a description usually attended, with loss of human life or with serious injury to persons or property. They will also dispense with the special returns of (a) failure of tyres, (b) failure of axles, (c) failure of wheels, (d) broken rails, (e) return of cattle run over, and (f) return of flood damages. It is, however, necessary that there should be a record of these accidents, and they will require to be entered in Part I of the returns in the manner indicated in enclosure No. 2 hereof.

6. These returns cannot be scrutinised, and the Government of India must rely upon railway administrations for the correctness of the entries they contain. Particular care should therefore be exercised in their compilation by the several railway administration especially in regard to the classification of the accidents in Part I. Special attention should likewise be given to rules 2 (c) (i), 18, and 19 of enclosure No. 2.

7. Revised rules for reporting and investigating accidents and for the preparation and submission of the returns have also been drawn up embodying the modifications made from time to time.

RESOLUTION.—The Governor General in Council is accordingly pleased to publish, for general information, the revised rules annexed hereto and made under sections 84 and 85, respectively, of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890), regarding notices of, and enquiries into, accidents on railways and the submission of returns relating to such accidents.

ORDER.—Ordered that this resolution be communicated to the Local Governments

The Governments of Madras, Bombay, Bengal, and Burma.

The Honourable the Chief Commissioner of Assam.

The Honourable the Resident at Hyderabad.

The Honourable the Agent to the Governor General for Rajputana.

The Consulting Engineers to the Government of India for Railways, Calcutta, Lucknow, and Assam.

The Managers of the North Western, Oudh and Rohilkhand, and Eastern Bengal (State) railways.

and Administrations and to the officers noted in the margin for information and guidance; and to the Governments of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh and the Punjab, the Honourable the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces, the Honourable the Resident in Mysore, the Honourable the Agents to the Governor General for Central India and Baluchistan, the Honourable the Agent to the Governor General and Chief Commissioner of the North-West Frontier Province, and the Accountant General, Public Works Department, for information.

Ordered, also, that this resolution, together with the rules and forms referred to therein, be published under a notification in Part I of the Gazette of India, and be further notified to railway servants and to the public, by a copy thereof being kept open to inspection, free of any charge, in the office of the station master of every station in the case of open lines, and of the Engineer in charge in the case of lines under construction.

Ordered, further, that this resolution be forwarded to the Home and Foreign Departments for information.

- (d) the officer in charge of the railway police, or if there are no railway police, the officer in charge of the police station in the jurisdiction of which the accident occurred.

(2) The Agent or Manager shall forward, with his remarks as to the action it is intended to take in regard to the staff responsible for the accident, or for the revision of the rules or the system of working, a copy of such report—

- (a) to the officials mentioned in rule 5, sub-rule (1), clauses (b) and (c) ; and
- (b) if no enquiry has been made under rule 16, or if a joint or departmental enquiry has been held first, to the Magistrate or officer mentioned in rule 5, sub-rule (1), clause (a) ; and
- (c) if any magisterial enquiry is being made, to the Magistrate making such enquiry.

(3) Such copy shall be accompanied—

- in the case referred to in clause (c) of the same sub-rule, by a copy of the evidence taken at the enquiry.

(4) Whenever the Agent or Manager receives a copy of the Government Inspector's report under rule 24, he shall at once acknowledge its receipt. If he differs from the views expressed in the report, he shall at the same time submit his remarks thereon, or, if he is not immediately able to do so, he shall, in his acknowledgment of the report, inform the Government Inspector of his intention to submit his remarks later

(5) Whenever the report of the Government Inspector points to the necessity for or suggests a change in any of the rules or in the system of working, the Agent or Manager shall, when acknowledging the report, intimate the action which has been taken, or which it is proposed to take, to prevent a recurrence of similar accidents, or shall inform the Government Inspector of his intention to report further on the Government Inspector's proposals.

7. (1) Whenever any accident has occurred in the course of working a railway, the Agent or Manager shall give all reasonable aid to the District Magistrate or the Magistrate appointed or deputed under rule 16, and to the Government Inspector, Medical Officers, the police, and others concerned, to enable them promptly to reach the scene of the accident, and shall assist those authorities in making enquiries and in obtaining evidence as to the cause of the accident.

(2) When any enquiry under rule 16 or any judicial enquiry is being made, the Agent or Manager shall arrange for the attendance, as long as may be necessary, at the office or place of enquiry, of all railway servants whose evidence is likely to be required.

Provided that, when such offender is a railway servant whose arrest is considered for any reason undesirable, proper precautions shall be taken to prevent his escape.

9. Whenever any accident occurring in the course of working a railway has been attended with serious personal injury, it shall be the duty of the Agent or Manager to afford medical aid to the sufferers, and to see that they are properly and carefully attended to till removed to their home or handed over to the care of their relatives or friends. In any such case, or any case in which any loss of human life or serious personal injury has occurred, the nearest local medical officer should be communicated with if he is nearer than any railway medical officer.

Duties of Police Officers.

10. The railway police may make an investigation into the causes which led to any accident occurring in the course of working a railway, and shall do so—

- (a) whenever any such accident is attended with loss of human life or with grievous hurt as defined in the Indian Penal Code, or with serious injury to property, or has prima facie been due to any criminal act or omission ; or
- (b) whenever the District Magistrate or the Magistrate appointed under rule 16 has given a direction under clause (c) of that rule :

Provided that no such investigation shall be made when a magisterial enquiry has been commenced or ordered under rule 16, clause (a) or clause (b).

11. (1) Whenever an investigation is to be made by the railway police —

- (a) in a case in which an accident is attended with loss of human life or with serious injury to persons or property ; or
- (b) in pursuance of a direction given under rule 16, clause (c), the investigation shall be conducted by the officer in charge of the railway police, or, if that officer should be unable to conduct the investigation himself, then by an officer to be deputed by him.

(2) An officer deputed under sub-rule (1) shall ordinarily be an Assistant Superintendent of Police, but if in any case it should be found impracticable to depute an officer of that grade, an Inspector of Police may be deputed.

12. The officer who is to conduct an investigation in pursuance of rule 11 shall proceed without delay to the scene of the accident and conduct the investigation there, and shall at once advise the Agent or Manager of the railway and the Traffic Officer of the district by telegraph of the date and hour at which the investigation will commence, so that, if possible, the presence of a railway official may be arranged for to watch the proceedings and to aid the officer making the investigation. The absence of a railway official must not, however, be allowed to delay the investigation, which should be made as soon as possible after the accident has taken place.

13. (1) In every case to which rule 11 applies, immediate information shall be given by the railway police to the district police, who, if so required, shall afford all necessary assistance, and shall, if occasion arise, carry the investigation beyond the limits of the railway premises. But the railway police are primarily entrusted with the duty of carrying on the investigation within such limits.

(2) Subject to any provisions elsewhere contained in these rules, the further prosecution of the case, on the conclusion of the police investigation, shall rest with the railway police.

14. The result of every police investigation shall be reported at once to the Magistrate of the district, or other officer appointed in this behalf by the Local Government, and to the Agent or Manager of the railway.

15. Where there are no railway police, the duties imposed by rules 10, 11, and 12, rule 13, sub-rule (2), and rule 14 on the railway police, or on the officer in charge of the railway police, shall be discharged by the district police or by the District Superintendent of Police, as the case may be.

Duties of Magistrates.

16. Whenever an accident, such as is described in section 83 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890), has occurred in the course of working a railway, the District Magistrate, or any other Magistrate who may be appointed in this behalf by the Local Government, may either—

- (a) himself make an enquiry into the causes which led to the accident ; or

(b) depute a subordinate Magistrate, who, if possible, should be a Magistrate of the first class, to make such an enquiry; or

(c) direct an investigation into the causes which led to the accident to be made by the police.

17. Whenever it is decided to make an enquiry under rule 16, clause (a) or clause (b), the District Magistrate or other Magistrate appointed as aforesaid, or the Magistrate deputed under rule 16, clause (b), as the case may be, shall proceed to the scene of the accident and conduct the enquiry there, and shall at once advise the Agent or Manager of the railway and the Government Inspector by telegraph of the date and hour at which the enquiry will commence, so as to enable the railway administration to summon the requisite expert evidence.

18. A Magistrate making an enquiry under rule 16 may summon any railway servant, and any other person whose presence he may think necessary, and, after taking the evidence and completing the enquiry, shall, if he considers there are sufficient grounds for a judicial enquiry, take the requisite steps for bringing to trial any person whom he may consider to be criminally liable for the accident. Whenever technical points are involved, the Magistrate should be careful to call for and take the opinion of the Government Inspector or other professional persons.

19. The result of every enquiry made under rule 16 shall be communicated by the Magistrate to the Agent or Manager of the railway and to the Government Inspector.

20. If, in the course of any judicial enquiry into an accident occurring in the course of working a railway, the Magistrate desires the assistance of the Government Inspector or of the Agent or Manager of the railway, or the attendance of any officer of the railway, to explain any matter relating to railway supervision, management, or working, he will issue a requisition to such officer to attend the court, stating at the same time the nature of the assistance required. In summoning railway servants, the Magistrate will take care not to summon so large a number of the employés, specially of one class, on the same day, as to cause inconvenience to the working of the railway. In the case of very serious accidents, it will generally be advisable for the Magistrate to receive either the evidence of, or a report from, both the Government Inspector and the Agent or Manager of the railway in regard to the accident before finally concluding the judicial enquiry.

21. On the conclusion of any such judicial enquiry, the Magistrate shall send a copy of his decision to the Agent or Manager of the railway, and shall, unless in any case he thinks it unnecessary to do so, report the result of the enquiry to the Local Government.

Duties of the Government Inspector appointed under section 4, sub-section (1), of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890).

22. (1) Whenever the Government Inspector receives notice under section 83 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890), of the occurrence of an accident which he considers of a sufficiently serious nature to justify such a course, he shall report the occurrence direct to the Government of India by telegraph.

(2) Every such report shall contain the particulars prescribed by rule 1.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this rule, every accident to a train (whether carrying passengers or not) which is attended with loss of human life or serious injury to person or property, shall be deemed to be an accident of a “sufficiently serious nature.”

23. (1) The Government Inspector shall, whenever he receives notice as aforesaid of an accident which he considers serious enough to warrant an enquiry or investigation being made under any of these rules, proceed to the scene of the accident to note the facts and to enquire generally into the causes which led to the accident. If the Government Inspector, after reporting to the Government of India the occurrence of an accident in accordance with rule 22, decides that an enquiry or investigation by himself is not necessary, he shall in every such case advise the Government of India accordingly by letter.

(2) Whenever an enquiry under sub-rule (1) is made by the Government Inspector, he shall, if practicable, be present at the joint enquiry (if any) made under rule 4, sub-rule (1).

24. Whenever the Government Inspector has made an enquiry under rule 23, sub-rule (1), or when the Government Inspector disagrees with, or considers it necessary to adversely criticise the report of the joint or departmental enquiry or the working of the railway, he shall submit a report in writing, through the Senior Government Inspector to the Local Government or Administration controlling the railway and to the Government of India, or, in the case of a railway which is directly administered by the State, to the Government of India only, and shall forward a copy of such report to the Agent or Manager of the railway concerned, and, if a magisterial enquiry has been made, to the Magistrate who made such enquiry.

25. In the case of all serious accidents, the reports referred to in rule 6 and in rule 23, sub-rule (1), shall be submitted in the form adopted by the Inspecting Officers of the

- (1) a brief description of the accident ;
- (2) a description of the locality of the accident ;
- (3) a detailed statement of the evidence taken ;
- (4) the conclusions arrived at at the joint or departmental enquiry ;
- (5) an appendix stating the damage done ;
- (6) (when necessary) a sketch illustrative of the accident ; and
- (7) in the case of the report submitted by the Government Inspector, the conclusion arrived at by him.

26. If the Agent or Manager makes any remarks on the Government Inspector's report under rule 6, sub rules (4) and (5), or expresses an intention to do so, the Government Inspector shall inform the Government of India, and the Local Government or Administration controlling the railway, of the steps which have been or are proposed to be taken by the railway administration to prevent a recurrence of similar accidents, and whether, in his opinion, further action in the matter is desirable.

27. The Government Inspector shall, as far as possible, assist any Magistrate making an enquiry under rule 16 or a magisterial enquiry, whenever he may be called upon to do so.

28. Nothing in these rules shall be deemed to limit or otherwise affect the exercise of any of the powers conferred on Government Inspectors by section 5 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890).

Enclosure No. 2 to Government of India Circular No. III Railway of 1902.

In exercise of the powers conferred by section 85 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890), and in supersession of the like rules as published with the Notification of the Government of India in the Public Works Department, No. 303, dated the 7th July 1898, the Governor General in Council is pleased to issue the following rules with regard to the returns of accidents to be submitted by railway administrations to the Governor General in Council, namely :—

1. The returns shall be prepared in the forms hereto appended, marked, respectively Parts I to V and Tables 1 and 2, and shall be accompanied by all necessary remarks and explanations by the railway officials by whom they are prepared. The returns shall be submitted not later than three weeks after the close of the year to which they relate. The returns, whether submitted in manuscript or in print, shall be set forth on one side of the paper only.

2. The returns shall comprise all accidents of the following classes, namely :—

- (a) all cases of loss of, or injury to, life or limb from causes connected with the working of railways ;
- (b) all cases of injury to the permanent-way, stock, or works, whether attended or not by injury to life or limb ;
- (c) all accidents of any kind likely to have endangered life or limb, or to have caused serious loss of property, such, for example, as cases of trains running over chairs placed on the line, of persons falling out of trains, but who are not injured in any way, or of fires in trains, not resulting in injury to the way, stock, or works, etc. : Provided that in such cases the following additional rules shall be observed, namely :—
 - (i) All cases of chairs, stones, or other obstructions placed on the line, being met with in the course of working, shall be reported in Part I, but shall not be included in Table No. 2 of the returns unless the obstructions have been actually run over, and it shall also be recorded whether such articles were supposed to have been maliciously placed on the line so as to have amounted to an attempt at train wrecking. The object of the inclusion of all cases in Part I is to maintain a complete record of all cases of attempted train wrecking.
 - (ii) In case of fire attributed to sparks from the engine, it shall be recorded whether the engine was fitted with a spark-arrester, and, if so, the pattern shall be stated, as also the description of the fuel used. In cases in which there is reason to suppose that the spark escaped from the ash-pan, it shall be stated what, if any, precaution has been taken to check the escape of sparks therefrom.
 - (iii) Cases of averted collisions shall be reported in Part I, but shall not be included in Table No. 2 of the returns, as they are not accidents for purposes of the accident returns.

- (i) Whether cattle are actually run over or are merely thrown off the line, all cases of cattle coming in contact with running trains shall be included in the accident returns.
- (ii) In cases of cattle being thrown off the line or run over, it shall invariably be stated whether the engine was fitted with a cow-catcher or cattle guard, and, if so, the pattern shall be specified.
- (iii) If more than one head of cattle are run over at one time, i.e., in one accident, they shall not be counted as different accidents, but as one accident.
- (iv) The condition of the fencing shall also be reported in every case.

3. The following classes of railway servants shall be included in the returns, namely:—

- (a) all persons employed in stations, including police;
- (b) all persons employed in the maintenance of way and works, exclusive of men entertained for special works, that is, for railway works involving no risk from the working of trains, e.g., the construction of spurs in a river on which railway work-people are employed; and
- (c) all persons employed on trains or running engines, also all gate-keepers.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this rule, the average number of servants employed should be arrived at by adding the numbers employed on the first day of each month and dividing the total by twelve.

4. Accidents described in rule 2, clauses (b) and (c), which are of a trivial nature, such as petty accidents in shunting, failure of springs or bursting open of points by trains, resulting in no further damage or accident, small landslips not interrupting traffic, etc., need not be included in the returns. All accidents shall, however, be recorded in the office of the Agent or Manager of the railway concerned, it being left to that officer to decide which of them may be omitted from the returns as trivial.

5. In cases where one accident might appropriately be classified under more than one head (such as breakage of an axle causing derailment), the classification shall be in accordance with the primary cause of the accident, and the same accident shall not be classified under more than one head.

6. In cases of failure of couplings, it shall invariably be stated if the vehicles were ~~and with the side chains, and, if so, whether the train was dragged along by means of the side chains or whether both couplings and side chains parted.~~

7. Under the heading "10—Trains running over obstruction on the line" only such accidents shall be entered as are caused by trains running over obstructions (e.g., sleepers, rails, stones, etc., placed on the line) other than those caused by the accidental misplacement of railway appliances in the ordinary course of working. Accidents due to trains, etc., mounting scotch blocks, or other misplaced railway appliances, or travelling over split or trailing points, etc., and resulting in derailments or collisions, shall be shown under these respective heads.

8. Accidents connected with the bursting of boilers shall be shown separately from those connected with the bursting of tubes. A detailed account of each recorded case of the bursting of a boiler shall invariably be given in the form marked Part I.

9. Interruptions to traffic owing to several breaches near together caused by floods occurring on the same day (i.e., from the same cause) shall be treated as one accident; the separate breaches shall not be treated as separate accidents.

10. Failure of engines due to want of water, fire-bars melting and dropping in the ash-pan owing to excessive heat, etc., shall be classified under head "25—Other accidents."

11. As mixed trains are considered passenger trains for purposes of the accident returns, accidents to mixed trains shall be treated as occurring to passenger trains.

12. In classifying accidents in column 3 on page 2 of the form marked Part I, the word "Serious" shall be entered above the number in order to show which accidents were reported to the Local Government under section 83 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890).

13. With reference to column "Number of passengers and others" in Table No. 2, where persons other than passengers are killed or injured, the fact shall be stated in a footnote.

14. All cases of "Failure of tyres," "Failure of axles," "Failure of wheels," "Broken rails," "Running through level-crossing gates, over cattle or other obstructions," and "Floods" shall be entered in the general return, Part I, the columns for killed and injured being left blank when such occurrences have led to no personal injury.

as falling into wells, cases of drowning in wells or ponds, etc., within the station limits of a railway, shall not be included in Part IV of the returns, nor shall slight abrasions or bruises, which are incidental to a man's ordinary duties, be included in this Part.

16. Accidents on open lines of railway not coming under any of the classified heads in the forms marked Parts I, II, and III, but which have caused loss of human life or personal injury, shall be entered in the form marked Part IV.

17. Cases of persons falling out of trains, but not injured, shall be reported in Part II, but the columns "Killed" and "Injured" against such entries may be left blank.

18. In the forms marked Parts I to V those accidents only shall be entered which have occurred during the year to which the returns relate. The specimen entries in the said forms explain the nature of the accidents which shall be included therein.

19. (1) Accidents to trains of a railway exercising running powers over another shall be treated, for the purposes of these returns, as accidents of the line owning the trains, as accidents of this nature are compared with the train mileage run by each line.

(2) Accidents at joint stations shall be similarly treated. Other accidents at joint stations or on lines on which running powers are exercised, shall be included in the returns of the working or owning line.

20. Accidents occurring—

- (a) in railway workshops; or
- (b) on new works not opened for traffic; or
- (c) on lines under construction; or
- (d) on lines not used for the public carriage of passengers, animals, or goods; or
- (e) to steamers or flats working in connection with railways, shall be entered in the briefest possible manner in Part V only, and not entered in any other parts or Tables of the returns. Accidents of the nature referred to in this rule shall also, when necessary, be reported in accordance with the provisions of the Indian Factories Act, 1881 (XV of 1881).

APPROPRIATION REPORT ON THE ACCOUNTS OF 1900-1901.

GENERAL REVIEW.

Throughout the report the rupee figures are in thousands of rupees and the sterling figures in hundreds of £; thus 10,64 reads as ten lakhs and sixty-four thousands of Rupees and £ 71.2 reads as seventy-one thousand and two hundreds of pounds sterling. The rupee figures are converted into sterling amounts at Rs 15 = £1.

When the Budget Estimates for 1900-1901 were framed, India was suffering from a famine probably as severe and widespread as any that has afflicted the country. In an agricultural country, where the greater part of the population depends upon the produce of the soil and land forms the chief subject of taxation, a deficiency of food crops is not only ruinous to the people but is a calamity to the Government. The revenue falls off, while large sums have to be spent in bringing relief to the distressed and in alleviating human suffering. It is not therefore surprising that the Budget should have estimated for the very modest surplus of £160,3.

2. It was assumed that the famine would disappear by the end of September, but this hope was not fully realized. The monsoon, that was expected to bring relief was somewhat late throughout India, but nevertheless immensely improved the general situation. The afflicted parts of Rajputana, Central India, the Punjab, and Madras at once felt its effects, while the expenditure in the Central Provinces almost ceased by the end of December. Bombay alone suffered on in any considerable degree to the end of the year.

3. The prolongation of famine in Bombay and the necessity of granting gratuitous relief to the people of the Central Provinces, whose staying power had been considerably crippled by continued adversity, entailed an additional expenditure over the Budget of 1,39,16. Land Revenue collections in the whole of India also fell off by 85,35.

4. While famine continued to prevail over a portion of the land, the Opium revenue and the net receipts from Railways showed unexpected improvements. The price of Bengal opium varies so much with the condition of the market that it has always been found difficult to forecast its course. The Budget assumed an average price of Rs 1,200 a chest, but the actual sales realized Rs 1,361, resulting in an improvement in sale-proceeds of 83,59. The Railway revenue in 1899-1900 had shown such an exceptionally large improvement that it had been considered prudent to assume a more moderate figure in the Estimates for 1900-1901. The results, however, were much more favourable in consequence of a general development and an exceptionally heavy traffic connected with the famine. Taking England and India together, the net receipts were more than the Budget by £810,5. By far the largest variation, however, occurred in the estimates for the net Army Services. The absence of troops in China and the prolonged absence of troops in South Africa, supplemented by other causes, resulted in a saving of £1,176,0 in expenditure, while recoveries from His Majesty's Imperial Government of the cost of stores and animals sent to China increased the receipts by £113,1.

5. The net result of these and other variations was a surplus of £1,670,2, showing an improvement over the Budget of £1,509,9.

6. One important change in classification was adopted during the year. The Expenditure on "Construction of Railways charged against Revenue, in addition to that under Famine Insurance", which is now insignificant in amount and is either Provincial or Local, was combined with that under Buildings and Roads, giving to the group the title of "Other Public Works". Following the procedure adopted in the Finance and Revenue Accounts of the year, the capital transactions of Railway Companies, hitherto shown under Debt, Deposits and Advances have been shown in this Report in one group with similar capital expenditure by Government, under the heading "Railway and Irrigation Capital not charged to Revenue." The transactions under Post Office, Telegraph and Mint have also been shown separately, and a new Debt head "Capital of Local Boards" has been opened.

7. The following summary gives the Budget and Account figures of 1900-1901, which are viewed in this report. The details will be found in the statements on pages 158 to 172:—

Comparison with the year 1899-1900.

8. The comparison in respect of revenues with the year 1899-1900 is as follows:—

9. The important variations under Principal Heads of Revenue are the following :—

	£	R
Land Revenue	+297,9	+44,69
Opium	+700,2	+1,05,04
Salt	+116,6	+17,49
Stamps	+77,5	+11,63

Forests	+62,5	+9,37
Other Heads	+9,1	+1,35
TOTAL	+1,642,8	+2,46,42

10. Under Land Revenue the collections were better in Madras (27,92), Burma (22,36) and the Punjab (13,25). The improvement in Burma is an indication of the general prosperity of the country and was due principally to a large extension in the area assessed to revenue and to the extended introduction of the revision settlement rates. The realization of arrears chiefly accounts for the increase in the other two Provinces. Under Opium a higher revenue was obtained by the sale of a larger number of chests at a better average price. The revival of the salt trade at Pachbadra and the mines in India, and larger sales with recovery of arrears in Bombay caused the increase under Salt. Under Stamp the greatest improvement occurred in the North-Western Provinces (7,20), owing partly to increased litigation in view of changes in the Rent Law, and partly to the purchase of a stock of court-fee stamps by licensed vendors to whom the sale of these stamps was thrown open this year. The prevalence of famine in the Central Provinces and Bombay adversely affected the Excise revenue of these Provinces, but the consumption of liquors and drugs increased in Burma, Bengal and the North-Western Provinces. The raising of the Village Cess in Madras (6,07) was chiefly responsible for the improvement under Provincial Rates. Under Customs the increase occurred chiefly in Import Duties in Burma, (6,45), Bengal (9,50) and Bombay (21,37). Under Forests there was an improvement of 2,57 in Burma in the revenue derived from the sale of timber, in addition to special receipts in Bombay from famine grass operations.

11. Under Interest the actuals of last year were low owing principally to the interest due in that year on the Capital Debt of the Bombay Port Trust having been paid in 18,8-99. The improvement in Post Office revenue indicates the growth of the Department. Under Telegraph the increase was due chiefly to the transmission of messages connected with the famine and the wars in South Africa and China. The very large increase under Mint represents principally profit on the coinage of new rupees to meet the demand for increased currency. Under Civil Departments, pilotage receipts in Bengal were more than those of last year by 1,63. In addition, there were improvements in the sale proceeds of jail manufactures in Bengal (2,16), and Madras (1,78) owing principally to large supplies to the Military Department for war purposes. Under Miscellaneous the chief decreases were 1,59 in Superannuation Receipts, and 1,06 in Unclaimed Deposits chiefly in consequence of the previous year's figures including special lapses of Suitors' Fund Deposits in India.

12. Under Railway Revenue the large improvement was due mainly to the inclusion in the current year's figures of the gross, instead of the net, traffic receipts of the Great Indian Peninsula Railway for nine months of the year, owing to the conversion of that Railway into a State Railway with effect from 1st July 1900, to the large export trade in rice in Burma, to the carriage of troops and military equipage in connection with the expedition to China and

Indian Midland Railway	15,87
Bengal-Nagpur Railway	14,02
Eastern Bengal Railway	9,82
East Coast Railway	8,14
Rajputana-Malwa Railway	6,84

13. The only Railway which showed a noticeable decrease of revenue was the North Western Railway, in which there was a falling-off of 30,74 with a diminution in the export of wheat consequent on the continuance of famine.

14. Under Irrigation the increase was due to the development of irrigation from the Chenab canal, the opening out of the Jamrao canal and the irrigation of a larger area in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, the Punjab and Madras owing to scanty rainfall. Under Receipts by Military Department the increase represents mainly credits taken for the value of stores and horses sent to China.

15. A comparison of the expenditure side is given below :—

16. Under Direct Demands on the Revenues the chief excesses were 10,03 under Land Revenue and 8,81 under Opium. The excess under the first head was due to increased charges of district administration, to greater expenditure on survey and settlement in Madras and Burma, and to large payments to district and village officers in the latter Presidency. The increase under the second head was the result of large payments to cultivators owing to a better outturn of the crop than in the previous year. Under Interest the increase was due to the raising of a loan of £3,000,0 by the Secretary of State during the year. The higher charges under Post Office and Telegraph were necessitated by the expansion of the Departments. The Mint figures of the current year include the transfer of the net profit on silver coinage to the Gold Reserve Fund (4,54,70). Under Civil Departments the chief variations were increases of 16,92 under Jails, 10,00 under Police, 8,40 under Marine and 12,84 under Scientific and Other Minor Departments, and a decrease of 20,14 under Political. The excess under Jails was due principally to a large outlay in Bengal and Madras.

Under Marine almost the whole of the additional expenditure was due to the purchase of stores to replace issues in the previous year to South Africa, and to the fitting of transports for the Jubaland and China Expeditions. Under Scientific, charges for the Survey of India and for the Veterinary and Stallion Departments were more than those of last year by 2,83 and 2,02 respectively, and there was also the expenditure connected with the Census (5,29). The decrease under Political was due to smaller drawings by the Amir of Afghanistan. A smaller debit to Exchange accounts chiefly for the reduction under Miscellaneous. The Famine expenditure in the Central Provinces and Bombay was more than that in the previous year by 2,99,38. Under Railways there was an increase of 1,97,68 in Working Expenses of State Railways, owing to increased traffic and the consequent larger train mileage run, and to the inclusion of the charges (1,25,53) of the Great Indian Peninsula Railway for nine months of the year. The payment of Interest and Annuities in India and England for State Railways also exceeded the previous year's figures by 1,36,56, but there were decreases of 16,22 in the Surplus Profits of Guaranteed Companies and of 87,44 in Guaranteed Interest paid in England. Under Irrigation the increase was due principally to greater cost of working and maintenance resulting from the expansion of irrigation and to interest charges on additional capital outlay. Under Other Public Works the decrease was mainly due to smaller expenditure on military buildings in the North-West Frontier and Gilgit and Chitral. Under Army Services there was a saving of 27,11 in the Indian expenditure, and an increase of 56,76 in the expenditure in England. The decrease in India was due principally to the absence of troops in China for a part of the year and in South Africa for 6 months longer than in last year, and to smaller charges on the North-Western Frontier, partially reduced by the payment of a larger amount of compensation to native troops for dearness of provisions and forage, and by the replacement of horses sent to China. The increase in England was due mainly to the purchase of stores for India.

Comparison of Accounts with Budget Estimates of 1900-1901.

18. Under Principal Heads of Revenue the largest variations occurred under Land Revenue and Opium, the one showing a decrease of 86,35, the other an increase of 81,35 in receipts. The decrease was due to the prevalence of famine, while larger sales of Bengal opium at higher prices account for the increase. On the expenditure side also there was a saving of 8,75 under Land Revenue, owing to reduced expenditure on Survey and Settlement Operations and Land Records and Agriculture, and an excess of 2,27 under Opium, in consequence of the outturn of the crops in the Benares Agency having been better than the estimate, though that in Behar was worse. Large imports improved the Customs revenue by 5,61, chiefly in Bombay. Under Salt there was a net improvement of 20,75 chiefly in excise on local manufacture in India and Bombay. The Excise revenue showed an increase of works of construction and improvement, led to a net improvement of 1,81. Forest.

19. Under Interest there was an increase in England of £46,4 arising from the investment of a larger amount of the available cash balance and at a higher rate of interest than was expected for a portion of the year; but the payment of discount and interest amounting to 18,0 on the new loan raised during the year resulted in a net charge under the head. The improvement under Post Office was due to the normal growth of revenue, and a decrease in the expenditure for the conveyance of mails. Military operations in China, and the continuance of the famine in India and the war in South Africa, for a longer period than was anticipated, increased the receipts under Telegraph. Under Mint the Budget anticipated a gain of 32,56 on coinage operations. The actual gain amounted to 4,73,38, but the transfer of 4,54,70 to the Gold Reserve Fund caused a decline from the Budget of 13,88. There were no short receipts on account of the gain on copper coinage, and increased expenditure in connection with the large silver coinage of the year. Under Civil Departments there was an improvement of 5,92 under Marine, in consequence of increased pilotage receipts, in Bengal and large recoveries of hire of vessels employed on Imperial Service. In addition, there was a saving of 19,36 under Political, due chiefly to the subsidy to the Amir of Afghanistan not having been fully drawn. Under Miscellaneous the decline was due principally to the change adjustments of the year resulting in a net debit of 4,78 instead of the anticipated credit of 1,81.

20. The total loss due to Famine has been brought together in the following table. It is not possible to state the exact loss due to this cause, but the table, which is based on local estimates framed by the most competent local authorities, may be accepted as giving approximately the loss of revenue assignable to famine. Suspensions of Land Revenue and Provincial Rates, which are not final loss, have been distinguished from remissions under these heads. The countervailing improvements under Railway and Irrigation have been taken account of. Some of the local authorities estimate gain or loss under such heads as stamps, Registration and Assessed Taxes, but following the course adopted in the Appropriation Report on the accounts of 1896-97, with reference to the loss by famine in that year, no account has been taken of gains or losses under such heads of Revenue. The total net loss of Revenue assigned to famine in 1900-1901 is thus 1,87,87, as shown below:—

* Details of remissions and suspensions not obtainable.

Famine led to larger expenditure under several heads, either in actual purchases of grain and animals, or in the grant of compensation for dearness of provisions. It also increased charges under several heads which arose indirectly out of the famine, increased payments of travelling allowances, and the entertainment of additional establishments not concerned with the direct administration of famine relief. These charges have been estimated by the local authorities. The following table brings together the expenditure on these various causes, and shows that the total loss on this account may be set down at Rs. 7,06,89:—

22. The total loss of revenue and increase of expenditure due to famine may therefore be set down at about Rs. 8,94,76.

23. The net improvement under Railways was due generally to large military traffic consequent on the war in China and to the expansion of the traffic in coal, wheat, and sugar. The following are the more important increases, viz.:—

East Indian Railway	33,48
Rajputana-Malwa Railway	26,09
Indian Midland Railway	16,72
Bengal-Nagpur Railway	9,68
Eastern Bengal Railway	9,62
Burma Railway	8,93

24. Of the Railways which did not share in these improvements, the most important was the North-Western Railway, in which there was a decline of Rs. 32,32, consequent upon a reduction in the export trade in wheat in the Punjab owing to the continuance of famine. The traffic receipts of the Great Indian Peninsula Railway were more than the Budget estimate of Rs. 8,31, but there were large savings of Rs. 34,04 in Working Expenses, and of Rs. 8,00 in other outgoings. Under Subsidized Companies—Land and Subsidy, there was a saving of Rs. 9,17 in working expenses and less expenditure than was estimated.

25. Under Irrigation the net improvement in revenue was due to increased irrigation receipts. The saving under Other Public Works was caused principally by an over-estimate of requirements for Civil Works and by the lapse of the provision for the construction of Railways. Under Army Services the net improvement in India was due mainly to the absence of troops in South Africa for the whole year instead of 6 months, and in China for a part of the year, to lapses of special Budget provisions, to less expenditure for food supplies and allowances, and to the debit to His Majesty's Imperial Government of the value of the

The Budget provided for a decrease of £390,3 or R58,54 of the revenue account, but as a sum of £550,6 or R82,59 out of the Provincial and Local Expenditure payable from past accumulations of balances, there was a net surplus in the Income account of £160,3 or R24,04. The accounts closed with a surplus on Imperial account of £1,670,2 or R2,50,53, and a surplus on Provincial and Local account of £190,6 or R28,49, and the net Imperial revenue has therefore been better by £1,670,2—£160,3=£1,509,9, and the net Provincial and Local receipts by £190,6+£550,6=£741,2 or R112,03.

30. The Budget grants have been exceeded under several heads. The excesses, distinguishing those requiring sanction from those for which grants have already been made, have been noticed under each head of expenditure, and the detailed reasons for the excess have been also there. The following table brings together the excesses under each head still requiring sanction:—

The receipts in this Section exceeded the Budget Estimate and the actuals of the year by £573,6 or R86,05 and £1,642,8 or R2,46,42, respectively. There was an increase of £542,4 or R81,37 under Opium, due to large sales of Bengal opium at a price reduced by a decline in the exports of Malwa opium from Bombay; of £121,9 or R19,61 under Salt, chiefly in excise on local manufacture in India and Bombay, partially balanced by a decline in the imports of European salt into Burma; of £75,6 or R12,16 under Stamps, due mainly to enhanced Stamp duty on perpetual leases in Bengal, in execution of a large number of leases in the North-Western Provinces, in view of the proposed amendment in the Rent Law, and to an increase in the number of mortgages of land in Madras and Bombay, attributable to the unfavourable conditions of the year; of £117,9 or R17,68 under Excise, due to a larger consumption of liquors, opium, and drugs in Burma and Bengal, to agricultural prosperity and the enhancement of the duty in the North-Western Provinces, and to an under-estimate in Madras; of £2,61 or R41,61 under Customs, due to large imports of articles of food and drink, cotton manufactures, metals and manufactures of metals, manufactured articles, and raw materials, increased receipts from countervailing sugar duties; of £16,9 or R2,54 under Assesment, due mainly to careful assessment; of £103,1 or R16,35 under Forest, due to an increase in the sale of timber, chiefly in Burma and Bengal, and to famine grass operations in Bombay; of £1,1 or R2,85 under Registration, due to an increase in the number of documents registered. These increases were partly counterbalanced by decreases, of £575,7 or R86,05 under Land Revenue, of £50,3 or R7,55 under Provincial Rates, and of £40,7 or R6,51 under Tributes from Native States, due mainly to the prevalence of famine.

The improvement, as compared with the previous year, was contributed by all heads except Tributes from Native States, under which there was a decrease of £37,4 or R5,84, due mainly to a large arrear collection in India and a special receipt in Bombay of £900. The increase of £297,9 or R44,63 under Land Revenue was due partly to an increase in the collections, and partly to improved collections in Burma; and the increase of £63,9 or R10,28 under Provincial Rates was due to enhancement of the rate of village cess; and better collection of land revenue in Madras, to collection of arrears in the Punjab, and to improved collection of land revenue receipts in Burma. The increase under the other heads was due in part to the reasons given above.

33. The receipts fell short of the Budget Estimate by 86,35, but exceeded those of the year by 44,69. The decrease, as compared with the Budget, was almost entirely in the land collections, and was mainly the result of famine. The fall was largest in Bombay, where the decline owing to the failure of the rains of 1900. The Central Provinces, the Punjab and come next in order; Bengal and the North-Western Provinces were also affected by famine, while suffered from the further abandonment of lands damaged by the earthquake of 1897. There considerable improvement in Burma, while India showed a slight improvement. As compared previous year the increase occurred mainly under Ordinary Land Revenue, and was contributed by Burma, the Punjab, and Madras.

34. Under Ordinary Land Revenue the decline in Bombay (68,89) was due to the grant suspensions and remissions, necessitated by the failure of the rains of 1900; in the Central P (13,02) the scarcity also rendered suspensions and remissions necessary; in the Punjab (12,25) the was due to the partial failure of the rabi crop of 1900; in Assam (1,32) it was due to the abandon lands damaged by earthquake of 1897; in Bengal (5,13) it was due to unfavourable conditions in districts; and in the North-Western Provinces (3,07) the falling-off was due to a decrease of 6,5 to an over-estimate of outstandings at the close of the previous year, and the grant of suspensions remissions, partly counterbalanced by an increase of nearly 1,00, owing to certain estates having brought under direct management, consequent on the annulment of settlement, and of over 2,00 to enhancement of revenue in a number of districts under settlement. In Madras (5,37) the decrease due to the deficiency of the north-east monsoon which entailed the grant of remissions and collections. The small improvement in India (57) was due to arrear collections, and the large increase in Burma (10,36) to an increase in the area brought under cultivation, to the extended introduction revision settlement rates, and to an increase in the area of non-State lands assessed to Land Revenue. Compared with the previous year the increase in Burma (15,22) was chiefly due to the causes stated and the improvements in the Punjab (14,49) and Madras (31,73) were due to large arrear collections. The increase in the other Provinces were due to the causes stated above. Under Assessment of A and less Quit Rents the decrease in the Punjab (22) was due to suspensions on account of scarce Bombay (1,06) to lapses of inams by death. Under Sale of Proprietary Rights, etc., the re in accordance with the orders of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agriculture Department letter No. 451—358, dated 14th February 1894. The increase in Bengal (1,27) was due to sales of leases in the Sunderbunds under the new waste land rules; in the North-Western Provinces it was due to high receipts from capitalized value of abatement of land revenue on lands of Railway Companies, and of redemption of land tax. In the Punjab (1,03) it was due to sales of lands on the Chenab Canal, and in Madras (1,00) to lands taken over by the South Indian Railway Company. Under Capitation Tax, etc., the increase in Burma (6,98) was due to an increase in the number of assesseses. Under Fisheries and Other Receipts classed as Miscellaneous, the increase in Bengal (2,09) was due chiefly to an increase in the revenue from fisheries (2,09) owing to high prices at the auction sale, to the realization of arrear rent from the Ruby Mines Company (2,49), to an increase in Petroleum revenue (88), Patta Survey fees (31), and Miscellaneous revenue (19). The increase over the previous year was also due to these causes. In Bengal (3,17) the increase was due to recoveries of survey and settlement charges, to which the improvement over the previous year is attributable; while the increase in the Punjab over the Budget (3,23) and the previous year (1,87) was due to large receipts of rents for lands leased for a single year or harvest.

The explanation of the variations in the Portion of Land Revenue due to Irrigation is given in the Works portion of this Report under the head of Irrigation—vide paragraph 251.

37. Under Sale of Bengal Opium the actuals exceeded the Budget Estimate by 83,59. Number of chests sold exceeded the Estimate (44,400) by 900 chests, and the average price was Rs 1,361 per chest against an Estimate of Rs 1,200. Under Bombay Opium Pass Fees there was an increase of 2,29, due to diminished exports of Indian Opium, owing probably to the Military operations in China. Under Excise Opium there was an improvement of 66. The principal variations were in the Central Provinces (17), Bengal (67), and the Punjab (26), and decreases in Assam (19) and North-Western Provinces (28). In the Central Provinces the consumption was larger than anticipated; in Bengal the increase is attributed to general prosperity, and that in the Punjab to demand owing to the high price of other kinds of opium. The falling-off in Assam is attributed to a decrease in the population of some districts, and partly to the prevalence of smuggling, and that in North-Western Provinces to a decline in the sales. The decrease under Miscellaneous (59) was entirely due to the discontinuance of the sale of opium to the Shanghai dispensary, and partly to the sale of opium alkaloids in England.

The receipts under this head exceeded the Budget Estimate by 18,30, and the actuals of the year by 17,49. The increase, as compared with the Budget, was contributed by all the heads. Duty on Imported Salt. The largest increase occurred under Excise on Local Manufacture (11,22) and Bombay (6,54). The former was chiefly due to an increase at Pachbadra (12,60) and mines (5,12), owing to a large demand consequent on the revival of the trade, partly counterbalanced by decreases at Sambhur (1,41) and Didwana (1,65), owing to the inferior quality of the Sambhur supply of water in the trade routes and deficiency in carriage, and at Kohat (2,93) owing to the blockade of Mahsud Waziris and the prohibition against export to Afghanistan. The increase in Bombay was due to larger sales owing to the improved conditions attendant upon the partial disappearance of the mine. There was a small improvement under Sale of Government Salt in India (31), which was due chiefly at Pachbadra and the mines, reduced by a decline at Sambhur; and in Bombay (1,12) to larger sales than were anticipated, and the recovery of certain arrears. The increase under Manufacture occurred chiefly in Bombay (1,00), and was due to large receipts on account of bagging and cartage charges; the decrease in Bengal (30) was due to a decline in the rent of warehouses owing to a reduction in the stock of bonded salt. The decrease under Duty on Imported Salt occurred wholly in Madras (2,49), and was due to the limited purchase of salt of European manufacture on account of high prices, and the large import of cheaper Madras-made salt. As compared with the previous year the improvement occurred chiefly in India (12,48) and Bombay (9,80), mainly under Excise on Local Manufacture due to the causes stated above.

41. The receipts exceeded the Budget Estimate, and the actuals of the previous year by 4 and 11,63, respectively. The increase was contributed to by all heads. The small improvement under Court-fee Stamps was the net result of increases in Burma (91) and the North-Western Provinces (6,60), and decreases in all the other Provinces. The increase in Burma was partly due to increased litigation, and partly to the introduction of the new three-anna copy sheets in payment of copy fees to replace the cash system of payment, that in the North-Western Provinces was due to the exceptionally large number of notices of ejectment issued in view of the anticipated changes in the Rent Law, and to the purchase of stocks of stamps by licensed stamp-vendors consequent upon a change in the system of vend of Court-fee Stamps. The falling-off in the other Provinces was generally due to a decrease in litigation. The decline was largest in Bengal (1,56), where there was also a falling off in the applications for probate and letters of administration, in the Central Provinces (1,22) and Bombay (1,38), where litigation was affected by famine and plague. Under Commercial and other Stamps the increase in Bengal (4,02) was due mainly to the enhanced Stamp duty chargeable on perpetual leases under the new Act. That in the North-Western Provinces (1,73) was due partly to the execution of a large number of leases with a view to discounting the effect of the contemplated amendment of the Rent Law, partly to an increase in the number of Sugar bonds executed in consequence of unfavourable agricultural conditions. That in Madras (3,31) was due to an increase in the number of mortgages and sales and attributed to the deficient rainfall; and in Bombay (1,00) to increased sales of immovable property and money dealings owing to famine. In Burma (83) the improvement was under-estimated. The case in the Punjab (56) was due partly to famine, and partly to the agitation caused by the Land Revenue Bill. Under Fines and Penalties and Miscellaneous the increases in the Punjab (14), Madras (25), and Bombay (25) were due chiefly to large receipts of duty on impressing documents, but partly also to an increase in fines and penalties. In Bombay there was a special receipt on account of composition of stamp duty from the Bombay Port and City Improvement Trust. An increase of 9 in Burma, due to a special receipt, was more than covered by a decrease in Bengal of 11 in Stamp penalties and composition. The increase over the actuals of the previous year was due mainly to the causes stated above and occurred chiefly in Burma (1,46), Bengal (1,56), the North-Western Provinces (7,20), and Madras (1).

42. The receipts exceeded the Budget Estimate, and the actuals of the previous year by 3 and 11,59, respectively. The improvement occurred almost entirely under Licenses andillery fees, etc. The increase under this head in Burma (4,82) was chiefly due to the increasedumption of foreign and country liquors; that in Bengal (4,30) to the better settlement o ses, and to increased consumption of opium and ganja attributed to the improved condition of the le; that in the North-Western Provinces (5,34) to the greater agricultural prosperity, to celebration of a large number of Hindu marriages, and the enhancement of still-head duty, while the adras (6,90) was due to the Estimate having been pitched low, with reference to the decline in the nue during the preceding two years. The falling-off in the Punjab (75) was due to a decline in s from distilleries, and that in Bombay (4,23) chiefly to the effects of famine which necessitated ssions of duty (to the extent of 3,52) and reduced consumption. Under Opium the falling-of ired chiefly in Bombay (2,11), where the consumption was diminished owing to the prevalence mine; and in Assam (63) due to decreased consumption. There were also small decreases in i (3) and Madras (12). These decreases were partly counterbalanced by improvements in the r Provinces but chiefly in Bengal (1,21) and Burma (57) due to increased consumption. Under y on Ganja the improvement in Assam (15) and Bengal (97) was due to increased consumption ting from the cheapness of the drug, and in Bengal partly also to increased exports of the to other Provinces, Nepal and London. In Madras the estimate was pitched too high. Under r Receipts the decrease in Bombay (23) was due to certain contributions from Opium farmer, ng been adjusted by deduction from charges under 7—Excise. The increase, as compared with the ous year, occurred mainly under the first head, and was contributed to chiefly by Burma, Bengal orth-Western Provinces and Madras, due generally to the causes stated above, reduced by decrease e Central Provinces and Bombay, due mainly to the effect of famine.

14. The revenue under this head exceeded the Budget Estimate, and of 35,67 as compared with the actuals of the previous year. The increase, as compared with the Budget, occurred almost entirely under Import Duties in all the Provinces. In Burma the improvement (5,87) was due to a general revival of the Import trade, following on the excellent dry crops which enabled the people to purchase imported goods more freely. In Bengal (15,27) the increase occurred chiefly under articles of food and drink (3,02), cotton manufacture (2,15), other metals (2,10), oils (1,57), manufactured articles (3,52), countervailing sugar duties (4,37), partly counterbalanced by a falling off under silver, bullion and coin (2,07). In Bombay (17,99) the most important increases were under sugar countervailing duties (10,60), articles of food and drink (9,65), oils (3,55), manufactured articles (2,47), and raw materials (1,44); these improvements were partly counterbalanced by decreases under other metals and manufactures of metals (5,67) and cotton manufactures (2,17). The small improvement in Madras (1,03) occurred under cotton fabrics, kerosine oil, chemicals, drugs, minerals and metals. Under Export Duties the falling off in Burma (2,11) was due to the export to India during the year of large quantities of rice owing to famine, while the decrease in Bengal (12) and Madras (98) was due to the reduced exportation of rice. Under Excise Duty on Cotton Manufactures the increase occurred in Bombay (1,28), where the issue of cloth from the Mills in the later months of the year were unexpectedly large, reduced by a decrease in Madras (54) owing to a small demand for local manufacture, and to its shipment to a large extent to Singapore, Penang, and chiefly to Manilla. Under Land Customs and Miscellaneous the increase in Bengal (49) was due chiefly to large receipts on account of over-time fees, and that in Bombay (36) to the large imports of salted fish, cocoanuts, copra and betelnuts from Goa, and to increased receipts of transhipment fees. The increase, as compared with the previous year, which occurred chiefly under Import Duties, was due mainly to the causes stated above.

45. The revenue under this head exceeded the Budget Estimate, and the actuals of the previous year by 2,54 and 3,26, respectively. The increase was contributed to by all the Provinces except the Central Provinces, Assam and Bengal. The improvement in India (73) occurred chiefly in the Military and Public Works Departments, and, with the increase in Burma (38), may be attributed to the growth of this source of revenue. In the North-Western Provinces (83) the increase was due to the high profits of grain dealers consequent upon the prevalence of famine in other parts of India. In the Punjab (76) it was due chiefly to the assessment lists of some districts having been revised, and in Bombay (2) to recoveries of arrears, and to better scrutiny exercised in fixing the assessment of grain merchants (6) reduced by 32 in the tax on surplus profits of the Bombay, Baroda and Central India, and the Rajputan Malwa Railways. These improvements were partly counterbalanced by decreases in the Central Provinces (5), Assam (37), and Bengal (10). The decrease in Assam was chiefly due to the collection from the employés of the Assam-Bengal Railway having been credited in Bengal.

46. The India figures include, in addition to the collections made in the Districts directly administered by the Government of India, the recoveries by the non-Civil Departments from the salaries of Government officers. The details are given below :—

47. The receipts exceeded the Budget Estimate, and the actuals of the previous year by 16,35 and 9,37, respectively. The increase, as compared with the Budget, occurred chiefly in Burma (10,11), due to large sales of timber and to large extractions by consumers and purchasers; in Bengal (1,85) due to large demands for timber by the Marine Department, large sales of thatching grass, and high prices obtained for sabai grass; in Madras (1,14) due to better receipts from grazing fees, owing to improved supervision, provision of additional areas for grazing, and enhancement of fees, and to larger demand for timber and firewood, and in Bombay (4,42) due to the special receipts from famine grass operations, partly counterbalanced by a decrease due to the failure of teak sales, the failure to sell timber and firewood coupes, and to the remission of grazing fees owing to famine. On the other hand, there was a decrease of 1,32 in the Punjab due to the cessation of bamboo cutting, owing to large stocks in the depôts, to decrease in the demand for timber by the North-Western Railway, and to the arrangement with the Railway for the supply of turpentine having fallen through, owing to the supply of American turpentine through the Secretary of State. As compared with the previous year the increase occurred chiefly in the Central Provinces (1,44), Burma (2,42) and Bombay (5,45), due in the last two to the causes stated above, and in the Central Provinces to famine grass operations for the Bombay Presidency.

48. In addition to the above it is only necessary to note that under Timber and other produce removed by Government Agency, the increase in the North-Western Provinces (73) was due to large sale of firewood to the Commissariat Department and the Nainital Settlement, and the decrease in Madras (1,05) to the value of sleepers supplied to the Madras Railway Company not having been fully paid before the close of the year, and to the removal of firewood by consumers or purchasers instead of by Government Agency as hitherto. This alteration in the arrangements accounts for a portion of the increase in Madras under Timber and other produce removed by consumers or purchasers. The decrease under this head in the Central Provinces (57) was due to the depression caused by the famine and that in the North-Western Provinces (86) partly to the low prices obtained for standing trees, and partly to the failure of Railway Companies to remove a large portion of the timber purchased by them. Under Other Receipts the increase in the Central Provinces (27) was due to the recovery from the Bombay Government of expenditure incurred in the previous year on account of grass operations and to the recovery of arrears; that in Burma (81) to large receipts from duty on foreign timber and drift collections; that in Assam (35) to high prices obtained for rubber, and to the enhancement of the import duty on foreign rubber; that in the Punjab (28) to large receipts from drift timber and rafting fees; that in Madras (34) to large realizations on account of forest offences, and the collection of current and arrear rents of coffee and tobacco lands, and that in Bombay (20) chiefly to the sale of two steam haul presses.

49. The receipts under this head exceeded the Budget Estimate, and the actuals of the previous year by 2,86 and 3,67, respectively. Under Fees for registering Documents the increase in Burma (12) attributed to good harvest; in Bengal (44) to the high prices of grain and the growing popularity of registration; in the North-Western Provinces (66) to the execution of a large number of leases owing to the contemplated amendment of the Rent Law, and in Madras (1,55) to the failure of the crops, and the rise in prices of food-grains, ground-nuts and cotton. The decrease in the Punjab (38) is due to a reduction in the number of registrations, owing chiefly to the passing of the Alienation of Land Act, and partly to the improvement in the agricultural condition caused by the rains of 1900. The only variation calling for notice under Other Receipts is the increase in Madras (62), which was due to the large demand for "no incumbrance" certificates of lands offered as security for State loans.

50. The receipts under this head are for the most part fixed. The variations that occur arise generally from the non-payment of dues, or from advance or arrear collections. The receipts fell short of the Budget Estimate, and the actuals of the previous year by 6,10 and 5,58, respectively. Under Tributes the decrease in India was due to the suspension of the tribute payable by the Banswara State (27), to short recovery from the Sailana State (10), and to variations in the rate of exchange of the currency in which tributes were paid (24). In the Central Provinces (50) it was due to the non-recovery of the second instalment (35) of the tribute from the Khairagarh State, and the remission of it to the Kawardha State. In Burma the decrease (35) was due to remissions, and that in Bombay (2,52) to the non-recovery of arrear estimated for owing to the continuance of famine in Gujarat, Kathiawar, and Deccan. Under Contributions the decrease in India was due to short payment by Jowrah (47) and Jeera (10) States, and to a suspension granted to the Dewas State (33). Under Fees on Succession to Native States the receipt in India represents the first instalment of a Nazarana payable by the Bijawar State in Bundelkhand. In Bombay the recovery of the Nazarana instalments, due by the Sunth, Gabat, and other petty States in Kathiawar, was postponed owing to the famine, and the instalment due from Raj (Junior) State (71) was not realized during the year. As compared with the previous year the increase occurred chiefly in India (3,14) and Bombay (2,11). The former was due partly to the causes mentioned above, but chiefly to the fact that Oodeypur paid two years' dues in 1899-1900, and the latter chiefly to the receipt of 2,82 from the Jamkhandi State under the last head in the previous year.

51. The expenditure in this Section showed a saving of £104,8 or R15,72 as compared with the Budget Estimate, and an excess of £128,2 or R19,23 as compared with the actual of the previous year. As compared with the Budget there was a saving of £30,6 or R4,5 under Assignments and Compensations, chiefly in Land Revenue, Salt and Miscellaneous Compensations; of £58,3 or R8,75 under Land Revenue, owing to reduced expenditure on Survey and Settlement operations in all the provinces except India and Madras, and to small payments in Burma and the North-Western Provinces on account of Land Record and Agriculture; of £16,3 or R2,45 under Salt, due to less manufacturing charges in India, and to less expenditure on Preventive Establishment, and petty construction and repairs and purchase of boats in Bengal, reduced by an excess in Madras due to large purchases of salt to meet the demands from Orissa and the Central Provinces; of £13,7 or R2,05 under Excise caused by small payments of rewards in Burma, lapses of provisions for improving the Preventive Establishment in Bengal, and for reforms of distilleries in the North-Western Provinces, and by the adjustment of recoveries for the new Opium Preventive Service in Bombay by deduction from charges; of £10,4 or R1,57 under Provincial Rates, chiefly in Bengal; and of £21,7 or R3,25 under Forest, due to small expenditure on works of construction and improvement, and to savings under salaries, reduced by an excess in Bombay due to expenditure in connection with famine grass operations. These savings were partly counterbalanced by an excess of £18,5 or R2,77 under Refunds and Drawbacks chiefly in India and Bombay under Customs refunds; of £15,1 or R2,27 under Opium, due to the outturn of the crops in the Benares Agency having been better than the estimate, though that in Behar was worse; and of £10,1 or R1,51 under Stamps, of which £3,4 or R5,1 occurred in England due to the large demands from India, and £6,7 or R1,00 in India due mainly to an alteration in the rate of discount allowed on the sale of stamps.

52. Of the increase as compared with the actuals of the previous year £19,4 or R2,91 occurred under Refunds and Drawbacks, chiefly in India and Bombay, as stated above; £66,9 or R10,03 under Land Revenue owing to increased charges of district administration, due in the Central Provinces and Bombay to charges in connection with the famine, and in Burma, the Punjab and Madras to re-organizations and revisions of Commissions and establishments, to higher charges for survey and settlement in Burma, and to large payments to district and village officers in Madras; £58,7 or R8,81 under Opium, due to large payments to cultivators, owing to a better outturn of the crop than in the previous year, and £8,0 or R1,20 under Customs, due mainly to the large payments of overtime allowances, in Burma and Bengal, and to re-organization of establishments in Burma and Madras. These excesses were partly counterbalanced by a decrease of £35,8 or R5,36 under Assignments and Compensations due to large payments of arrears in 1899-1900, in Bombay under Land Revenue Compensations and in India under Salt Compensations.

53. The Indian expenditure exceeded the Budget Estimate and the actuals of the previous year by 3,77 and 2,91, respectively. The excess, as compared with the Budget, occurred chiefly under Customs in India (77) and Bombay (2,26). The former was due to a special refund of duty on Silver imported by the Hong-Kong Bank and sold to Government for coinage purposes; and the latter, which occurred chiefly in Sind, to refunds on oils, manufactured articles, and cotton-goods exported to Kashmir under bond, and to a special refund of 1,24 on bounty-fed Austro-Hungarian sugar. Bengal contributed 50, Madras 18 and Burma 5 to the excess. The excess over the actuals of the previous year also occurred chiefly under Customs, mainly in India (77) and Bombay (2,31), due to the reasons given above. Under Land Revenue the decrease in the North-Western Provinces (22) and Bombay (4,1) was due to a falling off in the revenue collections. In Madras (39) refunds were exceptionally low, and fell below the average of the previous five years. The excess in Assam (23) was due to a special refund, while in the Punjab (27) these refunds were exceptionally high. Under Salt the saving in India (11) occurred mainly in the refunds of half duty on sales to the Bikanir State; while that in Bombay (11) was due to claims on account of wastage allowance having remained unadjusted. Under Stamps the excess in Bombay (12) was due to a special refund of 31 on account of probate duty recovered in excess. The decrease, as compared with the previous year, was due to the high payments in that year on account of probate duty. Under Assessed Taxes the most important variations occurred in Bombay, where there was an excess of 30, due to a special refund to the Great Indian Peninsula Railway, and in India (7) where the claims for refund of Income Tax on interest on Government Securities were much smaller than was expected. Under Other Revenue Refunds the important variations were the saving in Bombay (60), due to unusually low Excise refund owing to a falling-off in the revenue, and the excess in Burma (38) due to an unforeseen Excise refund of 22, and to special refunds of Forest Revenue and Tributes amounting to 10 and 6

54. The expenditure under this head fell short of the Budget Estimate and the actual previous year by 4,58 and 5,36, respectively. The saving, as compared with the Budget, was contrary to all the heads, but chiefly by Land Revenue Compensations (2,30), Salt Compensations (78), and Miscellaneous Compensations (96). The saving under the first of these heads occurred almost entirely in Bombay (2,22), and was due chiefly to lapses of ināms by death of Jagirdars in Sind (1,07), pensions in lieu of resumed lands, and other grants not having been drawn. The saving under Salt Compensations occurred chiefly in India (67), due to a decrease in the royalty payable to the Jai Singh Durbars, owing to the small sales at the Sambhar Lake in the previous year (82), and payments to Jaora and Jhalawar not having been made during the year (10), partly counterbalanced by arrears payments, amounting to 24, to the Kohat Chiefs and the Bundi State. The decrease under Miscellaneous Compensations occurred chiefly in the Punjab (85), and was due to the provision for pensions payable in connection with the Hoshiarpur "Chos" operations not having been utilized. Under Excise Compensations the saving in the Central Provinces (37) was due to the payment to Zamindars of Chhattisgarh, for the resumption of Abkari rights, having been much less than expected. The saving, as compared with the previous year, occurred mainly under Land Revenue and Salt Compensations; the former was due to a decrease of 2,75 in Bombay, due to large payments to ināmdars and other grantees in 1899-1900, partly counterbalanced by small excesses in the other Provinces, and the latter in India, due to the payment of two years' compensation in 1899-1900 to the Meywar Durbar. The excess of 1 (Provincial) in the Central Provinces

The Indian expenditure showed a saving of 8,68 as compared with the Budget Estimate, and the actuals of the previous year by 10,09. As compared with the Budget the saving occurred under Survey and Settlement (2,33), due mainly to the suspension of settlement operations in Central Provinces (58) and to over-estimates in Burma (24), Assam (17), Bengal (95), and the North-West Provinces (42); and under Land Records and Agriculture (4,76), contributed to by all the Provinces, ~~excesses~~ ~~under~~ ~~the~~ ~~head~~ ~~of~~ ~~the~~ ~~Survey~~ ~~and~~ ~~Settlement~~ ~~in~~ ~~the~~ ~~Central~~ ~~Provinces~~ ~~(68)~~ ~~and~~ ~~Bombay~~ ~~(1,55)~~ ~~due~~ ~~chiefly~~ ~~to~~ ~~the~~ ~~revised~~ ~~scale~~ ~~of~~ ~~establishment~~ ~~provided~~ ~~for~~ ~~not~~ ~~having~~ ~~been~~ ~~fully~~ ~~introduced~~, and the North-Western Provinces (1,49) in the provision for pay and allowances of Kanungoes and Patwaris (76) and for Land Record Surveys (67). As compared with the actuals of the previous year the excess occurred mainly under Charges of District Administration (5,28), Survey and Settlement (2,98), and Allowances of District and Village Officers (2,17). The principal contributors to the first were the Central Provinces (68) and Bombay (1,55) due chiefly to extra charges in connection with famine, Burma (77) due to the reorganization of the Burma Commission, and the further extension of the system of collecting revenue by village headmen; the Punjab (49) due to revision of establishment; and Madras (84) due to the reorganization of the taluk establishment, the employment of a larger number of Assistant Collectors than in the previous year, and to increased expenditure on account of fees for searches in Registration offices, owing to an increase in the number of applications for loans under the Loans Act. Under Survey and Settlement the excess was mainly due to an increase in Burma (1,45), owing to the appointment of a Settlement Commissioner with necessary staff from January 1900, and to extended surveys; and in Madras (2,72) due to the transfer of charges for the Controlling Staff of the Superintendent of Revenue Survey from Land Records and Agriculture to this head, partly counterbalanced by a saving in Bombay (1,55) due to the gradual reduction in the charges of Professional Survey Parties. The excess under Allowances to District and Village Officers occurred chiefly in Madras and was due to the revised scheme of village establishments in the Tanjore District.

56. Under Charges of District Administration the variations in the several Provinces were considerable, though the difference in the aggregate was small. The excess in the Central Provinces (47) was due partly to the revision in pay of the Commission of the Province, and partly to extra charges on account of temporary establishment, travelling allowances, and other charges connected with the famine. That in Madras (60) was due to the employment of a larger number of Assistant Collectors than was estimated for, and to increased payment of fees for searches in Registration offices in connection with applications for loans under the Loans Act, and that in Bombay (1,07) was due chiefly to increased charges in connection with famine for additional establishments (99), for contingencies (45), and for grain compensation (22); and other small excesses aggregating 33, partly counterbalanced by savings under salaries and establishment due to absentees (40), under contributions for foreign service of the third kind (25), and other petty savings amounting to 27. These excesses were almost covered by savings in Burma (96) due chiefly to absence and deputation of officers (24), to low charges on account of Patta Survey Establishment (25), allowances (11), and contingencies (16), and to an over-estimate on account of compensation for lands taken up for public purposes (15); in Assam (44), Bengal (17), the North-Western Provinces (20), and in the Punjab (33) due chiefly to the absence and deputation of officers enhanced in Assam by the provision for the re-organization of the Assam Commission not having been fully utilized and in the Punjab by a decrease in the payment of grain compensation allowance. Under Land Records and Agriculture the principal savings, which occurred in Burma and the North-Western Provinces, have been explained above. The saving in the Central Provinces (60) was due to the appointment of Commissioner of Settlement and Agriculture having been held by an officiating officer, to low charges on account of travelling allowances, and pay and allowances of Patwaris, and to certain officers not having been paid up to the scale estimated for. In the Punjab (45) and Madras (38) the saving was due chiefly to over-estimate in the Local Section. As compared with the previous year the saving in Madras (1,77) was due to the transfer of certain charges to the head Survey and Settlement as stated above, and the excess in Bombay (1,21) to heavy expenditure in connection with famine establishments, and to the introduction of a Land Record Staff in the Northern Division. Under Management of Government Estates the saving in Bengal, as compared with both the Budget and the actuals of the previous year, was due to less expenditure on improvements. In the North-Western Provinces the provision for the management of the estates in the Kumaun division proved to be too high. Under Commission on Collections the only important variation was the saving of 52 in Burma, due to a delay in the payment of commission earned towards the close of the year. The decrease of 9 in the Central Provinces was due to suspensions and remissions of revenue owing to famine. Under Allowances to District and Village Officers, the saving in Madras (1,13) was due to a large proportion of the allowances in certain districts not having been paid, and to a revision of village establishment in the Kistna district. The excess over the previous year (1,64) was due to the revised scheme of village establishment in the Tanjore district. The excess in the North-Western Provinces (12) was due to a number of estates having been taken under direct management owing to annulment of settlement, while that in Bombay (83) was due to extra charges in connection with famine, and to the debit to this head of certain grants on account of assessment of alienated lands, hitherto charged to 20.—Police (para. 139).

57. The saving in expenditure in England was due to law charges in connection with appeals from India having been less than was anticipated in the estimate.

58. The Indian expenditure exceeded the Budget Estimate by 2,24, and the actuals of the previous year by 8,85. These differences were mainly the result of the outturn of the crop, which, in the year under review, amounted to 98,190 maunds, against 104,996 maunds taken in the Estimate, and 92,422 maunds, the actual production of the previous year. The Payments to Cultivators, which form the bulk of the charges, fell short of the Estimate by 17,97 in the Behar Agency, but in the Benares Agency, where the outturn of the crop was better than the expectations by 8,364 maunds, they exceeded the Estimate by 19,93. Under Opium Factory in the Benares Agency the excess (38) was due to increased expenditure under freight (64) and miscellaneous charges (17), partly counterbalanced by a saving of 43 under manufacturing charges. The excess of 2,24 under this head awaits the sanction of the Government of India. The saving under Exchange Compensation Allowance was 2 in Bengal.

59. The Indian expenditure showed a saving of 2,48 as compared with the Budget Estimate, and an excess of 81 as compared with the actuals of the previous year. The saving in India (1,87) was chiefly due to small manufacturing charges in Sambhar (1,32), Didwana (4), and Pachbudra (4), and to savings in salaries under Preventive Establishment (72), partly counterbalanced by an arrear payment of Exchange Compensation Allowance (7), and an increase in through traffic charges consequent on the revival of the trade (6). The saving in Bengal (1,20) was due to the full complement of establishment provided for not having been entertained, and to the provision for petty construction and repairs and purchase of boats not having been fully utilized. In Bombay the saving (47) was due to a decrease of 71 under Purchase and Freight, owing to only a small portion of the produce of Baragara Salt having been stored, partly counterbalanced by an increase of 24 under Salaries, Establishment, etc., due to the payment of grain compensation allowance for a longer period than was anticipated, to increased charges for bagging and sewing, and to too large a deduction for probable savings, partly counterbalanced by the provision for water-supply not having been utilized. The excess in Madras (1,07) occurred entirely under Purchase and Freight (1,45), and was due to large purchases of salt to meet the increased demand from Orissa and the Central Provinces, and to increased freight charges, owing partly to increase in the rate of freight, and partly to the large quantity of salt transported to the west coast for fish-curing. This excess was partly reduced by a saving under Salaries, Establishment, etc., (38), due to less expenditure in connection with Excise Licensees' Works (14), and to the amalgamation of the Customs and the Salt Establishments. The excess over the previous year in Madras was due to the above cause. Of the excess in Madras, 1,24 have been sanctioned and 3 await the sanction of the Government of India. There was a saving of 2 under Exchange Compensation Allowance in Madras.

* Includes a lump deduction of 5 by Financial Department.

60. The Indian expenditure exceeded the Budget Estimate, and the actuals of the previous year by 1,00 and 1,62, respectively. The variations under Charges on sale of Stamps, including Discount, where the excess chiefly occurred, were partly due to the increase or decline in the sales of stamps, but mainly to the introduction from 1st April 1900, of the revised rates of discount sanctioned by the Government of India in Finance and Commerce Department Resolution No. 5583-S.R., dated 8th December 1899, by which the rates for Court-fee stamps were reduced, and those for other stamps increased. Under Stamps supplied from Central Stores the Estimate was placed too high in all the Provinces except Burma, Assam, and Bengal.

61. The excess in the expenditure in England (£3,4 or R51) was due to the demands from India being larger than was expected.

62. The Indian expenditure fell short of the Budget Estimate, and the actuals of the previous year by 2,06 and 6, respectively. The saving, as compared with the Budget Estimate, was contributed to by all the Provinces except India. The saving in Burma (60) was due chiefly to a decline in rewards in Excise and Opium cases (48), and in establishment and contingent charges (12). In Bengal (18) it was mainly due to the provision of 10 for improving the Preventive Establishment not having been utilized, and to savings under salaries and contingencies. In the North-Western Provinces (24) it was due to delay in the introduction of reforms in the administration of distilleries (16), and to a decrease under rewards (9). The saving in Madras (17) was mainly due to the amalgamation of the Customs, with the Salt and Excise Establishments; and that in Bombay (73) mainly to an increase in the recoveries from opium farmers, for the new Opium Preventive Service, and to their adjustment by deduction from charges under this head. The excess of 2 (1, Imperial, in India and 1, Imperial, in Assam) requires the sanction of the Government of India. There was a saving of 1 under Exchange Compensation Allowance in Madras.

63. There was a decrease in the expenditure of 1,57 and 23, respectively, as compared with the Budget Estimate and the actuals of the previous year. The saving, as compared with the Budget, occurred chiefly in Bengal (1,22), and was due partly to a decrease under process-serving charges, and partly to the adjustment, by deduction from charges, of recoveries on account of cost of collection of arrear cesses, for which the Budget made no allowance. There were also savings of 14 in Burma, due to delay in the collection of revenue, and to the commission earned by Thugyis not having been fully drawn, and of 19 in Bombay, due to a falling-off in the collection of local cess.

64. The Indian expenditure exceeded the Budget Estimate, and the actuals of the previous year by 74 and 1,21, respectively. As compared with the Budget there were excesses of 40 in Burma, and of 15 in Bengal, due mainly to the payments of overtime allowance. In Burma the excess was enhanced by the payment of rewards for the seizure of opium smuggled by sea, while in Bengal it was reduced by savings due to the provision for a Steam Launch not having been utilized, and to savings in establishment charges. The excess in Madras (18) was due to the reorganization of the Statistical Department of the Madras Sea Customs Office, by which certain establishments, hitherto charged to 26—Scientific and Other Minor Departments, were transferred to this head. The excess, as compared with the previous year, was mainly due to the above causes. In Burma it was partly also due to the revision of the Customs establishment. The excesses of 40 in Burma, 15 in Bengal, 19 in Madras and 1 in Bombay have been sanctioned. There was a saving of 5 under Exchange Compensation Allowance in Bengal.

The Indian expenditure was less than the Budget Estimate by 2,18, but exceeded the actuals of the previous year by 1,35. The saving, as compared with the Budget, occurred chiefly under Other (3,95) and Establishment (1,67), partly counterbalanced by an excess under Timber and other produce removed from the Forest by Government Agency (3,40). The saving under the first head was contributed to by all the Provinces except Bombay, and was due generally to works of construction and improvement not having been carried out to the extent estimated for; and that under Establishment, which occurred in all the Provinces except Madras, was due mainly to the absence of officers on leave, and to savings in the pay of subordinate Forest officers and office establishments. The excess under Timber and other produce removed from the Forest by Government Agency was due mainly to the increase of 3,85 in Bombay, in connection with famine grass operations, partly counterbalanced by a saving of 1,19 in the Punjab due to the small demand for fuel for railway purposes. As compared with the previous year, the excess occurred chiefly in Bombay (2,80), due mainly to famine grass operation charges, and in Burma (2,08), due to a general expansion of departmental operations, partly counterbalanced by a saving in the Central Provinces (1,11), due to the closure of the famine fodder operations early in the year, and to a short crop of Hurra, resulting in less expenditure in its collection than in the previous year, and in the Punjab (3,25) owing to restricted timber and fuel operations, and to the quinquennial payment during the previous year of net profits to the Chamba State.

67. In addition to the above it is only necessary to note that under Timber and other produce removed from the Forest by Government Agency, the excess in the Central Provinces (38) was chiefly due to extensive famine grass operations for the Bombay Presidency, and the excesses in Bengal (34), the North-Western Provinces (46), and Madras (49) to increased sleeper operations. The savings in India (19) and Burma (58) were due to small felling and extraction operations, and the saving in Assam (10) to restricted departmental operations owing to drought in the Goalpara Division. Under Timber and other produce removed from the Forest by consumers or purchasers, the only noteworthy variation is an excess of 34 in Burma, due to an exceptional payment to the Sawbwas of Mankmai and Kingtung on account of royalty on timber exported from these States.

68. The saving in the expenditure in England (£7,1 or R1,07) was due to smaller demands for stores than was expected.

69. The expenditure fell short of the Budget Estimate by 29, and exceeded the actuals of the previous year by 87. The saving, as compared with the Budget, occurred in all the Provinces except the North-Western Provinces, and was due to small payments of commission to Sub-Registrars, owing to decrease in the number of registrations effected. In Madras the decrease was enhanced by certain provisions for new offices and arrear payments not having been fully utilized. In the North-Western Provinces the excess was due to an increase in the number of leases executed, induced by the contemplated amendment of the Rent Law. As compared with the previous year, there was an increase in all the Provinces in the number of registrations effected, resulting in an increase in payments of commission. Of the excess in the North-Western Provinces, 10 has been sanctioned by the Local Government and the balance 1 (Provincial) awaits the sanction of the Government of India. The excess of 1 (Provincial) in Bengal has been sanctioned.

70. The receipts in this Section exceeded the Budget Estimate by £24,2 or R3.63 and the actuals of last year by £45,7 or R6,85. Compared with the Budget, the increase occurred in England (£46,4), owing to the investment of a larger amount of the available cash balance, and at a higher rate of interest than was expected for a portion of the year. The decrease in India was due chiefly to smaller realizations of interest on Advances to Cultivators (£14,1 or R2,12), and on loans to Municipal and other Public Corporations (£4,1 or R62).

71. Compared with the actuals of last year, the increase in India was due principally to the payment of interest on the Capital debt of the Bombay Port Trust in 1898-1899 instead of in 1899-1900.

75. Under Interest on Loans to Native States, the actuals in India include 28 and 14 received from the Rewa State and the Mewar Durbar respectively; the loan to the former and the rate of interest payable by the latter were not known when the Estimates were framed. In the Central Provinces the Budget made no provision for famine loans. In Bombay several Native States in Kathiawar were unable, on account of the famine, to pay up their dues.

76. Under Interest on Loans to Municipal and other Public Corporations, the Budget in Bengal was an over-estimate. The decrease of 32 in the North-Western Provinces, as compared with the Budget, was due partly to the payment of interest amounting to 15 by the Meerut and Mussourie Municipalities in March instead of in April 1900, and partly to much smaller advances than estimated. In the Punjab the interest due by the Simla Municipality in March 1900 (10) was received in July 1900. In Bombay payment of the instalment due by the Ahmednagar Municipality was postponed.

77. Under Interest on Loans to Landholders and other Notabilities, the actuals in India include 7 received from the Talukdars of Ajmere, which was not provided for in the estimates. The decrease in Bengal, as compared with the Budget, was due to the repayment of the loan granted to the Maharajah of Hill Tipperah earlier than expected; the realization of arrear interest from His Highness accounts for the high actuals in the previous year. In Bombay recovery of the instalment due by the Jath State was postponed under orders of Government.

78. Under Interest on Advances to Cultivators, etc., the realizations in the Central Provinces and Bombay were very much lower than anticipated, on account of agricultural distress caused by famine. In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh the Budget was exceeded by larger repayments of advances made in famine years. In the Punjab the Budget did not provide for interest realized during the year on certain advances made in March 1900, but the realizations did not come up to the expectations in the Revised Estimate. In Bengal and Madras the estimates were not well framed.

79. Under Interest on Overdrawn Capital of Railway Companies, the India Budget provided for 1,05 on account of the Lucknow-Bareilly Railway. As this provision was really for interest on advances by Government under definite arrangements, the credit was adjusted in the Revised by deduction from 13—Interest. The actuals followed the classification in the Revised. On the other hand, the Budget did not anticipate any overdrawals by the South Behar, Burma and Indian Midland Railways. In Bengal the credit of 50 in the accounts of 1899-1900 was written back in the current year.

80. Under Other Items there was a special credit in India of 38 for interest on an advance of 40 lakhs made by Government to the Bank of Bengal, Calcutta, in February 1901. The credit of 19 in the Punjab represents interest realized on the unpaid portion of the purchase money of waste lands for which no estimate was proposed. The increase in Madras was due to the levy of interest on arrears of Land Revenue.

81. In England the cash balances available for investment were larger, and the rate of interest obtained during a portion of the year was much higher than was estimated.

82. The total charges in this Section were more than the Budget Estimates and the actuals of last year by ₹177,1 or ₹26,56, and ₹190,8 or ₹28,62, respectively. The increase was due principally to the payment of discount and interest (₤188,0 or ₹28,20) on the loan of ₹3,000,0 raised by the Secretary of State during the year, for which there was no provision in the Estimates.

84. In India the public loan of 3,00,00 provided for in the Budget was raised on 4th July 1900 at an average rate of Rs 4-0-17. Of the balance of the loans previously notified for discharge, Rs 2,28 was paid, consisting of 14, 140, and 74 of the 4½, 4 and 3½ per cent. loans respectively. Of the loans bearing interest, 12,00 was paid on account of the Gwalior Loan in accordance with the terms of the agreement with the Durbar under which the loan was taken.

85. To meet the pressing demand for rupees during the year, the Government of India took from His Highness the Maharajah Scindhia, a loan of Gwalior coin and bullion for purposes of re-coinage. It was agreed that the value of the silver thus obtained, which amounted to Rs 45,29, was to be treated as a temporary loan to the Government repayable in full in September 1901, and bearing interest at 3½ per cent. per annum. The coin and bullion were received at the Calcutta Mint in May and June 1900.

86. In England the Budget did not contemplate any addition to the permanent debt, but the reduction of Bill drawings on India, rendered necessary by the diminution of the Indian cash balances by famine expenditure and advances to Native States, coupled with other causes, compelled the Secretary of State to issue 3 per cent. India stock of the nominal value of £3,000,0 in August 1900. The debentures and debenture stock of the Great Indian Peninsula Railway, amounting to £5,922,4, for which the Secretary of State incurred the liability on the purchase of the Railway on 30th June 1900, was brought on the Home Accounts in July 1900 as Debt incurred, against the charge of the same amount as Capital Outlay on Railways not charged to Revenue under the head Redemption of Liabilities.

87. As regards Temporary Loans, the Budget provided for the issue of £5,000,0 India Sterling Bills, of which £4,500,0 were to be in renewal of Temporary Debt due for discharge within the year. The Budget programme was carried out, but of the Bills issued in September 1900, a sum of £500,0 was borrowed for a period of six months, and it was therefore necessary to issue further Bills for that amount to replace them.

88. The total Interest on debt paid in India and in England is shown below:—

90. In India the total interest payments were less than the Budget by 5.49, made up chiefly of a decrease of 8.72 under the 3½ per cent. loans, and an increase of 2.98 under discount. There were smaller payments under the Loan of 1842-43 (2.75), of 1854-55 (3.03), of 1865 (3.17), and of 1900-01 (60), and heavier payments under the Loan of 1879 (83). The increase in Discount was due to the Loan of 1900-01 having been raised at a lower rate than was anticipated. Under Provincial Debentures the additional payments on account of surplus profits of the Cawnpore-Achneyra Railway, and the Cawnpore-Achneyra Section of the Rajaputana-Malwa Railway amounted to 6 and 15 against an estimate of 1 and 11, respectively. The actuals under Interest on Temporary Loans represent interest on the loan of 45.29 taken during the year from the Gwalior Durbar.

91. In England the payments on account of discount and interest on the 3 per cent. permanent Stock of £3,000,0, raised by the Secretary of State during the year, amounted to £188,0. There was also an increase of £38,8 in interest on India Bills, partly owing to the replacement of some of the Bills which had been issued for 6 months by Bills of 12 months, and partly owing to the rate of interest being much higher than was estimated. On the other hand, £10,0 was included in the Budget Estimate for interest on temporary loans from the Bank of England, but no such loans were required.

92. In April 1901 the Secretary of State decided that interest on capital outlay on Railways and Irrigation Works subsequent to 31st March 1900, should be calculated at the rate of 3½ per cent. instead of 4 per cent. as heretofore (Despatch No. 70 Financial, dated 5th April 1901.—Government of India, Financial Department, No. 2242A., dated 29th April 1901). This rate was accordingly adopted in the accounts of this year in making the usual adjustments of interest in India under Railway Revenue and Irrigation Accounts on the capital outlay of the year. On capital outlay up to 31st March 1900 the calculation was made at the old rate of 4 per cent. The total amount thus adjusted exceeded the Budget Estimate by 94, due wholly to larger outlay on Railways. The capital expenditure on Irrigation Works was less than the Estimate.

93. The Indian expenditure was more than the Budget Estimate, and the actuals of the previous year by 47 and 1,15, respectively. The excess, as compared with the Budget, occurred chiefly in interest on Post Office Savings Bank deposits (53), due to larger withdrawals than were anticipated, and on State Railway Provident Institutions (12), owing partly to the introduction of new rules in the Punjab. The payment of interest on Forest Officers' Provident Fund was over-estimated in the India Budget. Among other variations may be mentioned the decrease of 6 in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh under Special Loans due to non-payment of certain Wasika pensions, and of 7 in Bombay under Uncovenanted Service Family Pension Fund due to an over-estimate.

94. The increase, as compared with the actuals of last year, occurred chiefly under Savings Bank Deposits

96. Under Post Office the net receipts show an improvement of £62,1 or R9,32 as compared with the Budget Estimate, and of £8,9 or R1,34 as compared with the actuals of the previous year. The improvement was due to a normal increase in the receipts from sales of Postage Stamps, expansion of the money order system, and a decrease in expenditure, chiefly for the conveyance of mails, in the payments to Railways and Road establishments.

97. As compared with the previous year, the improvement in the receipts for sale of Postage Stamps and Money Order receipts was partly counterbalanced by increased expenditure, chiefly in Establishment charges, arising out of the expansion and development of the Department.

98. The gradual improvement in the net results of the transactions of the Postal Department for the last five years is shown by the following figures:—

	Net Receipts.
	R
1896-97	8,04
1897-98	14,97
1898-99	18,00
1900-1901	20,24

99. Under Telegraph the net receipts show an improvement of £120,4 or R13,05 over the Budget and of £7,2 or R1,08 over the actuals of last year. Compared with the Budget, the improvement was due principally to the military operations in China and the continuance of famine and the war in South Africa for a longer period than was anticipated.

100. Under Mint the net receipts fell short of the Budget Estimate and the actuals of the previous year by £200,8 or R30,12, and £29,1 or R4,36, respectively. The fall was due to short receipts on account of gain on copper coinage owing to the return into Depôts of copper coin issued during the famine of the previous year, and to increased expenditure in connection with the large silver coinage.

101. The total revenue exceeded the Budget Estimate and the actuals of the previous year by 5,40 and 7,32 or £33,6 and £4,48 respectively. The improvement, as compared with the Budget Estimate, occurred chiefly under Sale of Postage Stamps, in Ordinary 2,51 and in Service 1,11, and under Money Order Receipts (161) owing to an unexpectedly large increase in the sale of stamps and issue of money orders. There was also a small improvement under Parcel and Other Postage collected in cash (41) which was partly counterbalanced by a falling off under Other Receipts (14), due to a smaller supply of over-printed stamps to Native States. The improvement, as compared with the previous year, occurred chiefly under Sale of Postage Stamps (600), and Money Order Receipts (98), due to the same causes. The decrease under District Post Collections in the Central Provinces (14) was due to large arrear collections from Feudatory States in 1899-1900.

102. The expenditure in India fell short of the Budget Estimate by Rs. 7,11 or £2,1 and exceeded the actuals of the previous year by Rs. 57,00 or £5,80.

103. The saving of 41 under Chief Office, Calcutta, was mainly under travelling allowances (19) chiefly owing to fewer calls having taken than in the previous year. Under Salaries (10) and Establishment (7) over to vacancies and deputations. The saving as compared with the previous year occurred mainly in the case of Account and Audit owing to the heavy payments of travelling allowance and bonuses to clerks in 1899-1900 in connection with the deputation scheme, partly counterbalanced by the increase in salaries in the year under report. Under Provisions and District Offices the saving of 89 was chiefly due to low charges under salaries (24), owing to leave arrangements and deputations, to gain in working combined offices (35), and to reduced expenditure under grant compensation (9) and supplies and services (24) partly counterbalanced by an increase in salaries due to the appointment of additional Assistant Secretaries and Inspectors (16), and by high contingent charges (12). The increase of 4,32, as compared with the actuals of the previous year, was mainly due to increased charges under establishment (353), grant compensation allowance (40), and contingent charges (40), owing to the development of the Department. Of the saving under Road Establishment and Contingencies 28 occurred under establishment, and was due to the abolition of certain runner's lines in the Central Provinces, Burma, Assam, Bengal and the Punjab and to the non-appropriation of the provision for mail lines, while 25 occurred under contingencies. The excess over the previous year was due to the extension of runner's lines. Under Railway Charges the saving of 1,27 occurred chiefly in the payments to the East Indian, Eastern Bengal, North-Western, East Coast and Madras Railways. The increase over the previous year was due to the more extensive use of Railways. Under Mail Carriage, Parcel and Passenger and Goods Service, Establishment and Charges the saving (37) was due to an over-estimate under Alian workshop supply and contingencies partly counterbalanced by large payments of grant compensation allowance which also account for the excess over the previous year. Under Subsidies the saving of 5 was due to mailer payments on account of the River steamer service in Assam and the steamer service in Bombay. The decrease, as compared with the previous year was due to the payment of certain arrears in 1899-1900. Under Miscellaneous the saving (7) occurred in the payment of compensation for lost articles. Under Discount on sale of Postage Stamps the excesses over the Budget (6) and over the actuals of the previous year (10) were due to the large sales of ordinary stamps, and the excesses under Stationery and Printing, as compared with the Budget (67), and the previous year (39), were due to the large supply of stationery and increase in printing, necessary to meet the growing requirements of the Department.

104. Under District Post Charges the saving in the Central Provinces (7) occurred in the pay of Village Postmen and Runners, and in grant compensation allowance, and the excess (7) over the previous year was due to an increase in the pay of Village Postmen and Runners, and to larger payments of grain compensation allowance. In Burma the saving (6) was due to establishments not being entertained to the extent provided for, while the excess over the previous year was due to the extended operations of the District Post. In Bengal the saving occurred mainly in the Zamindary Dak charges, while that in the North-Western Provinces was chiefly under establishment charges. In the Punjab the decrease was due partly to less payment of grain compensation allowance, and partly to the closing, from the 20th April 1900, of the Postal Longa Service line for the transit of mails between Chichawari and Fort Lock Singh in the Jhang District. The excess of 6 under Discount on sale of Stamps and of 67 under Stationery and Printing have been sanctioned by the Director General of Post Office. The excess of 1 in Bombay was covered by an additional grant sanctioned by the Government of India. There was a saving of 2 under Exchange Compensation Allowance in India.

105 The decrease in the expenditure in England (£3,4 or Rs 1) was the result of a saving in stores (£9,2) due to smaller demands than anticipated, and an excess of £5 7 due to an enhancement in the contribution paid by India towards the cost of the Eastern Mail Service from 1st February 1898—vide Secretary of State's despatch No. 112 Financial, dated 12th July 1900.

106 The receipts during 1900-1901 were better than those of the preceding year by Rs 10,01. Of this increase Rs 8,07 occurred under message revenue, and was due chiefly to famine and the war in China and South Africa. Owing principally to these causes the number of State and private messages increased from 712,721 and 5523,577 in 1899-1900 to 820,639 and 5,621,733 respectively in 1900-1901. The increase of Rs 6 in the rent of wires and instruments leased to railways and canals was due to the extension of railway and canal lines of telegraph, the wire mileage having increased from 59,662 in 1899-1900 to 65,802 in 1900-1901. As compared with the Budget Estimate there was an increase of Rs 13,48, due chiefly to the military operations in China and the continuance of famine and the war in South Africa for a longer period than was anticipated.

Indo-European Telegraphs

107. The receipts in India fell short of those of the previous year by Rs 1,16 and the Budget Estimate by Rs 70, owing chiefly to a decrease in the transit message receipts from the Indian Telegraph Department. The increase in the receipts in England was chiefly due to an increase in the Trans-Indian traffic.

108. As compared with the preceding year there was an increase of £64,0 in England due to largely increased purchases of English stores. In India there was only a small increase of R 33.

109. The expenditure in India fell short of the Budget Estimate by R1,08, the difference being made up of short outlay under Capital on the construction of railway and canal lines or telegraph, and of increased expenditure under Revenue owing to the expansion of operations of the department. The expenditure in England exceeded the Budget Estimate by £6,8, due to larger purchases of English stores. There was a saving of 9 under Exchange Compensation Allowance.

Indo-European Telegraphs.

110. The expenditure in 1900-1901 was less than that of the preceding year by £10,7. The decrease was mainly due to smaller payments in England in respect of message revenue.

111. The actuals fell short of the Budget Estimates by £28,4. The decrease was due mainly to the cause mentioned above and partly to no expenditure having been incurred during the year on the purchase of stores in England for the proposed new line of telegraph through Central Persia.

112. The receipts under this head exceeded the Budget by 4,35,01 and the actuals of the previous year by 4,24,17. This very large increase occurred under Gain on Coinage Operations, and was almost wholly due to the profits on the large amount of coinage of new rupees to supply the demand for increased currency. The decrease under Fees for Coining Silver was due to a smaller coinage of dollars than was expected. The short receipts under Gain on Copper Coinage were caused by a large return into Depôts of copper coins issued during the famine in the previous year.

113. The Indian charges under this head exceeded the Budget by 4,63,61 and the actuals of the previous year by 4,62,98. The principal cause of the large excesses both in Calcutta and Bombay was transfer of the net profits on Silver coinage to the credit of Gold Reserve Fund. Under Establishments the increase of 57 in Calcutta and 1,73 in Bombay was due chiefly to the large coinage of rupees, led to the entertainment of temporary Establishments, and to an increase in overtime allowance and contingent charges. As compared with the actuals of the previous year the excesses were due to the same causes. Of the excesses 4,63,61 over the Budget grant, 3,62 in Bombay had been sanctioned by the Government of India—vide No. 6058-A, dated 6th December 1900, No. 6 dated 5th February 1901, and No. 791-A, dated 11th February 1901. Of the remainder, 4,54,70 represented transfer adjustments made in Calcutta (1,41,85) and Bombay (3,12,85) on account of coinage, which with the balance of 1,45 in Calcutta and of 3,84 in Bombay, await sanction of the Government of India. The increase in England was mainly due to unforeseen demand.

the previous year by 1,11. Of these decreases 2,43 and 1,20 respectively occurred under Court Fees, Fines, and Forfeitures, chiefly due to a falling off in receipts from Magisterial fines in all the provinces except in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, where there were improvements of 19 and 11 over the Budget and the actuals of the previous year respectively. In Madras the decrease was enhanced by a falling off of 15 in receipts from Translation and Printing executed by the High Court. Under Sale-proceeds of Unclaimed and Escheated Property the improvement in Madras was due to a special credit of the balance (38) of the Audit Fund of the Administrator General's Office, which was closed under the orders of Government. The excesses in India and Bombay were due to large receipts from lapsed Administrator General's Deposits. Under Other Receipts the decrease in Burma was mainly due to the introduction of three-anna copy sheets (Court-fee stamps) in payment of copying fees hitherto collected in cash; while in Bombay it was due to less Record Room Receipts. The variations in Bengal and the North-Western Provinces and Oudh were due to Pleaders' Examination Fees having been less in the former and more in the latter Province than the amounts provided in the Budget.

117. The receipts of the year under review were the highest on record. They exceeded the Budget Estimate and the actuals of the previous year by 4,60 and 2,73, respectively. Under Sale-proceeds of Jail Manufactures the improvement of 5,20, as compared with the Budget, was chiefly contributed by Bengal 3,49 and Madras 1,78, owing to the unusual demand for special supplies to the Military Department for South Africa and China. The increase in the North-Western Provinces was due to improvement in sales. The small receipts in Central Provinces and Burma were due chiefly to decrease in the demand for Jail-made articles by the Public Works and other Government Departments.

118. The net receipts under this head, after deducting the corresponding charges under 19B, are given below :—

Under Other Receipts the decrease in Assam was due to a prohibition against the employment of convicts on extra-mural work, and that in Bombay to the Deccan gang of prisoners having had no remunerative work during the year. These decreases were counterbalanced by the improvement of 28 in Punjab, due partly to the employment of larger number of prisoners on extra-mural labour, and partly to the sale-proceeds of surplus food-grain. Under Convict Receipts at Port Blair the falling off was due chiefly to short recoveries from Native States for their prisoners in Port Blair (62), and decreases under Hire of Convicts (12) owing to the small demand by the Andaman Forest Department, and Tea garden receipts (10), due to a portion of the stock having been held over to meet contracts in 1901-1902.

120. The receipts under this head exceeded the Budget Estimate and the actuals of the previous year by 1,30 and 2,20, respectively. The largest improvement occurred under Police supplied to Public Departments, Private Companies and Persons, in all the Provinces except in Burma, due in North-Western Provinces (54), the Punjab (60), and Madras (55), chiefly to larger receipts on account of Punitive Police than was originally expected. In Assam the increase was due to the recovery on account of the guard supplied in connection with the demarcation of the Manipur border, and that in Bombay to larger contributions from the Aden Port Trust than was expected. The decrease in Burma was due to overestimate. Under Presidency Police the increase in Bengal was on account of fines for prevention of cruelty to animals and miscellaneous receipts. The net decline of 62 under Fees, Fines and Forfeitures was due chiefly to fluctuations in Cattle Pound receipts. The increase in Burma was due to large receipts from fines in gambling cases. Under Other Receipts the decline in Bengal was due to short recoveries on account of Village Police in the Chota Nagpur division, while that in Bombay was due to the contributions from Thanais in Kathiawar not having been fully recovered. These decreases were partly counterbalanced by increases in the North-Western Provinces, the Punjab and Madras. The increase in the North-Western Provinces was due to the amount recovered from the landholders in Oudh not having been fully utilized for payment of rural Chaukidars during the year, and in Madras to the credit for value of Ordnance stores returned to the Arsenal by the Police Department.

122. The receipts under this head exceeded the Budget Estimate and the actuals of the previous year by 52 and 62, respectively. Under Fees from Schools and Colleges the only variation that need be noticed is the improvement in the North-Western Provinces of 21, as compared with the Budget, which was due to high receipts from fees from schools under the control of District Boards (17), and the Civil Engineering College, Roorkee, (4). In Madras the low receipts in the previous year were due to a marked fall in the strength of the B. L. Classes. Under Contributions the decrease in the Central Provinces was due to contributions from private persons not having been fully paid on account of the stress of famine. In Madras the receipts of the previous year included certain special items. Under Other Receipts the increase of 8 in the North-Western Provinces was attributable chiefly to the high receipts of the Roorkee College Workshop, while those of 6 and 7 in the Central Provinces and Burma were due to the transfer of Reformatory Schools from 1st April 1900 to the Education Department from XVIB—Law and Justice—Jails.

123. The Indian receipts under this head exceeded the Budget Estimate by 45 and the actuals of the previous year by 20. The improvement, as compared with the Budget Estimate, was spread over all the heads except Hospital Receipts. Under Medical College and School Fees the increase occurred chiefly in Bengal, Madras, and Bombay, and was due to increased attendance at the Medical Colleges. Under Lunatic Asylum the increase of 11 in Bengal, due to large receipts of fees and sale-proceeds of manufacture, was covered by the decrease of 13 in the North-Western Provinces, due to low receipts from the dairy attached to the Bareilly Asylum. Under Other Receipts the increase was chiefly in Bombay, and was due to the recovery of fees for overtime and Sunday work, by the Health Officer of the Port of Bombay, for the medical inspection of vessels, and a special receipt of 13 from the Karachi Municipality, on account of charges incurred by Government in the previous year in connection with the outbreak of cholera. This also accounts for increase over previous year. The decrease under Hospital Receipts on account of paying patients in Bengal (12) and in Madras (3) was partly counterbalanced by an increase of 5 in Bombay.

124. The Indian receipts under this head fell below the Budget Estimate by 23, but exceeded the actuals of the previous year by 1,38. The decline, as compared with the Estimate, occurred mainly under Other Receipts (1,37), due to the short receipts from sale-proceeds of aluminium ware at the School of Art in Madras. The estimate was too sanguine. This decrease was largely counterbalanced by the increase under Cinchona Plantations (1,08), due to an unusually large demand for quinine both in Bengal and Madras. Under Receipts on account of Public Exhibitions and Fairs the falling off in the Punjab (20) was due to the small number of animals that attended fairs in consequence of the famine. The excess under Veterinary and Stallion Receipts in India was due to under-estimate of the receipts of the Hissa Cattle Farm transferred from the Military Department. Under Labour and Emigration the improvement in Central Provinces and Bengal was chiefly due to the large exodus of coolies during the year, and that in Madras to the re-opening of Emigration, which had been suspended in the previous year, and the despatch of several Emigrant vessels to Natal and Mauritius. The large increase, as compared with the actuals of the preceding year, occurred chiefly under Cinchona Plantations and Other Receipts, due, in the former case, to the causes mentioned above, and in the latter, to better sales of aluminium ware than in

125. The expenditure in this Section showed a saving of £118,0 or R17,70 as compared with the Budget Estimate, and an excess of £189,0 or R28,35 as compared with the actuals of the previous year. As compared with the Budget the principal saving was that of £129,1 or R19,36 under Political, due chiefly to the subsidy of the Amir of Afghanistan not having been fully drawn, and partly to the provision for special Political expenditure in India not having been utilized, and to short expenditure in the Punjab on account of the Northern and Southern Waziristan Militia. There was a saving of £13,5 or R2,03 under Police, due to the low price of food-grains and small issues of free rations in Assam, and to the absence of officers and the short strength of the District Executive Force in Bengal, partly counterbalanced by an excess in the Punjab due to the revision of the Border Military Police; of £35,7 or R5,36 under Education, chiefly in Bengal and Bombay; of £12,6 or R1,89 under Medical, of which £5,0 occurred in the expenditure in England owing to no doctors or nurses having been sent to India, and £7,6 or R1,15 in India, due chiefly to the provision for plague preventive measures in India and Madras having proved too high; and of £14,3 or R214, under Scientific and other Minor Departments, due to a decrease of £29,1 or R4,36 in the Indian expenditure, owing chiefly to too large a provision having been made for census charges, and to short expenditure under Veterinary and Stallion and Miscellaneous charges, reduced by an excess in the expenditure in England, chiefly on account of charges in connection with the Indian Section of the Paris Exhibition. These savings were partly counterbalanced by an excess of £22,7 or R3,41 under General Administration, due mainly to the extended tours of the Viceroy, and to high Secretariat charges, chiefly in India, of £62,6 or R9,39 under Law and Justice—Jails, due to an increase in jail population, to high prices of food-grains, and to large outlay on raw material to meet the demands of the Military Department for South Africa and China; and of £6,8 or R1,02 under Marine, chiefly in England, due to the enhancement, from April 1898, of the subsidy to the admiralty for manning and maintaining Indian Government defence vessels, and to the outlay on alterations to Torpedo Boat Defence Vessels.

126. Of the increase, as compared with the actuals of the previous year £42,9 or R6,44 occurred under Law and Justice—Courts of Law, chiefly under salaries, due to the reorganization of the commission in some Provinces, and to revisions of pay in others; £112,8 or R16,92 under Law and Justice—Jails, due mainly to the causes stated above; £66,7 or R10,00 under Police, chiefly in Burma, due to the constitution of the Rangoon City Police, as a separate force, at an increased cost, and the formation of additional Military Police to replace regular troops in the Southern Shan States, in the North-Western Provinces, due to the extension of reforms in the Police force, and the Rural Police system of Oudh, and in Bombay owing to additional establishments required for famine duty, and the payment of grain compensation allowance; £56,0 or R8,40 under Marine, of which £24,0 occurred in England, £32,0 or R4,79 in India, due mainly to the purchase of stores to replace issues in the previous year for transports to South Africa, and for fitting transports for Jubaland and the Expeditionary Force, and hired vessels for the conveyance of details and invalids to England, and £85,6 or R12,84 under Scientific and other Minor Departments, of which £12,3 occurred in England, and £73,3 or R11,00 in India, chiefly in the charges of the Indian, Veterinary and Stallion charges, and the expenditure in connection with the same. These excesses were partly counterbalanced by a decrease of £44,4 or R6,66 under General Administration, due to a reduction of £64,8 in the expenditure in England, and an excess of £20,4 or R3,06 in India, due mainly to the causes stated above, and of £134,3 or R20,04 under Political, due to the irregular drawings of the Amir of Afghanistan.

127 The expenditure in India exceeded the Budget Estimate and the actuals of the previous year by 3,25 and 3,00, respectively. The excess over Budget occurred chiefly in India but was contributed to by all the other Provinces except Madras, where there was a small saving of 37. The excess in India was mainly due to high payments under Tour Charges, owing to the more extended tours of the Viceroy, and under Secretariat in salaries, and hill journey and telegram charges.

128 Under Salaries of Governor General, Governors, etc., the excess in Bengal (13) was due to the Chief Commissioner of Assam having drawn his pay for three months in Calcutta, and that in Bombay (11) chiefly to the grant of privilege leave to the Commissioner of Sind. Under Staff and Household the excess in India (29) was chiefly due to high hill journey and telegram charges, and the excess in Bengal (25) to hill journey charges, for which a small provision was made under Tour Charges, and to the Private Secretary and Staff of the Chief Commissioner of Assam having drawn pay for three months in Calcutta. The saving in Assam (8) was due to this last cause, that in the Central Provinces (4) to the appointment of a Personal Assistant to the Chief Commissioner having been vacant for a part of the year, that in the North-Western Provinces (10) to the transfer of contingent charges to the head Tour Charges, while that in Bombay (19) occurred under contingent and telegram charges. Under Durbar Fund the excess (21) was due to an advance in March 1901 on account of household expenses of His Excellency the Viceroy in April and May 1901. Under Executive Council the excess (18) was mainly due to a Member of the Council having drawn his leave allowance in India. Under Legislative Council the excess in India (1) was chiefly due to an under-estimate of salaries and travelling allowances of both official and non-official members, and the excess in Bombay (6) to an additional member of the Supreme Council having drawn his pay in Bombay, and to an increase in the travelling allowance of non-official members. The saving in Burma (6) was due to the provision for travelling allowance of non-official members not having been utilised; that in Bengal (8) to the grant of leave, and the saving in the North-Western Provinces and Madras, to officers appointed to the Supreme Council, having drawn pay in Bengal.

129. The Secretariat charges exceeded the Budget Estimate by 1,35, of which 83 were in India, 20 in Central Provinces, 25 in Bengal, 2 in the North-Western Provinces, 2 in the Punjab, and 19 in Madras.

In Burma and Bombay there were savings of 1 and 15 respectively. The details in the Secretariat charges are given below:—

130. The excess in the Financial Department was due chiefly to the deputation of the Under-Secretary in connection with the examination of Berar expenditure (7), and to high hill journey allowances and contingencies (5); that in the Home Department (34) to telegram charges, mainly owing to the death of Her late Majesty the Queen-Empress; that in the Legislative Department (9) chiefly to special charges for the revision of Codes; that in the Public Works Department (47) to absence of officers on privilege leave (33), and to hill journey allowances (15), which were under-estimated, while that in the Military Department was due to high telegram charges (21), and the payment of rent and taxes, for a building rented by the Department, while in Calcutta (5), partly counterbalanced by savings under salaries (9) and establishment (7). The saving in the Foreign Department (7) occurred chiefly under establishment and telegram charges, and that in the Revenue and Agricultural Department (16) under several heads, the more important being 7 under establishment, due to the deputation of the Registrar General as Assistant Secretary in charge of Famine correspondence, 3 for special charges for Famine correspondence, and 3 under salaries, owing to the appointment of a lower paid officer as Under-Secretary. The excesses in the Central Provinces, Bengal, and Madras, were mainly due to the grant of privilege leave and the appointment of officers on special duty. In the Central Provinces it was also partly due to increased pay drawn by the Revenue Secretary, in consequence of the revision in the Commission. In Bengal the excess due to the above causes was enhanced by high charges on account of travelling allowance of establishments and contingencies, and in Madras, by the charge to this head of the pay of the Under-Secretary, who was appointed Provincial Superintendent of Census, in addition to the pay of the officiating officer. Under Tour Charges the excess in India (1,30) was due to the more extended tour made by the Viceroy, and that in the North-Western Provinces (30), partly to the transfer of contingent charges from the head Staff and Household, as stated above, and partly (20) to the purchase of tents for which a re-appropriation was sanctioned by the Local Government. There were savings in the other Provinces except Assam, the principal being 7 in the Central Provinces, due to less expenditure, than was expected, on the purchase of tents and furniture, and the hire of camels and carts and 4 in Madras due to low charges on account of camp equipment and travelling expenses. In Bombay the high charge of the previous year was due to the visit of Lord Sandhurst to Calcutta. Under Board of Revenue and Financial Commissioner, the charge in India represents the pay drawn by officers of other Provinces deputed to India, for periods for which they were attached to the Local Governments. The excess in Bengal was mainly due to the Financial Commissioner of Burma having drawn his pay for one month in Calcutta, and that in Madras to the grant of privilege leave. Under Commissioners the excess in Burma (21) was due chiefly to the grant of privilege leave, and to the deputation of Commissioners on special duty (20), partly counterbalanced by savings of 5 under travelling allowance of witnesses, and 6 under contingencies. The increase, as compared with the previous year, was due to the higher salaries payable under the reorganization of the Burma Commission. The excess in Assam (6) was due to the grant of privilege leave, and that in Bombay (19) to increase under salaries, establishment, and travelling allowances owing to indirect famine charges. The excesses were partly counterbalanced by savings in Bengal (9) due to the provision for additional Commissioners not having been fully utilized, and 6 in the North-Western Provinces under Inspector-General of Stamps, Registration, etc., the variations are generally due to absence of officers, but in Assam, it was chiefly due to the newly created appointment of a Personal Assistant 131 The saving in the Civil Account Offices was chiefly due to absence of officers, and to the deputation of Superintendents to act as Chief Superintendents, partly counterbalanced by privilege leave arrangements. The savings under Public Works Office of Account occurred chiefly under salaries (12), and establishment (4), due partly to vacancies and partly to the appointment of lower paid officers. The small increase under Allowances to Presidency Banks was in the payments on account of Public Debt duties, and in Bombay partly also to the entertainment of extra establishment at Branch Banks in connection with the Babashahi coinage conversion. Under General Establishment of Local Funds Offices, the excess in Bengal (13) and the saving in the North-Western Provinces (4) occurred mainly in the contingent expenditure of District Boards. The excess in the Punjab was due to the charge to this head of stationery purchased by District Bodies, while the saving in Madras (39) was due to the cost of printing, having been debited to 30—Stationery and Printing, instead of to this head as formerly.

132 There was an excess of £1,0 or Rs 5 in expenditure in England, due to an increase of £2,2 in the management of Debt, owing to the issue of India 3 per cent Stock, and of £3 on account of payments to the Bank of England, in connection with the gold held in that country on account of the Currency Reserve, reduced by a saving of £1,5 owing to smaller demands than were expected for stores.

33. The expenditure in India exceeded the Budget Estimate and the actuals of the previous year and 6,47, respectively. The increase over the previous year was contributed to by all the Provinces : India, and the North-Western Provinces. The increases in the Central Provinces (81) and (1,85) were due chiefly to the reorganization of the Commission in these Provinces ; the increase in 1 (1,55) to revision in the salaries of District and Sessions Judges ; that in the Punjab (66) appointment of Additional Divisional Judges, and high contingent charges ; that in Madras (1,02) the expenditure on diet and road money of witnesses and prosecutors, to the reorganization of the establishment, and to an increase in the number of Assistant Collectors employed, and that in Bombay large payments of grain compensation, heavy expenditure on account of diet and road money witnesses, and fees in criminal cases, and to a large number of officers having been present on duty to famine.

14. As compared with the Budget the principal excesses occurred under Law Officers (68), and and Sessions Courts (69). The former was due mainly to high payments on account of pleaders arristers' fees in criminal cases, and occurred chiefly in the North-Western Provinces (14), the (15), Madras (27), and Bombay (16). Under Civil and Sessions Courts the excess in Bengal was due to the revision in the pay of District and Sessions Judges ; in the Punjab (24) ; appointment of Additional Divisional Judges (50), partly counterbalanced by savings in provisions for grain compensation (14), and for the revision of menial establishments (6) ; Madras (71) to an over-estimate of the probable savings under salaries of District and Sessions Judges, and Munsifs and their establishments, and to an increase in the expenditure on diet and road money of prosecutors and witnesses, and in Bombay (16) it was due to larger payments of other Provinces than was anticipated, to grain compensation having been paid for a longer than estimated for, and to high expenditure on diet and road money to witnesses. These excesses were partly counterbalanced by savings in the other Provinces, which occurred mainly under salaries. The increase, as compared with the previous year, has been explained above. There were savings under all the other heads except Other Courts of Justice, under which there was a small excess. The saving under High Courts, Chief Courts, etc., in Bengal (17) was due to no arrangements having been made in place of a Puisne Judge absent on furlough, and to the provision for Commission to the Receiver having been utilized ; that in the North-Western Provinces (11) was due to the absence of the Chief Justice ; in the Punjab (11) and Bombay (9), chiefly due to the absence of officers, and in Bengal partly to a decrease in the diet and road money to witnesses. The excess of 1,11 in Burma of the previous year was chiefly due to the creation of the Chief Court in Lower Bur

135. The saving in England (£2) was due to the provision for the outfit allowance of a Judge having been required.

136. The Indian expenditure exceeded the Budget Estimate and the actuals of the previous year by 9,43 and 16,96, respectively. The excess under Jail Manufactures occurred almost entirely in Bengal (3,62), and was due to the large purchase of raw materials to meet the demand of the Military Department for South Africa and China. There was an excess of 59 in Madras due to large supplies to Government Departments from the Madras Penitentiary. The savings in the other Provinces were mainly due to small purchases of raw material, due to a decrease in the demands for jail manufactures, and the transfer of charges for manufacture in Reformatory School to the head 22—Education. The excess over the previous year occurred mainly in Bengal and Madras, and was due to the causes stated above. The excess under Other Jail Charges was contributed to by all the Provinces except the Central Province, Burma, and Assam, and was due chiefly to the increase in jail population and the rise in the prices of food-grains, and in the Punjab and Madras partly also to high expenditure for moving prisoners. These causes also account for the increase over the actuals of the previous year. The saving in the Central Provinces (53) was due to a decrease in the expenditure on rations, and the transfer of the Reformatory School charges to 22—Education; that in Burma (2,18) to a decrease in jail population, and to the provision for a new district jail not having been fully utilized. The transfer of the Reformatory School charges to 22—Education also contributed to the saving, while that in Assam (9) was due to the expenditure on rations and petty construction and repair.

137. The absence of expenditure in England was due to no stores having been sent out to the

8. The Indian expenditure was less than the Budget Estimate by 2,12, but exceeded the actual previous year by 9,88. As compared with the Budget the saving was contributed chiefly by Assam and Bengal (1,75). In the former Province the saving occurred mainly under Special Police, 0

The cheapness of food-grains and small issues of free rations; and in the latter it occurred chiefly under District Executive Force, and was due to change of officers and short strength of the force. There was, on the other hand, an excess in the Punjab (1,55), due mainly to the revision of the Border Military Police. The excess, as compared with the actuals of the previous year, was contributed to by all the Provinces except Assam and Madras, but chiefly by Burma (3,34), the North-Western Provinces (3,18), and Bombay (1,92). In the first of these Provinces, it was due partly to additional charges on account of the Rangoon City Police, which was constituted as a separate force, at an increased cost, in June of the previous year, and partly, to the formation of additional companies of Military Police to take the place of regular troops in the Southern Shan States; in the second, it was due to the extension of reforms in the Police Force and the Rural Police system of Oudh, and in the last, to the entertainment of additional officers and establishments on Famine duty, and the payment of grain compensation allowance.

139. Under Presidency Police the excess in Bombay (42) was due to the payment of grain compensation for a longer period than anticipated, to an increase in the charges for private watchmen and ramoshis, cost of temporary establishments to accompany specie remittances, and to a decrease in the contribution from the Bombay Municipality. The first three of these causes account for the increase over the previous year. The decrease of 8 in Madras was due to savings in clothing of the Town and Suburban Police. The variations under Superintendence occurred chiefly under salaries, and were due to leave arrangements. Under District Executive Force the saving in Burma (62) was due chiefly to the provision for re-grading Assistant District Superintendents not having been used, to savings in clothing and Punitive Police, and to the short strength of the Rangoon City Police partly counterbalanced by increased expenditure on arms and accoutrements, petty construction and repairs, and rewards to informers in gambling cases. The excess, as compared with the previous year (57), was due, as stated above, to the separation of the Rangoon City Police. There were besides smaller savings in the Central Provinces (34), due to less expenditure than expected on grain compensation and petty repairs, and under salaries, in Assam (9) and in Madras (1). There were, on the other hand, excesses in India (75), due chiefly to the non-recovery of the contribution payable by Local Funds, towards the cost of the Central India Agency Police (62), and short recovery of 4 from the Southern Mahratta Railway. The excess over the previous year was chiefly due to the Central India Agency Police scheme having been fully carried out during the year. In the North-Western Provinces the excess (91) was due chiefly to increased expenditure under travelling, police escorts, arms and accoutrements, and on account of punitive police imposed on the town of Amritsar. In Bombay the excess (25) was due to the payment of grain compensation for a longer period than was anticipated (1,21), to increased travelling charges (33), and contingencies (11) owing to famine, to carriage of constabulary (15) and temporary establishments (10), counterbalanced by savings under the grants for temporary establishments for famine and plague duty (61), for additional police (13), and Mounted Police (21), and in the provision for substitution of Police for Militia (23), and to low expenditure on clothing (46). Under Municipal and Cantonment Police the excess in the Punjab (30), as compared with the previous year, was due to the revision of the Municipal Police Force in certain districts. Under Government Railway Police the principal excess occurred in the Punjab (44), and was chiefly due to the adjustment on account of rent of Railway quarters occupied by the North-Western Railway Police. The increase over the previous year was due to additions made to the Railway Police. The excess in Burma (8) was due to the recovery from the Burma Railway Company having fallen short of the Government share of the cost of the Railway Police, and that in Bombay (1) as compared with the Budget and the actuals of the previous year, was due to arrear charges. The saving in Bengal (18) was due to the provision made for the East Indian Railway Police not having been fully utilized. Under Village Police the saving in Bengal (25) was due to the Chowkidari Act having been introduced into Puri; and that in Bombay (54) to the grants for heads of Village Police and watchmen, and Pagis not having been fully utilized, and the debit to 3—Land Revenue of a portion of the assessment of alienated lands, previously debited to this head. The decrease, as compared with the previous year, was due to the fact that the allowances to heads of Village Police and watchmen were paid in advance in 1899-1900, and to larger adjustments on account of assessment of alienated lands in that year. Under Special Police the difference on the aggregate is small, but the variation in some of the Provinces is very considerable. The principal were a saving in Assam of 1,48, which has been explained above, and excesses in the Punjab (93), Burma (22), Bengal (16), and in Bombay (15). The excess in the Punjab was due to insufficient provision for the revision of the Derajat Military Police; that in Burma mainly to expenditure on arms and accoutrements, and on the purchase of ponies to replace those sent to South Africa in the previous year, partly counterbalanced by saving due to the Police Force being below sanctioned strength; that in Bengal to high contingent charges of the Bengal Military Police, and the employment of an Assistant Superintendent in the Chittagong and Angul Frontier Police without provision. That in Bombay was due to the entertainment of temporary establishments for Famine duty, to extra allowances to the Mounted Police owing to famine, and increase in grain compensation. The increase, as compared with the previous year, was mainly contributed by Burma (3,54).

Punjab (1,01); the former has been already explained and the latter was due mainly to the Border Military Police. There was, on the other hand, a saving of 92 in Assam, due partly to issues of free rations (77), and to smaller supply of arms and accoutrements than in the previous year. The decrease under Cattle Pounds occurred chiefly in Madras (24), where the charges were extremely low, and in Bombay (18), where the low expenditure was due to famine. Under Other Charges occurred chiefly in the North-Western Provinces (76), where the lump grant of 75 included undistributed money which was utilized in meeting extra charges connected with plague and other items of expenditure in India (16), due to low charges under Thuggee and Dacoity. Against these savings there was an increase of 15 in Bengal, which occurred in the Steam Boiler Inspection Establishment charges.

140. The excess in the expenditure in England (£6 or R9) was chiefly due to the supply of 6 copies of Henry's Hand-book of Instructions for the Classification of Finger Impressions (£4 or R6) to 15 Police Officers having come out to India against 10 provided for.

141. The Indian expenditure showed a saving of 61 as compared with the Budget Estimate, and an excess of 4,79 as compared with the actuals of the previous year. As compared with the Budget, the largest savings occurred under Other Charges (1,91), chiefly in Burma (1,12), due mainly to the provisions for the construction of steam launches, and the clearance of the Irrawaddy-Chindwin river not having been utilized, and to less outlay on miscellaneous services, and in India (47) due to small issues of stores to His Majesty's Ships in Indian seas, and to less expenditure than was anticipated on freight on open stores and miscellaneous services. These savings were partly counterbalanced by an excess of 61 under Marine Stores and Coal for Building and Repairs of Ships, due mainly to the purchase of stores to replace issues in the previous year for transports to South Africa, and for fitting transports to Jubaland and the China Expeditionary Force, and freight ships for the conveyance of details and invalids to England, and to the local purchase of coal to meet requirements usually met by imported coal (6,58), partly counterbalanced (4,99) by recoveries in connection with the fitting of transports, etc. The excess, compared with the actuals of the previous year, occurred chiefly under Marine Stores and Coal for Building and Repairs of Ships, and was due to the causes stated above.

142. Under Marine Survey and Establishment the variations occurred mainly under salaries. Under wards the saving was due to large recoveries, chiefly on account of work done in connection with the fitting of transports for Jubaland, South Africa, the China Expeditionary Force, and freight ships for the conveyance of details and invalids to England, at Kidderpore (6,46) and Bombay (6,17), which, however, was nearly covered by the increased expenditure on account of the work. Under Salaries and Wages and Victualling of officers and men afloat the excess in India (26) was chiefly due to the large issues of provisions, and payment of allowances connected with the extensive trooping carried out during the year (20), to increase in the pay of men, due to the employment of Royal Indian Marine vessels for a greater portion of the year than usual, and to charges for the establishment of the new vessel Admiral (37), partly counterbalanced by a decrease of 34 owing to the deputation of certain officers to China for Marine Transport service. In Burma the saving under this head and the excess under Marine Stores and Coal for Building and Repairs of Ships were due to a change in classification, whereby local expenditure on stores and fuel for steam-launches has, during the year, been transferred from the former to the latter head. The expenditure in Bengal under Pilotage, Pilot Establishment and Repairs, which is dependent on the tonnage of vessels visiting and leaving the port, was larger than was anticipated. Under Other Charges the savings in India and Burma have been explained above. The saving in Assam (23) was due to the provision for the construction of a new vessel having been only partially used. The excess 55 in Bengal has been sanctioned by the Local Government, and the excess 3 in India awaits the sanction of the Government of India.

143. In England the expenditure exceeded the Estimate by £10,9 or R1,64, due chiefly to the enhancement, with effect from 1st April 1898, of the subsidy to the Admiralty for manning and maintaining Government Defence Vessels (£20,1) and to the cost of alterations to Torpedo Boat Defence Vessels (£5), counterbalanced to the extent of £13,3 by smaller demands for stores than were expected.

149. The Indian expenditure fell short of the Budget Estimate by 1,15, but exceeded the actuals of the previous year by 44. The saving, as compared with the Budget, occurred chiefly in India (1,06) and Madras (2,71), where the provisions for plague expenditure proved too high. There was, on the other hand, an excess of 2,50 in the Punjab due mainly to plague charges.

150. Under Medical Establishments the variations were mainly under salaries, due to absence of officers. The excess in Bombay of 1,91 over the Budget and of 1,90 over the previous year was chiefly due to the employment of special medical officers, subordinates and establishment in connection with the famine, and to a large increase in travelling charges. The excess in the Central Provinces over the previous year (46) was due to deputations on famine duty. Under Governing Hospitals and Dispensaries the saving in Burma (26) was due to the number of Hospital Assistants having been below strength (11), and to the provision under Supplies and Services and Establishment new hospitals not having been fully utilised. That in Bengal (19) occurred partly in the salaries of medical officers attached to Mofussil hospitals and dispensaries, and partly in the supply of bedding and medical stores to the Medical College and Campbell Hospitals. That in the North-Western Provinces (41) was chiefly under salaries (28) and establishment (7), due in some measure to the demand for medical officers for plague duty, and that in Madras (31) was due to a reduction of medicines by the Military Department (16), to delay in the appointment of a Lady Assistant.

and country medicines (17), counterbalanced to the extent of 17 by an increase in grants to Municipal Hospitals and Dispensaries. These savings were partly counterbalanced by an excess of 40 in Bombay, due chiefly to an increase under diet, and temporary establishment in connection with plague at the European General Hospital, to the presence of a large number of officers on duty, to temporary establishment on famine duty, and large supplies of medicines and instruments to relief camps and rural dispensaries. Under Vaccine Establishment, etc., the saving in the Central Provinces (24) was partly due to deputations on famine duty, but chiefly to the curtailment of expenditure on village sanitation, owing to the non-realization of contributions. In Burma (10) it was due to the appointment of Deputy Sanitary Commissioner not having been filled till October 1900, and to a decrease in travelling charges. In Bengal (22) it was due partly to short outlay on conservancy of towns and villages, and partly to changes of officers and vacancies. In the North Western Provinces (29) it was chiefly due to less expenditure on village sanitary improvements (18), to the absences of officers (5) and to the non-utilization of the grant for the Bovine Lymph Depôt (4); and in Madras (65) it was due to an over-estimate in the Local Section. In Bombay there was an excess of 34, due chiefly to a larger number of officers than was expected being on duty, to the appointment of a Special Assistant to the Sanitary Commissioner, to the entertainment of temporary establishment for plague duty, to the payment of fees for medical inspection of vessels on holidays and Sundays not provided for and to heavy contingent expenditure for coal, medicines and other miscellaneous charges on account of plague. These reasons also account for the excess over the actuals of the previous year. Under Medical Schools and Colleges the saving in the Punjab (11) was due partly to leave vacancies (7), and partly to the withholding of scholarships for want of suitable candidates (4); the excess in Bombay (7) occurred under salaries. Under Lunatic Asylum the saving in Bengal (12) was in contingent charges, while the excess in the Punjab (9) was due partly in increased dietary charges owing to the large number of inmates in the Lunatic Asylum, and the high price of food-stuffs, and partly to the entertainment of temporary establishment. Under Grants for Medical Purposes, the savings in India and Madras have been explained above. That in the Central Provinces (56) was due to the closing of several observation camps on the lines of railway, and that in Bombay (2,19) to a general reduction in the expenditure in connection with plague, and to a recovery of 1.75 from Local Bodies not anticipated in the Budget. The excess in Rangoon (1,09) was due to the contribution (not provided for) of 1.00 to the Rangoon Port Trust Fund towards plague preventive measures at Rangoon sanctioned by the Government of India in the Finance and Commerce Department letter No. 1556-A., dated the 19th March 1901, to a further contribution of 4 to the same fund towards the salary of the Port Health Officer at Rangoon, and to a building grant of 5 to the St. John's Leper Asylum at Mandalay. The excesses in Bengal (1,04) and the Punjab (2,58) were due to larger expenditure in connection with plague than was anticipated; that in the North-Western Provinces (1,48) was due to the outbreak of plague in the Ballia and Benares districts. As compared with the previous year there were decreases in plague charges in India (1,27), the Central Provinces (60), Assam (6), Bengal (1,50), Madras (3,82), and Bombay (1,31), and increases in Burma (1,03), the North-Western Provinces (1,26), and the Punjab (1,42).

151. The expenditure in England fell short of the Estimate by £5.0 or £75 owing to no doctors or nurses having been sent out to India.

158. The total receipts in this Section were less than the Budget and the actuals of last year by £14,7 or R2,20 and £28,3 or R4,24, respectively. Compared with the Budget, the decrease was due principally to the Exchange adjustments of the year resulting in a net debit instead of a net credit (£12,1 or R1,81) anticipated. The receipts in aid of Superannuation Allowances were less by £9,2 or R1,38, but there was a net improvement of £6,9 or R1,04 under Miscellaneous, made up chiefly of an increase of £16,1 or R2,42 in recoveries of famine expenditure in the Central Provinces and Madras, and a decrease of £7,2 or R1,08 in pearl-shell receipts in Madras.

159. Compared with the actuals of last year, the chief decreases were £10,6 or R1,59 in Superannuation Receipts, £7,1 or R1,06 in Undeclared Deposits, chiefly in consequence of the previous year's figures including special lapses of Sutors' Fund Deposits in India, and £4,6 or R69 in Premium on Bulls, due to smaller operations.

160. The Indian receipts under this head fell short of the Budget Estimate by 97, and of the actuals of the preceding year by 73. The Subscriptions to the Military and Civil Funds were less than the Budget in consequence of the retirement of a larger number of old subscribers than was provided for, though there was an increase of 8 in India under the latter head, caused by the receipt of disparity fines and composition money. The receipts under Subscriptions under the Civil Service Family Pensions Regulations, however, increased with an increase in the number of new admissions. Under Contributions for Pensions and Gratuities, the decreases in India, Burma and Bombay were due respectively to smaller receipts from Berar, to an over-estimate of recoveries from officers lent to the Burma Railways Company, and to the reversion of officers to British service and retirements.

161. In England the decrease occurred mainly in the receipts on account of the Military Funds.

162. The total receipts under this head differed very slightly from the Budget Estimate, but there were noticeable differences in some of the Provinces. The demand of the State Railways for stationery was larger in the North-Western Provinces and smaller in Bengal, than was estimated; in Bombay, the supply of stationery to the Berar Administration was also less. Under Other Press Receipts the receipts at the Government Central Press at Calcutta increased by 14, while less printing work was done in Bengal for Local Funds and Municipalities. The decrease in the actuals, as compared with those of the previous year, was due chiefly to the supply of a smaller quantity of stationery to State Railways and other Departments.

163. The Indian revenue under this head exceeded the Budget Estimate by 91, but fell short of the receipts of the previous year by 2,28. Compared with the Budget Estimate, the principal increases occurred under Other Items (82), Unclaimed Deposits (5), and Rents (22) but these were partly counterbalanced by decreases under Premium on Bills (45) and Miscellaneous Fees, Fines, and Forfeitures (29). The improvement under Other Items was mainly due to recoveries of famine expenditure in the Central Provinces (2 13) and Madras (29). There were smaller excesses in India under Percentages chargeable on European Stores (25), and in Punjab under Miscellaneous due to the transfer to that head from XXXII—Civil Works, with effect from 1st April 1900, of the income connected with Nazul lands and buildings, and by larger receipts realized from the Copying Agency Account. On the other hand, the anticipated receipts from pearl-fishery in Madras (1,08) were not obtained, as no fishery was held and 1,00 representing the revenue in that Province from sale-proceeds of avenue clippings was transferred from this head to XXXII—Civil Works in charge of Civil Officers. The receipts under Unclaimed Deposits and Miscellaneous Fees, Fines, and Forfeitures are of a fluctuating character, and no accurate forecast was therefore possible; under the former the actuals of last year in India included special lapses of Suitors' Fund Deposits. Under Rents the receipts from a bazar in Burma were credited to the local Town Fund instead of to the District Cess Fund as estimated. The Budget in Madras was an under-estimate. The decrease under Premium on Bills was due to smaller drawings, owing partly to the large withdrawals of rupees to the Reserve Treasury, Calcutta, and partly to smaller currency chest balances in Burma than in last year. Smaller recoveries from Courts of Wards for the cost of Local Audit, as well as for the general cost of management, account for the decrease of 18 under Contributions in the Central Provinces. The credit of 14 under Extraordinary Items in the North-Western Provinces represents commutation value of Wasika pensions, under the first Oudh Loan, lapsed to Government. Under Gain by Exchange the Budget in India anticipated a loss of 19, but the actual transactions produced a gain. In Bombay the decrease was due to the payment of certain stipends at Aden in rupees instead of in dollars.

164. The increase in England was chiefly connected with the supply of stores to India.

165. The total expenditure in this Section was more than the Budget Estimates by £53.3 or R3,00, and less than the actuals of last year by £65.1 or R9,76. Excluding the actuals under 31—Exchange (£31,8, or R4,73) for which the Budget made a provision of £12,1 or R1,81 on the receipt side, the real increase over the Budget was £21,5 or R3,22. This excess was due principally to more remittance charges (£19,7 or R2,96) in connection with coinage operations in Bombay, and larger and more frequent movements of coin in other Provinces, to the writing off, in the Central Provinces, of irrecoverable Taccavi Loans amounting to £17,3 or R2,60, to an increase in Pension charges in India (£7,9 or R1,18), to large purchases of stationery in England to meet indents from India (£12,5 or R1,87) and to the grant of a loan of £10,0 or R1,50 to Prince Victor Duleep Singh. As a set-off against these excesses, there was a decrease of £36,6 or R5,49 in England in the payment of Civil Service Annuities and Civil Fund Pensions, and of £99 or R1,49 in the payment of Territorial and Political Pensions in India.

166. Compared with the actuals of last year, the chief decreases were £49.1 or R7,36 under Exchange, and £32,0 or R4,80 under Furlough Allowances in England. On the other hand, there were increases in India of £18,1 or R2,72 in remittance charges, and of £7,2 or R1,08 in irrecoverable loans written off, and of £19,5 or R2,93 in Superannuation Allowance reduced by savings in England of £14,5 under the last named head, and of £11,0 under Miscellaneous.

167. The total Indian expenditure was less than the Budget and the actuals of last year by 1,63 and 1,05, respectively. Compared with the Budget, the decreases occurred chiefly in Bombay, Madras, Burma and the North-Western Provinces, and were due principally to death and to grants remaining undrawn.

168. Under Territorial and Political Pensions the provision of 33 in Bombay for the Angria family was not utilized, as the question of succession was not settled during the year. In India certain pensions in Nowgong were reduced. Under Charitable Allowances the Budget in the Punjab was an under estimate.

169. The excess of 1 in Assam requires to be sanctioned.

170. The increase in England was due to the grant of a loan of £100 in April 1900 to Prince Victor Duleep Singh repayable from his stipend at the rate of £1,500 a year.

173. The Indian expenditure exceeded the Budget Estimates by 1.53. The excess for the most part occurred under Superannuation and Retired Allowances, and was due to sufficient allowance not having been made in the Estimates for the normal growth of expenditure in pension charges.

The following statement shows this growth during the last six years :—

1895-96	92.51
1896-97	96.32
1897-98	99.83
1898-99	1,01.87
1900-1901	1,09.17

174. Under Other Charges, the leave and pension contributions, recovered from an officer of the Berar Commission and previously adjusted in India under XXII—Superannuation Receipts, were transferred to the credit of the Berar revenues by debit to this head. The expenditure of 3 in Bengal represents the refund to the Marine Fund of the contributions of an officer whose services were dispensed with in the beginning of the year. The increase of 23 in the Punjab was due mainly to the payment of a pension sanctioned by Government in July 1900 for distinguished and meritorious services. In Madras sufficient allowance was not made in the Local Section for the progressive increase in the bonuses paid to Provident Funds. The actuals of 1899-1900 under this head include certain special refunds of contributions for pensions received on behalf of Local Fund servants. Under Compassionate Allowances the Budget in the North-Western Provinces was an over-estimate. The decrease in the Punjab under Pensions of the Military Funds was due to a reduction in the number of Military pensioners.

175. In England the decrease occurred mainly in Civil Service Annuities and Civil Fund Pensions.

than estimated, but large savings in the grant for the Yerrowda Jail Press, and the transfer of printing and other charges in connection with the census to 26—Scientific and other Minor Departments led to a decrease on the whole. Under Stationery supplied from Central Stores to Local Governments and other Departments, the Budget was exceeded in Burma, North-Western Provinces, Madras and Bombay, Post Office and Telegraph. In Burma a re-appropriation of 36 to cover a portion of the excess was sanctioned by the Local Government during the year; the balance has since been sanctioned. The increase of 18 in the North-Western Provinces was mainly due to the expenditure incurred in connection with the printing of Municipal forms, recoveries on account of which will be made in 1901-1902. In Madras and Bombay the excesses were covered by additional allotments and re-appropriations. As a partial set-off against these excesses, there were considerable savings in the Central Provinces and Bengal, due to smaller consumption in those provinces. Under Other Charges the largest variations occurred in the Central Provinces and Madras, the decrease in the former being due to smaller expenditure on printing at Private Presses, and the increase in the latter to the exhibition here for the first time of expenditure on printing at Private Presses for Local Bodies for which provision was made in the Budget under 18—General Administration.

178. The excess in England was due to larger indents from India than was provided for in the Budget

* Shown under XXIV—Exchange.

179. The actuals under this head fluctuate with the average rate of exchange and variations in the sterling transactions of the Railways.

180. The Budget provided for a net credit of 1,81, but the actual adjustments resulted in a net debit of 4,78. The adjustments which were primarily responsible for this alteration were the exchange on the Net Expenditure in England and that on the remittances of the Bengal Central Railway. This excess requires to be sanctioned by the Government of India.

181. Under Net Expenditure in England no exchange was provided for, as the Budget was calculated at an average rate of 16d. the rupee. The actual average rate of the year proved, however, 15 3/4d., and hence a net debit of 4,26 was raised in the Indian accounts. The actuals under the Central Railway include an adjustment of 3,83 on account of exchange on the transactions of year in order to bring the Government and the Company's accounts into agreement (Secretary of State's Despatch No. 13 Railway, dated 22nd February 1901). Under Indian Midland Railway, the large increase in the credits to exchange was due principally to a considerable reduction in the repayments in India on Capital Account; the credit would have been larger but for smaller withdrawals in England. Under Remittance Accounts, the smaller debit under Miscellaneous was due principally to a credit of 67 on account of expenses connected with the China Expeditionary Force, for which there was no provision in the Budget.

182. The Indian expenditure exceeded the Budget and the actuals of last year by 5,63 and 3,71 respectively. The excesses occurred chiefly under Remittance Charges and Irrecoverable Loans written off.

183. Under Remittance Charges the expenditure was heaviest in Bombay, in consequence of the distribution of rupees coined at the Bombay Mint from purchased bullion and the remittance of coin to famine districts. Nearly the whole of this excess was sanctioned by the Government of India during the year. Larger and more frequent movements of coin than were estimated accounted chiefly for the smaller excesses in India, Burma, Assam, Bengal, and North-Western Provinces. Under Peity Establishments the charges closely followed the Budget in India, Assam, Bengal, and Bombay. In the Punjab there was an increase in the charges for the Copying Agency Account. In Madras there was a change in classification in the Local Section of the Accounts, whereby lighting charges formerly adjusted as Miscellaneous and Unforeseen charges (Other Items in the Report) were transferred to this head. Under Special Commissions of Enquiry the actuals in India represent expenditure incurred on account of the Indian Famine Commission (35) and the Committee for enquiry into the working of the Administrator General's Office at Calcutta (11). In Bengal no provision had been made in the Budget for the Calcutta Port Trust Commission. The small increase in the North-Western Provinces was due to the appointment of a Commission to enquire into the conduct of a Munsif. Under Irrecoverable Loans written off, 2,60 was written off in the Central Provinces under the order of the Hon'ble the Chief Commissioner on account of taccavi loans to the cultivators in the Damoh District. In Bombay the Revised Estimate allowed for 2,70 on account of the anticipated remission of taccavi advances during the year as intimated by the Local Government, but the actuals proved to be very trifling. The payment to the Bombay Municipality of arrears of assessment on Government building and an increase in the amount of house-tax raised the actuals in Bombay under Rents, Rates, and Taxes. Under Other Items, in India a grant of 25, sanctioned in Financial Department No. 5994A., dated 3rd December 1900, was made to the Bangalore Municipality from the Bangalore revenues. On the other hand, there was a net gain of 25 by exchange on local transactions instead of a net loss of 19 as anticipated in the Estimates. The decrease of 15 in the North-Western Provinces, as compared with the Budget, was due to savings in the grants for Subscriptions to Periodicals, Cost of Books and Publications, and Miscellaneous and Unforeseen Charges.

184. In England the increase occurred mainly in the payments for the Insignia of the several Indian Orders, and for the Kaiser-i-Hind Medals, and in Fines and Penalties incurred by contractors in providing stores, partly counterbalanced by smaller payments for stores lost in transit to India.

185. The Budget Estimates were framed on the assumption that with a normal rainfall in 1900 the necessity for relief would disappear by the end of September. But the monsoon was unhappily somewhat late throughout India, and as a consequence the period of scarcity was prolonged. In Bombay the quantity of rain and the dates on which it fell were so insuitable that it was found necessary to continue relief works and gratuitous relief throughout the year. In the Central Provinces there was a large increase in the amount spent on gratuitous relief in the earlier months of the year, in consequence of a large unexpected increase in the number of persons on relief.

The total Indian expenditure exceeded the Budget Estimate by 1,17,36. Of this excess, 1,06,26 was in the Central Provinces, chiefly in consequence of larger expenditure on gratuitous relief (see p. 56). In Bombay there was an increase of 35,50, in consequence of the failure of the rains in 1900-1901, necessitating the continuance of relief works and gratuitous relief throughout the year. Against these excesses there were decreases of 14,54 and 8,64 in the Punjab and Madras respectively. The decrease in the former Province was due to smaller expenditure in the Public Works Department. In Madras the severity of famine was considerably less than apprehended. There was a saving of 1 under Exchange Compensation Allowance in India.

189. The expenditure during 1900-1901 exceeded that of the previous year by 1,08, the increase being due to larger adjustments against this head of normal cost of famine relief works carried out at Maladevi, Chankapur and Shetphal tanks in Bombay. The provision in the Budget Estimate was 1 to be larger than necessary, and was reduced in the Revised Estimate and the excess over the latter due to the transfer to this head of the normal expenditure on famine relief works in Bombay.

191. These figures show that the net result of the working of all Railways was a gain of £325,1 after meeting all charges for interest, annuities, etc., this being an increase of £37,26, over the gain in the previous year. Under Receipts there was an increase of £544,4 or R96,66 due generally to a larger passenger traffic following on better prospects and the removal of plague restrictions, to a considerable famine traffic, and to movements of troops and military stores in connection with the expedition to China. Total charges were more by £396,0 or R59,40 of which R48,17 consisted of an increase in working expenses due chiefly to the increased traffic and the consequent larger train mileage. There was also an increase of £327,0 or R49,05 under Interest and annuity charges due to increased capital employed in the construction of Railways and to the purchase by the Great Indian Peninsula Railway.

193. The figures show that the net results, apart from variations in Exchange, improved steadily year by year from 1887-88 to 1895-96, with the single exception of 1892-93, when there was a serious falling off in the wheat export traffic. In 1896-97 traffic receipts were injuriously affected by famine and plague. In 1897-98, however, owing to a revival of traffic after the famine and to the Frontier expedition, there was an improvement, apart from Exchange, of 66,13 under State and Guaranteed Railways. In 1898-99, again, owing chiefly to the removal of the stringent plague quarantine measures, and to a return of normal conditions, especially on the guaranteed lines, there was a further improvement, apart from Exchange, of 13,72 under State and Guaranteed Railways, and in 1899-1900 the improvement, apart from Exchange, was 1,01,57, due to a large extent to the abnormal conditions brought about by the existence of famine. In the past year the improvement, apart from Exchange, was 32,10 due generally to a continuance on some of the lines of famine traffic; to an improved passenger traffic consequent on the removal of plague restrictive measures; and to general development following on the opening of extensions and branch lines.

195. State Railways.—The gross receipts in India show an increase over the previous year of 45,08, of which 2,67,52, is due to the inclusion of the earnings of the Great Indian Peninsula Railway for nine months of the year. There was an improvement in the earnings of all the more important Railway systems with the exception of the North-Western Railway, on which there was a decrease of 30,74, due chiefly to a further falling off in the export trade in wheat consequent on the continuance of famine. The principal increases occurred on the Burma Railway (18,64), due chiefly to improved passenger traffic and a large export trade in rice, East Indian Railway (17,14), due largely to the carriage of troops and military equipage in connection with the expedition to China, Indian Midland Railway (15,87), due chiefly to a heavy traffic in grains to famine districts, and to a large outward traffic from Cawnpore to Southern India, and on the Bengal-Nagpur Railway (14,02), due partly to a large famine traffic and partly to the inclusion of the earnings of the Northern Section of the East Coast Railway for the last three months of the year. Compared with the Budget Estimate there was a net increase of 1,56,20. The more important increases were 55,19 on the East Indian, 5,65 on the Rajputana-Malwa, 25,71 on the Indian Midland, 16,45 on the Bengal-Nagpur, and 16,34 on the Burma, Railways. These increases were due in the case of the East Indian Railway to a large military traffic, and the expansion of the coal traffic; in the case of the Rajputana-Malwa Railway chiefly to a large traffic in wheat and sugar, and in the case of the other Railways, generally, to the same causes which led to the increases as compared with the totals of the previous year. Decreases occurred on the North-Western Railway (42,69), due chiefly to the decline in the export trade in wheat, and on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway (7,48) due chiefly to a falling off in the anticipated traffic due to famine, and to situations in suspense.

196. Guaranteed Railways.—The net receipts were less than those of the previous year 88,54. The decrease is however only nominal being due to the inclusion of the transactions of the Great Indian Peninsula Railway for the first three months only under this category, transactions for the remaining nine months of the year being shown under State Railways. On the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway there was a falling off in grain traffic, but passenger traffic on the Madras Railway showed a marked improvement.

197. Compared with the Budget Estimate there was an increase in net receipts of 18,80 due chiefly to abnormal traffic in grain for famine-stricken districts on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway in the first three months. The increase of 17,18, as compared with the

193. Compared with the actuals of the previous year, the receipts were better by 17.14 due chiefly to carriage of large numbers of troops, horses, mules, etc., which were despatched to China and to shipments of remounts from the Depot in Calcutta to Karnal, Saharanpur and Umballa. These causes, together with the expansion of the coal traffic and the opening up of food and grain centres on the line and in the Gya District account for the excess over the Budget Estimate.

199. Contrasted with the actuals of the previous year the increase of 4.58 under Coaching was due to general expansion of traffic in 3rd class passengers, luggage and parcels and the increase of 4.05 under Goods chiefly to an abnormal increase in traffic in jute from the Northern and Eastern districts of Bengal during the half-year ended December 1900. The same causes account for the increases in the heads as compared with the Budget Estimate, the increase of 2.20 under Miscellaneous and Suspense being due chiefly to larger steam boat earnings and sundry receipts than were anticipated when the Estimate was framed.

200. Compared with the actuals of the previous year the increase of 1.01 under Coaching was due to a larger attendance at fairs and marriages. The decrease of 4.05 under Goods is the net result of increased earnings from the traffic in wheat to Guzerat and Rajputana where famine prevailed and for which there was a larger demand than previously, and of reduced earnings from the traffic in hides and oil seeds, owing to poor crops, and in hides and skins, the traffic in which was abnormal in the previous year owing to the heavy mortality amongst cattle caused by drought. Under Miscellaneous, etc., the large increase was due chiefly to fluctuations in suspense, specially under "Foreign Railways," due chiefly to the large cross traffic from contiguous Railways. The same causes, account for the variations from the Budget Estimate, the increase under Goods being due to receipts from the traffic in grain and sugar than were expected when the estimate was framed. Compared with the Revised Estimate the increases were due to the improvement in traffic during the latter part of the year having exceeded expectations.

201. The receipts, as compared with the actuals of the previous year, show a net decrease of 30,74. Under Coaching there was an increase of 7, 0 due to normal development of traffic, to additional mileage opened and in some measure to Military traffic consequent on the expedition to China. The decrease of 35,64 under Goods was due chiefly to a further decline in the export trade in grain and seeds owing to the continuance of famine. Under Miscellaneous and Suspense the decrease of 2,10 was due chiefly to smaller receipts on account of the hire of vehicles to foreign lines. The same causes, generally, account for the variations as compared with the Budget Estimate.

202. Contrasted with the actuals of the previous year the increase of 6 39 under Coaching was due chiefly to the removal of plague restrictions on the travelling public and the consequent larger attendance at fairs, etc., to the opening of the Hudwar Dehra route to the hills and to the opening of through communication with Delhi. The decrease of 5 64 under Goods was due to the disappearance of the famine conditions prevailing in the previous year. The increase under Miscellaneous and Suspense was due chiefly to heavy outward traffic at the close of the year having increased the balance under the Suspense head "Foreign Railways". Compared with the Budget Estimate the variations under Coaching and Goods were due to the same causes, while the decrease of 1,42 under Miscellaneous and Suspense was due to sundry receipts having fallen below expectations.

203. 204. The receipts, compared with the actuals of the previous year, show an increase of 2 25, the more important fluctuations being an increase of 4,84 under Coaching, due to development of traffic consequent on the opening up of new lines, and a decrease of 3,51 under Goods, due to the return to normal conditions of the traffic in food grains which, in the previous year, was exceptionally large owing to the prevalence of famine. The same causes, generally, led to the fluctuations from the Budget Estimate.

205. The receipts were better than those of the previous year by 15,87, and than the Budget Estimate by 25,71, the improvement being due chiefly to large movements of food grains to famine-stricken districts and to an increase in the outward foreign traffic from Cawnpore to Southern India via Harar.

206. Compared with the actuals of the previous year, the receipts under Coaching show an increase of 5,42, attributable chiefly to a larger passenger traffic following on removal of plague restrictive measures. Under Goods there was a decrease of 4,32, due partly to the absence of special famine traffic during the year and partly to failure of the rice and cotton crops. These causes also account for the variations from the Budget Estimate.

207. Compared with the actuals of the previous year, the receipts were better by 30,3. The increase occurred wholly under Coaching, and was due chiefly to relaxation of plague precautionary measures, the enhancement of 3rd class fares for passengers by the fast mail trains, and to the opening of the Nerapattam-Nagore section for public traffic from 1st December 1899. The improvement of coaching receipts, as compared with the Budget Estimate, was due to the same causes.

208 Compared with the actuals of the previous year the increase in Earnings was due chiefly to the introduction of 1st class of freight and 3rd class passenger, and that under Goods to the large export demand for rice compared with the same time in India. The opening of new sections, and the general prosperity of the population and crops also contributed largely to the increased earnings. The increases, as compared with the Budget Estimate, were due, generally, to the same causes.

209 The figures show above for nine months only, the Great Indian Peninsula Railway having become a State line from 1st July 1900. Compared with the Budget Estimate there was a net decrease of 7 15 in the passenger traffic, and of 15 under Goods due to an unexpected improvement in the passenger traffic and of decrease of 55 and 10 respectively under Goods and Miscellaneous and Sundry, arising mainly from the decline in timber traffic and to reductions in suspense. The same causes, generally, account for the variations as compared with the Revised Estimate.

210 Compared with the actuals of the previous year there was a net increase of 18 34 made up of total increases of 20 10 and decreases of 1 76. The principal increases were 8,14 on the East Coast Railway due to general development of traffic, 3,30 on the Mysore Railway chiefly in coaching traffic, due entirely to the absence of plague restrictions which were in full operation in the Mysore territory during the preceding year, 2,16 on the Assam Bengal Railway, chiefly in coaching traffic, due to general development and to larger attendance at fairs, and 2,12 on the Bengal Central Railway due to improvement in 3rd class passenger traffic and to larger receipts from freight traffic and the loss of rolling stock to foreign lines. The only important decrease was that of 5,10 in net receipts of the Dhond and Mumbud Railway which became an integral part of the Great Indian Peninsula Railway from 1st July 1900. The other increases and decreases are small and do not call for special remark. The actuals exceeded the Budget Estimate by 14 00. There were increases aggregating 18 10 of which the principal were 10,35 on the East Coast Railway, 2,55 on the Mysore Railway and 2,12 on the Bengal Central Railway, due generally, to the same causes as account for the increases on these Railways as compared with the actuals of the previous year, whilst the decreases amounted to 4 10, of which the principal were 2,37 on the Shirdipalli Jodhpur Frontier Railway, due to the line having been opened to traffic at a later date than was anticipated when the Estimate was framed, and 55 on the Dhond Mumbud Railway. The only important variation as compared with the Revised Estimate is an increase of 4,95 on the East Coast Railway owing to the development of traffic on this line having exceeded expectations.

Gross Receipts.

213. Owing to the purchase of the Great Indian Peninsula Railway by the State with effect from 1st July 1900, the transactions of the first three months of the official year only are dealt with under this head and no comparison with the actuals of the previous year is possible. On the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway the receipts were less than those of the previous year by 10,88, due chiefly to a falling off in grain traffic which was exceptionally heavy in the previous year owing to large imports of grain for famine-stricken districts, while on the Madras Railway the receipts exceeded those of 1899-1900 by 6,46, due to the abatement of plague and consequent revival of passenger traffic.

214. The gross receipts were more than the Budget Estimate by 24,16 as under:—

Bombay Baroda and Central India Railway	+ 3,44
Great Indian Peninsula Railway and Extensions	+ 15,10
Madras Railway	+ 5,53

215. The increase on the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway was due to the removal of the restrictions on the travelling public in connection with the plague and to large movements of passengers for the celebration of marriages, while that on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway was due to the carriage of transport for South Africa and China and to abnormal imports of Burma rice for famine-stricken Districts. The increase on the Madras Railway is ascribed to heavier traffic in general merchandise.

Working Expenses.

216. The working expenses of the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway were less than those of the previous year by 6,58, due partly to the general reduction in expenses consequent on the adoption of a "joint purse" arrangement under the new contract for working the State lines and partly to credits for Warren girder material and smaller repairs and renewals of vehicles. On the Madras Railway there was a small reduction of 39 compared with the previous year's actuals.

The increase on the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway was due to heavier expenditure on maintenance of way, works and rolling stock than anticipated, and to the inclusion in the actuals of a charge to the Provident Fund as a direct charge to working expenses. The saving on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway was due to large credits for the return of material to stores and to the transfer of expenditure on Cammell's axles to capital. The increase on the Madras Railway is ascribed to heavier expenditure on permanent way and vehicles than anticipated.

2,50,54	TOTAL	2 20 00	2 44 50	2 44 32

22 Compared with the actuals of the previous year, the decrease of 12,18 under Maintenance was due chiefly to smaller renewals of rails, the increase of 5,29 under Locomotive was due to the 1 mileage run, the increase of 3 83 under Traffic was due chiefly to increased staff entertainment with the South Bchn and Moghal Serai-Gya Railways and to heavy charges for large quantities of food stuffs carried to the famine-stricken Districts of Rajputana and We; the increase of 7,29 under General, Miscellaneous and Suspense was due chiefly to the increase, for the first time, of the amount recovered for Government Supervision and Control under the Supplemental Contract of 14th November 1899, to buy of foreign stock to meet the increase and to increased charges for mileage and demurrage. The decrease under Share of surplus profits, etc., was due to the Company having received, under the Supplemental Contract of 1899, of the surplus profits up to Rs 25 00 000 and one fifteenth only of the balance instead of one fifth of the whole amount as previously.

23 Compared with the Budget Estimate the excess of 24,32 was due partly to the causes alluded to above, and partly to heavier renewals of rails and repairs of stations and buildings than was anticipated, and to the larger share of profits paid to the Company consequent on improved earnings.

24. Contrasted with the actuals of the previous year, increases occurred under all heads. The increase of 1,80 under Maintenance was due chiefly to heavier expenditure on relaying certain sections. Under Locomotive the increase of 1,05 was due chiefly to the enhanced price of coal, increased mileage run and heavier repairs to engines, the increase of 4,03 under Carriage and Wagon was due chiefly to the erection of rolling stock, the cost of which was charged to Revenue; the increase under Traffic was due to additional staff employed principally for the Branch lines, while the increase under General, Miscellaneous and Suspense was due chiefly to the purchase of a flat. Compared with the Budget Estimate the excesses were due, generally, to the same causes, the decrease under Locomotive being due to the charges for repairs to and renewals of Engines not having been as large as was expected.

225. The new agreement with the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway Company for working the Rajputana-Malwa Railway having come into force from 1st July 1900, the working expenses as shown above are made up of actual outlay on the Rajputana-Malwa Railway for three months and a proportion of the gross working expenses of the combined system for nine months. No useful comparison with the figures of the previous year and the Budget Estimate can, therefore, be made unless the sum of 10.70 representing the difference between actual working expenses and the share debited on the percentage basis is excluded. Excluding this sum the balance is 1,35.44, which is more than the actuals of the previous year by 6.14, due chiefly to higher rates paid for coal and oil and to heavier repairs and renewals of vehicles; and is 20.11 in excess of the Budget grant which is attributable to the gross receipts having improved on the Budget anticipations of traffic by nearly 50 lakhs. Compared with the Revised Estimate there was an excess, which occurred under all heads, of 5.64, due chiefly to a larger proportion of working expenses being chargeable to the Rajputana-Malwa Railway owing to the earnings having exceeded the estimate.

226. Compared with the actuals of the previous year there was a net decrease in working expenses of 64, only. Under Locomotive the decrease of 0.11 was due chiefly to less consumption of fuel consequent on diminished train mileage, while the increase of 3.99 under Carriage and Wagon was due to earlier renewal of rolling stock. Compared with the Budget Estimate lapses occurred under all heads and aggregated 10.36. These lapses are attributable chiefly to the serious decline in the export of wheat and Karachi owing to famine.

257. Compared with the actuals of the previous year, the increase of 1,94 under Maintenance was due chiefly to the opening of the Ghaziabad-Moradabad Railway, to heavy outlay on re-modelling the Lucknow station and to increased cost of the Engineer-in-Chief's staff. The increase of 7,07 under Locomotive was due chiefly to the renewal of ten locomotives and to the increased cost of coal. The decrease of 1,91 under Carriage and Wagon was due to practically no renewals of vehicles having been undertaken during the year. The increase of 1,23 under Traffic was due mainly to the opening of the Ghaziabad-Moradabad Railway and the appointment of a Deputy Traffic Superintendent. Compared with the Budget Estimate the excess of 4,76 was due chiefly to more extensive renewal of locomotives than was at first intended. The only important variation from the Revised Estimate was an excess of 1,28 under Maintenance, due entirely to heavier outlay consequent on the increased price of English materials.

229. Compared with the actuals of the previous year and with the Budget Estimate, there were increases under all heads except Locomotive, due, generally, to increased mileage open and to development of traffic. The large increase under Share of net earnings, etc., was due chiefly to the balance of the Company's share of net earnings for the half-year ended December 1899 having been paid during the year and to a special ad interim payment to the Company of Rs. 3,50 on account of their claim in respect of the "Buxa lines."

231. The increases over the actuals of the previous year and the Budget Estimate were due chiefly to heavier renewals of sleepers, payment of compensation for dearness of grain, reconstruction of two bridges on the Poona Branch, extra train mileage worked, heavier expenditure on repairs and renewals and to the substitution of stronger wheels and axles to a larger number of goods wagons.

232. Compared with the actuals of the previous year, there were no important variations. Compared with the Budget Estimate, the lapse of 1,32 under Locomotive was due to a smaller staff having been employed, and to a smaller consumption of oil and fuel consequent on reduced train mileage; the lapse of 78 under Traffic was due to the employment of a smaller staff than was estimated for, while the excess of 99 under Share of Surplus Profits, etc., followed on the increased net earnings of the line.

233. The increase under Maintenance was due chiefly to relaying a part of the Irrawaddy Section with heavier rails, and to outlay on repairing bridges and earthwork damaged by floods. Under Locomotive the increase was due chiefly to increased train mileage worked, to the higher paid staff employed, and to heavy consumption of fuel by American engines working on the Ghat Section of the Mandalay-Kunlong Railway. The enhanced cost of fuel and extra repairs to Locomotive stock also contributed in some measure to the increase under this head. The increases under Carriage and Wagon and Traffic were due respectively to the more extensive repairs to vehicles and the appointment of a larger staff consequent on the opening of new sections of the Railway, and also to the larger train mileage run. The same causes, generally, account for the variations as compared with the Budget Estimate.

Compared with the Budget Estimate which was framed on a consideration of the actuals of the previous year when the line was a guaranteed one, the lapse of 7 under Maintenance was due chiefly to the smaller issue of permanent-way material, the lapse of 8 under Carriage and Wagon was due to completion of the operations in connection with the replacement of Cammell's axles, and the lapse of 11,04 under General, Miscellaneous and Suspense chiefly fluctuations in Suspense for which provision was not made in the Estimate.

The figures under "India" represent interest on the expenditure incurred in India on the extensions of the Bengal-Nagpur and Indian Midland Railways, which is met from rupee advances; and interest on advances made to the Rohilkhand Railway Company in excess of the Capital raised for the Lucknow-Bareilly line. 240. The increase in the payments in England over the actuals of the previous year occurred on the Assam-Bengal, Bengal-Nagpur, Burma, East Indian and Great Indian Peninsula Railways consequent on additional capital paid up by the Companies. The decrease on the Indian Midland Railway was due chiefly to £750,000 Indian Midland Railway Stock having been exchanged for £825,000 Great Indian Peninsula Railway New Stock under the terms of the Contract with the latter Company.

241. The decrease as compared with the actuals of the previous year was due chiefly to the shares of surplus profits earned by the Great Indian Peninsula and Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railways during the first-half of 1900 having been smaller than those of the first-half of 1899, and to the payment of the share of surplus profits earned by the latter railway during the second-half of 1900 not having been made before the close of the year under review. Contrasted with the Budget Estimate, there was an excess of 61, made up of an increase of 13,22 due to the large improvement in traffic on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway during the first three months of the year, less a lapse of 12,61 due to non-payment of surplus profits of the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway for the second-half of 1900 as explained above.

Land and Supervision.

242. The decrease as compared with the previous year's actuals was due to smaller outlay on the acquisition of land for the Madras and Great Indian Peninsula Railway Extensions owing to the approaching completion of these lines, and to larger recoveries from companies' lines for Government Supervision and Control. The lapse as compared with the Budget Estimate was due mainly to the same causes.

243. Compared with the actuals of the previous year, there was a net decrease of 3,11, the result of increases aggregating 1,07 and decreases amounting to 4,18. The only important increases were 60 on the Sabarmati-Dholka Railway and 40 on the Nilgiri Railway, the latter due to the payment to the Company of subsidy during the year as against nothing paid on this account during the previous year. The principal decreases were 1,78 on the Bengal and North-Western Railway, 88 on the Mymensing-Jamalpur Railway, 40 on the Bengal-Dooars Railway, and 37 on the Brahmaputra-Sultanpur Railway, due to land acquisition operations on these lines having been practically completed. There was also a decrease of 38 in the amount of subsidy paid during the year to the Dibru-Sadiya Railway Company. Compared with the Budget Estimate the lapse was due chiefly to amounts set down for the Kalka-Simla, Bezawada-Masulipatam, Chandipur-Taki, Amritsar-Tarn Taran-Sarhali, Karnool Branch, Tilagaon-Sylhet and Akhaura-Bhairab Bazaar Railways not having been utilized, and to less land having been acquired for the Bengal-Dooars, Brahmaputra-Sultanpur, Bengal and North-Western and South Behar Railways than was provided for.

247. The final net result of the year was better than the actuals of the previous year by R14,88 or £99,2, and than the Budget Estimate by R19,48 or £129,8. This was due partly to the development of irrigation from the Chenab canal and the opening of the Jamrao canal, and partly to an increase of revenue from Major Works owing to the seasons having been favourable for canal irrigation on account of scanty rainfall. The deficiency, as compared with the Revised Estimate, was principally due to outstanding balances of water-rates in the Punjab and Bombay owing to famine and to the debit to Minor Works and Navigation of outlay on famine relief works, reckoned at ordinary rates.

248. The actual receipts in 1900-1901 were better than those of the previous year by R23,41 or £155,0 and the Budget Estimate by R22,45 or £149,7. The increase was due to the development of irrigation from the Chenab canal, the opening out of the Jamrao canal and the irrigation of a larger area in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, the Punjab and Madras, owing to scanty rainfall. The short realization of R8,69 or £58,0, as compared with the Revised Estimate, was mainly due to outstanding balances in the Punjab and Bombay on account of famine.

Direct Receipts—Imperial Works.

249. The gross revenue in 1900-1901 was better than that of the previous year by R8,56. The increase was mainly due to the development of irrigation from the Chenab and Western Jumna canals. Owing to this cause, as well as to the irrigation of a larger area by the canals in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh and the Punjab, the Budget Estimate was also exceeded by R11,74. The short realization of R10,22, as compared with the Revised Estimate, was mainly due to large outstanding balances in the Punjab and Bombay owing to famine, and also to the receipts from the canals in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh having been somewhat over-estimated in the Revised Estimate.

Direct Receipts—Provincial Works.

250. The gross revenue in 1900-1901 exceeded that of the previous year by R2,37, and the Budget Estimate by R5,23. The increase occurred chiefly in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, and was due to a larger demand for canal water owing to scanty rainfall.

251. The increase of R11,83 in the revenue during 1900-1901 over that of the previous year was due partly to the development of irrigation from the Chenab canal in the Punjab and the opening out of the Jamrao canal in Bombay, and partly to the favourable character of the seasons in Madras. The Budget Estimate was prepared for a sum of R1,06,71; but owing to an expected increase of revenue from the Chenab and Jamrao canals the Revised Estimate was placed at R1,09,59, against which the actuals amounted to R1,12,36. The increase occurred in Madras and Bombay. The increase in Madras is said to be nominal, and is explained to be due to a wrong classification of a large area of irrigated land in the previous year's accounts. In Bombay the increase of revenue from the Jamrao canal was larger than anticipated.

252. The actual collections of the year were better than those of the previous year by R72. The increase was mainly due to the abolition of the Chher system and the introduction of water-rates on certain canals in the Lower Sutlej and Chenab Inundation canals series. The Budget Estimate of revenue under this head was prepared for R7,67. It was increased to R8,77 in the Revised estimate owing to an expected increase of revenue from the Upper Sutlej Inundation canals; but owing to large outstanding balances of water-rates in the Punjab in consequence of famine the actuals fell short of the Revised Estimate by R1,45.

Provincial and Local Works.

253. The receipts during 1900-1901 were on the whole less than those of the previous year by R7. The falling off of R87 in Burma was due to refunds of certain excess recoveries in the previous year. The increase of R68 in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh was due to scanty rainfall. The increase in the Punjab was due to an improvement in the revenue from the minor canals in charge of Civil officers. The Budget Estimate was prepared for R15,82; but owing to a larger area having been irrigated by the canals in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh than was anticipated at the time the Budget Estimate was prepared, the Revised Estimate was placed at R16,14, against which the actuals have amounted to R16,00.

254. The increase of R8,63 or £57,5 in the expenditure in India during 1900-1901 over that of the previous year was due partly to increased cost of working and maintenance, resulting from the expansion of irrigation, partly to the interest charges on the additional capital outlay, and partly to a larger expenditure on minor works. The excess expenditure of R3,04 or £20,4, as compared with the Budget Estimate, was due mainly to remodelling works in the Punjab, to repairs of flood damages to canals in Madras, and to the charge to this head, at normal rates, of expenditure on famine relief works.

Imperial Works.

255. The expenditure in 1900-1901 exceeded that of the previous year by R2,46, and the Budget Estimate by R4,02. The increase was due to heavy maintenance charges of the Chenab canal owing to extension of irrigation, to repairs of flood damages to canals in Madras, and to increased collection charges necessitated by increased revenue. The excess was covered by additional grants aggregating R4,64 sanctioned by the Government of India.

Provincial Works.

256. The increase in the expenditure, as compared with the actuals of the previous year and the Budget Estimate, occurred in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, and was due to the completion of the re-modelling of certain distributaries and to a smaller share of establishment charges having been debited to "49—Irrigation" in consequence of a smaller outlay on works under that head. There was also an increase in the collection charges owing to the increase in revenue. In Bengal there was a decrease of R1,19 in the expenditure during 1900-1901 as compared with that of 1899-1900. It was due to a smaller outlay on maintenance and repairs of the Orissa and Midnapur canals. There was an excess of 1,87 in the North-Western Provinces, of which 1,42 were sanctioned by the Local Government, and 45 still require to be sanctioned.

258. The expenditure during 1900-1901 was less than that of the previous year by ₹1,01. The decrease was due to the adjustments of the normal cost on famine relief works during 1900-1901 not being so heavy as in the previous year. The excess over the Budget and Revised Estimates under India and in Bombay was due to the transfer to this head of the expenditure incurred by famine labour in connection with revenue-producing works in Rajputana and Bombay, reckoned at ordinary rates. The excess expenditure of ₹76 over the Budget Estimate in the Punjab was due to the expenditure on surveys in connection with the Lower Bari Doab canal, for which an additional grant of ₹1,37 was sanctioned by the Government of India. This amount was not however fully utilized. The excess under Imperial was covered by additional grants and re-appropriations sanctioned during the year.

Provincial and Local works.

259. The expenditure in 1900-1901 exceeded that of the previous year by ₹2,30. The increase occurred chiefly in Bengal and Madras. The increase in Bengal was due to a large expenditure having been incurred on the improvement of the Bheel route in Madaripore. The increase in Madras was due to repairs of flood damages in the Godavari district, the construction of certain urgent works on the Chopaud tank, and the continuance, as ordinary works, of some of the test works undertaken during the recent famine. The Budget Estimate of the year was prepared for a sum of ₹74,42; but as the grants allotted for the works in Burma, Bengal and the North-Western Provinces and Oudh proved excessive, and as some provision had to be made for repairing the flood damages and for other works in Madras mentioned above, the estimate was reduced by a net amount of ₹4,83, placing the Revised Estimate at ₹69,59, against which the actuals amounted to ₹69,53.

A.—Public Works in charge of Departmental Officers. B.—Public Works in charge of Civil Officers.

Imperial Works.

262. The differences under this head are unimportant.

Provincial Works.

263. The receipts by Departmental Officers during 1900-1901 exceeded those of the previous year by ₹94. The increase occurred chiefly in Burma and the North-Western Provinces and Oudh. The increase in Burma was mainly due to an improvement in rents of buildings and to the recovery of ₹20 from the Mandalay Municipality as the first instalment due to Government on account of the original cost of the town embankment. The increase in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh was due to an improvement in the rents of buildings and ferry receipts owing to the transfer of ferries on Provincial roads from the Civil to the Public Works Department. The increase over the Budget Estimate was due partly to an increase in the receipts in Burma as explained above and partly to larger profits from the Darjeeling-Himalayan Railway in Bengal.

264. The revenue realized by Civil Officers in 1900-1901 fell short of that of the previous year by ₹5,06. The decrease occurred chiefly in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh and was due to the transfer of ferries on Provincial roads from the Civil to the Public Works Department and those on Local fund roads to the management of District Boards. The decrease in the Punjab was mainly due to the sale of lands and houses not being so large as in the previous year. The Budget Estimate for 1900-1901 was prepared for ₹7,67; but owing to a fall in the ferry receipts in Bengal and the transfer of the receipts connected with Nazul lands and buildings from this head to "XXV.—Miscellaneous," the Revised Estimate was placed at ₹7,28, against which the actuals amounted to ₹7,19.

Local Works.

265. The revenue realized by Civil Officers exceeded that of the previous year by ₹6,82. The increase was mainly due to the transfer to this head of ferry receipts on Local fund roads in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh and of sale-proceeds of avenue clippings, etc., in Madras. The increase over the Budget and Revised Estimates was due chiefly to the sale-proceeds of avenue clippings in Madras having been transferred to this head from "XXV.—Miscellaneous," and partly to improved ferry tolls, arboricultural and miscellaneous receipts in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh.

266. The expenditure in India during 1900-1901 was less than that of the previous year by R11,71 or £78,0. The decrease was mainly due to a smaller expenditure on Military buildings in the North-West Frontier and Gilgit and Chitral. In the Budget Estimate the requirements for several works were over-estimated.

267. The expenditure in India during 1900-1901 was less than that of the previous year by R9,44. The decrease was mainly due to a smaller grant having been made available for expenditure on works in the North-West Frontier and in Gilgit and Chitral. In Burma, Assam and Bengal the requirements of the year 1900-1901 were fewer than those of the previous year. The increase in the Punjab was due to the expenditure incurred on certain new works sanctioned by the Government of India during the year 1900-1901.

268. The excess expenditure over the total Budget Estimate was due to the grants for Expenditure in England having been under-estimated, whilst in the Revised Estimate the requirements for works in charge of the Director General of Military Works Services were under-estimated.

Imperial Works.

269. Departmental Officers.—The expenditure in 1900-1901 exceeded that of the previous year by R4,40. The increase was due to larger grants having been assigned in 1900-1901 for the construction and purchase of buildings than in the previous year, and to the payment of a contribution to the Simla Municipality for the Simla extension scheme. The actuals of the year were R1,69 less than the Budget Estimate, due mainly to the temporary credit to Miscellaneous Advances, pending adjustment in next year's accounts, of R1,38 on account of the value of Ordnance Stores for the B. L. Siege Train at Roorkee.

Provincial Works.

270. Departmental Officers.—Compared with the actuals of 1899-1900, the expenditure in 1900-1901 shows a decrease of R74. It is the net result of an increased expenditure in the Central Provinces Burma and Bombay, and of a smaller expenditure in most of the other Provinces. The increase in the Central Provinces was due to larger establishment charges on account of famine. In Burma a larger grant was made available by the Local Government for expenditure in 1900-1901 than in the previous year. The increase in Bombay is attributed to larger requirements of the year. The decrease of R7,33 in Assam was due to less expenditure having been incurred in 1900-1901 on the restoration of earthquake damages than in the previous year, as the works concerned were approaching completion. The decrease of R2,46 in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh was mainly due to the completion in 1899-1900 of the new Government house at Naini Tal, whilst that in the Punjab was due to the restriction of expenditure owing to famine. The decrease in Madras was due to the completion of works for which large grants had been assigned in the previous year, and to contribution works bearing a larger proportion of the Establishment charges.

271. The Budget Estimate of the year was prepared for a grant of R2,70,54. Owing to certain additional grants sanctioned by the Local Administration of Assam and the Governments of Bengal and the Punjab, the Revised Estimate was raised to R2,74,98, against which the actuals have amounted to R2,67,98. The decrease was due to the requirements for the year having been over-estimated in Burma, and the North-Western Provinces and Oudh.

272. Civil Officers.—The expenditure in 1900-1901 was less than that of the previous year by R3,51. The decrease was due to larger contributions having been granted in 1899-1900 to Municipalities in Madras for water-supply projects and for other works in Bengal. The decrease of R1,27, as compared with the Budget Estimate, occurred chiefly in Bengal and the Punjab. The decrease in Bengal was due to the non-payment of a grant to the Patna Municipality for a new hospital building, while in the Punjab the requirements of the year were over-estimated.

Section K.—OTHER PUBLIC WORKS.—EXPENDITURE—concluded.Local Works.

273. Departmental Officers.—The expenditure in 1900-1901 shows a decrease of Rs. 6,79 as compared with the actuals of 1899-1900. The decrease occurred in the Punjab and Bombay. The decrease in the Punjab was due to the transfer of the audit of the District Board outlay to the Civil Department. The decrease in Bombay is attributed to the crippled state of District finances. The small increases in the expenditure in Burma and Assam were due to larger grants having been allotted by the District Boards. In the Budget Estimate the requirements for the works in Burma, Assam, the North-Western Provinces and Oudh and Bombay were over-estimated, while the expenditure in the Central Provinces was curtailed owing to financial difficulties of the District Boards. The increase in the expenditure over the Budget and Revised Estimates in the Punjab was due to the transfer to this head of the normal cost of certain bunds carried out as famine relief works.

274. Civil Officers.—The increase in the expenditure during 1900-1901 over that of the previous year was mainly due to the transfer of the audit of the District Board outlay in the Punjab from the Public Works Department. The lapses from the Budget and Revised Estimates were due to the full programme of works not being carried out and to restriction of outlay in Madras to provide funds for famine relief works.

276. The lapse on the Jorhat Railway, as compared with the Budget and Revised Estimates, was due to stores expected from England not having been received during the year, and to the provision in the Estimates for rolling-stock not having been fully utilized. As regards the lapse on the Mayavaram Mutupet Railway, the District Board of Tanjore having raised sufficient debenture capital to cover the outlay of the year, the entire outlay of the year has been accounted for under the head "Capital of Local Boards."

278. The receipts in India exceeded the Budget Estimate and the actuals of the preceding year by R18,54 or £123,6, and R22,26 or £148,4, respectively. Compared with the Budget the improvement was due chiefly to the sale of machinery belonging to the Gunpowder Factory at Kirkee, and to His Majesty's Imperial Government having been debited with the cost of European stores issued from stock to the China Expeditionary Force, as also of the complement of animals sent, in excess of the ordinary peace equipment, with corps and batteries that formed part of the Force. The improvement would have been greater but for the decrease in the sales of Commissariat provisions and stores, malt liquor and rum, owing partly to the absence of a large number of British troops on service in South Africa for the whole year, instead of six months as was anticipated in the Budget. Compared with the actuals of last year, the excess was due chiefly to the credits taken for stores and horses sent to China.

279. The receipts in England were less than the Budget Estimate by £10,5, owing chiefly decrease in the value of articles in possession of Regiments on their transfer from the to the British Establishment.

	36,12	38,99

282. The excess under Special Charges was mainly due to charges in connection with the Blockade of the Mahsud Waziris, for which no provision had been made in the Budget. There was increased expenditure also under Tochi Garrison, due chiefly to a rise in prices of food supplies, to a revision of the scale of clothing, and to measures taken for the coercion of the Madda Khels. These excesses were partly counterbalanced by less charges under Kohat-Kurram Force and Occupation of Chitral and its Communications, the decrease under the first head having been due to smaller payments of full field service concessions, and that under the second head, to less expenditure for warm clothing, to the withdrawal of certain concessions on the troops being housed, and to an over-estimate of prices of food supplies.

283. The details of the reduction of 1,39,00 in the ordinary expenditure, as compared with the Budget, are shown by the following figures :—

284. The main causes of the above savings are given below :—

(1) Absence of British troops in South Africa on service for the whole year, instead of six months as was anticipated in the Budget, and in China for a part of the year, which caused large savings in pay and subsistence charges, the entire cost of the Forces having been borne by His Majesty's Imperial Government. These savings were augmented by the difference between the credits taken for issue of local stores and the cost of replacement thereof to the extent required; and, in the case of China, also of animals required to replace those sent in excess of the peace complement of corps and batteries proceeded to that country	1,10,45
(2) Deputation of officers and others to the Civil Department on plague duty	1,66
(3) Lapse of the whole or a portion of the special provisions made in the Budget on account of—
Addition of 92 officers to the Staff Corps	4,00
Improvement of the artillery	3,25
Conversion of heavy field batteries into howitzer batteries	4,94
Improvement of Commissariat-Transport arrangements	4,01
Purchase and maintenance of additional mules	6,00
Grant of revised rates of pensions to widows and families of departmental officers with honorary rank and of those of warrant officers	70
	<hr/> 22,90
(4) Less expenditure for food supplies and messing allowance	19,50
(5) Fewer movements of troops by rail, owing to the suspension of home reliefs in consequence of the war in South Africa and to the curtailment of Indian reliefs in consequence of famine and plague	6 00
(6) Purchase of fewer young stock (remounts) and ordnance mules	2,65
(7) Smaller expenditure on the re-armament of the native army	3,93
	<hr/> 1,57,10

285. The more important excesses were :—

(1) Larger purchases of malt liquor and warm clothing	3,29
(2) Additional grants-in-aid to Cantonment Funds	1,19
(3) Improvement of the equipment of the field artillery in India	1,36
(4) Larger purchases of local stores for factories	2,50
(5) Deduction made in the Indian Estimates to adjust excess provision in the Home Estimates, against which expenditure was incurred in India	4,25
(6) More sea transport charges, due chiefly to the cost of chartering certain vessels as transports to convey details to England	12,00
(7) More charges under "Miscellaneous Services," due chiefly to the employment of officers on special duties, to larger grants for purchase of land, to more charges for telegrams issued on the debit-note system, and to an extra grant for camps of exercise	6,50

286. The Grant heads, under which the expenditure exceeded the Budget, were :—

Sea Transport charges	11,63
Miscellaneous Services	11,79
Volunteer Corps	73
Military Pensions to Natives	51

These excesses still require the sanction of the Government of India.

There was a saving of 2,08 under Exchange Compensation Allowance.

287. As compared with the preceding year, there were decreases of 18,26 and 8,85 respectively under Special Charges and Other Charges. Under the former the decrease was due principally to no charges having been incurred on account of the Khyber Force and Moveable Column (10,72) and Keng-tung Garrison (1,08), and to less charges on account of Occupation of Chitral and its Communications (5,48), Kohat-Kurram Force (2,72), Mishmi Expedition (2,02), and North-West Frontier Field Operations (2,06), partly counterbalanced by charges on account of Blockade of the Mahsud Waziris (5,32). Under the latter there was a heavy decrease of 66,17 in Regimental pay, caused by the absence of troops in China for a portion of the year, and in South Africa for 6 months longer than in last year. But, on the other hand, there were increases of 21,25 under Commissariat, 26,46 under Remount, and 5,21 under Miscellaneous. The increase in Commissariat occurred principally under Compensation to Native Troops for dearness of provisions and forage, and that in Remount was due chiefly to the replacement of horses sent to South Africa last year. The excess in Miscellaneous was spread over various items.

288. The expenditure in England showed a saving over the Budget of 268,4, chiefly under Effective Charges. The saving was due chiefly to the dislocation of arrangements regarding Indian reliefs in consequence of the despatch of troops to South Africa.

289. The total receipts in India during the year were more than the Budget Estimates by 18,54. Of this a large portion was purely fortuitous, representing merely the value of stores, etc., sent to South Africa and China and debited to His Majesty's Imperial Government. The improvement was spread over almost all the heads, and the principal variations are noted below.

290. Under Commissariat Establishments, etc., there were increases of 11,04 on account of the issue of stores to South Africa, China and Jubaland, and the despatch of transport mules to China, and of 65 in Khedda receipts, and a decrease of 5,20 by smaller sales of provisions and stores, malt liquor and rum, partly in consequence of the absence of troops in South Africa for the whole year instead of half the year as anticipated, and partly also in consequence of smaller demands. Under Remounts there was a credit of 3,04 for the value of horses sent to China, but this was reduced by smaller credits than budgetted for on account of the price of horses sent to South Africa. Under Clothing the sale-proceeds of clothing and necessaries were smaller than anticipated (2,27), but this decrease was more than made up of by credits for the value of stores issued to South Africa and China (2,95). The increase in Medical was due to the cause last mentioned (1,78). Under Ordnance there were, in addition to large credits for the value of Europe stores issued from stock to China, larger issues, than were anticipated, to the Police Department, and a special receipt of 70 by the sale of machinery from the Gunpowder Factory at Kirkee. The increase under Sea Transport charges was due to larger recoveries of table money than were anticipated (27). Under Miscellaneous there was a special recovery of 28 on account of Blockade of the Mahsud Waziris, for which there was no provision in the Budget; this was further supplemented by larger confiscations of security deposits of contractors (14). The contributions to Widows' Pensions, etc., were larger than were anticipated.

291. The receipts in England were however less than the Budget by £10.5. Under Effective Services there was a decrease of £16,8 in the value of articles in possession of regiments on their transfer from the Indian to the British Establishment, etc., counterbalanced by a credit of £7.4 in respect of the Indian Troop Service, the receipts under which were in the Budget deducted from payments. The decrease under Non-Effective Services was in Indian Military Service Family Pension subscriptions owing to the absence of fewer Military Officers in England on furlough.

292. The saving of 29 under this head, as compared with the Budget, was due to less payments of salaries (76), owing chiefly to the absence of officers on furlough and on field service in South Africa and China, to vacancies, and to savings in clerical establishments; to less tour expenses (26) of the Commander-in-Chief and the Lieutenant-Generals Commanding the Forces; and to less charges on account of the Occupation of Chitral and the Tochi Garrison (33), due chiefly to abolition and reduction of appointments. These savings were partly counterbalanced by an excess expenditure (1,18) under District Commands and Garrison and Station Staff, chiefly on account of heavy telegram charges and the formation of the Derajat District Command.

294 The large decrease under this grant, as compared with the Budget, was due chiefly to the absence of British troops in South Africa on service for the whole year instead of 6 months; to the absence of troops in China and Jubaland for a part of the year; to the deputation of officers to the Civil Department on plague duty; to less payments of Exchange Compensation Allowance; to the partial lapse of the provision made in the Budget for improvement in the organization of horse artillery and field batteries and of additional establishments for mountain batteries; and to the provision made in the Budget for an addition of 92 officers to the Staff Corps not having been required. The decrease, as compared with the actuals of last year, was due chiefly to the absence of certain batteries in China and Jubaland for a part of the year, and of certain regiments in South Africa for the whole year instead of half the year as in 1899-1900, to the absence of three Madras Native Infantry regiments in the Colonies for a longer period than in that year, to less expenditure in the construction of Native Infantry lines in the Punjab and Bengal Commands, and to less charges on account of Occupation of Chitral and its Communications owing to the withdrawal of certain concessions.

3,57,38	TOTAL	3,86,70	3,29,82	3,29,49

296. Under Artillery the decrease was due partly to less charges for salaries and allowances owing to the absence of troops in South Africa and China, and partly to the Budget provision for improvement in organization of horse artillery and field batteries and for additional establishments for mountain batteries not having been used in full. Under Cavalry the whole of the savings was due to the absence of regiments in South Africa. Under Infantry the South African and China wars caused a saving in salaries and allowances of 24,76, which was partly counterbalanced by the detention in India of long service and time-expired men. The saving in Staff Corps was due chiefly to the provision of 4,00 in the Budget on account of the addition of 92 officers to the corps not having been used. Under Other Charges there were increases of 20 in Kit-money for Recruits, due chiefly to the augmentation of the authorized strength of Mountain batteries and to the classification of harbour and coast defence lascars as fighting-men, and of 10 for repairing the lines of the Royal Artillery syces at Kirkee. On the other hand, there were decreases of 9 in Sub-Marine Mining, 5 in Batta, of 11 in Postage charges, and of 9 in Incidental Expenses.

Regimental Pay—concluded.

298. Under Native Army there were important variations in all the heads, the largest being under Infantry and Cavalry. Under the former there was a total saving over the Budget of 19,50 in the pay of officers and establishments, of 55 in Exchange Compensation Allowance, of 1,78 in Command, Staff and horse allowances, of 1,31 in good-conduct pay, of 23 in prizes for skill-at-arms, and of 15 in contract allowances, due to the absence of troops in China and Jubaland. There were further savings of 1,00 by the deputation of military officers to the Civil Department on plague duty, and of 1,90 by the depot charges of the regiment serving at Mauritius having been borne by the Imperial Government. Under the latter there were savings of 8,44 by the absence of officers and troops in South Africa, China, and Jubaland, and of 32 by the deputation of military officers on plague duty. The decreases under Sappers and Miners, Annual Grant-in-aid of half-mounting, and Hutting-money were occasioned chiefly by the absence of troops on service in China. That under Reserve Forces was due chiefly to the fact that reservists were not called out for training owing to the plague, and so continued to receive reserve pay instead of full pay allowed for the month of training.

299. The only heads which showed a noticeable increase of expenditure were Artillery, Kit-money for Recruits and Incidental charges. The increases of 27 under Artillery and 71 under Kit money were due chiefly to the formation of an additional Native mountain battery and to augmentation of the authorized establishments of the existing mountain batteries. The latter was enhanced by the creation of 3 additional regiments of Native Infantry, while heavy telegram charges, amounting to 25, increased Incidental Expenses.

300. The decreases under this head were chiefly due to the absence of certain British corps and batteries of artillery, and of certain Commissariat officers and establishments in South Africa, on service for the whole year, instead of 6 months; to the absence of troops in China and Jubaland on service, to the partial lapse of the special provision made in the Budget for improvement of Commissariat transport arrangements, to short strength of cattle; to a fall in prices of food supplies for men; to less movements due to the stoppage of home reliefs, owing to the war in South Africa, and to the curtailment of Indian reliefs, owing to famine and plague; to less charges for grass cultivation; to savings in feed charges of horses and mules sent to South Africa and China; to the lapse of a portion of the provisions made in the Budget for the replacement of fodder issued from the reserve to South Africa, and for the purchase, feed, and keep of 2,000 mules, sanctioned as a temporary increase to the authorized complement; and to credits received from the Imperial Government on account of local stores issued from stock to South Africa and China. These decreases were partly counterbalanced by increases due to high prices of grain and fodder for animals; large purchases of malt liquor and warm clothing; more charges for conveyance of troops and stores by water and by hired transport; and to replacement of stores sent to South Africa and China, and of animals sent to China.

301. The details of the expenditure under Establishment are given below.—

50,86	TOTAL	64,51	54 00	51,32

302. The large reduction under Executive Establishment was due to the lapse by 9,01 of a provision made in the Budget for improvement of Commissariat transport arrangements, and to savings in salaries, etc. (2,65), owing chiefly to the absence of officers and establishments in South Africa, China, and Jubaland, and on furlough. Under Subordinate Establishment the chief saving was in charges for cattle establishment (1,46), due to the absence of transport animals in China, and to a deficiency in the complement of cattle maintained at several stations. A short strength of bearers resulted in a decrease of expenditure under Ambulance Transport. The increase of 28 under Khedda Establishment was due chiefly to the payment of arrear charges, and to the employment of temporary establishments to a larger extent than was anticipated.

303. Under Supplies the details are as follows :—

304. Under Provisions for Europeans, charges for messing allowance and for supply of bread, meat, and other rations, and miscellaneous expenses were less than the Budget by 12,62, owing chiefly to the absence of troops in South Africa and China. A fall in prices of food supplies caused a further reduction of 6,44. Under Malt Liquor purchased locally there was a saving of 6,15 due to the first cause mentioned above, but this was reduced by larger purchases than were anticipated. Under Compensation to Natives there was a saving of 2,85 under Dearness of Provisions, owing chiefly to the absence of troops in South Africa, China, and Jubaland, and an increase of 1,74 under Dearness of Forage, due to the scarcity of forage in certain provinces. The excess under Purchase of Reserve Stock was caused chiefly by the renewal of reserve stores in forts and fortresses. The credit under Value of Supplies to Other Departments represents the value of local stores issued from stock to South Africa, China, and Jubaland debited to His Majesty's Imperial Government.

305. Under Services the following details are supplied :—

for the conveyance of European and Native troops; that under Sea and Inland Water Charges, to movements of Native troops by water, and to large consignments of Commissariat and Ordnance stores. The saving under Railway Charges, was due to the suspension of home reliefs in consequence of war in South Africa, to the curtailment of Indian reliefs owing to famine and plague, and to the absence of troops in China, partly counterbalanced by an increase in charges for conveyance of Commissariat and Ordnance stores. Under Grass Cultivation, no expenditure was incurred for the training of British Officers at Allahabad in grass and dairy farm work; while the employment of fewer temporary men less harvesting added to the saving. The decrease under Feed of Horses, etc., was due chiefly to the absence of troops in South Africa and China, and would have been more but for higher prices of grain and fodder. The increase under Implements, etc., was partly in godown furniture, owing to replacement of stores despatched to South Africa and China, and partly in the purchase of a stock of packing materials for issue to field forces. Under Other Heads there were heavy charges under Miscellaneous for the replacement of warm clothing despatched to South Africa and China, and large purchases for stock purposes, reduced in some measure by the partial lapse of the provision in the Budget under Reserves of Fodder for the replacement of fodder sent to South Africa.

307. The details of the charges in the Transport Branch are as follows :—

34.99	Depôt and Regimental	52.30	52.31	49.72
39	Ambulance Transport	54	48	60
35.58	TOTAL	52.84	52.79	50.32

308. Under Depôt and Regimental there were savings over the Budget by the partial lapse of the provision made therein for the purchase and maintenance of 2,000 mules as a temporary increase to authorized complement, by the absence of transport animals in China and by a deficiency in the complement of cattle maintained at several stations. Against these savings there was increased expenditure on account of the replacement of gear and uniform clothing sent to South Africa and China, on account of the purchase of mules in replacement of those sent to China, and on account of higher rates for grain and fodder. The excess over the last year's figure was due to the causes last mentioned.

309. Under Station Veterinary Hospitals the saving was due chiefly to short strength of staff and to the absence of a few in South Africa and China (66). The expenditure of 3.41 for Temporary Remount Depôts at Umballa and Bangalore was met from savings under Grant 4—Commissariat, as there was no provision for it in the Budget. Under Purchase of Remounts the large saving of 5.11 was due chiefly to the lapse of the special provision of 6.28 made in the Budget for horse conversion of heavy field batteries into howitzer batteries, and to purchase of fewer young stock mules, partly counterbalanced by the purchase of additional horses sanctioned for the artillery and higher prices of Australian horses. The increase under this head, as compared with the actual year, was due to the replacement of horses sent to South Africa in 1899-1900. Under Purchase of Cattle and Remounts the saving of .06 was due partly to an over-estimate, and partly to the

310. Under Supplies and Services—Factories, the increase over the Budget was due to larger local purchases for the replacement of stores sent to South Africa (1,04) and China (2,48), partly counter-balanced by savings due to the absence of troops in South Africa (1,05), to smaller purchases of helmets and khaki covers (57) and to less clothing charges (84). The decrease of 70 under Regimental was the net result of a diminution in clothing charges at head-quarters of regiments (1,20), owing chiefly to the suspension of home reliefs in consequence of the war in South Africa, and of an increase in these charges for reserve forces (50), due to a larger number of men having been transferred to the reserve. The excess (1,34) under Compensation in lieu of Clothing represents full compensation sanctioned and drawn for time-expired men who had not completed 13 or 22 years' service. The credit under Value of Stores supplied to Other Departments was due to the adjustment of the value of local stores issued from stock to South Africa (1,43) and China (2,29).

The most noticeable decreases occurred under Subordinate Establishments and Barrack Bedding, the particular heads affected being Conservancy and Punkha-pulling establishments under the former, and purchase and repair of bedding under the latter.

313. The large decrease under Medical Establishment—Districts was due to sayings in salaries, owing to the absence of officers and subordinates on field service in South Africa (1,63) and China (63), the deputation of officers and others to the Civil Department on plague duty (25), and to short strength of officers. The deduction made in the Budget for probable ordinary savings also proved insufficient. Under Sanitation of Cantonments, etc., special grants amounting to 1,19 were paid in aid of Cantonment Funds, and 95 was transferred from the Public Works to the Military Estimates for the erection and equipment of new hospitals. On the other hand, the special provision of 2,31 made in the Budget for the re-establishment of cantonment hospitals was not fully utilized. The absence of troops in South Africa and China, and a decrease in the number of hospital patients, reduced the charges for diet and medical comforts recorded under Medical Supplies, but this was to a certain extent counterbalanced by the replacement of medical stores sent to China. The excess deduction under Issues to other Departments was due chiefly to the adjustment of the value of local stores despatched to China (2,63).

bers of M. L. M. arms for issue to the Native Army. The increase under Factories was caused by employment of extra temporary artificers and others (1,77), due chiefly to the improvement of the equipment of the field artillery; to the re-armament of the Native Army with 303 ammunition, for which Budget provision was made under Stores—For Arsenals and Depots; and to increased outturn. Over-deduction (24) was also made in the Budget for probable savings in salaries. Under Stores—Arsenals and Depots, the special Budget provision of 7,88 for the replacement of local stores sent South Africa was utilized to the extent of only 19; the bulk of the amount (3,81) specially provided for the re-armament of the Native Army was not used in India, as stores were obtained from England, and a part of the expenditure on this account was compiled under Factories as stated above; and the provision of 30 made for the cost of mountings for one maxim gun for each regiment British Cavalry and Infantry lapsed. These savings were partly counterbalanced by the replacement of stores sent to China (64). The increase under Stores—For Factories was due to large purchases of copper, hides, and timber, and to the replacement of stores sent to China; that under Camp Equipage to the replacement of tents sent chiefly to South Africa and China. The excess deduction under Supplies to other Departments was due chiefly to the adjustment of the value of local stores issued in stock to China and to South Africa in excess of the Budget provision.

Other Effective Charges

315. There was a saving of 30 under Ecclesiastical, due principally to the absence of a Presbyterian chaplain on service in South Africa (6), to the pay of a few others not having been drawn (16), and to savings under Exchange Compensation Allowance, etc. (2). The variations under Education were unimportant. Under Sea Transport Charges there was a total increase of 11,63 over the Budget, due principally to the cost of chartering certain vessels as transports to convey details to England (12,09), and to the provision of passages by private steamers to a larger number of officers and men than was estimated for. Counterbalanced to a certain extent by less charges on account of the regular Indian Troop Service. Under Volunteer Corps charges for capitation allowances increased by 35 with an increase in the number of qualified volunteers, and more frequent inspections of volunteer corps at out-stations caused an excess of 28.

316. The figures under Miscellaneous Services may be sub-divided as follows:—

1899-1900.		1900-1901.
Accounts.	Budget.	Revised.	Accounts.

37,08 TOTAL	16,76	24,28	28,52
... Lump deduction	3
37,08 NET TOTAL	16,73	24,28	28,52

317. The variations under Special Charges have been explained in para. 282. Under Other Items principal differences were in travelling allowances (84), purchase and rent of lands and buildings (1,12), telegram charges (1,98), and contingencies (1,42), the last being due in a measure to the expenditure incurred on account of troops employed on the Khusalgarh-Kohat-Thal Railway.

Non-Effective Charges.

318. Under Rewards for Military Services, the chief saving was 21 in the cost of decorations and medals. Under Military Pensions to Europeans the actuals were less than the Budget by 28, due to casualties in the ranks of pensioners, to pensions not having been drawn for certain war-wounded, and to less payments of gratuities. Under Military Pensions to Natives there was an increase of 77, due chiefly to the lapse of the special provision of 70 made in the Budget for the grant of revised rates of pensions to the families of certain officers, the Secretary of State having sanctioned the revised rates to new pensioners only. The decrease of 5 under Departmental Pensions was due to ordinary fluctuations.

321. The figures shown under this head represent the surplus or deficit of each Provincial Government in respect of the revenues and charges assigned to it, including Incorporated Local Funds. The Revenue and Expenditure under the various major heads have been shown in detail in the foregoing pages, and the share of these pertaining to the Provincial and Local sections of the accounts for the several groups is given below separately. The Budget provided for an expenditure from Provincial balances, of Rs.

Receipts taken together. These figures do not, however, give a true idea of the transactions of the year, for, Rs. 6,12,42, or £4,082,8 of the total direct Famine Relief in India amounting to Rs. 6,17,61 or £4,117,5, for which Provincial and Local Revenue in the first instance responsible, was, as provided for in the Budget charged on Imperial Revenues. Moreover, the Central Provinces, the Punjab and Bombay were to place their Revenue in equilibrium with their Expenditure only with the assistance of assignments of 33,18, of 8,26 and of 60,85 respectively from the Imperial Government, a total estimate of 57,52 on that account.

322. Of the total increase (1,11,18), 44,36 occurred in Burma, 25,07 in the eastern Provinces and Oudh, 19,19 in Madras, and 14,66 in Bengal. The Provinces of Burma were in a most prosperous condition, and there were improvements of income and savings in expenditure under several of the heads, the most noticeable improvement being 1,61 in Land Revenue collections and 5,06 in Forest receipts. In the North-Western Provinces there were increases of 6,20 in Stamp revenue and of 5,43 in Irrigation receipts, and a saving of 8,46 in expenditure on Civil Works. In Madras the estimated expenditure on the construction of Railways chargeable to Local Revenues was not incurred. The Bengal was spread over several heads.

6. As regards Lines under construction, the lapse on the Assam-Bengal Railway, Part I, was due to estimates by Land Acquisition Officers having been in excess of actual requirements. The lapse on Assam-Bengal Railway, Part II, was due chiefly to the measures taken to restrict expenditure in the previous year having prevented progress with work to the extent anticipated when the estimate was framed. The excess on the Khushalgarh-Kohat Railway was due to provision not having been made in the Budget Estimate for this line, the construction of which was not contemplated at the time. The lapse on the Rungpur-Dhubri extension was due to the late arrival of stores from England; the lapse on the Indus Bridge resulted from large credits realized by the sale, on completion, of plant and materials at site. On the Godavari Bridge the lapse was due to completion of the bridge for less than the estimated cost. The excess on the Hajipur-Katihar extensions was due to works being pushed on to completion in order to admit of the opening of the extensions to traffic in the year; the lapse on the Shadipalli-Balotra Railway was due to completion of works for less than South Indian Railway Company having raised debentures in excess of the expenditure incurred on the British section of the Tinnevely-Quilon Railway, in respect of which alone provision was made in the Budget Estimate, the actual outlay shows a lapse of 1,03, which was due to postponement of work on account of extensive re-alignment.

327. As regards Open Lines, the excess on the East Indian Railway was due to the inadequacy of provision made in the Budget Estimate for the requirements of the line; the excess on the Rajput Malwa Railway system occurred under Suspense, and was due chiefly to larger payments having been made for stores from England and from other Railways, and also for coal and the freight charges thereon than was estimated for; the lapse on the Eastern Bengal Railway was due to less progress having been made than was intended towards completing works on all sections of the line; the excess on the Arrahoot Railway was due chiefly to credits from Revenue for sales of stores not having come up to expectations; the excess on the Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway was due to the transfer by the East Indian Railway of outlay incurred in levelling the Collectorganj yard at Cawnpore, and to steel rails and other material from England not having arrived early enough to admit of their being issued during the year; the excess on the North-Western Railway was due to large purchases of sleepers which had to be made under existing contracts with the Forest Department, and to credits for stores issued to Revenue having fallen below expectations. The lapse on the South Indian Railway was due chiefly to short outlay on English stores; the excess on the East Coast Railway was due to the transfer of the cost of the Attack-Barang Section from the capital account of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway; and the excess on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway was due chiefly to provision not having been made in the Estimate for transfer from the Guaranteed Railway books of the amount of overdrawn capital at date of purchase of the line.

328. Under Other Railways, the only important variation from the Budget Estimate was a lapse of 31 on the Peshawar Railway Reserve, due to a credit realized for value of material drawn from the reserve for the construction of the Peshawar-Jamrud extension. The excess of 82,59 is covered by grants sanctioned during the year.

As compared with the previous year there was a decrease of Rs. 1,13 only, but as compared with the Budget Estimate there was a lapse of Rs. 11,43, owing to its not having been found practicable to carry out the programme of works to the full extent. In the Revised Estimate allowance was made for anticipated short outlay to the extent of Rs. 9,92, but owing to labour and other difficulties the actual outlay was less than this by Rs. 11.

* The transactions of the first 3 months of the official year only are included under this head.

331. As explained in former reports, these are all net sums. The Indian figures represent the difference between the advances taken by the Railway Companies and the credits given to them, chiefly on account of stores used on Revenue account. The English figures represent the difference between the Capital deposited by the Companies with the Secretary of State and the withdrawals for expenditure on State establishment charges, etc. These figures are necessarily liable to great fluctuations, but the following general explanations are furnished :—

332. Guaranteed Companies—Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway.—The difference in India was due to larger purchases of coal and other Indian stores, and to the write-back of expenditure on the Nerbudda Bridge Protective Works from Revenue to Capital.

333. Great Indian Peninsula Railway.—The difference under India was only nominal being due to inclusion of expenditure in England during the last 9 months of the year in the Budget. The English outlay by credit to expenditure in India. There is no appreciable difference between the figures for England and India. The difference on the grant for the Extensions was also nominal, being mainly to the transfer of the overdrawn Capital from the Guaranteed to the State Railway account.

335. Under England there was a lapse of 334,1 in payments on account of establishments and purchases of stores for all lines, while receipts on account of subscribed Capital were less by 132,8 than anticipated.

336. In India, under Assisted Companies, the actual expenditure on the Bengal Central Railway was slightly in excess of the Budget Estimate, but owing to a re-adjustment in the Government accounts in exchange on the transactions of previous years in order to bring the Government and the Company accounts into agreement, the transactions of the year resulted in a lapse of 23,7. The lapse on the Bengal-Nagpur Railway was due chiefly to the transfer to the head 48—State Railways Construction, an outlay (R42,92) on the Cuttack Barang Section, and to a lapse of about R20,25 on the amount provided for expenditure in acquiring land, owing partly to the Land Acquisition Officers having over-estimated the requirements, and partly to non-settlement of disputed awards. The excess on the Indian Midland Railway was due to the inadequacy of the provision it was possible to make in the Budget Estimate to meet the requirements of the line. The excess on the Southern Mahratta and Mysore Railways was due chiefly to a charge to Stores Suspense Account of a payment in England in the closing month of the year in respect of an indent for steel rails, for which no provision existed.

337. The Branch Line Companies deposit capital in Government Treasuries, and draw against these deposits for expenditure on construction according to requirements. During the year 32,9 were deposited and 57,2 withdrawn as against 60,7 and 26,3, respectively, provided in the Budget.

338. The Budget Estimate did not provide for the deposit of any capital in respect of the South Behar Railway, but 3,5 were deposited during the year, and the net withdrawals of the Company amounted to Rs 40,0 against a credit of 40,0 provided for in the Estimates, the excess being due to realizations from the sale of tools and plant at site of works not having come up to expectations.

340. Under Special Loans the debit represents the commutation value of Wasika Pensions Government. The decrease of 61 under Deposits of Service Funds was due chiefly to a withdrawal by the Bengal Uncovenanted Service Fund for refund of subscriptions on the restoration of 6 per cent. rate of interest by the Secretary of State. The details of Savings Bank Deposits are as follows :—

341. Under Post Office Savings Banks the Estimate anticipated large withdrawals in consequence of the famine and the low price of Government paper, which stimulated investment in such securities. Contrary to this expectation, the withdrawals diminished, while the deposits increased. The variations under Regimental Savings Banks depend to a great extent on the transfers of British Regiments between India and England, and therefore no accurate estimate can be framed. The receipts under Officers' Provident Fund and Financial Department Provident Fund were under-estimated. The debit of 1,07 under Special Accounts was due chiefly to fluctuations in the transactions of the General Pension Fund, the Hindu Family Annuity Fund, and the Post Office Life Insurance Fund. The variations under the other heads were due to the withdrawals being more or less than was anticipated.

342. The net credit to Provincial Balances has been explained in paragraph 321.

343. The net debit of 12,4 under Excluded Local Funds, was due principally to heavy expenses on public works in connection with the port of Coconada. The head Gold Reserve Fund credited this year. The credit of 3,031,3 represents net profits on silver coinage during the year received from Mint to this head for payment to the Fund; the debit of 1,200,0 represents the amount paid over to the Fund. The character and magnitude of the transactions under Departmental and Judicial Deposits render an accurate forecast impossible. The net credit under this head was due principally of the large net receipts in the North-Western Provinces on account of Civil Colonial Deposits and Municipal Funds, (86,5), and in India on account of Void and Foreign Exchanges, (34,7). In the latter Province the deposit transactions of the Public Works Department Revenue and Capital accounts produced a net debit of 61,8.

344. The net figures entered against the head Advances may be divided as follows :—

	Budget.		Revised.		Accounts.
	R	£	R	£	R	£
Coinage Accounts	+ 20,00	+ 133,3	+ 9,69	+ 64,6
Other Advances	+ 42,61	+ 284,1	+ 1,03	+ 6,9	— 21,76	— 145,1
	+ 42,61	+ 284,1	+ 21,03	+ 140,2	— 12,07	— 80,5

345. Under Coinage Accounts the credit of 9,69 was made up principally of a net credit for Currency Silver in Process of Coinage and net debits of 21,10 and 24,52 under Mint Certificates and Bullion Advances for Coinage respectively. The outstanding credit under the first head represents the invoice value of currency silver purchased in England remaining uncoined at the Bombay Mint at the end of the year. Under Mint Certificates the net debit was due to the payment in the current certificates issued for bullion delivered at the Calcutta and Bombay Mints before 1st April. Under Bullion Advances for Coinage the balance of bullion held at the Bombay Mint largely in connection with the conversion of Babashai rupees; that at the Calcutta Mint, on the other hand, was due to the heavy coinage of the year.

346. The net debit under Other Advances is the final outcome of a number of transactions. The net debit of R21,76 or £145,1 is however brought out by the following figures :—

	Equivalent Sterling
	R	£
Special Advances	— 44	— 2,5
Permanent Advances	+ 4,26	+ 28,1
Account with Foreign States	— 8,36	— 55,5
Other Advances	— 17,22	— 114,1

was chiefly due to the refund in the Central Provinces of famine advances made in the previous current years. Under Account with Foreign States there was a net debit outstanding of 15,00 in Behar Suspense Account; the transactions with Kashmir and Cooch Behar, on the other hand, resulted in net credits of 7,38 and 2,26 respectively. The other variations under this head do not require separate notice. Under Other Advances there was a net debit of 22,03 under Advances Recoverable Military; on the other hand, there were net credits of 3,74 in Bombay under Civil Advances and of 2,11 under Public Works Department Advances—Irrigation Branch.

348. Under Suspense Account the variations are chiefly on account of fluctuations in the balances in the hands of Departmental officers. The main differences on this account were an increase in the balances of the Public Works, Civil and Military officers, of 75,6, 12,3 and 11,5 respectively. These increases were somewhat reduced by the amount of Pre-audit cheques remaining unpaid at the end of the year (14,9).

349. The difference under Miscellaneous was due chiefly to the adjustment of exchange on Secretary of State's Bills.

351. Under Loans to Native States the large increase over the Budget was due to a special payment of 70,00 to the Hyderabad State, and to the payment of famine loans of 85,59 and 65,75 to Berar and the Chhatiswar States, respectively. The recoveries include a repayment by the Marwar Durbar of 15,00 advanced in connection with the recoinage of the State coins, and of 12,16 in Bombay against a Budget provision of 2,23. Under Loans to Mofussil Municipalities, 71 out of an estimated recovery of 76 from the Hyderabad Municipality was received last year. The advance of 64 under Loans to Landholders and Notabilities was made under orders communicated during the year. Under Loans to District and Other Local Committees the advance of 93 includes 9 to Bhopawar Bazar Fund, 12 to Ajmer Patwar Fund, and 34 to Poona Cantonment Fund, which were not contemplated when the Estimates were framed. A special refund of 36 recovered in excess from the Secunderabad Cantonment Committee was also adjusted under this head. The advances under Regimental and other Loans, Military, closely corresponded with the Budget, but the repayments were largely in excess. Under Advances to Cultivators the actuals represent advances and repayments of famine loans not anticipated in the Budget.

153. The most noticeable feature in this table is the increase in the advances to Cultivators.

154. Under Loans to Mofussil Municipalities the following are the details by Provinces of advances and repayments during the year :—

	Budget, 1900-1901.		Accounts, 1900-1901.		Excess (+) Deficiency (-)
	Advanced.	Repaid.	Advanced.	Repaid.	Advanced.	Repaid.

TOTAL	13,57	6,37	6,78	7,45	-6,79	+1,08

155. The large savings in advances in all the Provinces were due to loans provided for in the Estimates not having been fully taken up. The increase in the repayments occurred chiefly in Bombay, where certain grants in aid of plague expenditure were adjusted by credit to the loan accounts. Under Loans to Port Funds the decrease in receipts was due to the non-realization of the full amount of the deferred instalment from the Chittagong Port Fund in Bengal. The payment of a loan of 50 sanctioned by the Government of India in January 1901 to the District Board, Bellary, for meeting plague and other expenditure swelled the advances under Loans to District Committees. Under Loans to Landholders, etc., the repayment of the full amount of the loan due from the Maharajah of Hill Tipperah (1,85) was not anticipated in Bengal. Under Advances under Special Laws the variations in the actuals were chiefly in connection with the loans to certain Thakoors in Bombay.

156. Under Advances to Cultivators the following are the details :—

	Budget, 1900-1901.		Accounts, 1900-1901.		Excess (+).

TOTAL	62,92	53,04	2,04,40	84,79	+1,41,48

157. The large advances in the Central Provinces, the Punjab and Bombay represent special advances sanctioned by the Government of India in consequence of the famine. In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh the comparative prosperity of the agricultural classes necessitated advances to cultivators, while larger recoveries of advances made during the famines of 1900 increased the receipts.

ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE
INDO-EUROPEAN TELEGRAPH DEPARTMENT FOR 1900-1901.

CAPITAL AND REVENUE ACCOUNT.

1. Capital.—The transactions of the year under this head resulted in a net debit of Rs44,154, which increased the capital expenditure to the end of the year to Rs1,15,75,201. The increase includes a contribution of Rs9,000 towards the cost of building and fitting up a recreation room at Teheran, and Rs5,000 towards the cost of construction of a new word to the Karachi Civil Hospital.

The remainder of the increase represents chiefly addition to the stores suspense balance.

The following statement shows how the above increase is made up:—

	Increase.	Decrease.	Total.
	R	R	R
Works	16,112	—	16,112
Suspense :
Stores	27,759	—	27,759
Other heads	283	—	283
TOTAL	44,154	—	44,154

A summary of the year's transactions on Capital account is given in Appendix A.

2. Revenue.—Appendix B is a summary of the earnings and expenditure.* The earnings amounted to *R*17,52,375, or an increase of *R*2,14,264 as compared with 1899-1900, when the sum realised was *R*15,38,111. The expenditure during the year was *R*8,43,657, against *R*8,43,502 in the previous year, or an increase of *R*155. The net result is a profit of *R*9,08,718 on the year's working, against that of *R*6,94,609 in 1899-1900, or an increase of *R*2,14,109 as compared with that year.

3. The following statements show the chief differences between the earnings and expenditure of the current and previous years. For details, see Appendix B:—

NET REVENUE.

4. On a total Capital expenditure of Rs. 15,75,201 a net profit of Rs. 9,08,718 was earned, which gives a dividend of 7.85 per cent. (Appendix D.). The dividends earned during the past five years are as follows:—

Year.										Interest on Capital.
1896-97	6.17
1897-98	6.57

CIS-INDIAN JOINT PURSE.

5. Appendix C. deals with the transactions in connection with this Agreement, which was entered into in 1878. The Department's share of the whole Purse shows an increase of 12,553l. 3s. 5d., due to an increase in Indian and Trans-Indian traffic, chiefly owing to the war in China.

6. Interruptions affecting Joint Purse Traffic.—There was again no interruption stopping traffic between Teheran and Karachi during the year. Between Teheran and London the Indo-European Company's lines were totally interrupted for an aggregate of 3 days, 7 hours, 36 minutes.

7. On the Turkish route interruptions occurred between Fao and Constantinople lasting 37 days, 6 hours, 37 minutes. The working of this route continues to be unsatisfactory. The Fao-Bushire cable was interrupted for 36 days 22 hours.

1896-97.			1897-98.			1898-99.			1899-1900.			1900-1901.
Days.	H.	M.	Days.	H.	M.	Days.	H.	M.	Days.	H.	M.	Days.	H.	M.

The Department was liable to the Joint Purse for 39 days' interruptions between Constantinople and Bushire at Fcs. 50 per diem.

AUSTRALASIAN MESSAGE FUND.

8. The Departmental receipts for this year show an increase of 4,201l. over the receipts in 1889, on which the original Australasian Message Fund was based. See Appendix C. (1).

TRAFFIC.

9. The following table gives the amounts paid into the Joint Purse by the Department as compared with its independent traffic revenue:—*

	FOR JOINT PURSE, ETC.				Independent Revenue.		TOTAL.
	Indian.		Trans-Indian.
	Fcs.	cts.	Fcs.	cts.	Fcs.	cts.	Fcs.	cts.

Persian Section	316,459	06½	117,438	40½	12,069	54½	445,967	00½
TOTAL FRANCS	2,446,906	84½	921,515	08½	36,234	31½	3,404,656	24½

10. Appendix E. gives the number of messages and words carried under the different classes:—1, State; 2, Commercial and Private; 3, Press; 4, "Times" (special rate), during the past five years.

11. The average length of "private and commercial" messages was 12.90 words in 1900-1901 as compared with 13.03 words in the previous year. The average length, calculated from the averages of the past seven years, is 12.95 words.

12. Check of Errors.—The accuracy of transmission over the lines of the Department for the past two years is shown below, and is very satisfactory.

1900-1901	0.007 "

* NOTE.—The independent traffic revenue is that obtained from traffic dealt with by this Department and not touching India, such as for telegrams between the stations of Jask and Bushire.

13. Complaints and Errors.—The number received for investigation amounted to 180, being 34 more than the total for the year 1899 1900. Of this number 95 were from Europe and 84 from India; 39 related to messages via Turkey.

Of the above, 53 were not admitted by the Administrations concerned, or are still being investigated by them, and of the remaining 127 this Department is responsible for 20.

OFFICES.

14. The number of offices open to the public throughout the year, excluding those on the Tehran Meshed (Persian Government) line, was, in the Persian Gulf Section 8, and in the Persian Section 9.

PERSIAN GULF SECTION.

CABLES.

15. The total length of the various cables on 31st March 1901 was 1,722 knots, as against 1,721 knots in the former year, the increase being due to repairs.

Eight faults occurred during the year: seven were due to the corrosion of guards, and one to the toredo borer.

The Bushire-Fao Cable was interrupted for 36 days and 22 hours, including one interruption of 29 days, 7 hours, 30 minutes in March and April, when it was considered advisable to postpone repairs, owing to the cable ship being required for the more important cables between Bushire and Karachi. The Bushire-Karachi cables were interrupted for 15 days, 6 hours. This total is made up of several short interruptions, but as one cable and the Mekran Coast land lines were always available, these latter breaks caused no interruption to traffic.

The expenditure of cable amounted to 30,163 knots, the lengths recovered from the sea being 21,85 knots but most of this was only fit for stripping.

So far as can be conjectured, the cables are in fair order.

Manora Cable Factory.

16. The expenditure of cable during the year and cable in stock at the end of the year was as follows:—

Cable in stock on 1st April 1900	Knots.
	48,523
Manufactured at Manora	Knots.
Recovered from sea and retaped	54,143
	4,788

	107,454
Deduct cable expended, 1900-1901	30,163
Balance, 31st March 1901	77,291

The amount of cable stripped for core was 49 knots

Cable Steamer "Patrick Stewart."

17. The cable steamer "Patrick Stewart" steamed 10,170 knots and the engineering staff were absent from headquarters on cabling work for 71 days during the year. The actual earnings of the ship were Rs252.

MEKRAN COAST LAND LINE.

18. The total lengths of this line remained practically the same as in the previous year, viz, 698 miles of line and 1,392 miles of wire.

During the year only one total interruption occurred, lasting two hours. Partial interruptions, i.e., those not affecting communication, amounted to 12 days.

The causes of the faults are summarised as follows:—

	Number.	Duration. Hours.
Definitely traced to preventable causes:—
Faulty construction
Faulty maintenance	4	78
Working parties
Other preventable causes
Unpreventable causes:—
Cyclones and storms	1	40
Floods
Animals and birds	2	13
Malice	1	45
Unknown causes	4	51

General Remarks

19. Nothing of particular interest occurred during the year; the districts along the line remained quiet and the people friendly.

PERSIAN SECTION.

20. The length of this line remains the same as last year, viz, 683 miles of line and 2,070 miles of wire.

No total interruptions occurred throughout the year. The faults from all causes, including contacts between the wires during the past three years, have been —

The causes of the faults may be summarised as follows:—

21. Wilful Damage.—560 acts of wilful damage were reported during the year, being 41 more than last year. They were distributed along the line as follows:—

Sub-section.	Locality.	No. of Miles.	No. of Acts, 1899-1900.	No. of Acts, 1900-1901.
1st	Teheran to Ispahan	247	143	224

3rd	Meshed-i-Meerghab to Mean Kotal, 60 miles south of Shiraz.	124	113	116
4th	Mean Kotal to Bushire	108	38	38

The amount claimed from the Persian Government for damages was Krans 11,587.* Of this sum Krans 1,730 were collected locally; the balance, Krans 9,857, was deducted from the Jask royalty.

The Shah issued a firman to the Local Governors soon after his return from Europe urging the necessity for energetic action in protecting the line, but the result has not been satisfactory.

General Remarks.

22. There is nothing of particular interest to report during the period under review.

TEHERAN-MESHED LINE.

23. This line is the property of the Persian Government, but maintained by the Indo-European Telegraph Department. It is 568 miles in length. It worked satisfactorily during the year and was interrupted for only 24 hours.

No events of a political nature affected this line during the year

* $3\frac{1}{2}$ Krans = 1 Rupee.

INDO-EUROPEAN TELEGRAPH DEPARTMENT.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.
DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the past seven days, ending at 8 a.m. on Thursday, the 6th March 1902, based on the India Daily
Weather Reports of the period.

The weather has been somewhat unsettled during the week under review over North-West India due to depressions which have entered North-West India or the North-West Himalayan area from countries to the westward. The first of these depressions affected the weather in the north-west on the 28th of February and the 1st of March, on which dates light to heavy snow fell in Kashmir, and Rawalpindi, Murree, Cherat, Peshawar, Sialkot, Chakrata and Simla received light showers, the heaviest of which was 0.50" in the two days at Murree; on the 2nd even this light rainfall practically ceased, and the only rain reported over India was a few drops at Sibsagar, Chakrata and Trincomalee and a moderate shower at Colombo; on the 3rd there was practically no rain but a fresh depression was apparently passing through Persia and advancing towards North-West India; on the 4th 0.75" of rain was reported from Mergui, 0.50" from Sibsagar, 0.25" from Dibrugarh and a few drops from Quetta, but with the exception of these outlying stations the whole country was rainless; on the 5th the depression from Persia entered North-West India and on this and the following day snow was received over Kashmir and light showers of rain at Rawalpindi (0.15"), Murree (0.43"), Mooltan (0.05"), Peshawar (0.02") and Quetta (0.01") while in addition a few drops continued to be received at Sibsagar and moderate rain at Mergui (1.06").

The rainfall summary at the close shows that effective rain was received during the week, from the 28th February to the 6th March, over the Burma Coast division, the Brahmaputra Valley division and the Simla sub-division of the West Himalayas and that the whole of the remainder of the country was actually or practically rainless. In the Ludhiana sub-division, the North-West Dry division, the Baluchistan division, the Calicut sub-division and the East Coast (South) division rain was received, but the fall was insignificant and of no economic importance. The week's rainfall was less than the normal in all divisions except the Burma Coast, but as is explained last week, the anticipated rainfall at this time is very small and its absence would not be of importance but for the long preceding drought.

There has been no change in the seasonal conditions introduced by the last week's returns, except that the excess in the southern divisions is slowly diminishing, the total seasonal deficiency amounts to 6.30" in the Simla sub-division, to 4.78" in the Baluchistan division, to 4.61" in the Ludhiana sub-division, to 2.76" in the Narayanganj sub-division and to 2.64" in the Lahore sub-division.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, the 1st March, 1902.

Madras.—There was no rain. Water supplies are sufficient for irrigation except in parts of the Deccan, Salem and Madura. Ploughing, sowing and transplanting are in progress in parts. The state of standing crops generally is fair, but some are withering or have withered in parts of the Deccan. Harvests are progressing with fair outturn. Pasture is scanty in the Circars and the Deccan, but fodder generally is procurable. The condition of cattle is good. Prices generally are stationary.

Bombay—Very slight rain fell during the week in parts of the Upper Sindh Frontier. The rainfall was insufficient in Gujarat and parts of the Deccan. Harvesting of autumn crops has been completed in Dharwar and is in progress in parts of Khandesh. Threshing is nearly completed in Poona and continues in parts of Nasik. Estimates of outturn of autumn crops generally are good in the Konkan and the Karnatak, fair in Sindh and the Deccan and moderate to poor in Gujarat. Standing spring crops have been slightly damaged by frost or locusts in parts of the Upper Sindh Frontier and by rats in parts of Gujarat, Khandesh, Nasik, Rajkot, Wadhwan and Baroda. They are suffering from insufficient moisture in parts of the Upper Sindh Frontier, Larkana, Gujarat, Nasik and Sholapur, and generally are in good condition elsewhere. Harvesting of spring crops is nearly completed in Kaira, Satara, Bijapur and Dharwar and is in progress in parts of Thana, Khandesh, Nasik, Ahmednagar, Belgaum and Kanara. Threshing is in progress in parts of Ahmednagar and Poona. Preparation of lands for next season continues in parts of Kolaba, Ratnagiri, Khandesh, Nasik, Poona, Bijapur and Rajkot. Cotton prospects generally are fair in Khandesh and the Karnatak and moderate to poor elsewhere. Picking is in progress in parts of Ahmedabad, Broach, Surat, Belgaum, Bijapur, Dharwar, Rajkot and Baroda. The fodder supply is sufficient except in parts of Karachi, Sholapur, Hyderabad and Bijapur. Agricultural stock generally is sufficient and in good condition except in parts of Bijapur and Hyderabad. The water supply is becoming deficient in parts of Nasik, Ahmednagar, Sholapur, Belgaum and Baroda. Prices have fallen in six districts, risen in four districts and are stationary elsewhere. The price of rice is slightly below normal in Gujarat, about normal in the Karnatak and slightly over normal in the Deccan and the Konkan, but compared with 1901 is generally easier. The price of bajri is over normal in Gujarat and the Konkan and considerably over normal in the Deccan and the Karnatak and, compared with 1901, easier in the Konkan and the Deccan and considerably easier in the Karnatak, but higher in Gujarat. The price of guar is over normal in Gujarat and considerably over normal in the Deccan, the Konkan and the Karnatak and, compared with 1901, easier in the Konkan and considerably easier in the Deccan and the Karnatak, but higher in Gujarat. The price of wheat is over normal in Gujarat and the Konkan and considerably over normal in the Deccan and the Karnatak, but easier than in 1901. Prices of cheapest food grain in pounds per rupee at head quarters:—Ahmedabad, 32; Kaira, 29, Panchmahals, 30; Sholapur, 42½, Ahmednagar, 35, Bijapur, 34½; Belgaum, 42.

Daily average numbers on relief—BRITISH DISTRICTS—on test works, 916; on relief works, 184,893; dependants, 9,888, total on works, 195,697. In poor-houses, 1,762, on village relief, 30,506; total on gratuitous relief, 32,268. Figures for Ahmedabad, Kaira, Belgaum and Thar and Parkar are incomplete. NATIVE STATES—on relief works, 32,344; dependants, 446; total on works, 32,790. In poor-houses, 4,510; on village relief, 796; total on gratuitous relief, 5,312. Figures for Palanpur and Mahikantha are incomplete. Grand total 266,067.

Bengal.—There was no rain except a very slight fall in Monghyr and Manbhum. Rain is wanted in several districts. Lands are being prepared for early rice and jute. Planting of poppy is going on. Harvesting of spring crops continues. Prospects are fair. Fodder and water generally are sufficient. The price of common rice has risen in 11 districts, fallen in 13, and is stationary in the rest (22).

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—The unirrigated crops in Dehra Dun, Almorah, Saharanpur, Bijnor, Moradabad and Meerut are suffering from want of rain. Irrigation continues where practicable. Sugarcane pressing is going on. The spring crops are opening and are being harvested in parts. The extraction of opium has been commenced in places. The crops in twenty-four villages in Bulandshahr have been injured by frost and further slight injury has been reported from frost in a few districts. Supplies of fodder are sufficient and prices are almost stationary.

Condition of irrigated crops is generally fair to average. Crops on dry land are withering for want of rain which is very urgently needed. Crops are also suffering on irrigated lands in Karnal for insufficient supply of water and in Gurgaon from high winds. Crops have been damaged by rats in parts of Ferozepore and Amritsar. Severe dry cold has also done damage to the crops in Lahore. Cattle are generally in good condition, but in Sialkot and Gujrat they are suffering from overwork on wells and scarcity of green fodder. Fodder is said to be sufficient in all districts except in Mianwali, Amritsar and parts of Karnal, Mooltan and Shahpur. The price of wheat is rising in Rohtak, Delhi and Gujrat, falling in Umballa, Jullundur, Ferozepore, Shahpur and Rawalpindi and remains unchanged elsewhere. The prices of other food grains are unsettled. The price of the cheapest food grain in seers per rupee in the markets at Hissar, Rohtak and Gurgaon is as follows:—Hissar, bijhar, (mixed crop), 21; Rohtak, bijhar, (mixed crop), 20; Gurgaon, barley, 23. The average number of persons in poor houses, et., in Hissar is as follows:—Poor-house inmates, 171, otherwise relieved, 2,416; total, 2,587.

North-Western Frontier.—The rainfall was 10 cents in Peshawar. Rain is badly wanted everywhere. The condition of irrigated crops is below average and of unirrigated crops is bad. Stocks of food grains and fodder are sufficient in Peshawar. Fodder is procurable with difficulty in Dera Ismail Khan. Prices are steady owing to the large imports from Chenab Canal lands. Wheat is selling at 14½, and 15, gram 16½ and 16½ and maize 24 and 18½ seers per rupee in Peshawar and Dera Ismail Khan, respectively.

Burma.—LOWER BURMA.—Threshing of the paddy crop is nearly completed. The crop is reported to be in parts lighter than previously estimated. UPPER BURMA.—Transplanting of dry weather paddy is nearly completed and the early miscellaneous crops on alluvial lands are being harvested. Standing crops are as previously reported, except in the Myinmu sub-division of Sagaing where the gram crop on high lands has been attacked by insects. The price of paddy has fallen in Bassein and Magwe and has risen sharply in Mandalay; elsewhere it is nearly stationary.

Central Provinces.—The weather has been generally clear and warmer. Crop prospects generally are unchanged. Damage to crops by rats continues in Nimar and Chanda. Harvesting and threshing operations continue. The general outturn of spring crops in the Bhandara district is estimated at 55 per cent. of the normal. The preparation of land for autumn sowings is in progress in places. Fodder and water are ample. The prices of wheat and gram show a tendency to fall. The lowest prices in seers per rupee are, wheat 18, gram 21½, rice 18 and juar 20; the highest prices are, wheat 8½, gram 13, rice 8 and juar 14.

Assam.—The weather is seasonable. Slight rain fell in Upper Assam. Rain is wanted in Goalpara and Kamrup. Pruning and hoeing of tea, pressing of sugarcane, gathering of mustard and ploughing for early and late broadcast rice, jute and sugarcane are in progress. THE HON'BLE THE RESIDENT IN MYSORE.

NOTIFICATION.

Bangalore, the 28th February, 1902.

No. 1092.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 65 (f) and (g) of the Excise Act, XII of 1896, as applied to the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore, the Resident in Mysore is pleased to make the following rules for the working and management of the Government Excise Depôt established in the said Station for the supply of country spirits classed as arrack to arrack shops, and of ganja to ganja shops ;—

PART I.

(General rules applicable to the management of the Excise Depôt.)

1. The Excise Depôt shall be under the supervision of the Superintendent of Excise who shall carry out the provisions of these rules either in person or through his subordinates: provided that nothing herein contained shall be held to prevent the Collector or other officer vested with the powers of the Collector from inspecting the depôt, or to prevent the Collector from issuing such orders relating thereto as he may, from time to time, deem fit, subject to the approval and confirmation of the Resident.

2. The Resident may appoint such officer or officers of the Excise Department as he may see fit to the immediate charge of the Excise Depôt.

3. The strength of the guard maintained at the depôt shall ordinarily be two peons. A duty roster shall be prepared by the officer in charge of the depôt clearly prescribing the date and hour on which each peon shall be on duty.

4. The depôt shall be opened at 7 A.M. and shall be closed at noon, except on Sundays and other authorized holidays, when it shall be closed unless otherwise directed by the Superintendent of Excise.

5. All spirits and ganja shall be kept in the store-room provided for the purpose, and the key of the room shall be kept by the officer in charge.

6. Any licensed arrack or ganja vendor who wishes to remove spirits or ganja from the depôt to his shop shall tender the duty and cost price of the same to the shroff at the depôt, together with a challan in Form 4A. or 4G. The shroff shall receive the amount and grant a receipt in Form 5A. or 5G. The vendor shall then submit an application in Form 6A. or 6G. to the Officer in charge of the depôt accompanied by the shroff's receipt and a permit book in Form 7A. or 7G. Applications for the issue of several permits may be included in one form so long as the issues are to be made to a licensed vendor who possesses two or more shops. The Officer in charge of the depôt shall verify the calculations of the amount of duty, etc., contained therein, comparing the figures with the receipt granted by the shroff. Having ascertained that all documents are in regular order, he shall grant a permit in the prescribed Form 7A. or 7G.

7. All forms which licensees of arrack or ganja shops are required to use shall be supplied to them by the Officer in charge of the depôt on payment of the price, which shall be fixed by the Collector at as near the cost price as possible.

8. The Officer in charge shall keep a diary in Form 13, in which he shall record, at the time and in ink, exact hours of his daily arrival at, and departure from, the depôt, of his opening and closing of the same, of the receipt and removal of spirits and ganja. He shall also keep a full record of the use made of lock tickets. The shroff shall also enter in this diary the date and hour of his arrival at the Depôt. Superior officers inspecting the depôt should initial the diary after entry of such remarks as they find necessary, and should append to their initial the date and hour of their visits.

9. The Officer in charge of the depôt shall maintain an account in Form $\frac{8A}{8G}$ which must be written up at the close of each day's transactions, and must be compared by him with the shroff's collections on account of spirits and ganja for the day as entered in the latter's cash-books, with the totals of which it should tally. If he finds that the totals of the figures in Form $\frac{8A}{8G}$ tally with the shroff's cash account, he shall initial the latter account in token of its being correct. Should he find any discrepancy that cannot be accounted for, he shall at once report the fact to the Superintendent of Excise. A copy of this account shall be submitted daily to the Collector through the Superintendent of Excise.

10. The Officer in charge of the depôt shall keep an abstract account of the total daily receipts and sales of arrack in Form $\frac{10A}{10G}$. He shall write it up daily. At the close of each month the totals shall be filled up, and an extract of the account in the same form shall be submitted to the Collector, through the Superintendent of Excise, on or before the 5th of the following month, together with the original permits in Form $\frac{2A}{2G}$ covering the amount of exciseable articles received during the month, the applications in Form $\frac{6A}{6G}$ and the shroff's receipts in Form $\frac{5A}{5G}$ for the amount of duty and cost price collected on all issues during the month. Every entry in Form $\frac{10A}{10G}$ must be checked by the Superintendent of Excise or his Assistant with the other depôt accounts, and must bear the initials of the checking officers in token of its being correct. The extract shall also be checked in the Collector's office with its enclosures in Forms $\frac{2A}{2G}$, $\frac{5A}{5G}$ and $\frac{6A}{6G}$. The Collector shall also obtain from the Officers in charge of the Mysore Government distillery and ganja warehouse duplicates of the permits in Form $\frac{2A}{2G}$ which shall be checked with the permits received from the depôt. The account submitted by the Treasury Officer of collections received from the depôt during the month shall also be compared in the Collector's office with the particulars of remittances made as entered in Form $\frac{10A}{10G}$.

11. The shroff shall keep separate cash accounts in Forms 11A and 11G on account of arrack and ganja, and shall at the close of each day's transactions pay the total collections into the Resident's Treasury; the remittance shall be accompanied by duplicate challans in Form $\frac{9A}{9G}$. There shall be separate challans in Form $\frac{9A}{9G}$ in respect of collections on account of ganja and arrack; and in the case of each of these also there shall be separate challans for the cost price of the excisable articles and for the duty collected thereon. All challans shall be checked and initialled by the Officer in charge of the depôt. On receipt of the remittance one copy of each challan shall be signed by the Treasury Officer in token of receipt of the remittance, and the duplicate shall be retained by him. Should the treasury be closed on account of some gazetted holiday or otherwise, the collections should be kept in the cash chest at the depôt, one key of which should be kept by the shroff and the other by the Officer in charge of the depôt. The Superintendent of Excise should on such occasions arrange for a guard to watch over the cash chest, and as soon as the treasury reopens the necessary remittance should be made. The Officer in charge of the depôt shall carefully supervise the work of the shroff and bring to the notice of the Superintendent of Excise any neglect of duty on his part.

12. The use of uncovered lights of any description within the depôt is prohibited. Closed lanterns only shall be used.

13. The depôt shall be open only for the entrance and exit of persons who have business within it. Except with the permission of the Superintendent of Excise or other superior officer, no one, except officers of the Excise Department and the superior officers of other Government Departments, licensed vendors and their servants who have come to purchase spirits, shall be allowed to enter the premises on any pretext.

14. All persons entering the depôt shall be subject to the control of the Officer in charge in respect of their conduct and proceedings within the depôt, and shall be liable to search on their quitting the premises at the discretion of the Officer in charge.

15. The Officer in charge of the depôt may eject from the premises any person whom he shall find to have committed, or to be about to commit, any breach of these rules, or of the provisions of the Excise Act 1896, or who shall be intoxicated, riotous or disorderly. All action taken by any such officer under this rule shall forthwith be recorded by him in writing in his official diary for the information of his official superiors.

16. A list of all articles used at, or in connection with, the Excise Depôt shall be maintained by the officer in charge in Form 15.

17. All vessels and weights used at the depôt in measuring out spirits or ganja shall from time to time, be inspected and gauged by the Superintendent of Excise or his Assistant, and, whenever this is done, the result shall be recorded by the inspecting officer in the diary kept in Form 13.

18. The Superintendent and the Assistant Superintendent of Excise shall inspect the depôt as frequently as possible without previous notice being given.

SPECIAL RULES.

PART II.—ARRACK.

19. In these rules the word "to gauge" means to determine the quantity of spirits contained in any receptacle, or to determine the capacity of a cask or other receptacle, and "to prove" means to test the strength of spirits by an hydrometer.

20. For supplies of spirits the Superintendent of Excise shall send to the Officer in charge of the Mysore Government distillery, an indent in Form 1A appended, showing the number of casks of spirit required.

21. No spirits shall be received into the depôt unless accompanied by a permit in Form 2A, from the Officer in charge of the Mysore Government distillery, and stored in a cask registered in Form 14 and sealed with that officer's seal. An impression of the seal used by the Officer in charge of the Mysore Government distillery shall be kept at the depôt. On receipt of the liquor at the Excise Depôt the contents of the pass shall be compared by the Officer in charge with the details painted on the casks, and the seals, etc., on the casks examined. Discrepancies or other irregularities discovered shall at once be entered on the reverse of the pass, and in the officer's diary and a report shall also be made to the Superintendent of Excise. The date and hour of receipt of consignments shall also be entered on the reverse of Form 2A, and also on the duplicate of Form 1A, to show that the indent has been complied with.

22. Prior to the issue of liquor from any cask, the Officer in charge of the depôt shall enter the number of the cask in column 5 of the register to be maintained in Form 3A, and the reputed quantity and strength of its contents in columns 6, 7 and 8. He shall then shew in columns 9, 10 and 11 the total of the above added to the balance from the cask opened next in order preceding. He shall at the same time prove the strength of the contents and enter the result in column 23. A record of issues as they are made from the cask shall be maintained in columns 12—16 of the same register, and, when the balance remaining is insufficient to meet in full the next indent for issue, the amount of the balance shall be entered in columns 18—20. The total actual contents of the cask as ascertained shall be entered in columns 22 and 24, and the wastage or excess as compared with the reputed contents shall be entered in column 25. In the event of the wastage exceeding one per cent. of the reputed contents, an immediate report shall be made through the Superintendent or Excise to the Collector, who, if satisfied that the wastage is due to accident or unavoidable causes, may order the amount to be written off the depôt account; otherwise he shall refer the matter for the orders of the Resident.

23. Payment of the cost price of country spirits shall be made in the following manner:—

- (1) A bill for the cost price of the liquor supplied to the depôt shall be submitted by the manufacturers once a fortnight to the Superintendent of Excise.
- (2) On receipt of the bill the Superintendent of Excise or his Assistant shall check it with Forms Nos. 1A, 2A and 10A in the depôt, and, having ascertained that the amount of the bill is correct, shall certify to the following effect on the bill. "Certified that I have personally checked this bill with the depôt accounts and found that the amount of the same (rupees in writing) is correct."
- (3) Should the bill submitted be found to be incorrect, it shall at once be returned to the manufacturers for amendment.
- (4) The Collector shall, on receipt of the bill from the Superintendent of Excise, have it checked with the duplicate permits in Form 2A in his office, and then pass it for payment by the Treasury Officer of the Resident's Treasury.

24. Spirits may only be issued from the depôt for local consumption to licensed arrack shop-keepers on payment of the cost price of the spirits as fixed from time to time, in addition to Government duty of R4-12-0 per gallon of 20° under proof and R4-2-6 per gallon of 30° under proof.

25. No smaller quantity than one imperial gallon shall be issued at any one time, and no spirit shall be issued except of the strengths mentioned in the preceding rule.

26. The measures to be used at the depôt shall be gallons and drams. The gallon shall be the standard imperial gallon, and the dram shall be $\frac{1}{16}$ part thereof.

27. As each cask is first brought into use its exact contents shall be ascertained by actual measurement, with water or spirits. At the same time, as such measurements may be useful for reference, though not absolutely accurate, the capacity by the gauging rod, the diameters and the length shall as far as possible be taken and recorded in a register in Form 14, all entries in which shall be dated and initialled by the officer making them.

28. On each end of all casks used at the Excise Depôt for conveyance of spirit from the distillery or for storage or issue of spirits, the contents in gallons, the consecutive number of the cask according to the register and the letters "C & M S Dpo" shall be legibly cut, or branded or marked in oil paint. The contents of the casks shall be ascertained and marked to the nearest dram. If a cask is taken to pieces for repair or for purposes of easy transport, it need not be regauged, unless, on checking the bung capacity, the diameters and the length, which shall always be done, a difference exceeding one per cent. be found, in which case it shall be regauged.

PART III.—GANJA.

29. For supplies of ganja the Superintendent of Excise shall send to the Officer in charge of the Mysore Government's ganja warehouse an indent in Form 1G, showing the amount of ganja required.

30. No ganja shall be received into the depôt unless accompanied by a permit in Form 2G, from the Officer in charge of the Mysore ganja warehouse and packed in a case sealed by that Officer and bearing the name of the warehouse, the nature of the contents, the gross weight of the case and its contents, and the net weight of the ganja contained in the same. An impression of the seal used by the Officer in charge of the warehouse shall be kept at the Excise Depôt. On receipt of the ganja at the Excise Depôt the contents of the pass shall be compared by the Officer in charge with the details printed on the cases, and the seals, etc., on the cases examined. Discrepancies or other irregularities discovered shall at once be entered on the reverse of the pass, and in the officer's diary and a report shall also then be made to the Superintendent of Excise. The date and hour of receipt of consignments shall be entered on the reverse of Form 2G, and also on the duplicate of Form 1G, to show that the indent has been complied with.

31. Prior to the issue of ganja from any box, the Officer in charge of the depôt shall enter the number of the box in column 4 of the register to be maintained in Form 3G, and the reputed weight of its contents in columns 6 and 7. He shall then shew in columns 8 and 9 the total of the above added to the balance from the box opened next in order preceding. A record of issues as they are made from the box shall be maintained in columns 10—14 of the same register, and, when the balance remaining is insufficient to meet in full the next indent for issue, the amount of the balance shall be entered in columns 15 and 16. The total weight of ganja fit for issue as ascertained shall be entered in columns 17 and 18, and the wastage as compared with the reputed contents shall be entered in columns 19 and 20. In the event of the wastage exceeding one per cent. of the reputed contents, an immediate report shall be made through the Superintendent of Excise to the Collector, who, if satisfied that the wastage is due to accident or unavoidable cause, may order the amount to be written off the depôt account; otherwise he shall refer the matter for the orders of the Resident. Refuse and dust shall be burnt by the Superintendent of Excise or, under his special orders, by his Assistant. The date and hour of destruction and the amount destroyed shall be entered in the remarks column of the account under the initials of the officer supervising the same.

32. Ganja shall only be issued from the depôt for local consumption to licensed ganja shop-keepers on payment of the cost price as fixed from time to time, in addition to the Government duty of Rs 3 per one seer of 80 tolas.

33. The standard weights to be used at the depôt shall be seers and tolas, 80 tolas being equal to one seer.

34. As soon as each consignment of ganja has been outturned, the cost price of the same shall be remitted by the Officer in charge of the depôt, in Form 12G, to the Mysore Durbar's District Treasury, Bangalore. The amount to be paid for shall be the weight of the ganja as entered in the permit Form 2G, as issued from the Mysore warehouse. On receipt of the remittance one copy of the form shall be signed by the Treasury Officer and returned to the Officer in charge of the depôt; the duplicate shall be retained by him and the triplicate shall be forwarded by him to the Mysore Excise Commissioner's Office.

Bangalore, the 28th February, 1902.

No. 1093.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 65 of the Excise Act, XII of 1896, as applied to the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore, the Resident in Mysore is pleased to make the following rules in supersession of all previous rules for the grant of licenses for the sale of spirits, fermented liquors and intoxicating drugs:—

1. In these rules the term "foreign liquor" means and includes all wines, spirits and beer imported from foreign territories by sea or land, all coloured and flavoured spirits manufactured in the country and cocoanut toddy arrack manufactured in Malabar and excised at the tariff rates of import duty, and country brewed beer, or beer imported in a condensed form and afterwards converted into potable beer and duly excised, but does not include methylated spirits, ordinary arrack, and plain rectified spirits manufactured in the country and excised at tariff rates.

2. The Collector may issue licenses in the appropriate forms appended to these rules for any of the following purposes. Unless otherwise ordered by the Resident the fees noted in each case shall be payable in respect of licenses so granted.

- (1) For the sale of foreign liquor to be consumed on the premises: Rs. 100.
- (2) For the sale of country spirits to be consumed on the premises: Rs. 180.
- (3) For the sale of country beer to be consumed on the premises: Rs. 180.
- (4) For the sale of toddy: Rs. 25.
- (5) For the sale of intoxicating drugs: Rs. 10.
- (6) For the wholesale sale of foreign liquor: Rs. 50.
- (7) For the issue of samples by persons in possession of licenses for the wholesale sale of foreign liquor: Rs. 25.
- (8) For the retail sale in quantities not less than one pint of bottled foreign liquor not to be consumed on the premises: Rs. 50.
- (9) For the retail or wholesale sale of beer on draught not to be consumed on the premises: Rs. 50.
- (10) For the retail sale of foreign liquor in quantities less than one quart not to be consumed on the premises: Rs. 25.
- (11) For the sale of foreign liquors by keepers of hotels and boarding houses to residents in such institutions: Rs. 50.
- (12) For the sale of pure rectified spirits by chemists and druggists, Rs. 10.
- (13) For the sale of spirits or fermented liquor at race-meetings: bazaars or other public entertainments for periods not exceeding 10 days: Rs. 5 per diem.

3. The Collector may sell by auction the right to hold any of the licenses mentioned in rule 2 for any period.

The terms and conditions of the sale and of the grant and issue of licenses shall be as follows:—

i. Each bidder at the auction shall deposit the sum of Rs. 50 before bidding. The shops shall, subject to the provisions of the next succeeding clause, be knocked down to the highest bidder above the upset price, subject to formal confirmation by the Collector. Such formal confirmation shall, unless revised by the Resident for special reasons, be tantamount to an acceptance of the bid and shall be necessary whether the sale be held by the Collector himself or by any other officer deputed by him. Parties intending to bid must attend either in person or by duly accredited agents.

ii. It shall be within the discretion of the officer conducting the sale to decline to accept any bid or deposit if, for any sufficient reason, he considers such acceptance to be undesirable.

iii. As soon as the auction is completed, the deposit made by each unsuccessful bidder shall be returned to him on application. As the auction proceeds, the person whose bid is accepted for each shop shall at once deposit a sum equal to half a month's rent for that shop in addition to the deposit required under clause i. Should he fail to do this, the deposit made by him under clause i shall be forfeited, the shop shall at once be put up again for sale on the above conditions, and he shall be debarred from bidding again for the same or any other shop.

iv. Those persons to whom shops have been knocked down, and who have made deposits as provided in clause iii shall also, within seven days from the date of auction, deposit such further sum as with the former deposits will make up an amount equal to two months' rent of each shop knocked down to them, and shall take out licenses on the conditions hereinafter set forth.

important provisions under clause iv, or to provide two sureties to execute a security bond for the due payment of all moneys that may become due by him under the terms of contract. All expenses attendant upon this proceeding shall be borne by the purchaser.

vi. On the failure of any person to make deposit under clause iv, or to take out a license as aforesaid, or to comply, if required to do so, with a requisition under clause v, the deposits made under clauses i and iii shall be forfeited, and the shop or shops re-sold or otherwise disposed of at the discretion of the Collector.

vii. Re-sale effected under clause vi shall be at the risk of the defaulting bidder, who shall forfeit any gain that may ensue owing to a rise in price, and, in the event of loss by re-sale, shall make good deficiency that may be occasioned through his default. In the latter case the forfeited deposits shall be deducted from the loss arising from the re-sale and the remainder, if any, shall be recovered from the bidder in the same manner as if it were an arrear of land revenue. Should, however, the forfeited deposits be greater than the loss by re-sale, the whole of such deposits shall be credited to Government. The defaulting bidder shall be similarly liable if the privilege be disposed of otherwise than by re-sale and such disposal results in loss to Government.

viii. A purchaser at an auction sale or re-sale shall not be permitted to sell transfer or sub-let the right he has acquired or any interest therein without the consent of the Collector, which for any adequate reason may be withheld. Nor shall he appoint any person to act as his agent in the management of the shop without the Collector's previous approval.

ix. In case of any breach of the conditions of the license, either by the purchaser or by any person in his employment, it shall be competent for the Collector to declare the money deposited with him forfeited and to cancel and re-sell the license at the purchaser's risk, and all loss caused thereby shall be made good by him.

x. The forfeiture of deposit, or the cancellation of the license under the last preceding clause shall not be held to prevent the prosecution of the purchaser or any of his servants for any offence which may be committed against the Excise Laws or Rules in force.

xi. If it comes to the knowledge of the Collector that the purchaser fails to open his shop, or to carry on his business with due care and attention, or that he has been convicted of an offence under the Indian Penal Code, or under the Excise Laws or Rules, it shall be lawful to the Collector to cancel his license, and to re-sell or otherwise dispose of the privilege at the purchaser's risk.

xii. The purchaser shall pay the amount for which the privilege above described has been purchased, into the Resident's Treasury in equal monthly instalments on or before the 20th of each month commencing from the 1st of the month in which the license comes into force. If the deposit made by him under clause iv be in cash, it will be taken in payment of the instalments due on the last two months of the period of the lease. Failing payment by the 20th of the month, the Collector may at once proceed to recover the arrears in the manner prescribed by law. If the instalment has not been paid by the 5th of the following month the Collector may suspend or cancel the license and issue notice of re-sale and may re-sell the license on the day fixed with effect from the date of its issue to the new purchaser. In that case the deposit shall be forfeited, and if it should fall short of the arrears due and the loss, if any, caused by the suspension or re-sale, the purchaser shall be responsible for the difference which may be recovered by the Collector in the manner prescribed by law. If the Collector does not re-sell the shop he may make such other arrangements as may appear advisable for the remainder of the lease, in which case he will serve a notice upon the defaulting purchaser detailing the nature of the arrangement made. No remission or abatement of the rent shall, on any account whatever, be claimable by the purchaser.

xiii. The purchaser shall pay the license fee prescribed by rule 2 above to the credit of the Assigned Tract into the Resident's Treasury or to any officer duly authorized by the Resident to receive such payments, in two half-yearly instalments payable on or before the 1st day of June and the 1st day of December.

xiv. The purchaser of the shop shall be liable to the penalties prescribed for breaches of the conditions set forth in the prescribed form of license, though a formal license may not have been issued to him.

4. All licenses granted under these rules shall be subject to the following conditions:—

i. The license shall not have any pecuniary dealings of any kind whatever with any excise or revenue official.

ii. Sale of ^{liquor}~~intoxicating drugs~~ shall be made only in the building specified in the license granted and not elsewhere on any pretext whatever.

iii. The licensee shall be bound by any additional rules which may be prescribed under the Excise Law now in force, or which may hereafter be enacted, and shall, on requisition by the Collector, or by any officer duly authorized by the Collector, deliver up this license for amendment or for the issue of a fresh license accordingly.

v. The licensee shall keep a true account in ink in such form as may be prescribed by the Resident, showing the quantity (and, in the case of arrack, the strength) of the liquor or intoxicating drugs received in his shop, the quantity (and, in the case of arrack the strength) of the liquor or intoxicating drugs sold, the prices at which they are sold and the quantity remaining unsold each day. Such account shall be produced for the inspection of the Collector, or any Excise Officer not below the rank of Sub-Inspector or any Police Officer not below the rank of Inspector. An inspection note-book with the page numbered consecutively shall also be maintained intact at each shop at the cost of the licensee so that officers who may inspect the shop may enter their remarks therein. This note-book shall be handed over to the Collector or any officer authorized by him to receive it, whenever it is demanded. The licensee shall furnish such other returns and information as may from time to time be required by the Collector or the Superintendent of Excise.

vi. All ^{liquor}_{intoxicating drugs} kept for sale shall be of good quality and wholesome.

vii. The license may at any time be withdrawn by the Collector on giving one month's notice. The Collector may also direct that the shop shall be temporarily closed on the grounds of police administration or expediency. No remission or compensation shall be claimed if it is found necessary to enforce this latter clause.

viii. The licensee shall place his license in a conspicuous place on the premises licensed.

ix. The licensee shall fix in a conspicuous part of the front of his shop a signboard on which his name as well as that of the vendor, the ^{liquor}_{intoxicating drugs} he is licensed to sell and the number of his license shall be legibly inscribed in English and the vernacular language of the locality in which the shop is situated.

x. The licensee shall prevent all drunkenness or disorder or gaming within his shop. Persons suffering from leprosy or other contagious diseases shall not be employed in the shops or in transport of ^{liquor}_{intoxicating drugs} to the shop. He shall not harbour robbers, thieves or riotous persons, neither shall he harbour or conceal soldiers, knowing or having reason to believe such soldiers to be deserters, but shall give information to the nearest Magistrate or Police Officer as to any such persons who may resort to his shop. Neither shall he permit prostitutes or persons of notoriously bad character to meet or remain in the shop.

xi. The licensee shall not open his shop before sunrise, nor keep it open after 6 P. M., except on special permit to be obtained from the Collector or the Superintendent of Excise.

xii. The licensee shall neither sell nor give ^{liquor}_{intoxicating drugs}

(a) without the permission of the Commanding Officer, or a person authorized by him, to any xiii. Should the licensee hold more than one kind of license for the sale of ^{liquor}_{intoxicating drugs} on the same premises, he shall keep his account of transactions under each license separately.

5 All licenses granted under these rules for the vend of foreign spirits or foreign fermented liquor shall be subject to the following conditions :—

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the past seven days, ending at 8 a.m. on Thursday, the 13th March 1902, based on the India Daily Weather Reports of the period.

Weather conditions were unsettled at the commencement of the week under review in Kashmir and the West Himalayas and Sub-Himalaya owing to a depression which entered India from the west at the close of the previous week. Light to moderately heavy snow was reported from Kashmir on the 7th March, the heaviest falls being equivalent to 1.24" of rain at Sonamarg and 1.05" at Minimarg. Thunderstorms gave light showers in the Simla and Mussooree hills and adjacent submontane districts on the 7th, 8th and 9th. During these three days Simla received 1.17" of rain and Chikrata 0.61". The showers reported from the submontane districts were very light, and Ludhiana was the only station where the fall amounted to as much as 0.10". Weather was more settled in Kashmir and the West Himalayas after the 9th and practically no rain fell in this region during the remainder of the week. As the depression advanced eastwards into Bengal it gave unsettled weather and thunderstorms in Assam, but no rain of any importance was reported from Bengal until the close of the week. The showers in Assam were numerous, but light, the only fall exceeding 0.50" being one of 1.07" reported from Silchar on the 12th. A depression which appeared in the Punjab on the 10th advanced eastwards without giving any rain in North-West or Central India, but on the 12th it occupied a position in the east of the Gangetic Plain and the eastern districts of the Central Provinces, which was peculiarly favourable for the occurrence of thunderstorms over the whole of North-East India and on the 13th favourable and well distributed rain was reported from Assam, Bengal, Bihar and Chota Nagpur; Jessore received 1.70", Narayanganj 1.30", Dinajpur 1.40", Jalpaiguri 1.23", Barisal 0.99", Calcutta 0.96", Purnea 0.84", and Chittagong, Mymensingh, Saugor Island, Berhampore, Dhubri, Burdwan, Patna, Darjeeling, Darbhanga and Hazaribagh amounts ranging from 0.25" to 0.50". In the Peninsula the only rain received during the week was in the extreme North and in Malabar; Tinnevely reported 0.63" on the 9th and 1.16" on the 10th and Calicut 0.48" on the 12th. Moderately heavy rain fell in Ceylon on the 9th and 10th Colombo receiving 3.25" on these two days.

The rainfall summary which follows, shows that the average actual rainfall of the week exceeded 0.10", and may hence be termed effective in the Burma Coast, the Delta of Bengal, the Brahmaputra Valley, the Dinajpur, Darbhanga and Simla sub-divisions of the Himalayas and Sub-Himalayas, the sub-divisions of Burdwan, Ranchi, Calicut and Madura, and the East Coast, South (Madras); the largest amounts received were 1.03" and 0.97" in the sub-divisions of Narayanganj and Dinajpur, respectively.

The rain received at the close of the week has reduced the percentage of defect in the seasonal rainfall in North-East India generally. The deficiency in seasonal rainfall has increased during the week in the sub-division of Bijapur and there has been a decrease in the excess shown at the close of the previous week in the Ahmedabad, Bellary and Mysore sub-divisions; the actual defect in the season's rainfall is largest in the divisions of the Himalayas and Sub-Himalayas (West) and Baluchistan. •

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, the 8th March, 1902.

Madras.—There was no rain. Water supplies are sufficient for irrigation, except in parts of the Deccan, Salem and Madura. Ploughing, sowing and transplanting continue in parts. Standing crops generally are in fair condition, but some have withered in parts of the Deccan. Harvests are progressing with fair yield. Pasture is scanty in the Deccan and parts of the Circars, but fodder is sufficient. The condition of cattle is good. Prices generally are stationary.

Bombay.—There was no rain during the week. The rainfall is insufficient in Gujarat and parts of the Deccan. Harvesting of autumn crops is in progress in parts of Khandesh. Threshing is nearly completed in Poona and continues in parts of Nasik. The estimate of outturn of autumn crops generally is good in the Konkan and the Karnatak, fair in Sindh and the Deccan, and moderate to poor in Gujarat. Standing spring crops have been slightly damaged by rats in parts of Gujarat, Khandesh, Nasik, Rajkot, Wadhwan and Baroda. They are suffering from insufficient moisture in parts of Karachi, Larkana, Gujarat and Sholapur, and generally are in good condition elsewhere. Harvesting of spring crops has been completed in Kaira, is nearly over in Surat, Sholapur and Bijapur, and is progressing in parts of Larkana, Ahmedabad, Thana, Khandesh, Nasik, Ahmednagar, Satara, Belgaum, Dharwar, Kanara, Rajkot and Baroda. Threshing continues in parts of Ahmednagar, Poona and Belgaum. Preparation of lands for next season continues in parts of the Konkan, the Karnatak, Khandesh, Nasik, Ahmednagar, Poona and Rajkot. Cotton prospects generally are fair in Khandesh and the Karnatak, have improved in Surat and Broach, and are moderate to poor elsewhere. Picking is nearly completed in Surat and continues in parts of Broach, the Karnatak, Rajkot and Baroda. The fodder supply is sufficient except in parts of Karachi, Nasik, Sholapur and Bijapur. Agricultural stock generally is sufficient and in good condition, except in parts of Hyderabad, Karachi and Bijapur. The water supply is becoming deficient in parts of Nasik, Ahmednagar, Sholapur, Belgaum and Baroda. Prices have fallen in two districts, risen in six districts, and are stationary elsewhere. The relation of the prices of the principal staples to the normal and to the prices of 1901 remains substantially the same. Prices of cheapest food-grain in pounds per rupee at head-quarters—Ahmedabad, 32; Kaira, 28; Panchmahals, 29; Sholapur, 41½; Ahmednagar, 32½; Bijapur, 38; Belgaum, 40. The physical condition of the people is reported to be good, fair or normal.

Daily average numbers on relief—BRITISH DISTRICTS—On test works, 1,664; on relief works, 195,842; dependants, 10,612; total on works, 207,518. In poor-houses, 1,775; on village relief, 37,632; total on gratuitous relief, 39,407. Figures for Ahmedabad, Sholapur and Thar and Parkar are incomplete. NATIVE STATES—On relief works, 35,096; dependants, 368; total on works, 35,464. In poor-houses, 4,325; on village relief, 837; total on gratuitous relief, 5,162. Figures for Palanpur and Mahikantha are incomplete. Grand total, 287,551.

Bengal.—There was practically no rain during the week. Several districts are in need of rain. Preparation of lands for early rice and jute continues. Collection of opium is going on. Harvesting of spring crops and pressing of sugarcane are in progress. Prospects are fair. Fodder and water generally are sufficient. The price of common rice has risen in 14 districts, fallen in 9, and is stationary in the rest (23).

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—The want of rain for unirrigated crops continues to be felt in the Himalayan and Western Sub-Montane Region and the Meerut and Muttra districts. The harvesting of wheat, barley, gram, mustard and pulses is in progress. Planting of sugarcane has been commenced in places, and the extraction of opium continues. Rats have done slight damage in Moradabad. Fodder and supplies are sufficient, and prices show a tendency to fall.

Punjab.—A slight fall of rain is reported in parts of Hissar, Rohtak, Karnal, Amballa, Jullundar, Ferozepore, Mooltan, Shahpur and Rawalpindi. The price of wheat is rising in Gurgaon, Rohtak, Shahpur, Gujarat and Rawalpindi; it is unchanged elsewhere. The prices of other food-grains in seers per rupee in the markets at Hissar, Rohtak and Gurgaon are as follow:—Hissar, bejhar (mixed crop), 21; Rohtak, bejhar (mixed crop), 20, Gurgaon, barley, 20 to 24. Sowings of extra spring crops continue.

Land is being prepared for autumn crops in Gurgaon. Rappeseed is being harvested in Gurgaon. The condition of irrigated crops is generally fair to average. The prospects for spring crops on unirrigated lands is becoming gloomy for want of rain which is very urgently needed. Crops are suffering from high winds in Gurgaon. The wheat crop in Mianwalli is being injured by a worm called tila. Cattle are generally in good condition, but in Amritsar, Sialkot and Gujarat they are suffering from overwork on wells and from scarcity of green fodder. Fodder is reported to be sufficient in all districts except in Mianwalli, Amritsar and parts of Karnal, Mooltan and Shahpur. The average number of persons in poor-houses, etc., in Hissar is as follows:—poor-house inmates, 176; otherwise relieved, 2,356; total, 2,532.

North-West Frontier.—The rainfall in the Dera Ismail Khan district was one cent. at Kulachi 3 cents., at Seikh Budin 19 cents. Rain is badly wanted everywhere. The condition of standing crops is fair on irrigated lands in Peshawar but poor elsewhere. Sowing of extra spring crops is in progress in Dera Ismail Khan. The stock of food-grains and fodder is sufficient in Peshawar. Fodder is scarce and dear in Dera Ismail Khan. Prices are steady owing to large imports from Chenab Canal.

Burma.—LOWER BURMA.—In Hanthawaddy, Thongwa and Myaungmya the estimate of the outturn of the paddy crop has been largely reduced. UPPER BURMA.—Agricultural operations and the condition of standing crops are the same as reported last week. In Mandalay and Kyaukse ploughing for the early wet weather crop is going on. The price of paddy has fallen in Prome and Amherst and risen in Henzada and Kyaukse.

Central Provinces.—The weather has been generally clear. The nights are cool, but the days are growing warmer. Crop prospects are unchanged. The estimated general outturn of spring crops in Chhindwara is 65 and Nagpur 75 per cent. Damage to crops by rats continues in Nimar. Harvesting and threshing operations continue. The preparation of land for autumn sowings is in progress in Nimar, Bilaspur and Sambalpur. Fodder and water are ample. Prices show a tendency to fall. The lowest prices in seers per rupee are—wheat 18, gram 22½, rice 17 and juar 20. The highest prices are—wheat 8½, gram 14, rice 8 and juar 14.

Assam.—The weather is seasonable. Slight to moderate rain fell in the Naga Hills and in all plains districts, except Goalpara. Rain is wanted in Goalpara and Kamrup. Pruning of tea has been finished. Hoeing continues. Plucking has been commenced in Sylhet. Pressing of sugarcane, gathering of mustard and ploughing for early and late broadcast rice, jute and sugarcane are in progress. The outturn of sugarcane and mustard is good in the Surma Valley, Goalpara and Lakhimpur, and fair in other districts. Fodder is insufficient in Cachar, the Khasi and Jaintia Hills, the Garo Hills and in parts of Sylhet and Kamrup. Water is scarce in the Khasi and Jaintia Hills. Prices—common rice—Silchar 16, Sylhet 15½, Gauhati, Tezpur, Nowgong and Sibsagar 13, and Dibrugarh and Dhubri 11 seers per rupee.

Mysore.—Standing crops are in good condition generally throughout the province. Paddy, ragi, Bengal gram and horse gram are being harvested in parts, and in other parts paddy is being sown. The prospects of the season are good generally throughout. Prices have slightly fallen in Kolar, Hassan, Chitaldrug and in parts of Tumkur, Kadur and Shimoga, and have slightly risen in Bangalore, Mysore and in other parts of Tumkur, Kadur and Shimoga. Cattle are healthy, except in parts of a taluk in Shimoga. Water and fodder are available, except in parts of a taluk in Shimoga. COORG.—Prices of food-grains are stationary. Water and fodder are sufficient.

Berar.—The weather is warm. Harvesting of winter crops is approaching completion. Damage by rats still continues. Land is being prepared for the ensuing crop. Fodder and water are sufficient. Prices are almost steady.

Hyderabad.—There was no rain during the week. Standing crops are in fairly good condition. The spring harvest has been completed in several talukas. Water scarcity is increasing in parts of Warangal and Nalgundah. Fodder scarcity also is complained of. Prices—wheat 6½, coarse rice 8½, and juar 19 seers per halli rupee.

Rajputana.—Agricultural operations generally are satisfactory. Standing crops are in fair condition. Damage by rats continues in many parts. The condition of cattle is good everywhere, and pasturage or fodder is sufficient. Prices are rising in six States and the Ajmer district, falling in five, and steady elsewhere. Cheapest prices in seers per rupee—Karauli, 22½, and highest, Kherwara, 11½. Numbers on relief—Native States—works, 28,499; on gratuitous relief, 4,226; total, 32,725. Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India in the Department of Revenue and Agriculture, No. 818—5-2 (Commercial Exhibitions), dated 12th March 1902.

RESOLUTION.

The following document is published for general information :—

By order,
J. B. FULLER,
Secretary to the Government of India

From J. B. Fuller, Esqr., C.I.E., I.C.S., Secretary to the Government of India in the Department of Revenue and Agriculture, to all Local Governments and Administrations, No. 14—5-1, dated Calcutta, 10th March 1902.

I am directed to inform you that the Governor General in Council has decided that the opportunity should be taken of the Coronation Darbar, to be held in Delhi in January, for the exhibition of a typical collection of the best Indian Art-ware. Such exhibition will not only add very considerably to the attractiveness of the occasion for a very large number of visitors who may be expected to attend, but it will enable the Government to form a more general and accurate survey of the condition of the industries of this country than has hitherto been attempted, and to judge of the extent to which they have been favourably or unfavourably affected by foreign competition and foreign demand. The large sales that may be anticipated at the Exhibition will of substantial rewards to the Indian artizan; and most of all, it is hoped that, if admission to the Exhibition is strictly limited, as will be the case, to objects representing the high artistic skill of which the individual handicraft is capable, their collection in a single place may, by the combined stimulus and lessons which it will afford, tend to check the deterioration that is so lamentably apparent in many of the Indian Art industries of the present day, and may communicate a forward impetus that will be both beneficial in effect and permanent in duration.

2. With this object in view the exhibition will be restricted to select specimens illustrating the best work of the leading Art manufactures of India. It is not desired much to include large or expensive samples, as to exclude inferior workmanship and design. Manufactures of trivial importance, or of value simply in illustrating the historical development of an industry, will not be admitted. The main test to be applied in each case will be that of artistic merit, the handicrafts selected being those that have already attained a certain pitch of proficiency and are capable of further development, the articles exhibited being such as are likely to command a sale. It is intended to represent the art of the present, not of the past, except in so far as this has been revived and is capable of reproduction. Articles of foreign manufacture will be rigidly excluded.

3. Purchases will be made from the Exhibition by the Government of India, in the first place, on behalf of the Indian Museum at Calcutta, and doubtless by other Local Governments, with a view to rendering the collections in the various Provincial Museums more representative and instructive than they now are. The remaining articles will be offered for sale, and arrangements will be made for the ordering of duplicates where this is found to be possible. In this way it is hoped that the Exhibition may perhaps lead to the organization of arrangements which will widen and improve the present market for Indian wares by bringing purchasers into touch with the handicraftsmen who are in a position to execute their orders.

4. Concerning the arrangement of the Exhibition, it is not proposed to allot space separately to individual stall-holders. The selected objects will be grouped in departments and classes, those of similar kind being brought together. The sales will be controlled by Government, and private exhibitors will appear simply as contributors of approved samples. An exception to this rule will be made in the case of jewellery, which it would be impracticable to organize a representative collection on the above lines. A separate room will be allotted to selected dealers in jewellery who will be permitted to open stalls and to exhibit and sell their goods under arrangements to be approved by the Exhibition authorities.

5. With a view to the same result, viz., the improvement and extension of existing Indian Art industries, it is proposed to incorporate in the Exhibition a Loan Collection of objects drawn from Museums or lent by the courtesy of private individuals. This collection will be restricted to the best examples of still existing handicrafts, and its objects will be by the same standards of approved merit, by which artificers may guide their own endeavours in the future. It will not embrace such objects as historic relics or family jewels. The Loan Collection will be distinct from the exhibits on sale and will be accommodated in a separate gallery: but the articles will be arranged on a similar system. The Government will, of course, meet all charges for conveying the exhibits to the Exhibition and for returning them; and will, to the fullest practicable extent, insure them against risk of damage or loss. The Loan Collection must, to a large extent, be dependent upon the voluntary generosity of individuals, and Native Chiefs, Noblemen and Darbars. The Governor General in Council hopes that he may appeal to these various classes to co-operate in the object which he has in view. Their assistance will be most gratefully received.

6. In order to illustrate the technique of Indian handicrafts it is proposed to permit a limited number of workmen belonging to representative or specially interesting industries to ply their craft within the Exhibition enclosure in completing articles which have been sent in a partially finished state.

7. A grant will be made by the Government of India towards the collection of the proposed Exhibition. Manufacturers or dealers of means will not require pecuniary assistance. The chance of a good market, and the assurance of the purchase by Government of some specimens of their best work should be a sufficient inducement for them to come forward, and they should be encouraged to contribute on their own account, subject of course to the condition that their contributions are passed as worthy of being displayed. To those who cannot afford to exhibit on these terms advances will be given, and their exhibits will be either purchased outright by Government when completed, or will be forwarded to the Exhibition on condition that advances made on their account will be adjusted on the articles being sold. Having regard to the large demand that is certain to exist among visitors to the Exhibition and to the requirements of Government for typical specimens for Indian Museums, it does not seem likely that many objects will remain undisposed of when the Exhibition closes. (950)

8. The Governor General in Council has decided to place the selection of the exhibits and the general organization and control of the arrangements in the hands of Dr. George Watt, C.I.F., Reporter on Economic Products to the Government of India, with the title of Director of the Exhibition. It will be his duty to visit the localities in which there are artistic handicrafts worthy of representation, to arrange with the workmen or dealers the particular articles to be made or contributed by them, definitely fixing style and design by means, where possible, of drawings or photographs, to settle the lines of any financial assistance which is required, to authorize the disbursement of money, and, finally, to pass as accepted the articles which are sent for exhibition. He will be charged with the allotment of space, the arrangement of the collections and the control of sales, and, generally, with the management of the Exhibition. He will as far as possible personally effect his negotiations with dealers and craftsmen. But he will also stand in need of some help from the local authorities; and I am to ask that District Officers may be instructed to assist him in opening communication with those artificers who are qualified to exhibit, in obtaining typical specimens of Art-ware on loan, in disbursing from time to time such advances as may be sanctioned, in exercising such general supervision over those who take advances as is needed to ensure that they do not prove false to their undertaking, in receiving the exhibits and forwarding them to the Exhibition and in arranging for the transit to Delhi of the craftsmen who may be engaged to give a practical illustration of the process of manufacture. The Government of India are reluctant to add to the existing work of local officers, but the object in view is one of so much practical utility and importance as to justify a request for sympathetic co-operation, and the grant of assistance to Dr. Watt within the limits which have been indicated will not, it is believed, consume much time or trouble. The Director, Department of Land Records and Agriculture, might also be asked to assist, and the Governor General in Council will be glad if the Superintendents of Provincial Museums and the Principals of Schools of Art are associated, so far as may be found possible, with the Director in the task of selecting the art industries which should be represented in the Exhibition, and in determining the style and design of the exhibits which are to be accepted as illustrative. They may also be of assistance in the formation of the Loan Collection. It is desirable that specially deserving pupils of the various Art Schools should be encouraged to contribute, provided that their handiwork is of a character that falls within the scope of the Exhibition, and is directed to the illustration or improvement of some branch of Indian Art.

Calcutta, the 22nd March 1902.

No. 996.—WHEREAS the territories under the dominion of His Majesty the King, Emperor of India, now designated and known as the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, are respectively administered by a Lieutenant-Governor and a Chief Commissioner;

AND WHEREAS the said territories, though separate in name and style, are united in fact for administrative purposes, the offices of Lieutenant-Governor and Chief Commissioner being filled by the same person, and it is expedient that the said territories should henceforth be regarded as, and form, one province under the administration of a Lieutenant-Governor;

AND WHEREAS it was contemplated by section 38 of the Government of India Act, 1833 (3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 85), the provisions of which section were and now remain suspended by virtue of the provisions of the India (North-Western Provinces) Act, 1835 (5 & 6 Will. 4, c. 52), and of section 15 of the Government of India Act, 1853 (16 & 17 Vict., c. 95), that the North-Western Provinces, then under the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, should be known as the Presidency of Agra;

KNOW ALL MEN, AND IT IS HEREBY PROCLAIMED, that, in exercise of the powers conferred by section 4 of the Government of India Act, 1865 (28 & 29 Vict., c. 17), and with the sanction of His Majesty the King, Emperor of India, signified by His Majesty's Secretary of State in Council of India, His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General of India in Council is pleased to direct that the territories now under the administration of the Chief Commissioner of Oudh shall henceforth form part of, and be subject to, the Lieutenant-Governorship of the North-Western Provinces, and that the Lieutenant-Governorship so constituted as aforesaid shall be designated the Lieutenant-Governorship of the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh.

EXAMINATIONS.

The 18th March 1902.

No. 188—In supersession of Home Department Notification No. 2429, dated the 19th December 1889, the following revised Regulations, under which a limited number of members of the Indian Civil Service and officers of the Indian Army in civil or political employ (whether temporarily or permanently) will be permitted to present themselves for examination in the Russian language while on furlough, are, with the approval of His Majesty's Secretary of State for India, published for information:—

1. The Civil Service Commissioners will hold examinations in London twice a year, commencing on the first Tuesday in April and the third Tuesday in October, for the purpose of examining officers in Russian.

2. The maximum marks obtainable at an examination will be 800, divided as follows:—

Dictation	50
Translation from Russian into English	100
Translation from English into Russian	200
Writing an essay or letter and copying manuscript	150
Oral examination. Conversation, including reading manuscript at sight, and translation in writing from Russian into English, and from English into Russian, from ex tempore reading	300
	<hr/> 800

3. Officers who obtain 5 of the total marks will be noted in their record of service as "Passed" in Russian, and those who obtain 8 will be noted as qualified to be "Interpreters" in Russian.

4. Applications for permission to appear at these examinations must be made to the Government of India in the Home Department—(a) in the case of an officer directly under the Government of India, through the Department in which he is serving; and (b) by an officer under a Local Government or Administration, through the Local Government or Administration to which he is subordinate. Applications must not be made to the India Office in London.

5. Such permission will be granted only to those members of the Indian Civil Service and officers of the Indian Army in civil or political employ who seem likely to be employed, before their active service comes to an end, in situations where a knowledge of Russian may be of advantage to the State, and to no one who will not be able to attend the preliminary examination, and also the final one, should he proceed to Russia for a course of study, and to return to duty in India, without exceeding the amount of leave which he may have to his credit, or which may be admissible to him if subject to the Leave Rules for the Staff Corps. The Government of India reserve to themselves full discretion to grant or withhold permission in any case.

6. Any officer who proves his possession of a sufficient elementary knowledge of Russian by obtaining not less than 200 marks (25 of the total) at one of the examinations held by the Civil Service Commissioners, or passes one of the preliminary examinations in Russian held in India, will be permitted to proceed from England to Russia for a further course of study of the Russian language.

7. After passing the elementary test, and receiving permission to proceed to Russia, he must start from England within a fortnight from the date of the India Office letter conveying such permission unless specially authorized to defer his departure. He must on no account start for Russia until he has received a letter of instructions on the subject from the India Office. No officer on leave on medical certificate will be permitted to proceed to Russia under these rules unless reported fit to do so by the India Office Medical Board.

8. On starting for Russia, he will be granted an advance of pay not exceeding 35 days' furlough pay and also not exceeding 100*l*. Such advance will only be granted to an officer who draws his furlough pay from the India Office, and will be recovered in instalments spread over eight months after his arrival in Russia.

9. Shortly after his arrival in Russia, he shall report to the India Office his address and the date of his entering Russia. Any subsequent change of his address shall likewise be reported. In the case of an officer of the Indian Army, he is required to report himself, on arrival, to the Military Attaché at St. Petersburg, whether he chooses that city or another as his place of residence.

10. The period to be spent in Russia shall not be less than eight months. As special value is attached to a lengthened stay in Russia, an officer shall not present himself for final examination till one year after passing the elementary test either in England or India, and shall not be permitted to attend any intermediate examination held by the Civil Service Commissioners.

11. Two months before his final examination, he shall notify to the India Office the address in England to which his order for examination should be sent by the Civil Service Commissioners.

12. He shall return to England a full week before his final examination, and shall report to the India Office, in writing, his arrival and the date of his quitting Russia.

13. If he succeeds at the final examination in qualifying to be an interpreter in the Russian language, he shall receive a gratuity of 200*l* and a further consolidated sum of 32*l*. or 42*l*. in repayment of his travelling expenses to and from St. Petersburg or Moscow, as the case may be. The gratuity of 200*l*. shall be paid only in cases where there has been the full term of residence in Russia for the purposes of study. No grant on account of travelling expenses shall be made to an officer who fails to qualify to be an interpreter, but he may earn the gratuity and the consolidated sum for travelling expenses if he succeeds at any subsequent examination in qualifying to be an interpreter.

14. Whether successful or not at the final examination, he shall rejoin in India within two months from the date on which it began, unless his leave or furlough extends beyond that period. If, however, his leave has been granted under medical certificate, it will be necessary for him as usual to obtain a certificate that he is in a fit state of health to return to his duty.

15. A member of the Indian Civil Service or a Military Officer subject to the Civil Leave Rules shall be entitled to count as Indian duty for promotion and pension, but not as service for furlough, the period of eight months spent in Russia. The whole time passed in the course of study and until the date of his return to duty in India will be treated as part of the furlough taken, and he will be entitled to the usual furlough pay.

16. A Military Officer in civil employ, but subject to the Leave Rules for the Staff Corps, shall be entitled to count as Indian duty for promotion and pension the period spent in Russia, and to draw for such period the equivalent, at the privileged rate of exchange, of the Indian pay and allowances of his rank, and the half staff salary of his substantive appointment: provided that, if the sterling amount be less than his leave pay under the Leave Rules for the Staff Corps, then leave pay shall be allowed. He will be considered as on leave before arrival in Russia, and from the date of quitting Russia until he rejoins his appointment in India, under the conditions of Regulation 14. The period spent in Russia will not be considered as part of the two years' maximum absence from duty allowable under the Leave Rules for the Staff Corps.

17. A Military Officer, subject to the Military Furlough Regulations of 1868 or 1875, will be entitled to count as Indian duty for promotion and pension, but not as service for furlough, the period from the date of his receiving permission to go to Russia after passing the elementary test until his arrival in India within two months after his final examination. For any part of such period of duty not spent in Russia, he will draw the English pay of his rank, and for the part of it spent in Russia he will draw the equivalent, at the privileged rate of exchange, of "two-thirds of his pay and allowances in India" (see Civil Service Regulations, article 104). He will, however, have the option of counting the whole or a portion of such period as furlough and drawing furlough pay accordingly, so far as he is eligible for such furlough under the furlough regulations to which he is subject.

18. The half-yearly examinations in India are held in January and July, and the names of the officers who are recommended by the Government of India for permission to proceed direct from India to Russia will be communicated to the India Office as soon as the result of the examination is known. The names of the officers who are finally selected will be communicated by the India Office to the Government of India, who will give authority to each officer to take up his residence in Russia, to which country he should proceed about May or November, so as to be on the same footing as the officers of his batch who proceed from England. If more than 18 months have elapsed since an officer passed the preliminary test, he will be required to undergo a fresh examination before receiving permission to proceed to Russia.

19. The passport of an officer proceeding direct from India to Russia will be issued either by the Governor General of India, or by the Governor of Madras, or of Bombay. The necessary visé should be procured by the officer at Teheran, or any other place on the route where there is an accredited Russian Agent.
